POSTPONED BAND CONCERT SATURDAY NIGHT

Beginners' Class Now Being Organized and Open to Members

John TerWee, director of the Charlevoix school band, has made the announcement that the concert program, postponed last Saturday evening because of inclement weather, will be held Saturday evening of this week.

Prior to the concert, the band will parade Bridge street, and the program will be given at the corner of State and Mason streets. In case of rain, the program will be given at the school gymnasium.

Mr. TerWee also announced that the 1931 beginners' band is now in process of organization. Parents having boys or girls desiring to join, are requested to communicate with Mr. TerWee Tuesday afternoon, or Wednesday evening between 7 and 9 o'clock at the band room.

CITY TOURIST CAMP WILL OPEN SATURDAY

Many Improvements Made in Preparation for 1931 Season

Saturday, May 15th, will mark the official opening date of Charlevoix's tourist camp. At the same time, summer tourist parks throughout the state will be opened to the public for the 1931 season.

At the local camp, many improvements have been made by Caretaker Hugh Brady in preparation for the season. The large ravine on the grounds has been filled, providing much additional parking space. Roads throughout the camp have been improved with cinders, and this year, except for openings provided, are barricaded to prevent campers from driving over the grounds at will. A new fence is being built around the north and east sides of the park.

Cook houses and the rest room have been repainted and everything is ship-shape for the tourist season.

THE BIG FELLOW

(By D. J. Walsh.)

OLD MAN PATTERSON was going fishing. Time was when he went almost every pleasant day throughout the season. He always went to the mill pond, where the speckled and brown trout lay in the deep holes where the water was coolest. The old man knew the spots the big fellows liked best, and even on days when the fish were not "bitting" good, he usually could get enough for a meal for himself and Mattie.

But he had not been going fishing lately. Mattie had grown too weak to be left alone, and even on those days when old Mrs. Moore came to sit with her he had not gone. He could not get that bait. The season had been so dry that the earthworms had gone down so deep that he had not strength to dig for them, and the law forbade fishing with trout minnows. Old Man Patterson had a great respect for the law. And, as he was not strong enough to walk to the stream where he usually had got "setters" for bait, he did not go fishing any more.

Of course there were flies. The sportmen from the cities used those. But flies cost money, and old Man Patterson had not a penny just the change where he and Mattie lived, that was not money, and Mattie was nearly blind; and they got help from the county.

Mattie did not know that. The old man would rather have starved than taken it for himself; but there was Mattie. She had to have food, and since he had grown so feeble, people would not let him make their gardens for them. So it had seemed the only thing to do, but Mattie still thought the little garden for people.

But today he was going fishing! Mattie was so weak that she did not get up any more, and the old man was very unhappy. If only she could eat! That morning when he had begged her to try to eat a little breakfast, she had said: "I just can't eat, Henry. Maybe if I had some fish, they always taste good." And he had made a great resolve.

So, after he had filled up the house and fixed Mattie comfortably he took his fishing pole and a small net and went to the mill pond. He knew little places where the trout minnows ran away from the big fish.

He felt tremendously excited, for was he not going to break the law? At the first throw he picked up half a dozen minnows, which was all he needed and, going to his favorite spot under the white birch tree, he cast his bait over a deep pool where he knew a big fellow was waiting to bite.

Across the pond Jake Piper sat fishing. The old man was just still, for you must be very quiet if you want to catch trout, and the sun felt good on his rheumatic old limbs. If only Mattie had been well he would have been very content. One does not worry much at eighty past.

He was just thinking of trying another spot, when he felt a tug on the line, and the pole was nearly jerked from his hand. He trembled with excitement. This must be the "big fellow" every one was hoping to get. He had a grand and exciting fight before he landed him, and when he did his hands shook so he could scarcely remove the hook. A big brown trout, eighteen inches long, and deep shined. He set glowing over it. Such a beauty! Now maybe Mattie could eat. He held it up for Jake Piper to see, made to resist boasting a little. Jake nodded sourly, but came across the bridge at the spitway and looked closer. "Well, I guess you got him, Hank. I've been after that fellow myself, for years."

Patterson shook his head. "No, this ain't the big fellow. I've seen him, though, and I'll get him yet!" Jake's shifting eyes took in the minnow net, and after a word or two more he hurried away.

The old man felt strangely tired, now that the excitement was over. You cannot catch big fellows like that when past eighty, and not have it tell on you. So he covered his fish from the sun, and stretched out on the bank for a little rest before going home. He amused himself picturing Mattie's pleasure when he would show her the trout. It was very pleasant there, and he remained longer than he meant to do, and presently he heard voices. He looked up to see Jake Piper and Mr. Graves, the game warden, coming along the bank. Mr. Graves was talking rather loudly, and lettering, stopping first to look at something and then another, while Piper tried to urge him along.

Old Man Patterson had been quick-witted, he would have tossed his minnows into the pond, as the warden was giving him a chance to do, but at eighty past one isn't always quick-witted, so he just sat like a charmed bird, and watched them come.

Well, of course, Mr. Graves could not get out of it. There was the evidence, and Jake Piper as witness, so he had to arrest the old man, and, what was worse, to confiscate the fish. Tears stood in the dim old eyes as he handed over Mattie's trout.

Before the justice he pleaded guilty. He knew the law about fishing with live bait, but he had to have a fish for Mattie, he told them. He could not pay the fine, and he could not leave his sick wife to go to jail, so the justice suspended sentence, and he went home to Mattie. He told her the fish were not "bitting" good, and with a little resigned sigh she murmured: "I'm kinda disappointed, Henry. I sort of felt I'd catch some fish. But I know you did your best." The old man turned himself to answer cheerfully. "Don't you fret, Mattie. I'll have better luck next time!"

The next morning in the first signs of dawn the old man rose without waking his wife. He felt very weak and tired, but absolutely dressed himself, and, taking poles and net, again made his way to the mill pond. With dogged patience he worked all day, but caught some minnows, and, battling his lumbago, sat down to wait. The sun shone or two, but it was some time before he landed a big speckled beauty. Speckled trout don't know as large as the brown ones, but it was a fine fish, and would make a good meal for Mattie. He did not wait any. He couldn't go against the law for himself.

On the way home he met Jake Piper, who stared curiously. "At it again, Hank? What kind of bait did you use?"

"Find out," snapped Old Man Patterson as he trudged on. Jake Piper need not try to talk to him any more. Mattie was still sleeping when he reached home, and though very weary he set about cleaning and cooking the fish. He soon had it frying and sizzling in the pan and made the tea and toast. He went in to wake Mattie and found her sitting on the edge of the bed, trying to dress herself. She was all eagerness. "I snatched that fish cooking, Henry, and I am going to sit at the table. I am not going to eat it in bed. Did you catch the big fellow?"

"Not yet, but don't you fret, Mattie. I'll get him yet!" he told her cheerfully. They were as happy as two children as he helped her to the table, and they ate their breakfast in high spirits.

Mattie ate ravenously and the old man smiled at every bite she ate. She would surely get strong again now.

The last bit of trout devoured the old woman asked to be put to bed again. After she was tucked in she snatched contentedly. "That was a fine breakfast, Henry. The best I ever ate." Later she turned her face to the wall and went to sleep, and so he found her, still smiling.

Neighbors came in, as neighbors do to small communities, and took charge of everything. And Old Man Patterson sat all the time by his dead wife's side. They buried her beside their two children, and that night came the long-wished-for rain.

In the morning, when the old man went out of doors, there were earthworms aplenty. He gathered a few in an old can, took his fishpole and made for his favorite spot beside the mill pond. Some time later they found him there, lying on the bank under the white birch, the pole beside him, but the line wound twice around the heavy dead hand, and fast on the other end of the line was a giant brown trout. Old Man Patterson had caught the "big fellow."

Age to Keep Hens
With Leghorns, Anconas, Minorcas and birds of this type, the hens of the right type may be kept until they are three years old. It is not usually advisable to keep them after they have reached three years of age. With the general purpose breeds, such as Rhode Island Reds, Plymouth Rocks, Orpingtons, etc., it is usually best to sell them after they are two years old. Extremely valuable hens can sometimes be kept five years, but this is quite unusual.

Thin-Shell Eggs
Whenever there is a late spring with a great deal of cloudy weather, many flocks lay thin-shelled eggs. The egg-shell quality from such a flock will begin to improve as soon as the hens get into direct sunlight. It is a common observation that when a flock is laying thin-shelled eggs and is turned out-of-doors in the sun, the shell quality improves. It is very important in managing a flock to open the windows on sunny days during the winter or early spring.

Manchuria's Rapid Growth
Reports to the Department of Commerce credit Manchuria with having had the greatest colonization movement in history in an area of such size and in so brief a length of time. Due largely to railroad development, Manchuria in 30 years has grown from a population of 2,000,000, with no railroads, to a population of 27,000,000 and 4,000 miles of railroads, or about as much as in all the east of China. Although Manchuria has only 4 per cent of the population of China, its total trade is 30 per cent of the whole country.

Ten Farmers Keeping Cost Account Records on Potatoes

In order to find out what the exact cost of producing potatoes on a bushel basis a group of ten farmers are busily engaged in keeping an accurate account of all time spent, as well as all expenses in connection with potatoes.

It is a well known fact that the cost per bushel varies in different localities and of course varies according to weather and many other conditions. In a potato club project some two years ago the cost varied from 35c to 90c per bushel. It is felt that by having this work carried on this year that it will give us some very accurate information as to what the actual cost is for Charlevoix county.

The following farmers are keeping records this year: Harry Behling, Boyne City; Howard Stephens, Boyne City; W. K. Straw, Charlevoix; A. B. Todd, Boyne City; Ed. Jensen, Walloon Lake; LeRoy Hardy, Boyne City; Ed. Kowalski, East Jordan; Clinton Blanchard, Charlevoix; W. D. Henley, Charlevoix, and Lester Hardy, Boyne City.

Flowers
The two recent flower meetings held last week at Charlevoix and East Jordan were well attended and proved to be very valuable to the folks interested in making their surroundings more beautiful. Paul Krone, specialist in horticulture, was the speaker and spent considerable of his time in discussing annuals and perennials. By means of slides he gave the audience a very clear conception of how the various varieties of flowers differ in color, shape, and where they can be grown to the best advantage. Many questions pertaining to lawns and how to eliminate diseases, pests, and weeds, were discussed with the audience.

Shrubs
Last Thursday evening at Boyne City an audience of over 90 heard the illustrated lecture given by O. I. Gregg on the subject of home beautification. Mr. Gregg proved very clearly that by the use of our native shrubs and trees that homes could be beautified very inexpensively. Here in Charlevoix county we are blessed with an abundance of native shrubs which are ideal to use and can be easily gotten, take for instance Nine-bark, Dogwood, and Elders. Then in regard to trees we have the Cedars, Pines, and Spruces, all of which fit in nicely with a landscape project.

It is only a matter of getting at it, to become interested in beautifying your home. Usually a very few hours expenditure of time and effort will make you marvel at the change which takes place.

Home Management Achievement Day
The Achievement day held at Charlevoix last Wednesday as a fitting climax to the home management project was a huge success from all angles. This Achievement day represented the largest number of organized groups carrying on the work that we have thus far had. Over 200 women were enrolled in this project and with one or two exceptions all the groups in the county finished up the series of four lessons.

Mrs. Lydia Ann Lynde, the main speaker, held her audience spell bound. She was the type of speaker that a person can listen to for hours. Her subject was "The Playing Family," a subject that certainly touched upon all the problems that parents are very conscious of. A program was held both forenoon and afternoon, and attracted a turn out of 125 very interested ladies.

This Achievement day was one of the most interesting and inspiring, if not the best, occasions that we have as yet held. Miss Oona Stautz, specialist of Michigan State college, who was the instructor last winter, was present and outlined to some length the project "Home Furnishing," which will be started this fall. The congregational church ladies certainly proved themselves to be wonderful hostesses for this gathering, and surely can be complimented upon the splendid luncheon served at noon.

The New Creamery
All dairymen in the county will be deeply interested in the announcement that the new co-operative creamery located at East Jordan, will start operations about June 1st. At a meeting last Thursday night at East Jordan, a fine representation of co-operative and independent agencies were present to discuss the best way, or ways, of gathering in the cream.

The directors of the new creamery are very anxious to work in close harmony with all existing co-operative agencies in the area, and would be glad to receive any suggestions that you may have. They have been spending considerable time and effort in working out the details of organization and in the purchasing of creamery equipment, as well as the remodeling of the building.

At the present time the new manager, Mr. Penfold, is already on the job. Most of the equipment has arrived, the building has been completely remodeled, and everything points to a successful as well as profitable creamery, which will add materially to the dairy prosperity of the county.

FARM NOTES

Grain Ration Important at Close of Weaning Period

With the coming of May considerable weaning time for pigs in order to avoid any possible interruption in growth when pigs are taken away from the sow. It is advisable to feed a pig meal ration during the last few weeks of the suckling period. This pig meal should be fed in a creep in order that the sow may not have access to it.

By breaking in the young pigs on a pig meal ration during the suckling period, they will become accustomed to grains and growth will not be interrupted when they are switched to a grain ration alone. At the same time this practice allows for profitable gains at a low cost per pound of feed. In other words, every pound of grain actually produces more pork during this early period.

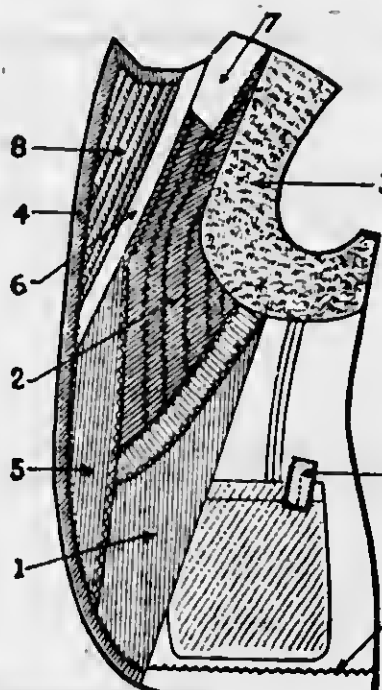

At the weaning period the proper grain ration should be continued; in fact, throughout the entire summer if the pigs are to be taken to early market. Leading feeding authorities are now placing greater emphasis on this supplementary ration after the pigs are placed in the pasture. This is particularly true during the late spring months as the pigs cannot secure the proper nourishment for fattening from the pasture alone.

A suggested ration to be substituted for pig meal after pigs have recovered from effects of weaning is as follows: Tankage (or part fish meal), 50 pounds; linseed meal, 50 pounds (in one bin or self-feeder); shelled corn in another bin or self-feeder (or full feed of ear corn.)

Some breeders dub their male birds. Like game cocks to avoid freezing of the comb and wattles. The practice appears cruel but probably produces much less suffering than a badly frozen comb which takes weeks to heal. Usually it is only possible to dub birds for the home flock as it injures their appearance and other breeders will not like to buy them. With warmer poultry houses, many male birds are going through the winter without a frozen comb.

There Will Be SOMETHING NEW TOMORROW

EVERY time you feel like muttering "There's nothing new under the sun," take up your weekly paper and read through the advertisements. Chances are, you'll change your mind. Here's a new Automobile on the market... there's a new kind of carpet that should have been thought of long ago... here's a decidedly better way of washing delicate fabrics.

These things concern you intimately—they affect your life and the manner in which you live it. They are new things under the sun. And advertisements are the arms with which they reach out and touch you. Read the advertisements regularly. There'll be something new tomorrow... and the day after... and the day after that. Something you wouldn't want to miss.

POPPY DAY CHANGED TO SATURDAY, MAY 23*Disabled Ex-Service Men Benefit from Sale of These Emblems

The American Legion's "Poppy Day," originally announced in last week's issue of the Courier as Friday, May 29th, has been changed by vote of the local post to May 23rd, the Saturday preceding Memorial Sunday when the commemorative church services will be held. Remember, when you buy a poppy you help a crippled or disabled soldier.

The bugles and drums for the Post music have arrived and are very handsome affairs. Tonight, the task of selecting the sixteen members of the corps will be performed by W. C. Bellinger, who will have full charge of drilling the bugle and drum corps into shape. Bill believes he can get the outfit ready for Memorial day, but it will take some close application to business. It is expected that each man will have one or two understudies to take his place in case of illness or absence from other causes.

A few members turned out last night to finish the polishing of the grounds around the Legion hall on East Garfield avenue. But there seems to be too much of a tendency to "let George do it." The commander wishes to impress upon the members the necessity of their fullest cooperation if the organization is to continue to be a going concern. There is still a lot of work to be done inside to prepare for the district meeting on June 7th and at least a dozen men could be used to advantage every night for a week.

CAMP CHARLEVOIX HAS FINE BOOKLET*Thirty Pages Devoted to Illustrations of Camp Facilities

Heralded widely as the foremost character camp for boys in the United States, Camp Charlevoix, located on the north shore of Lake Charlevoix, is telling of its advantages through a new thirty-page illustrated booklet, recently placed in circulation.

From cover to cover, the booklet is full of not only regular information concerning a summer camp, but also an array of half-ton reproductions of the unique camp buildings, landscape scenes taken at the camp, views of activities, etc. They are exceptionally well chosen. For the center spread are a group of three excellent photographs. The upper one shows the camp staff, the center the "Dads" of campers, and the lower photo the campers themselves, captioned "The Lads."

Camp Charlevoix, which is owned and directed by Lewis C. Reimann of Ann Arbor and Charlevoix, has gained an enviable reputation. In fact, it has attained a position in a brief space of several years that other camps have been striving for a long period.

Mr. Reimann spent last week end at the camp, and while here remarked that prospects for the 1931 summer season were very near average.

DR. JOSEF E. WITTERS
TO OPEN OFFICE HERE*Grand Rapids Physician and Surgeon Joins Local Professional Ranks

Joining the ranks of professional men in Charlevoix during the coming week will be Dr. Josef E. Witters, formerly of Ewart and Grand Rapids, Mich., who will open offices in the Birkman building over Levinson's store May 20th.

Dr. Witters has been practicing in Ewart and Grand Rapids the past four years and was house physician and surgeon at Butterworth Hospital, Grand Rapids. He is a graduate of University of Illinois with bachelor of arts degree, holds bachelor of medicine and doctor of medicine degrees from Detroit College of Medicine and Surgery, and in addition has taken special courses in his profession at University of Wisconsin, Harvard University and University of Minnesota.

The five-room suite of offices over Levinson's have been redecorated and refitted for practice of medicine. The Courier joins others in extending Dr. Witters a welcome to Charlevoix.

ANNUAL REPORT OF CHILDREN'S FUND

Program for Correction of Visual Defects

Finding that many children in the more sparsely settled rural regions have defective vision, not likely to be corrected, which handicaps them in school and in life, the Children's Fund has engaged a staff of ophthalmologists, who go from county to county examining children's eyes, and prescribing the needed corrections. The program has been in operation for about seven months. During that time 1,586 children have been examined, and 1,005 pairs of glasses procured.

Northern Michigan Children's Clinic

During the year now closing the Northern Michigan Children's clinic building has been in the process of construction on land leased from St. Luke's hospital, Marquette. The building is now completed and will begin its service to the children of the upper peninsula in May. This project represents a cooperative undertaking involving the University of Michigan Post Graduate Medical department, St. Luke's hospital and the Children's Fund. The university will furnish specialists in medical and surgical treatment of children's diseases, who will not only treat such children brought in from all parts of the peninsula by the county and city nurses, but will also instruct the practitioners of the area in the special skills needed to treat special diseases. The clinic is designed to bring to the children of remote places the same services that are now available to children in the larger urban centers through the outpatient clinics so well known there.

District health unit No. 3, composed of the counties of Antrim, Charlevoix, Emmet and Osego, was established on November 13, 1930. Since that date services of the staff of the health department have reached 185 schools. Over 5,000 health inspections have been given to school children by the nurses. Three thousand seven hundred nine physical examinations have been made by the health officer. Four hundred sixty-eight visits were made by nurses in the interest of mothers and children. Two hundred forty-six children have been immunized against diphtheria. The dentist in the district has made 1,539 examinations, inserted 494 fillings, extracted 484 teeth and given prophylactic treatments to 80 children. The sanitary officer has made 176 inspections of school buildings, milk and water supplies, excreta disposals, and other sanitary problems.

MEGUZEE MEETING AT PETOSKEY MAY 13-14*Beulah Chapter Will Entertain Delegates at 2-Day Session

The 28th annual meeting of Meguzee District Association of Northern Michigan Order of Eastern Star, of which Mrs. Minnie Bonthron of this city is president, will be held Wednesday and Thursday at Petoskey.

Plans for the entertainment and housing of delegates and visitors have been completed by Beulah Chapter No. 63, Petoskey, the entertaining chapter. A program covering two days, has been arranged, and will be full of interest. Mary Covell of Whitehall, worthy grand matron, will be one of the principal speakers. Wednesday-afternoon's program will be held at the Petoskey Masonic temple. The annual banquet will be Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock at Perry Hotel, and Thursday program will be held at the high school gymnasium.

J-HOP TO BE GIVEN
Belvedere Casino

Arrangements are nearly completed for the annual J-Hop, which will be given Friday evening, May 15th, at Belvedere Casino.

This annual affair, which is probably the most colorful social function of the school year, is given by the junior class of Charlevoix high school for the graduating senior class. Each year it has grown in popularity until now it is one of the school's most elaborate functions.

Music will be provided by Wexstar's orchestra. Among the features of the evening will be specialty dancing numbers by the Misses Marjorie Partridge and Janet Livingston. Novel decorations and lighting effects will transform the casino into a place of beauty.

Reception committee and chaperones chosen are Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Foster, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bridge, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Carter, Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Harrington and members of the school board.

Committees in charge of the affair are:

Decorations: Norman Anee, chairman, Lila McMillan, Lilace Johnson, George LaBlanc, Eyedean LaBlanc, David Dick; music committee, Stanley Carter, Marian Smith, Ralph Lemieux, Kathleen McCall; invitations and program, Mary Margaret Orlovski, Esther Brady, Victor Smith, Joe Arvilla; refreshments, Ruby Supernaw, Lula VanDusen, Winfred Martin, Lucille Cook; tickets, Leo Yetaw, Edna Marie Neff.

MARTIN J. STALEY, PIO-NEER OF COUNTY, DEAD*Masonic Funeral Service Held Tuesday at Eveline Farm Home

Charlevoix county lost a pioneer resident last week in the death of Martin J. Staley, who passed away at the Reynolds residence on South Bridge street, Saturday, May 9th, following a brief illness.

Mr. Staley was born December 23, 1842, in Canada, and was 88 years of age at his death. When a young man, and following his marriage to Miss Elizabeth Saunders at Toronto, Canada, Mr. Staley came to southern Michigan, later moving to Charlevoix county in 1877, over a half century ago. He spent practically the remainder of his life on a farm on the Peninsula, in Eveline township. He was preceded in death by Mrs. Staley in 1909.

Survivors are a daughter, Mrs. Joel Bennett, Eveline township, and five sons, George E. of Eveline township; Arthur, Albert and Ernest of Charlevoix; Wesley of Traverse City; also 15 grand children and 7 great grand children.

Funeral services were held Tuesday, May 11th, from the farm home, with the local Masonic lodge, of which Mr. Staley had been a member many years, conducting the rites. Mr. Staley was also a member of the Eastern Star order. Burial was at East Jordan.

* METHODIST NOTES *

On Sunday morning the pastor will conduct divine worship at 10:30.

There is always a chat to the children so you can make it a family matter to attend church. The sermon will be upon a phrase of Jesus from the Sermon on the Mount, "Lots and Titles." How important are little things?

Church-school is at 12 noon.

CHARLES DICKENS
CLUB CLOSE YEAR*Dinner Party at Partridge Home
Monday Evening Pleasant Affair

The Charles Dickens Club closed their club year with a dinner at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Partridge on Potosky avenue Monday evening, to which the gentlemen were invited.

Thirty-nine people were present, including as guests Mr. and Mrs. Charles Emery, recently returned from San Diego, Calif., and Raymond Faulkner. Mrs. Emery was formerly a member of the club.

The dinner was planned and served by the menu committee, of which Mrs. Blanche Wood is chairman. The tables were charmingly decorated with sprays of flowers and candles in the club colors, blue and yellow.

Following the meal, eight tables of bridge were played, first prizes going to Mrs. Marjorie Livingston and Clinton Cooper.

The guests departing at a late hour declared the party a success in every way and appreciation was expressed to Mr. and Mrs. Partridge for extending the hospitality of their home for the occasion.

TUMATH-NEEBES NUP-TIALS SOLEMNIZED*Local Girl Became Bride of Mt.
Pleasant Man Saturday Evening

A pretty home wedding was solemnized Saturday evening at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. James Tumath on Mason street, when their daughter, Miss Katherine Tumath of Shepard, became the bride of George F. Neebes of Mt. Pleasant.

Rev. F. W. Sass, an old friend of the family, performed the ceremony by special request. The couple were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Harold Ikens of this city.

Besides those mentioned, the following were present: Mrs. Fred Neebes of Mt. Pleasant, mother of the groom, the immediate family of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. George McMullin, Mr. and Mrs. William Tumath, Mrs. Frank Courier, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Straw and family, Mrs. Julia Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Edwards and family and Mrs. Joe Williams.

Following the ceremony, a dainty repast was served and a social evening enjoyed.

Mr. Neebes is principal of Ithaca high school. The bride, a graduate of Charlevoix high school and the county normal, will finish her term as instructor in the schools at Shepard. The couple left Sunday for their home at Mt. Pleasant.

BOAT LINE WILL CON-TINUE, REPORTS SAY*Steamers Puritan and Manitou to Operate Again This Summer

Contrary to earlier plans to abandon operation this year, the Michigan Transit Corporation will probably continue its boat service between Charlevoix and Northern Michigan ports, it was learned here this week.

Control of the steamship company at the time of R. Floyd Clinch's death last fall was held by the Cregar-Clinch Coal company of Chicago. The coal company's liquidating company, organized as the C. C. Corporation, now is the principal owner in the steamship company. Its intention has been to keep the Michigan Transit steamers, the Manitou and Puritan, tied at their winter berths in the Manitou river, giving up all operation in view of losses that the Transit corporation suffered in company with other Lake Michigan steamship companies last year. Now the intention is to put the boats on the lake and operate the usual service to upstate ports.

ANOTHER STAG CARD PARTY ON

LEGION IS TO HOLD A SECOND POPULAR AFFAIR FRIDAY

Volunteers Wanted to Paint and Clean Up—Memorial Sunday Assembly at Hall at 9:30 A. M.

Leslie Shapton Post No. 226, American Legion, will hold another of its popular stag card parties at the Legion hall on East Garfield avenue at 8 o'clock p. m., Friday, May 22, to which the male public are invited. Members are requested to bring card tables and equipment and enough friends to fill a table of bridge, if possible. Any game may be played that is desired. A charge per man will, of course, be made for both members and their friends. If you like to play cards, come along—don't wait for an invitation.

Next Saturday, May 23, is the Legion's "Poppy Day." The poppies will be sold by the Girl Scouts and a portion of the proceeds goes to the disabled soldiers and sailors in the various government hospitals. Give with this in mind.

Sunday, May 24, is Memorial Sunday for the Legion and the members will assemble in force at the Legion hall at 9:30 a. m. to attend services at St. Mary church, Rev. Fr. Fitzpatrick officiating. All who have the Legion caps should wear them, but come anyway.

Friday, May 22, all members who can wield a paint brush with any reasonable degree of skill are asked to put in as much time as possible on covering the exterior of the Legion hall with a second coat of paint—that is, providing the weather permits. Monday evening (and afternoon, if possible) an endeavor will be made to finish the painting of the yard around the hall, and volunteers are also requested for this job.

Mrs. Henika, Commander of the Legion's Ladies' Auxiliary at Petoskey, will be at the Legion hall on Garfield avenue to form a local Auxiliary and all ladies of Charlevoix and vicinity who are eligible for membership are requested to be there at 2 o'clock p. m. It is necessary that the local organization be formed before the district meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliaries which will be held here on June 7, so that delegates may be elected to the state convention at that time. The Auxiliary is an important adjunct to a Legion post and it is hoped that many ladies will take advantage of the opportunity to join on Monday afternoon.

R. E. OLDS TO BRING PALATIAL YACHT HERE

"Reomar" Exchanged in Deal for Former Thomson Yacht "Sylvia"

The palatial yacht "Sylvia," formerly owned by Logan Thomson, Cincinnati, Ohio, and Charlevoix summer resident, will again make Charlevoix her home port.

Through a recent deal, R. E. Olds, who has a large summer home at Oldswood Point on Lake Charlevoix, traded his yacht "Reomar" for the former Thomson yacht. The "Reomar," whose name will be changed to "Rensmar," is now being fitted out for her journey to Bay City, where the exchange will be made. Capt. Alfred Brown is in charge of the work and will take the boat to Bay City as soon as it is fitted out.

The yacht "Sylvia" will be brought back to Charlevoix to make her headquarters. It is understood that Mr. Olds will enlarge his boat house on Round lake to accommodate the larger craft, although this work may not be done until fall.

It is also understood that the Olds family will occupy their summer home this season. A 9-hole miniature golf course is now under construction there under the direction of William Seymour, and improvements to playground equipment will be made.

DR. WITTERS OPENED OFFICES HERE TODAY

Suite Over Levinson's Store Made Ready for Occupancy

Dr. Josef E. Witters, formerly of Grand Rapids, opened offices over Levinson's store today for the practice of medicine and surgery in Charlevoix.

The suite of offices have been equipped during the past week and have been attractively decorated. Dr. Witters, during his getting-acquainted rounds here, has made many friends, who will wish him success.

STATE RANKS FIRST FOR GRADING HERDS

Michigan in Lead to Remove Inferior Animals from Holstein Lists

Michigan owners of Holstein stand in first place in the national campaign to improve the breed by a plan of herd classification in which the registration papers of Holstein cows which grade as poor in type are cancelled, according to J. G. Hayes, secretary of the Michigan association of Holstein breeders.

More Michigan herds have been inspected and graded under this plan than in any other state. Holstein breeders say that the plan will result in the betterment of the breed type as the cancellation of the papers of any cow reduces that animal to the status of a grade and none of her progeny can be registered.

The herd classification plan recognizes six grades of animals ranging from excellent to poor. Bull calves from a mature cow which does not rate better than fair, the next to the lowest grade, can not be registered, and all owners are urged to select breeding stock only from the better grade animals.

NEW SERVICE STA- TION OPENS SOON

WORK NEARS COMPLETION—START SALES NEXT WEEK

Angus L. Fochtman and Albert Cook Form Charlevoix Oil Co.—Have Complete Gas, Oil, Lubrication

Work is rapidly nearing completion on a new semi-super service station, which has been under construction at the corner of River street and Michigan avenue for the past several weeks.

Behind the project are Angus L. Fochtman and Albert Cook, who have formed a company which will be known as the Charlevoix Oil Company. Both are well known local men.

When completed, the station will house a complete lubricating equipment, air hoist, drain pit, oil and display room; also men's and ladies' rest rooms. All modern equipment is being installed, such as electric gas pumps, grease guns, air hoist, etc.

Cities Service gas and Pennsylvania oils, both well known, and nationally advertised products, will be sold, along with a line of Alcotex greases for the lubricating department.

Large storage tanks have been erected on Ferry avenue just north of the city electric light plant to accommodate gasoline in car lots.

Mr. Fochtman has been connected with the E. E. Cross service station on Petoskey avenue for the past year, and Mr. Cook has been with the Standard Oil Co., at their station, corner State and Mason, for the past nine years.

While the service station will not be entirely completed until some time early in June, Messrs. Fochtman and Cook expect to commence the sale of gas and oil early next week. Work on their station has been entirely done by local labor and as far as possible, supplies have been purchased here in Charlevoix.

Erection of the station on gravel pit, has made a decided improvement at this central spot in the resort district.

FUNERAL FOR EVELINE PIONEER ON THURSDAY

Mrs. Godfrey MacDonald, Who Died at Lansing, Buried at Brookside

Funeral services were held at 11 o'clock last Thursday morning at the Jardine residence on Mason street for Mrs. Godfrey MacDonald, pioneer of Eveline township, who died Tuesday at Lansing following a stroke of paralysis. She would have been 87 years of age August 10th.

Rev. G. A. Weaver of Petoskey, an old friend of the family, conducted the services, and the remains were laid to rest in Brookside cemetery.

Mrs. MacDonald was survived by three daughters and two sons, viz: Mrs. Lon Sheldon, Detroit; Mrs. S. D. Pepper, Port Huron; Mrs. George Jardine, Charlevoix; Duncan MacDonald, East Jordan; Malcolm MacDonald, Lansing, with whom she had resided; also 15 grandchildren and 11 great-grandchildren. She was a member of the Baptist church of Charlevoix.

We need your washing and greasing and will do it for $1.00 each. Brown's garage.—Adv. 2012.

FORM EXTENSION CLUB AT IRONTON

THREE GROUPS ORGANIZE WITH DIFFERENT PROJECTS

Leaders Selected and Club Officers Named—Club Meetings to Be Held Every Month

A large group of young people gathered at the Ironton Congregational church Friday to hear County Agent B. C. Mellenkamp of Boyne City, speak on the advantages of county extension work and to organize into groups for the purpose of specializing in certain farm projects.

Mr. Mellenkamp's talk was well received and Charlevoix county should congratulate itself in having an agent so interested in the young people of our farming communities.

As a result of the meeting, three groups were formed. One was a Dairy club of five boys. This group is composed of Percy Brown, president; Wilson Ward, vice-president; Marion Jackson, secretary-treasurer; Albert Jackson and Clyde Cunningham. The boys selected Marion Jackson, a successful dairy farmer at Ironton, as their leader and instructor.

A Sheep club of four boys was formed, with William Sanderson, another successful Ironton farmer, as leader and instructor. This group was not formally organized, as a club of this type should be formed in the fall. However, they will meet with the other clubs for the monthly gatherings. The boys making up the group are Archie Ward, Bruce Sanderson, Wilson Ward and Raymond Cunningham. Bruce Sanderson will also specialize in potatoes.

The third group formed was a Canning club, composed of eight girls as follows: Faida Ogden, president; Annabelle Cunningham, vice-president; Hilda Ogden, secretary-treasurer; Edna Cunningham, leader; Luella Cunningham, Ruth Neilson, Hilda Jackson and Luella Mitchell.

The three groups and others present formed a club to be known as the Ironton Community Club for Extension Work. Rev. G. R. Parker, pastor of the Ironton church, was elected as General, and the leaders of the different groups, viz: Mr. Jackson, Mr. Sanderson and Edna Cunningham, were elected lieutenants. A meeting of the different groups will be held every two weeks and the club will meet the second Wednesday of each month.

After business was taken care of, a splendid luncheon was served under the direction of Mrs. Sanderson, Mrs. Jackson and Mrs. Neilson.

REGION PIONEER TAKEN BY DEATH

MRS. BENJ. CAMPBELL DIED
FRIDAY AT ALPENA

Came Here as a Child With Her Father, Who Was One of Char-levoix's First Residents

Charlevoix and Northern Michigan lost one of its earliest pioneers last Friday morning in the death of Mrs. Benjamin Campbell, who passed away at the home of her daughter, Mrs. A. F. Wentz of Alpena, with whom she had been making her home for the past five years.

Mrs. Campbell had been in ill health for several years, and death was caused from infirmities of old age.

Lennie Beers was born March 24, 1849, at Courtland, Kent county, Michigan. She was 82 years of age at her death. When but a child she came with her widowed father to the village of Pine River, now Charlevoix. There was only a small settlement here then. Her father operated Charlevoix's first general store, was its first postmaster, and was the first Worshipful Master of the Masonic lodge when it was organized here.

She was married in 1869 at Northport, to Almon Ingalls, who died a year later. In 1879 she was united in marriage to Benjamin Campbell at Charlevoix. Mr. Campbell, who followed the ship building trade here for many years, died June 22, 1929, at an advanced age.

Surviving relatives are two daughters, Mrs. A. F. Wentz of Alpena, and Mrs. A. R. DeWitt of Harhor Springs; a son, Philo Campbell of Charlevoix; one brother, Amos Beers of East Jordan; two grandchildren, Erma and Magdalene DeWitt of Harhor Springs.

Funeral services were held at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon from the old family home on Park avenue, with Rev. G. R. Parker of the Congregational church, officiating. Interment was in the family lot at Brookside cemetery.

In Mrs. Campbell's death, this region lost one of its highly respected and beloved citizens. Her passing will be regretted by all who knew her.

ATWOOD SERVICE STA- TION BURNED MONDAY

Early Morning Blaze Destroys Building and Threatened Others

A new garage and service station, recently completed at Atwood by George Light, was completely destroyed by fire shortly after midnight Monday morning.

William Goss, local telephone company employee, who was returned from down-state with his family, notified occupants living in the garage, and they barely had time to escape from the burning structure.

Ellsworth and East Jordan fire departments were called to the scene, and through their efforts the flames were kept from spreading to other buildings in the village.

It is understood Mr. Light carried no insurance on the buildings destroyed.

RE-REGISTRATION BILL IS SIGNED BY BRUCKER

Auto Drivers Must Renew Licenses
Every 3 Years by New Provision

Gov. Wilbur M. Brucker has signed the Brady-Campbell bill which provides for re-registration of auto drivers every three years. The bill was given immediate effect and drivers whose present licenses were issued prior to 1925 must be renewed within six months from today. Drivers whose present licenses were originally issued since 1925 have an additional six months for renewal.

The bill was drafted by the attorney general's department at the request of Governor Brucker and received the approval of a special group which he called into conference.

Originally the measure called for re-examination with each re-registration, but this proviso was stricken. Brucker has also signed Senator Calvin A. Campbell's bill which contains general amendments to the act creating the state board of aeronautics and particularly adds two new members, the commissioners of public safety and highway.

BELOVED WOMAN TAKEN BY DEATH

SUDDEN PASSING OF MRS. ALEX-ANDER SHEARER MOURNED

Death Followed Stroke of Paralysis Moody — Was Prominent in Work of Local Fraternities

Deep feelings of sorrow were aroused Monday by the sudden and unexpected death of Mrs. Alexander Shearer, well known and beloved local woman, who passed away at 2 o'clock at her home on East Hurhut avenue.

Mrs. Shearer suffered a stroke of paralysis earlier in the day and the attack resulted in her death.

Ella Alcock was born July 6, 1869, at Uxbridge, Canada. She came to Charlevoix in May, 1895, and was united in marriage in January, 1896, to Alexander Shearer. To this union were born Nellie, deceased; Nita, Archie, Anna (Mrs. Anna Wade), and Emmett, who survive besides the husband. There are also two sisters, Mrs. Charles Carey and Mrs. Charles Jeffries of Charlevoix; two brothers, Archie Alcock of this city and Lafayette Alcock of Pontiac; and three grand-children, one of whom, Barbara, has made her home with her grandmother since the death of her mother, Nellie.

Mrs. Shearer was prominent in church and fraternal activities. She was a member of the Rebekah, Maccabee and Eastern Star lodges, and of Baxter W. R. C. She was a loving and devoted mother, a true friend and neighbor, and will be sadly missed by all who knew her.

Funeral services were held 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon from the residence, with Rebekah rites, and Rev. G. R. Parker of the Congregational church officiating. Interment was at Brookside cemetery.

"BILL" CLARK WON FIRST AT CADILLAC

Captured Half-Mile Event in Class C from Strong Field

Charlevoix high school, with a single entry in the Northwestern Michigan regional field and track meet at Cadillac last Saturday, carried off a first place in the one and only event entered.

"Bill" Clark, recognized as Northern Michigan's speediest half-miler, capped that event in class C competition from a classy field, repaying his performance at the Petoskey invitational meet a week before. His victory gave Charlevoix 5 points.

Cadillac retained its class B championship, while Fremont won in class C and Bear Lake in class D. White, of Boyne City, was high point scorer of the meet.

DOG KILLED TWENTY SHEEP AT HEISE FARM

Ran Rampant in Flock Early Wednesday Morning—Animal Shot

A female police dog, with a broken chain attached to its collar, ran rampant in a flock of sheep at the Clarence Heise farm, four miles south of Charlevoix on U. S. 31, Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock, killing and injuring 20 animals.

Hearing the commotion back in the pasture, Mr. Heise obtained a gun and killed the dog. Efforts to identify its owner are being made.

LIGHT DOCKET FOR MAY TERM

THREE CRIMINAL CASES ARE LISTED, OTHERS LIGHT

Session Will Open Here Monday, May 25th—Jurymen Are Drawn and Calendar Cases Listed

Following closely the postponed March term of circuit court, held here during the month of April, the regular May term will have an exceptionally light docket.

Court will open here next Monday, May 26th, with Judge Parm C. Gilbert of Traverse City, presiding. A large docket was disposed of during the session in April, leaving only a handful of held-over cases to take care of. In addition to probation cases, which will be taken care of the opening day of court, the docket has two applications for citizenship, three criminal cases, five issues of fact and law and a single chancery case exclusive of divorce actions.

Following is the docket and jurors drawn:

Criminal Cases

The People vs. James Whitley, malicious destruction of property.

The People vs. Charles Martin and Carl Left, malicious destruction of personal property.

Issues of Fact and Law

The People of the State of Michigan for the use and benefit of the Traverse City Iron Works, a corporation, plaintiff, vs. Sanitary Engineering Co., a corporation of Michigan, and the Southern Surety Co., a New York corporation, defendant, trespass.

C. J. Farley and Co., a corporation, plaintiff, vs. Clarence J. Withers and William Withers, defendant, trespass.

General Motors Delco Light Co., plaintiff, vs. Henry Gooch, Jr., defendant, First National Bank of Boyne City, garnishee defendants, garnishment.

Andrew C. Struthers, plaintiff, vs. Horace S. Newson and Bernard H. Newson, defendants, replevin.

W. O. Gotwals, plaintiff, vs. First National Bank of Boyne City, defendant, bill for accounting.

BOB MILES OPENED STUDIO THIS WEEK

Completed Training for Vocation in New York Last Winter

Following an inclination which first was a hobby and later has become a finished vocation, Bob Miles, well known local young man, has opened a photographic studio at 314 Antrim street.

The studio, which was opened to the public on Tuesday of this week, is equipped with latest devices developed in the photographic art. The lighting system, a combination of indirect and diffused artificial light, is a new departure and one of few used in this country. It produces a natural effect in the photograph and eliminates objectionable shadows.

"Bob" brought home these new ideas from New York, where he completed a course last winter at the New York Institute of Photography. He invites the patronage of local people.

day of Clyde Burns was one of the largest that we have heard for some time. Mr. Burns was killed at the acetate plant of the Iron company by a wheel catching in his clothing and being beaten against the machinery. His injury occurred Wednesday evening, and death occurred Friday. Services were held at the Manclona M. E. church by Rev. Thies. Mrs. O'Brien, wife of the hardware merchant at that place, died the same day.

We are glad to see the community go on Eastern time, once and for all. There will be no more subtracting for sun time or Central Standard time. When you hear that a certain event will occur at 11 o'clock, you will know it means just that. The saving in the light bill will be enormous, taken all over the United States. The farmers can now attend church in town evenings and get back by bedtime, 9:30 o'clock, instead of going to services when they should retire for the night. Services can now be held by daylight. Welcome Eastern time!

Mrs. J. C. Kendall and daughter Eleanor accompanied Rev. Kendall to services at Norwood last Friday evening. There was an attendance of 36 at Sunday school. On Sunday union services of Atwood and Norwood churches was held at Norwood. A good crowd was in attendance, and Rev. Kendall remarked about the beauty of the church as the sun shone in the windows. Norwood has a fine church building. The attendance of Central Lake Congregational Sunday school was 68, M. E. 66, F. M. 33, Eastport 20, Pleasant Valley 36, Manclona Christian church 66, and good attendance at Tilley school south of Manclona, Vance, and Finkton.

America's leading business concerns have bought
27,605 Chevrolets

Prominent among the thousands of concerns using large fleets of Chevrolets are many of the leaders of American industry. In fact, 73 outstanding business firms have purchased a total of 27,605 Chevrolet cars and trucks.

The reason for this preference lies in the unexcelled economy of Chevrolet cars and trucks, as proved by official cost records. These records show that 20 miles to the gallon is a common occurrence among Chevrolet cars. That oil expense is extremely low. That Chevrolet cars and trucks require only a minimum of service attention. That they give satisfactory low-cost service over exceptionally long periods of time.

Naturally, a car with such a fine record of economy represents an extremely wise investment for any buyer! Especially so, when you consider the many advantages that Chevrolet offers alive and beyond economical operation. Come in and learn what these advantages are—what they mean in terms of style, comfort, safety, reliability and value.

Speedway Tests Reveal

FACTS to guide the careful buyer of Motor Oil

The Contest Board of the American Automobile Association certifies to these statements:

- 1 Iso-Vis Motor Oil did not thin out from dilution.
- 2 During the entire test of 9,000 miles, the engine and chassis of all cars were lubricated effectively.
- 3 Oil Added: only 63/100 of a quart—average for all cars—in 1,000 mile test at 30 miles per hour, using Iso-Vis 50 (Heavy).
- 4 Effect of speed on oil consumption: Speed is the chief factor affecting oil consumption. All oils tested at 55 miles per hour showed a consumption nearly 7 times that at 30 miles per hour. Iso-Vis gave excellent oil economy at all speeds.
- 5 Carbon: only 6.23 grams per cylinder at 30 m. p. h. using Iso-Vis 50 (Heavy), average for all cars.
- 6 Cylinder Wear: scarcely measurable—less than one one-thousandth (1/1000) of an inch in any cylinder in any car for the entire 9,000 miles.

HERE is proof that New Iso-Vis does an outstanding job of lubrication.

Try this tested and certified oil in your car. Then at draining time, make the Ball and Bottle Test at any Standard Oil Service Station or dealer with New Iso-Vis you have used. See for yourself that besides many other advantages, New Iso-Vis will not thin out from dilution.

DIRECTORY LISTS LAKES IN COUNTY

PUBLICATION CONTAINS MUCH VALUABLE INFORMATION

Hudson and Peaine Townships Have Six Lakes Each—Directory Published by Magazine of Michigan

(Special to Courier from Magazine of Michigan, East Lansing.)
Complete descriptions of 25 Charlevoix county lakes and a list of the county's trout streams are contained in a 120-page Michigan Lakes and Streams Directory just published by the Magazine of Michigan, of East Lansing, first copies of which were received here today.

The Charlevoix county lakes, according to the directory, are distributed by townships as follows: Bay and Melrose, one (Walloon lake); Charlevoix, Hayes, Eveline, Bay, South Arm and Evangeline, one (Lake Charlevoix); Eveline, two; Hayes, one; Hudson, six; Marion, five; Norwood, one; Peaine, six; South Arm, one; and Wilson, one.

Four of the lakes are listed as having extensive resort development, 13 have boat livers, 13 have good swimming and 15 are much frequented. Lake Charlevoix ranks as the third largest in the state.

Unlike most of the other counties in the state, Charlevoix county has no duplications among its lake names.

The directory contains information assembled from many different sources, including the following Charlevoix county supervisors: Wm. Cook, of Charlevoix; Lillie Gardner, of Boyae City; John W. Green, of St. James; Lewis Magee, Boyne Falls; George Meggison, Charlevoix; Charles Murphy, East Jordan; Chas. Reidel, Boyne City; Charles M. Smith, Bay Shore; Howard Stephens, Boyne City; and Orton Van Deusen, Charlevoix.

Most of the fishing information in the directory was obtained from the files of the state conservation department's fish division. Many additional facts were supplied by 585 township supervisors, members of various Izaak Walton League chapters, and others.

Altogether, 4,187 lakes with recognized names have been listed in the book, which points out that if a person visited one a day, it would take him more than 11 years to make the rounds.

The lakes are distributed quite generally over the entire state, with the four or five southern counties actually having the greatest number, though the northern counties have the largest ones. Only six counties have no lakes at all.

Oakland county is first in number, with 270 lakes listed. Kent county is second, with 180. Barry has 177; Marquette, 159; Lapeer, 158; Gogebic, 130; Ogemaw, 120; Newaygo, 119; and Montcalm, 104. The record for townships is held by Watersmeet, in Gogebic county, which has 89.

The largest inland lake in Michigan is Houghton, in Rosecommon county, with 18,950 acres. Torch lake, in Antrim county, with 18,000 acres, is second in size and enjoys the distinction of having the greatest length—18 miles.

Other large lakes, in the order of their size, are: Lake Charlevoix, in Charlevoix county, 17,100 acres; Burt, in Cheboygan, 16,960; Mullet, in Cheboygan, 15,720; Lake Gogebic, in Gogebic and Ontonagon, 12,000; Crystal, in Benzie, 10,240; Manistique, in Mackinac and Luce, 10,100; Black, in Cheboygan, 10,000; Higgins, in Rosecommon, 9,600; Lake Leelanau, in Leelanau, 8,960; Elk, in Antrim and Grand Traverse, 8,320; Iadua, in Schoolcraft, 8,000; Glen, in Leelanau, 7,680; Hubbard, in Alpena, 6,840; Walloon, in Charlevoix and Emmet, 5,300; Long, in Alpena, 5,120; Graud, in Presque Isle, 5,000; and Gull, in Barry and Kalamazoo, 5,000.

To what extent are the more than 4,000 lakes being used? The survey indicates they are used a great deal, though they are far from being over-run, or even used in anywhere near the degree that would give the greatest possible enjoyment to the greatest number of people. The number of lakes that are much frequented has been found to be 1,869. The number reported to be good for swimming is 1,577. Boat livers are operated at 1,067 lakes. Resort development is extensive at 491.

Although the term "private" as applied to lakes has an element of indefiniteness, and therefore was not included in the questions asked of the supervisors, 88 lakes were reported by them as being private—which indicates something of the tendency of the times.

Of the more than 2,000 lakes that are not much frequented, some are neglected because they are not easily accessible, some because they have swamp shores or other undesirable features, some because they are too small, and some simply because they are off the beaten path and have not attracted general attention.

One of the most astonishing things revealed by the directory is the immense number of name duplications. Forty-six names account for 1,252 of the lakes. Altogether, 2,771 lakes share their names with others, leaving only 1,416 that are entirely individual. The most common name of lakes is Mud, which, with variations such as Big Mud, and Little Mud, is applied to 197 lakes. The Long lakes are second, with 91; the Bass lakes third, with 66; the Twin lakes fourth, with 60 pairs; and the Round lakes fifth, with 59.

Other common names, which are applied to lakes in many counties, are as follows, in the order of their number: Perch, Pickerel, Grass, Cranberry, Crooked, Silver, Bear, Spring, Lost, Pine, Loon, Indian, Cedar, Fish, Blue, Island, Pleasant, Black, Crystal, Bullhead, Duck, Goose, Sand, Trout, Green, North, Wolfe, Lime, Beaver, Miller, Clark, Marl, Eagle, Johnson, Spruce West.

The names of the lakes, taken in the aggregate, provide material for a fascinating study. Apparently the early settlers, who must have named them, were influenced by similar considerations, no matter in what part of the state they happened to live.

Hundreds of lakes have names that are derived from animals, birds, fish, trees, flowers and fruit found in their vicinity. Other important groups of names are drawn from the color, shape or appearance of the lakes; from miscellaneous physical characteristics; from numbers of the sections in which they happen to be located; from nearby cities; from names and nicknames of persons, and so on.

Names that are at once colorful and attractive are Magician, Angelus, Sylvan, Sunrise, Sunset, Rain-bow, Avalon, Echo and Lake of the Clouds. But over against these are Dead, Dead Man's, Dead Water, Death, Fatal, Cemetery, Rattail, Snakes and Devils.

Some of the oddities are Jesse James, Gold Mine, Sleigh Runner, Haywire, Pee Wee, Off Near, Golf Course, Coattail, Hatchet and Pitchfork.

With all the Indian background in Michigan, one might expect to find many Indian names for lakes. However there are only a few in this category—among them being Bnw Beese in Hillsdale county (named for an Indian chief), Copaconic (or Copaconic) on the Genesee-Oakland lake, Cobmoosa and Pe-Bam-Ma in Oceana, Oakeama in Manistee, Michigamme in Marquette, Manitou in Keweenaw, and Wah-be-ka-netta (water lingers again) in Graud Traverse.

"There have been, as is true in any pioneer undertaking," declare the editors of the directory in the foreword, "many serious difficulties to be overcome. Doubtless some errors have crept in, and doubtless some lakes of importance have been left out. However, all possible care has been taken to see that the directory is complete and accurate. The editors believe that it makes available to the general public detailed information such as has never been available before, and that it will result in the lakes being used and appreciated to an even greater extent than they are now."

ROD LICENSE BILL IS UP TO SENATE

Measure Passed House Last Week by Vote of 59 to 30

The administration's demand that the cost of fish propagation be shouldered by the fisherman has been answered by the house with the passage of the Teagan general rod license bill which now goes to the senate. The house vote was 59 to 30.

No provision has been made in the general budget bill for operating of fish hatcheries and the measure is also expected to provide funds for forest fire work. It will replace the trout license, but, according to an amendment attached, will be operative only until 1933 as an emergency measure.

Attempts to have the bill apply only to inland waters were voted down as was an amendment which would compel the state to give free licenses to Indians on order of the county poor commissions.

AT THE MOVIES

Clever Imitations Start This Pair Towards Fame.

A clever imitation, in the right place and at the right time, will bring fame and fortune. Or so it has been in the lives of Jackie Coogan and Mitzi Green.

No one can deny their ascension to premier positions as successful child performers. And they are not denying that they capitalized on imitations of "crazes of the hour."

More than ten years ago, the "shimmy" dance was the most talked-of thing in the United States. So when Jackie Coogan, four and a half years of age, did the impromptu "shimmy" on the stage of a Los Angeles vaudeville house at the request of Annette Kellerman, the audience shrieked with laughter and gave thunderous applause. Charles Chaplin saw the act and engaged Jackie for "The Kid."

Three years ago, Moran and Mack, the Two Black Crows, were the most popular entertainers in the show world and their records were being quoted in millions of homes. So, when Mitzi Green, six years old, impersonated the lazy-voiced Charley Mack to her father's piping Moran at an actor's benefit in Freeport, Long Island, the audience acknowledged her a sensation. A vaudeville scout saw her and signed her as a headliner. This brought her into motion pictures.

Never before together in a moving picture, Jackie and Mitzi will be seen and heard as Tom and Becky Thatcher in "Tom Sawyer" at the Palace Theatre on Saturday and Sunday next. The role of Tom's playmate, Huckleberry Finn, is portrayed by Junior Durkin, child actor from the Broadway stage.

"Tom Sawyer" is Jackie's first talking picture.

"The Dawn Trail."

Thousands of cattle, maddened with thirst, charged wildly over the knoll where the heroine lay fallen. There are thrills galore in the new Buck Jones western—"The Dawn Trail," which will be shown at the Palace Theatre next Wednesday and Thursday.

OBITUARY

Mary Rose Hosler was born on March 29, 1862, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Hosler, and departed this life on May 5, 1931, at the age of 69 years, one month, and six days.

She was united in marriage to Lewis DuFore on July 4, 1900. She was the mother of ten children, four of whom preceded her in death, leaving to mourn their loss, besides her husband, five sons, Arthur and Alex of Charlevoix; Earl of Deer Lake; Harrison of Melvin; Irving of Ellsworth; Laura of Detroit, also four brothers, one sister, 14 grandchildren, five great grandchildren and a host of friends and other relatives.

IN congratulating the winners in the great Camel contest we want at the same time to thank most cordially the approximately million men and women who displayed their friendly interest by sending in an entry.

We wish also to thank the millions of smokers throughout the country for the appreciation they are showing for our new Humidor Pack as is evidenced by the notable increase in the sale of Camel cigarettes.

By means of this dust-proof, germ-proof, moisture-proof Cellophane wrapping the rich aroma and full flavor of choice Turkish and mellow Domestic tobaccos have been air-sealed in Camels for your enjoyment.

If you have not tried Camels in the Humidor Pack all we ask is that you switch over to this brand for one day.

After you have learned how much milder, how much cooler, how much more enjoyable it is to smoke a perfectly conditioned fresh cigarette, go back to the harsh hotness of stale cigarettes if you can.

TASK-MASTERS

Getting out a good newspaper is a fascinating task, but it is also a difficult one. No other job that comes to mind is quite so taxing, so hurried or demands greater pains. From the moment a newspaper is started, be it either daily or weekly, the work is carried on under pressure, a race against time. Put yourself in an editor's position—could you do it?

Could you, for example, spell correctly offhand, the names of a large percentage of the residents of the town? If you could do that could you write their initials correctly without resorting to the telephone directory or other authority? Could you write down, offhand, the names of, your town officials, getting all the names, initials and offices correct? Could you gather the threads of a story from a half dozen different persons and weave them into an intelligent, readable account of the first writing? Could you write seven columns of material of 1,200 to 1,400 words each in two or three days, week after week, year after year, and when you had finished those seven, pound two or three columns more before press time? In writing a headline, could you call it to mind in a moment enough synonyms so that you would not repeat the main thought in the same words? Could you judge in a minimum of time what size headlines and what position in the paper should be given to each of the 75, 100 or more stories that might go into your paper? Could you decide in a moment or exercise "snap" judgment on the dozens of questions a newspaper man must face daily and get a majority of them correct?

We won't time you—but if you could do these few simple things and a thousand and one more difficult ones you should be a newspaper editor.

The point we wish to make is, that one can produce a good newspaper only after continual, diligent study and years of practical experience. You have heard dozens of persons remark that they could turn out a newspaper, and a good one, too, a bit better in fact, than the one they are getting. That is not true unless they have gone through the years and study that a good newspaper demands of its makers.

Were it not for the peculiar fascination associated with newspaper work there would be no newspapers, for there is no greater task-master and money alone would be far too scant compensation.

$1.00 will wash your car, $1.00 will grease your car, and complete tire, battery, bumping and refinishing at Brown's garage.—Adv. 2012.

ST. JAMES COUPLE OBSERVE GOLDEN WEDDING

Seventy-Five Guests at Affair Given at Island Monday, May 18

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Nackerman, well known and prominent residents of St. James, Beaver Island, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary at their home there Monday, May 18th.

The ceremony was opened with mass at 7:00 a. m., celebrated by the Rev. Fr. Neubecker.

Relatives of the Jubilarians attended from distant cities. Six sisters and one brother of Mrs. Nackerman, Mr. and Mrs. John Doyle, Mr. and Mrs. William Beabean, the Misses Camille and Lucille Doyle, Mrs. Jack Kane of Chicago; Ralph McCauley of Milwaukee, Wis.; Mrs. Sue Marrow, Douglas, Ariz.; Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Norton of Gladstone, Mich.; also two Sisters of Mercy from Mercy Hospital, Cadillac, viz: Sister M. Hildegarde and Sister M'Clare. In all, the guests numbered seventy-five.

A 6 o'clock dinner was served at which William Gallagher was toast-master. A purse of gold was presented in addition to many beautiful gifts. Following dinner, a reception was held from 9 to 12 o'clock.

HOLLEY EMPLOYMENT BUREAU TRANSFERRED

Taken Over by Miss Mary Lemieur—Located at Courier Office

The employment agency for women formerly operated by the late Adeline Holley, has been taken over by Miss Mary Lemieur with office in the Courier building, located at rear of postoffice.

The agency will be conducted as in the past. Any woman or girl desiring a position for the summer as cook, second maid, chamber maid, waitress, etc., may file their name, address, telephone number, references and recommendations and approximate salary expected with Miss Lemieur. There will be a small service charge for each position filled.

Honest, dependable service will be given parties seeking employment, or to those desiring good help for the summer months. A number of good positions are open at present for persons applying for them immediately.

It is claimed the world has been turned upside down during recent years, which may be because the people are trying to stand everything on its head.

ANNUAL SENIOR PLAY NEXT FRIDAY EVENING

"Graustark" Selected for Annual Production by Graduating Class

Members of Charlevoix high school senior class are busy with preparations for their annual class play, "Graustark," which will be presented at the gymnasium the evening of Friday, May 29th.

Beautiful settings are being prepared for the three scenes of the play, and more than usual attention has been given to costumes.

Following is the cast:

SENATE FAVORS GRAND RAPIDS STATE FAIR

State Would Purchase Grounds in 1934 Under Conlon Bill

The house Saturday was to receive from the senate Sen. Ernest T. Conlon's proposal that the state purchase and operate the West Michigan fair. A bill proposing the transfer was passed by the senate Friday afternoon by a vote of 23 to 6.

It provides that an item of $175,000 be incorporated in the state tax of 1934, $150,000 of which will be used for purchase of property and the other $25,000 will be used for improvements.

Sen. Conlon told the senate that although the revenue will not be raised until 1934, local interests in Grand Rapids are prepared to advance the needed amount for immediate purchase. He added that state operation of the fair is justified as a means of encouraging and assisting West Michigan agriculture.

CHICAGO-CHARLEVOIX BOAT SERVICES OPEN

Str. Puritan Made This Port on Initial Trip Sunday

Regular boat service from Chicago to Charlevoix and other western Michigan lake port towns has been inaugurated for the 1931 summer season. The Michigan Transit Corporation's steamer Puritan made her initial visit of the season here Sunday evening and will continue throughout the summer.

According to officers of the boat, receding water levels caused difficulty in navigating many harbors along the route, and in others docks are now too high for loading and unloading operations. The latter difficulty was experienced here at Charlevoix.

At the high water stage in 1929, Wilbur's dock was raised to accommodate loading platforms used by boats. With water now down over three feet, the docks are too high, and must be lowered to the old level.

METHODIST NOTES

"If ye break faith with us who sleep, we shall not rest though poppies grow in Flanders fields," so sang Alan Seeger in thinking of the task handed on to succeeding generations. Both the "unfinished task" of the immortal Lincoln and the "breaking faith" of the fallen poet refer to the making of a peaceful world. Over 10,000 out of 19,000 ministers in America have vowed to follow henceforth the ways of peace. This shall be our theme for Sunday morning at 10:30. "I aint gwine to study war no more."

Church school meets at 12 noon. Epworth League is at 6:30.

This Thursday Mrs. Renn Edwards will be hostess to the Literary club at 2:30.

Thursday at 7:30 the pastor continues his studies of Pentecost.

Next Monday at 7:30 is the regular official board meeting.

Ladies' Aid will meet on Tuesday. Please reserve the day.

CHURCH OF GOD

Sunday school, 10:00 a. m.

Preaching at 11:00 a. m.

Young peoples' service, 6:30.

Prayer service Wednesday, 7:30.

The Ladies' Aid will meet with Mrs. Arthur Guild on Thursday at 2 o'clock p. m.

The revival meeting has been a great success. About 118 have come to the altar for help, not counting the children. We invite the public to our services. We have a pastor that is able to present the truth.

ST. MARY CHURCH

Low mass 8:00 a. m., high mass 10:00, first, second and third Sundays. Fourth Sunday at 8:00 a. m.

Service at Bay Shore fourth Sunday at 9:00 a. m.

SHUFFLE BOARD COURTS ARE BEING BUILT HERE

Joel Johnston Has Two Under Construction at Dahlia Farm

Joel Johnston, owner of the Johnston Dahlia Farm, one of this region's foremost tourist attractions, is sponsoring a plan which promises to make his place of greater interest.

Work is now nearly completed on the construction of two shuffle board courts, which will be operated free to tourists and patrons of the farm. The court, of standard size and concrete construction, are being built in front of the Johnston place bordering trunk line U. S. 31. Concrete work has been completed and marking the courts will be done within a short time. Mr. Johnston stated he would probably have them ready for use within a week.

Shuffle board courts, which are extremely popular in southern resorts, are becoming a permanent sports attraction in Northern Michigan.

NORMAL ALUMNI BANQUET SATURDAY NIGHT

Third Annual Affair Will Be Held at Methodist Church

Former graduates from widely scattered points, will come to Charlevoix Saturday for the 3rd annual banquet of the Charlevoix County Normal Alumni Association.

The affair will be held Saturday evening of this week at the Methodist church. Invitations have been extended to a larger number, all graduates of the local institution. A large attendance is expected, and a program is being prepared by members of the 1931 class.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SOCIETY

Sunday service, 10:45 a. m.

Topic, "Soul and Body."

Wednesday evening at 7:45, first Wednesday of month only.

Reading room Tuesday and Saturday, 3:00 to 5:00 p. m.

The public is cordially invited to all services.

"Mortals and Immortals" was the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Christian Science churches on Sunday, May 17.

Among the citations which comprised the lesson-sermon was the following from the Bible: "For as many as are led by the Spirit of God, they are the sons of God." (Rom. 8:14).

The lesson-sermon also included the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "The spiritual man's consciousness and individuality are reflections of God. They are emanations of Him who is Life, Truth, and Love. Immortal man is not and never was material, but always spiritual and eternal." (p.

SWINTON PIANO PUPILS GAVE RECITAL

Excellent Renditions Heard by a Large Audience Tuesday.

Mrs. Marguerite Swinton's first and second grade private and class piano pupils gave a musical program at her home on Michigan avenue Tuesday evening, May 12th.

A generous proportion of two-piano music gave variety, as well as a group of original melodies, the playing of pieces in transposed keys and music accompanied by rhythmic hand instruments, performed by pupils who have been doing their first year's work under the class method of instruction.

The program was largely attended and demonstrated the fact that many things can be easily done by small children which once were considered as a part only of advanced training.

SCHOOL NOTES

It seems that a majority of the people agree that the J-Hop this year was the best ever given. We, the juniors, do not boast, we merely speak what others say. It seemed that all the fates intervened in our behalf, and furnished a gorgeous night for our special use. The orchestra was heavenly and although there was no moon, the green lights on the lake served the same purpose. All that was lacking was the canon.

We feel that it was an appropriate dance, for, since we have a mighty fine senior class, it was necessary for us to have an equally fine celebration for them.

The juniors appreciate the help given by Hieken, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Bridge, Foster, Harrington and patrons of the J-Hop.

Sophomores Study Poetry

The sophomores have been making a study of poetry lately and as a result we are able to submit a few original poems.

An Orchard

I wandered in an orchard.
The trees were all in bloom;
I breathed their fragrant odor,
That filled Dame Nature's room.
The blossoms shone like diamonds,
As they glistened in the sun;
On a background of emeralds,
These blossom beads were strung.
—Irene Collner.

Senior Play

"Graustark" or "Love Behind the Throne" will be given Friday, May 29, by the seniors. The entire senior class is either in the play or taking part in the production, which makes it a real senior play. The acting will be of unusual merit due to the diligent attention to the real technique of dramatic art and the dramatic experience obtained from former plays in which members of the cast have starred.

There are three pretentious settings. The first set represents the court yard of a hotel in Graustark. It is sunset and the lighting effects will be so skillfully developed that the audience will see the light gradually disappear as the sun sets and then grow brighter as the moon rises. A stone wall, flowers, and garden seats will add to the reality of the scene.

The second set is in the Princess's boudoir, the rose of the draperies and the gold of the furniture present an alluring appearance in the soft light of the candles.

The third set shows the throne room of the princess. Stained glass windows can be seen beyond gold pillars. It is here that the most thrilling and dramatic scenes of the play are enacted.

We want you to see the play. It is serving two purposes, that of class day as well as the usual senior play.

The quality of the play alone deserves the loyal support of every citizen in Charlevoix. It is the last voluntary project the seniors will sponsor in C. H. S. and we want it to be a success. You can help us.

"What If It Rains"

"Seeing is believing," so the seniors are letting the citizens of Charlevoix have a broad peek into the throne room of Graustark next Saturday. A float representing the play will go through all the main streets of the town. Seeing the Princess on her throne, with other members of the court around her, will make everyone wish to see this unusual play. Watch for the float at 3 o'clock.

Civics Election

Hear Ye! Hear Ye! Be it known to all in the high school of the City of Charlevoix that the American Government class will hold an election next week. All people of the high school of the aforesaid city are requested to partake in the election. Robert Foster Esq. has been duly appointed and sworn in as register or clerk of the election and all voters are required by law to register with him prior to the election.

Be it further known that the polls will be open to voters from 8:00 to 8:45 a. m., 12:45 a. m. to 1:00 p. m., and 4:00 p. m. to 5:00 p. m.

Much work has been done by the Hon. Mr. Robert B. McCall in preparing the election. He has appointed the following boards and officers. The election board composed of gate keeper, William Clark; inspectors, Victor Smith, Glenn Heise, Hilda Ogden, and Agnes Brown; and chairman of the board, Eloise Tillotson. Also the ballot committee, composed of Lola Fessenden, Angie Scott and Dorothy Struthers, have prepared a ballot that will interest all.

A Pine Tree

I wish I were a pine tree,
Standing upon a hill;
With birds and bees around me,
As they fly o'er vale and rill.
I wish I were a pine tree,
Towering upward, oh so high;
With the wild geese flying above me,
In the light of the evening sky.
—Lila Tillotson.

Class Prophecy

One sunny morning in 1942, as I was walking down the street in St. Louis, I was startled to hear my name called. I looked around and saw across the street my old friend and classmate, Agnes Brown. She wore a starched white uniform and in a few minutes informed me that she was a nurse in a hospital close by. We decided to breakfast together and just as we were about to enter a restaurant, who should we see but Lillian Manley and Edith Hewitt. They were in charge of one of the hospitals in the southern part of the city. We all had a good visit and thoroughly enjoyed our breakfast.

In the afternoon I left by train for Chicago. As I arrived there I saw a large crowd of people following an open limousine. Inside were two young women, who a bystander told me were famous musicians. As the car swept by me the two women turned their heads and I beheld two old schoolmates, Gwendolen Miller and Lola Fessenden.

As I was entering the "Woodworth" store in Chicago I collided violently with a young woman just coming out. Imagine my amazement to find it to be Father Casey I had assaulted. She invited me to her apartment for luncheon and on the way there we noticed a plane soaring over the city. I remarked that I wondered what had become of our would-be aviators at school. David Coulter and Charles Cellner. Whereupon Casey laughed and then told me that David was her patient. As she had not yet informed me about her work I innocently asked her if she meant he was her husband. Here she laughed so hard I began to feel foolish, but she finally explained that she was a surgical nurse, and as David had been hurt in a plane crash, he was under her care at the hospital. Also that Charles Cellner was an aviator in the government employ, and instead of the car he once used, he now drove Mary Simmons, a special worker, about in a faster vehicle, his airplane.

After lunch Casey conducted me to the Chicago University. As we passed along the halls I heard a familiar voice in a room at the right. Inside were a group of girls and speaking to them was Eloise Tillotson. We learned that she was Dean of Women at the University where years before she had continued her education, after leaving old C. H. S. She told us that Francis Marshall and Hilda Ogden were also there, Francis as physical training instructor, and Hilda as the head of the physics department. In Chicago I decided to purchase a Ford car. As I wished to buy a second-hand one I went to the used car market. Here I found Bob Foster attempting to sell a Ford to Marjorie Manley, but as Marjorie had lost none of her debating ability since leaving high school, Bob was certainly earning his day's wage. However, Marjorie determined to buy a Buick, so her salesman was out of luck. As for me, I succeeded in eluding this classmate only after I had lost a couple month's pay and had acquired a dilapidated old Ford.

With a questionable looking agent on my hands and a slim pocketbook I came to the conclusion I would drive to New York, my next stopping place. On the way and in front of a small farm house my Lenn decided to talk. I was out of gas and nearly out of patience when a team of horses and a wagon came out of the barn a short distance from the farm house, and I was agreeably surprised to see the driver was Dixon Warner. He offered to give me some gas and further suggested that I stop for dinner as it was then almost noon. He informed me that he was married and upon entering the house, he introduced me to his wife—Annabelle Cunningham. We were more than delighted to meet again and I enjoyed this friend's cooking as of yore. Dixon told me to stop at a rural school on my way to the next town. I did this and found the teacher to be Lyra Lindley. No wonder so many people visit school nowadays. Lyra showed me some paper clippings which told of the appearance in Chicago of Dorothy Struthers, leading lady in the opera, "A Man's Choice."

Arriving in New York, much to the surprise for wear with the remains of a once-was Ford, I attempted to find the famous steamship "Congress." I had little difficulty in locating it and as it was open for public inspection, I went aboard. The president, for whom it was built, was to take possession the following Monday. Once on board, I was introduced to the captain, and to my amazement found him to be Bill Novak.

After viewing the steamship I decided to go shopping. I entered a department store and saw walking toward me, Doris Struthers. She told me that another classmate, Lee Shapton, was also working in the same store. I later learned he was a floor walker.

Leaving Doris I stopped at a lunch stand and found myself gazing at a

Photos show the three major prize winners in the Camel cigarette contest. James Thomas Sharkey, 22, a milkman, in Boston, was awarded first prize of $15,000. Mrs. Walter Sweet, mother of three children and wife of a Marine Corps captain stationed at the Brooklyn (N. Y.) Navy Yard, won second prize of $10,000, and Julius M. Nolte, real estate dealer, and former secretary of the Duluth Commercial Club, received the third prize of $5,000. In addition, five prizes of $1,000 each, five prizes of $500 each and twenty-five prizes of $100 each were awarded.

The three fortunate prize winners will go to Winston-Salem, N. C., where Camel cigarettes are manufactured, to receive their checks.

MILLER-McBRIDE BILL GREAT AID Will Save Taxpayers 15 Per Cent on Taxes of 1929 and 1930

Perhaps the most important piece of emergency legislation passed by the present legislature, is that known as the Miller-McBride bill which sets up a period from the effective date of the bill to July 1, 1931, in which property owners whose taxes are delinquent for the years 1929 and 1930 may pay state, county, township and school district taxes—general and special—without penalties, fees and interest charges.

Nothing has been accomplished thus far in the legislature which brings such direct and immediate relief to Michigan taxpayers as this measure. To those property owners whose taxes for the years 1929 and 1930 are not paid, it means a saving of approximately 15 per cent.

To increase the benefits to be received by these property owners, it will be necessary for each village and city administration to adopt ordinances providing the same relief on city taxes as is provided in the Miller-McBride bill. Even to those property owners who find it necessary to borrow the money to receive the benefits under this new law, it will mean a marked saving.

Real Estate Boards, Chambers of Commerce, public officials and others should use every means possible in informing the taxpayers of their several localities of the benefits to be received under this law and of the fact that in order to receive these benefits delinquent taxes for 1929 and 1930 must be paid not later than June 30, 1931. It is not necessary for a taxpayer delinquent for the two years to pay for both years at one time. We urge the widest cooperation on the part of all individuals in spreading the information.

AGRICULTURAL NOTES

By B. C. Mellicamp

To Build Exercising Lot for Dairy Bull

Lack of adequate facilities for managing the dairy bull is one of the greatest handicaps to permanent dairy herd improvement. Under present conditions, many good young bulls are slaughtered before their value as sires is proved. In this way hundreds of bulls worth thousands of dollars from the standpoint of breeding are lost each year to dairymen of the county.

A demonstration exercising pen and safety breeding chute will be built in this county on May 26th, through the cooperation of the county agricultural agent and the dairy and agricultural engineering departments of Michigan State college. This pen will be built on the farm of John Struthers, Charlevoix, located on M-31 about five miles east of Charlevoix. The construction work will take all day, but at 2 o'clock a short discussion of the features and description of its erection will be conducted.

The construction of an exercising lot and safety breeding chute for the bull will eliminate the chance of the owner or caretaker being injured by the bull. The enclosure may be made with fencing, poles or any material of sufficient strength. By using second hand lumber the actual cost may not exceed from $5 to $8.

Come any time during the afternoon, but especially be present at 2 o'clock so as to hear about its construction.

Colt Breaking and Multiple Hitch Demonstrations
Many farmers dread colt breaking more than anything else connected with farming. Often colts are not properly trained and cause much trouble thereafter. Yet it is rather a simple job if a regular colt breaking system is employed.

If you are interested in seeing a colt broken in a very few minutes, and actually pulling a wagon, come to the following demonstration and see H. F. Moxley, specialist of Michigan State college, show you his system.

The colt breaking demonstration will be conducted at the Breezy Point farm, next to the Ironton ferry, on Wednesday, May 27, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

Also, at the above place several multiple hitch demonstrations will be shown, using four, five and six horses. On many farms that are not adapted to the use of tractors, horse power can be used to better advantage by these combinations. Come to this meeting and see the multiple hitch demonstrations and the unbroken colts subdued.

From the federal census our horse population has been steadily decreasing from year to year. Very soon there will be a severe shortage of good farm horses to be found. Why not raise one or two colts to replace your older horses? Don't worry about how to break colts, just come to the demonstration at Breezy Point farm and see a system that works and one that you can employ.

FORT AT MACKINAW IS BEING REBUILT

Stockade and Museum to be Made Before Tourist Season

Work on the restoration of old Fort Michilimackinac, near the site of the historic Indian massacre, has been started at Mackinaw City by the state park commission. This year's work will consist of erecting a stockade and the building of a museum to house relics, which were collected from the old fort before it fell to ruins.

Approximately 3,500 wooden posts will be used in reconstruction of the stockade which is under supervision of Frank A. Kenyon, superintendent of Mackinac Island state park. The museum will be built later, and all of this year's work is expected to be completed before the opening of the tourist season.

NEW LOW TRAIN RATES OFFERED

Excursions on Pennsylvania Lines to North Begin on May 15th

Increased travel to Northern Michigan summer resort country is in prospect, with the announcement by the Pennsylvania Railroad that it will offer this season new low rates of approximately two cents a mile from Chicago, St. Louis and all points south of the Michigan-Indiana state line.

These bargain round trip week end commutation fares, will be only 10 per cent higher than the customary one-way fare. They will be good in Pullman cars, as well as coaches. Tickets will be sold for use on Fridays and Saturdays, between May 15 and Sept. 30, the return trip to be made so that the traveler reaches his starting point not later than the following Wednesday.

Travelers will have the benefit of the low rates to all Pennsylvania Railroad points north of, and including, Cadillac. The usual summer excursion fares, permitting a stay of 30 days, also will be offered by the Pennsylvania between May 15 and Sept. 30.

The 1931 edition of "Michigan in Summer," an attractive booklet which gives a pictorial account of the attractions offered by the North Michigan summer resort colony, has just been issued by the Pennsylvania Railroad.

POOR PASTURES MAKE FARMER HUNT REMEDY

Dairymen Advised to Use Grain Mixtures for Herds This Summer

Low priced grains are remedies suggested for use by Michigan farmers who have been compelled by short pastures to ask the dairy department at Michigan State college to suggest ways of maintaining the normal milk flow of their herds this summer.

Wheat and oats are good grains for use in summer feeding because they furnish large amounts of digestible nutrients and keep the animals in good condition. One pound of grain mixture for every six pounds of milk produced is the recommended rate of feeding.

A mixture of 500 pounds of oats and 300 pounds of wheat contains 9.3 per cent of digestible crude protein. The amount of protein in the grain ration can be raised to 11 per cent by adding 50 pounds of cottonseed meal to the wheat and oats mixture. The higher rate of protein is needed by cows running on poor pastures.

The grain mixture gives an immediate return in an increased milk flow and it helps to keep the flow at a profitable level. The grain-fed cow is kept in better bodily condition and will enter the fall and winter seasons in shape to produce milk efficiently.

SCHOOL NEWS

town and going to the garage where I had left my radical Ford I soon was on my way for old C. H. S. It was a long trip, especially in my "Leaping Lizzie," but I renewed many acquaintances enroute. At a small town called Cedar Creek, I discovered the sheriff to be Glenn Heise. I found him about to go fishing and he confided to me quite the fishiest story I ever heard.

At one city I was just in time to hear the band and managed to discern two more schoolmates, Wally Saunders and Franklin Ross. And at Lansing, Michigan, I learned that Bill Clark was leading track man in Northern Michigan. You had your start in C. H. S. Bill! He was still unmarried, although it was rumored Phyllis Lyman was the answer to that.

Finally I reached Charlevoix. I found little changed, although there were many new faces that I did not know. As I entered the Charlevoix bank to cash a check I came face to face with Pat Moran. He explained that he still lived in Charlevoix, and with no little pride invited me to meet the "missus." As we drew near his home I heard someone singing, and entering the house I beheld—Marion McKee. She showed me through her pretty little home and in the afternoon we went to the Charlevoix gymnasium. In the center of the floor I saw a boxing ring and two people who seemed to be doing justice to the gloves. The one I recognized as Cornie McCall, the other Marion told me was Herb McRoberts Jr. Cornie was training for the district boxing tournament which took place the following Wednesday.

A few days later I drove to Harbor Springs and for lack of anything to do I visited the high school. As I ascended the stairs I met a youth hurriedly coming down. Glancing into the room from whence he had come I saw sitting at a desk, Angie Scott. She was a commercial teacher during the school year and during the summer attended the Shakespearean Drama camp at Ironton. I hear the drama camp has been filled every year and it is more than one person's secret opinion that a certain blonde is "the reason why."

That night as I sat finishing my report for the Time Sheet in preparation to give it to "Father Time," I received a sudden shock. I was being unceremoniously doused with cold water. With an angry groan I looked up and saw standing before me Francis Marshall and Hilda Ogden. Discourteously I remembered. There hadn't been any trip at all and I had been asleep on the boat which was returning from our class trip to Tahquamenon Falls. Well, it was a nice dream anyway, and I had a good look at my classmate's future.

Poetry

I've always thought that poets
Wrote in rhyme like a song,
Because it was an easy way,
And didn't take so long.

But now that I've been called upon
To write this little bit,
I find I have an awful time,
Getting a word to fit.

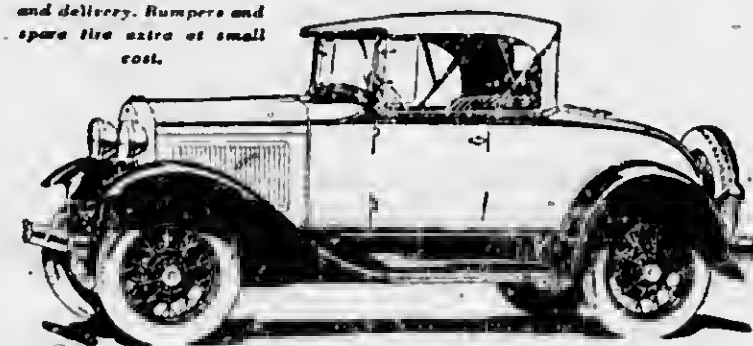

Shakespeare, Lowell and Longfellow
Wrote well—you know they could;
But we poor bewildered sophomores,
Soon find we're not much good.

THE famous Goodyear All-Weather Tread is superior in traction. Note how the deep-cut, light-gripping blocks are placed in the center of the tread, where they belong. Press the palm of your hand upon this tread and feel how the blocks grip and pinch the flesh. This illustrates the All-Weather Tread's holdfast action on pavement or road.

THE patented Goodyear Super-Twist Cord Carcass is superior in vitality and long life. Under continued flexing or sudden road-shock, where ordinary cords fatigue or snap, the extra-elastic Super-Twist cords stretch and recover, like rubber bands. Dairy Profits Conference Successful

The recent dairy profits conference held at Boyne City on May 12th, was by far the most valuable dairy meeting held for some time. A feature of the program was the fine way in which the delegates discussed the various dairy factors and their willingness to give the group the benefit of their dairy experience. A. C. Baltzer, dairy specialist, Michigan State college, was present and lead the discussion.

During the morning session Mr. Baltzer gave the delegation an accurate sketch of what the dairy situation is today and the factors that enter in. Promptly at 12 o'clock a very fine luncheon was provided for the group in the high school gymnasium by the domestic science class. This meal was made possible through the splendid generosity of the Charlevoix county banks.

At the very beginning of the afternoon session Mr. Meggison of Charlevoix, proposed the following resolution, which was adopted: "That a rising vote of thanks be extended to the bankers of Charlevoix county for their kindness in furnishing the noon luncheon."

The next few minutes was devoted to a discussion of whether or not Charlevoix county was adaptable for dairying. After a great deal of discussion in which Welsheimer, Struthers, Meggison, and Wickersham, of Charlevoix; Kent of Clarion; Lumley and Smith of Boyne City; and Woodward of Vanderbilt; gave their opinions, the following motion made by Niece of East Jordan, seconded by Wangeman of East Jordan, was carried: "That inasmuch as Charlevoix county has many natural advantages such as good climate, ample water supplies, sweet soil, abundant pasture and high quality roughage, we favor an efficient dairy program."

Another subject taken up was that of feeds suitable for dairy production. The delegates made the following rules: 1st, grow your own feeds; 2nd, proper crop rotation; 3rd, furnish one acre of alfalfa, one and three-tenths acres of clover, one and one-half acres of timothy, one acre of oats and one acre of barley, per cow. It was then moved by Meggison and seconded by Welsheimer that: "Alfalfa for hay, sweet clover for pasture, oats, barley, and wheat for grain and silage or roots for succulance, should be the dairyman's motto."

More discussion hinged around the subject of better bull than any other dairy problem. The following recommendations were made for all dairy men in the county to follow: 1st, use a purebred bull from a dam producing not less than 400 pounds of butterfat per year, in a cow-test association, or 500 pounds if an official record; 2nd, to keep records on cows, to assist in proving bulls in culling and in developing a more efficient dairy program; 3rd, to encourage the organization of a cow-test association to make the above possible; 4th, to organize hull associations in as many districts as possible; 5th, to secure the use of the "better bull" truck for demonstrational work in the county this fall. The above factors were put together in one motion and carried, motion being made by Meggison, and seconded by Bennett of East Jordan.

In regard to quality, which is of vital importance, Stevens of Walloon Lake brought up the point that before a general attempt would be made by Charlevoix county dairymen to produce high quality cream, it was necessary that a premium should be paid to those producing the better quality product. Dhaseler of Charlevoix, made the suggestion that County Agent Mellencamp hold several meetings to discuss quality. Murphy of East Jordan, mentioned the influence that the new co-operative creamery would have in furnishing the farmer a premium for high quality cream, and stated that good quality was necessary for a successful creamery. Smith of Boyne City, made a motion, seconded by Saunders of Charlevoix, that the quality milk truck operated by the Michigan State college be scheduled for Charlevoix county as soon as possible to show dairymen how simple a matter it is to produce quality cream. Motion carried.

Never before have so many dairymen in Charlevoix county discussed their situation as freely and to the minutest details as was the case at this conference. Every dairyman should read all the recommendations very carefully, as a more efficient dairy program will be carried on throughout the county if this is done. Space does not permit giving any more details, but this is a real program for you to follow and represents the opinion of not one man, but forty-one official delegates.

TO PICK CHERRY QUEEN ON JUNE 7

TRAVERSE IS ALL READY FOR ANNUAL FESTIVAL

Charlevoix and Other Cities of North Michigan Asked to Send Entries for Queen Contest

The queen of the 1931 Michigan Cherry Festival, to be held July 15, 16, and 17, will be named the week of June 7, it was announced by Dr. R. P. Sheets, chairman of the festival's contest committee.

Dr. Sheets is sending an invitation to communities throughout Northwestern Michigan, asking them to nominate candidates. The method by which these aspirants for Cherryland's crown will be chosen is left largely to the local committees, although Dr. Sheets and his committee this year are making some pertinent suggestions for the guidance of the committees.

"Beauty of face and figure will not constitute the sole standard of judgment," says Chairman Sheets. "We must keep in mind the fact the queen assumes a role of great responsibility. She does not wear her crown merely that she may be admired for her comeliness. She is the representative of Michigan's Cherry land. Her speech, her manners, her intelligence, must supplement personal beauty. If she is lacking in these attributes, she can not fully reflect the spirit of the region she represents. She must know the story of the cherry industry and the big part it plays in our economic welfare. If she goes to visit the President, as last year's queen did, or some other dignitary, she must be able to measure up to the responsibilities that go with the crown."

An extensive trip to large cities of the country is being prepared for the reigning beauty of 1931's cherry harvest celebration.

Governor Wilbur M. Brucker has informed the executive committee he will attend the ball in his honor on July 16, and will preside over the coronation ceremonies of the following day.

Cities which bid for the Cherry Festival crown last year were: Petoskey, Beulah, Big Rapids, Cadillac, Charlevoix, Elk Rapids, Fife Lake, Frankfort, Harbor Springs, Kalkaska, Lake Leelanau, Leland, Ludington, Manton, Manistee, Northport, Old Mission, and Suttons Bay. The winner, Miss Signe Holmer, came from Manistee. This year, says Dr. Sheets, efforts will be made to include additional committees by widening the area from which selections are to be made.

P. M. TO LAY HEAVY
STEEL TO CHARLEVOIX

Continuance of 3-Year Program Will Reach Here This Year

Continuing a three-year program designed to give the Pere Marquette Railway Company heavy steel on their Chicago-Petoskey division, a crew is now at work spreading rails between Central Lake and Charlevoix.

When the work of spreading is finished, another crew of 137 men, now employed in the southern part of the state, will come north to lay the 90-pound rails. The project was completed to a point a short distance north of Central Lake a year ago, and will now be continued through the freight yard at Charlevoix.

J. A. Griegware, superintendent of the Chicago-Petoskey division; Frank Manning, engineer, and P. B. Pierce, train master, who were here on a trip of inspection Tuesday morning, stated that the project would be completed for this year prior to putting the Resort Special on the northern run in June. When the work is finally completed, the Pere Marquette will have heavy steel between Chicago and Petoskey.

Department of Agriculture Report Reveals Heavy Demand

Farm land values in Michigan score among the highest in the United States at the present time and are listed in a favorable position with other states whose valuation has declined since 1920, a report released by the state department of agriculture shows.

In the face of present depressing influences, surrounding agriculture, declines in Michigan's land values are much less than for the United States as a whole, and show the lowest decrease among the corn belt states, according to the report.

MEGUZZE CONCLUDE
ANNUAL CONVENTION

Two-day Session Held Last Week at Petoskey—Many Attend

The annual meeting of the Meguzee Association of the Order of Eastern Star in northwestern Michigan, was held last Wednesday and Thursday at Petoskey, with Mrs. Minnie Bonthron, president, presiding, and a large local delegation attending.

The 28th annual session opened Wednesday. Charlevoix Chapter No. 72, the Meguzee officers and past presidents of the association conducted the opening ceremony, and a memorial service in honor of those who have joined the grand chapter on high was beautifully given by Charlevoix Chapter.

At the annual election, Mrs. Alice Palmer of Kalkaska, was chosen president for 1931-32. Other officers elected were: 1st vice president, Mrs. Amanda Shepard, East Jordan; 2nd vice, Mrs. Gertrude Ellis, Petoskey; 3rd vice, Emil Johnson, Muncegon; secretary, Mrs. Mae Brooks, Mancelona; treasurer, Mrs. Mina Morrison, Acme. Mrs. Bonthron, retiring president, was elected a member of the executive committee for a term of three years. The office of marshal, held the past year by Mrs. Laura Courrier of this city, will be filled by appointment by the president.

LOCAL MAN HELD FOR MURDER AT GLOCESTER

Stephen Geer Accused of Stabbing
Engineer of Fishing Vessel

The following Associated Press dispatch, under a Gloucester, Mass., date line, appeared in Tuesday's issue of The Grand Rapids Herald:

A domestic tragedy resulted today in the death of Frederick Hutchinson, engineer of a fishing vessel, and the holding of a shipmate, Stephen Geer, formerly of Charlevoix, Mich., for his murder. Geer was held without bail and his case continued a week.

Hutchinson died shortly after neighbors called police to his home. They found him with stab wounds in the chest. He died soon after arrival at a hospital.

Geer, who had formerly been a hoarder at the Hutchinson home, was found outside the house with a wrist wound which police believed self-inflicted.

A Great State to Live in and
A Great State to Visit

Michigan is great in extent and in scenic beauty . . . great in its natural resources and its industries . . . great in its history, its traditions, and the character and spirit of its citizens.

Consider its mines and forests, its fertile fields and its productive orchards and vineyards. Think of its beautiful lakes and streams, its diversified industries and its splendid educational institutions.

Michigan is a good place to live. Here Nature is kind. We are not visited with flood, drought or other disasters to any degree. Nowhere else can people work more profitably or under better conditions than in Michigan.

And no state has more to offer the tourist, whether from outside or within the state.

Michigan is a great state to live in and a great state to visit!

LEGISLATURE CUTS BUDGET AND QUILTS

UNLESS CUT BY BRUCKER,
STATE TAX WILL BE HIGHER

License Fees for Small Game Hunters, Deer Hunters and Trout Fishermen Are Increased

With a last minute surge of economy which reduced the state budget moderately, the fifty-sixth legislature ended its session early Friday evening.

A parting gesture of compliance with the wishes of Gov. Brucker and the house of representatives was made when the senate consented to a compromise measure limiting the mill tax appropriations for the University of Michigan and Michigan State college.

The Callaghan bills limiting the mill tax grants were revived. Appropriations for the coming two years for the educational institutions were fixed at exactly what they are now rather than at the proposed new and higher figures. As a result the university will get $4,920,852 a year and Michigan State college $1,540,284.

The changes made in the budget proper cut the prospective property tax only slightly. As approved by both branches, upon the recommendation of conference committees, the budget calls for a state property tax for the fiscal year of 1931-32 of approximately $30,250,000. The prospective property levy for the following year is between $29,000,000 and $30,000,000.

Inasmuch as the present property tax is only $29,500,000, and Gov. Brucker had hoped to cut the levy $2,000,000 or more below the present level, the accomplishments of the legislature may be displeasing to the executive. He frequently has intimated that a special session of the legislature will be necessary.

One Special Revenue

Gov. Brucker's program embraced recommendations for new or special revenues to meet certain needs, such as the annual $2,000,000 appropriation under the Turner act for school districts. All special proposals, save the malt tax, failed. The malt levy, although it may add about $2,000,000 a year to revenues, is distasteful to the executive, and it was finally enacted over his veto. The malt tax funds, providing litigation does not prevent their collection, will be used principally to retire deficits incurred in caring for tuberculosis patients and for the construction of a tuberculosis sanatorium in northern Michigan.

The Teagan bill, which provided originally for a general $1 rod license, emerged from conference committee providing only for higher trout licenses. The new fee will be $1.75 instead of the present $1, and non-residents must pay $4. The administration had advocated the general rod license. The legislature accepted the conference report.

A conference report on the Miller bill to change the personnel of the state board of equalization was adopted. The board now will be composed of two members of the state tax commission, the commissioner of agriculture, the auditor general and three citizens to be appointed by the governor. The present board consists of three members of the tax commission, the auditor general and the agricultural commissioner.

Approved by Conference

The legislature approved conference reports raising small game license from $1.25 to $1.75 and deer licenses from $2.50 to $3.50. The Carpenter bill authorizing the state administrative board to acquire land upon which barracks could be built, so that short term prisoners could be employed at quarrying and farming, was passed.

The Horton bill requiring certification of party convention nominees by the state central committee, designed to prevent squabbles such as followed the last Republican convention, was adopted. The Engel bill, giving the house utilities commission regulatory power over motor vehicle carriers, was sent to the governor. It was a companion to the Green bill increasing fees on contract carriers to place them on a comparable basis with common carriers. The Stevens bill, providing that municipalities must standardize budgets and file reports with the state treasurer, was approved.

The session was one of the longest and one of the least spectacular in many years. Sen. Norman B. Horton, administration floor leader, requested a majority of the senate to return June 18, when final adjournment will be taken, that odds and ends passed by the house, but not in the senate and required five days when the business session ended, may be disposed of.

This business included the Woodwine bill to increase the membership of the state conservation commission from 7 to 8, and the McNitt bills providing for grade separation agreements and added protection at railroad crossings.

Program Failed

The administration program of radically reduced tax expenditures failed because of insistent demands from institutions and departments for more funds and the refusal of the legislature to enact any of the special tax measures offered. Proposals to tax tobacco, retail sales and incomes were rejected emphatically. Old age pension and unemployment insurance bills fell when no source of revenue to support them met with the approval of the legislature.

Substantial changes in highway legislation were enacted in the McNitt and Dykstra bills legalizing state participation in city trunk line (Continued on page 5.)

NORTHERN MICHIGAN POSTS TO HOLD ANNUAL CONFAB

Dedication of Charlevoix's New Legion Home, Ball Game, Turkey Dinner High Spots on Program

Preliminary plans have been prepared by members of Leslie T. Shapton Post No. 226, American Legion, for entertainment of delegates to the annual American Legion district convention, which will meet in Charlevoix on Sunday, June 7.

At the same time, Legion Women's Auxiliaries of Northern Michigan Posts will meet in convention here. In all, it is expected 300 delegates will be in attendance.

This annual spring meeting is of more than usual importance, inasmuch as new district officers will be elected, delegates chosen to the state convention, and matters of importance to Legionnaires of the district discussed.

Tentative plans call for the meeting to convene at 12 o'clock noon, central standard time, at the new Legion quarters on East Garfield avenue. A big turkey dinner, is being arranged for 1:30 o'clock.

Karl W. Detzer, whose interesting stories appear in the Legion Monthly, will be the speaker at the dinner, and Legionnaires throughout the district are looking forward with eagerness to hearing this eminent speaker. Following is a tentative line-up of the proposed program:

12:00 p. m.—Business meeting.
1:30 p. m.—Banquet at hotel to be selected. (A $2.50 roast turkey "feet" at $1.00 plate).

3:00 p. m.—Ball game. Junior teams of St. Ignace and Alpena Posts.

4:00 p. m.—Dedication of Charlevoix's new Legion home on East Garfield avenue.

Both the Traverse City and Cadillac Posts have indicated their intention of being present with a large delegation to listen things up with their drum and huckle corps, and Petoskey and Cheboygan will have their splendid organizations here for the convention. It appears as though a great meeting was in prospect.

LEGION AUXILIARY ORGANIZED MONDAY

Mrs. Lee Allard Chosen President—
Edna Powers, Secretary-Treasurer

A Women's Auxiliary to affiliate with Leslie T. Shapton Post, American Legion, was organized Monday afternoon at the Legion quarters on Garfield avenue.

Mrs. Charles Henika of Petoskey, commanding officer of the Petoskey Auxiliary, came here to help and direct the work of organizing the local unit. A group of twenty or more women were present for the organization and elected Mrs. Lee Allard as president, and Mrs. Edna Powers as secretary-treasurer.

Women's Auxiliaries of Northern Michigan will meet in Charlevoix on June 7th, for the annual district convention of American Legion Posts.

SENIORS WILL GIVE ANNUAL CLASS PLAY

"GRAUSTARK" TO BE PRESENTED AT GYM FRIDAY NIGHT

Production Is Play of Exceptional Merit—Program to Replace Usual Class Night Exercises

"Graustark," which will be presented by the senior class at the gymnasium Friday evening, is hailed as a play of exceptional merit. The story is taken from George Barr McCutcheon's novel of the same name, and those who have read the book will enjoy seeing the same scenes on the stage.

The scene, as the sub-title "Love Behind A Throne" explains, is laid in the palace of a princess. The palace is in the imaginary principality of Graustark in the mountains of the Balkans. Here, in the heart of the old world, come two Americans who are looking for a Miss Gugsenloeker, whom one of them has chanced to meet in America. In spite of all questions as to where this young lady lives, and with the efficient service of the Eidelweiss guards, they are unable for some time to locate her.

Then one day they see her on the street. Immediately questions concerning who the young lady is arouses the anger of the guards and the young men are rebuked haughtily. Miss Gugsenloeker, however, has recognized one of the men and writes him a note inviting them to her home. Unexpectedly they arrive upon the scene of her home. Then they can see why all of their questions were so emphatically left unanswered. From the time they reach her home the action of the story increases. From love scenes to murder scenes, the audience is carried on a wave of excitement and thrills.

Mystery, romance, villainy and intrigue are all aided by the elaborate stage settings. The entire class has worked to make the stage as regal as possible. The three scenes, garden, boudoir, and throne room, have been perfected to the highest degree.

This play is a real senior play. Every member of the class is either in the cast or is on the staff. The play is of such a high quality that for its perfect presentation the entire class has worked faithfully.

Be sure and keep the evening of May 29th open to attend "Graustark."

COMPLETE MAY COURT TERM ON WEDNESDAY

Bay Shore Man Given 1 1/2 to 3 Years at Ionia for Wife Desertion

The May term of circuit court was expected to adjourn Wednesday afternoon following a short two-day session.

Criminal cases on the docket were disposed of, several civil cases settled out of court and others continued to the August term of court.

Benjamin Warren of Bay Shore, was sentenced by Judge Parm C. Gilbert to serve from 1 1/2 to 3 years at Ionia for wife desertion and non-support.

Thomas Boyle of Beaver Island, pleaded guilty to entering without breaking. He was ordered to pay court costs of $100, and was placed on probation for one year.

NEW LOW TRAIN RATES OFFERED

PERE MARQUETTE SUMMER RATE SCHEDULE IN EFFECT

First Resort Special on Chicago
Division June 10th—Start Daily on Both Divisions June 21st

In accordance with their usual custom, the Pere Marquette Railway Company, which serves Charlevoix and other Northern Michigan resorts, has placed in operation a scale of reduced passenger rates to stimulate resort travel into this region.

Special rates went into effect about May 15th and will be continued throughout the summer.

From Chicago, a special 21-day round trip ticket is issued for $18.05, and a season round trip ticket, good any time during the early spring, summer and early fall months, for $21.65.

On the Detroit division, the 21-day round trip ticket comes at $15.30, and the season ticket at $18.31. These bargain fares are only a trifle higher than the ordinary one-way fare, and give impetus to an increase of tourist traffic into Northern Michigan resorts.

Another special excursion for Memorial day travellers, is being offered over the coming week end. The rate quoted is three-fourths the regular one-way fare from Northern Michigan points to Chicago, Detroit, and, in fact, almost any point throughout the middle western states. The fare from Charlevoix to Chicago and return figures $10.15. Purchasers of these special excursion tickets must be aboard a train on their return trip by midnight of June 1st.

Advance information regarding inauguration of the regular Resort Special trains on the Chicago and Detroit divisions was received by Station Agent Nickerson on Tuesday. On the Chicago division, the first Resort Special arrives at Charlevoix on June 10th. Subsequent arrivals will be on the 13th, 16th, 18th and 20th, and starting the 21st, the service will be daily. Only one Resort Special comes through from Detroit, arriving here June 20th. The daily schedule on that division starts June 21st.

In all likelihood, the special excursion trip, including pullman both ways and either a week or two-week stay at The Inn, will be offered again this season, although no definite word has been received at this time.

The 1931 edition of the attractive Pere Marquette Railway Company folder, giving a pictorial account of the attractions offered by the Northern Michigan summer resort region, has recently been placed in circulation.

OWOSSO RECEIVES SEWAGE THREATS

State to Force Building of Disposal Plant There

Unless Owosso takes definite steps to build a sewage disposal plant before June 1, 1932, the state will start court action to force it, Milton P. Adams, secretary of the Michigan stream control commission, said in a letter recently.

The letter, addressed to Mayor W. A. Zigmiller, said the city's program so far has been negative and that the state would go to court unless action was taken.

TRAVERSE, BOYNE WIN TENNIS MEET

Charlevoix Nosed Out in Defense of Crown by Boyne Contenders

Traverse City Central high school's tennis team gained victory over Petoskey's Northmen Saturday, to retain the regional class A-B championship. Boyne City, in the C-D division, dethroned Charlevoix for the title in a field of four competing schools.

Harry Toegal of Traverse Central annexed the singles honors in B, and Mike Rouse, one of Boyne's star athletes, conquered Bill Novak of Charlevoix in the other class. The point scores were:

A-B Class—Traverse 6, Petoskey 4.

C-D Class—Boyne City 11, Charlevoix 7, East Tawas 3, St. Francis of Traverse City 0. The last doubles match between the Turcott brothers of Boyne City and Novak and McCally of Charlevoix was unfinished when the meet was terminated at dark Saturday night; but the outcome could not have altered the final standings. Nearly thirty boys participated in unfavorable weather. The meet was managed by Henry A. Olsen, with Bud Hicks and Goh Kauer assisting.

MEMORIAL DAY PROGRAM READY

PARADE TO ORGANIZE ON PARK AVENUE AT NINE-THIRTY

Appropriate Program Prepared for Exercises at Cemetery—Services at Memorial Park

The Memorial day program this year will parallel very closely that of 1929, which was carried out so successfully and elicited so much favorable comment.

The parade will form on Park avenue at 9:30 a. m. and will be joined by the school children, who will be assigned to their places in the trucks on which they are to ride at the school building.

The line of march will be south on Bridge street to the city park, where the beautiful ceremonial honoring the memories of those who died at sea, is to be performed. From the park, the marchers will proceed south on Bridge street to West Huribut, thence west to State street and south to Brookside cemetery, where the services will be held.

The order in which the various divisions or units of the parade will march is to be as follows: Colors; music; firing squad; American Legion; other organizations; Frank Conlin, Jr., Sergeant-at-Arms of Leslie Shapton Post, will be marshal of the day.

At the cemetery the services will be as follows: Invocation, Rev. W. S. Ruch; music; city band; selections, high school chorus; ritualistic work, Baxter Relief Corps; selections, Legion quartet; Memorial address, Rev. Father Fitzpatrick; "The Star Spangled Banner," assembly; floral tribute, American Legion Post; salute to the dead, taps; benediction, Rev. John E. Lockyer.

HAMILTON NEW SER- VICE UNIT COMPLETED

Have Best Marine Service Station on West Shore Lake Michigan

With the completion of installation this week, Hamilton & Son boat yard on Round lake now has one of the most complete and modernly equipped marine service stations on the west coast of Lake Michigan.

Early this spring, work of enlarging the combination office and service station was started in anticipation of new equipment. Three 550-gallon storage tanks have been put down, and from these 2-inch pipe lines furnish gravity feed to the battery of pumps on the dock. Fuel oil, regular and ethyl gasoline will be supplied. Visible, double-dial gravity meters have been installed and yachts up to 15,000-gallon capacity may be serviced.

A large Neon electric sign, with two-foot letters, will advertise the service from the top of the marine station. Johnson products will be handled.

Will Give Violin Recital

A recital will be given by a group of violin pupils under Mrs. Ruth Soule at the Methodist church Tuesday evening, June 2, at 8 o'clock. The public is cordially invited.

SENIOR CLASS PLAY FRIDAY NIGHT STARTS EXERCISES

Baccalaureate Services Sunday Evening, May 31st at Gymnasium—Programs Outlined

Final arrangements for the Charlevoix high school and county normal commencement week exercises are rapidly being completed in anticipation of graduation to be held Wednesday evening, June 3rd.

First of the events will be the annual senior class play, "Graustark," to be presented at 8 o'clock Friday evening in the gymnasium by the graduating class under the direction of Mrs. Ruth Dowd, English instructor. The senior play will this year replace the usual senior class night exercises.

The baccalaureate sermon will be delivered this year by Rev. W. H. Rauch of the Baptist church. The service will be held in the gymnasium at 8 o'clock, Sunday evening, May 31st, and the following program has been arranged:

Prelude; doxology; invocation by Rev. John E. Lockyer of the Methodist church; anthem; scripture reading; prayer; vocal solo by Harker Kirby; announcements; anthem, "They That Wait Upon the Lord," sermon, "What Mean These Stones?," hymn, "America," benediction.

Commencement exercises for the Charlevoix high school and county normal classes will be held jointly at the gymnasium on Wednesday evening, June 3rd, at 8 o'clock.

Gerald L. Bush of Lansing, who was recently chosen superintendent of local public schools, will give the commencement address, choosing as his topic, "Mainsprings of Men." Following is the program:

March, Mrs. A. A. Swinton; invocation, Rev. G. R. Parker; selection, "The Lamplight Hour," by Penn. mixed chorus; salutatory, Miss Gwendolyn Miller; valedictory, Miss Eloise Tillotson; selection, "The Green Cathedral," by Hohn Girls' Glee Club; address, Gerald L. Bush; vocal selection, Mrs. Ruth Dowd; presentation of county normal class, Miss Pearl C. Bigge; conferring of graduation honors, William C. Palmer; presentation of senior class, M. Otterbein; conferring of graduation honors, E. L. Dawson; benediction, Fr. R. E. Fitzpatrick.

The senior class this year numbers 37 members, twenty girls and seventeen boys. The class roster follows: Agnes Brown, Annabelle Cunningham, Hilda F. Ogden, R. Eloise Tillotson, Lola Elizabeth Fessenden, Doris L. Gleason, Edith I. Hewitt, Lillian A. Marley, Marian Isabel McKee, Angie Joan Scott, Dorothy M. Struthers, Edith D. Hamlin, Marjorie H. Manley, Gwendolyn Miller, Doris E. Struthers, Robert B. McCall, Franklin A. Ross, Wallace P. Saunders, Lee S. Shapton, William W. Clark, Robert Louis Foster, Glenn L. Heise, William W. Novak, Dixon L. Warner, Pat J. Moran, Charles A. Celler, David N. Coulter.

Members of the normal class are: Wesley Manley, Bessie Baumhach, Mable Bird, Charlevoix; Minnie Marie MacDonald, Anna DeMaio, East Jordan; Bruce Blanchard, Petoskey; Margaret Chapin, Harbor Springs; Sophia Salisz, Bernice Spanink, Stella Szepelak, Boyne Falls; Edna Guilford, Portland.

OVER EIGHTY CHILD- REN ATTEND CLINIC

Crippled Children of District Brought to Clinic Here Thursday

On Thursday, May 21, a crippled children's clinic was held at the offices of the District Health Unit on Petoskey avenue, the Children's Fund of Michigan cooperating with the Michigan Crippled Children's Commission in sponsoring the affair. It was the largest clinic of this type ever held in Northern Michigan.

Eighty-three children, from Charlevoix, Emmet, Cheboygan, Otsego and Antrim counties, registered at the clinic, and many of these received recommendations for treatment by Dr. Carl Badgley, orthopedic surgeon in charge. Thirty of these children were from Charlevoix county. Follow-up calls will be made on each case by the local nurses to interest the parents in obtaining corrections.

The District Health Department, wish to thank local people whose cooperation helped to make the clinic so successful.

GOSSIP!

A man who had slandered his neighbor was sentenced first to take a bag of chicken feathers and drop one in each yard; then when he came back to be forgiven for his error he was told he could not be forgiven until he had gone around to each yard again and picked up each feather; he protested this was impossible, for the feathers had been scattered to the four winds of heaven. So with gossip—the words may be lightly thrown out, and they may do fearful harm, but once spoken they cannot be gathered up again. One is seldom sorry for what he doesn't say.

BETTER TO DIG THAN TO STARVE

The man who is taking it easy now under the assumption that everything will be lovely next fall and winter, is just a plain danged fool, and will be entitled to no sympathy if he goes hungry. No matter how favorable the season, no matter how heavy the crops this summer, conditions will not be altogether lovely for the next year. There is certain to be a lot of unemployment again next winter, probably more than this.

The man with good sense will attempt to raise an abundance of food-stuffs this summer. No matter if the price is low, no matter if he is unable to sell a penny's worth of what he raises—he can keep it, and he can eat it when the snow flies. With all the vacant town lots, and all the uncultivated land in the county, there is no reason why almost every family should not grow potatoes, beets, carrots, parsnips, turnips and other root crops. Cellars are not necessary for keeping these crops, a hole in the ground is even better than a cellar. Green beans can be grown and canned and dried beans picked and stored in the kitchen. Green corn, mustard, spinach and a dozen other things that grow rapidly and easily in the family garden can be canned and saved.

As we said before, nobody is going to starve or even grow hungry with plenty of the products of the garden stored about the house.

The discouraging thing about it all is that there are dozens and dozens of gardens about town that have not yet been spaded or plowed. We know of one man who tried to borrow the money on which to have his garden plowed, and yet that man has been out of work all winter and spring and could have spaded a dozen gardens. His garden is yet unworked and will probably remain so, and next winter that man and his family will want help from the community.

FITZGERALD SPEAKS

Seeking to protect Michigan motorists who are being forced to pay a notary fee by local officials for the issuance of new drivers' licenses in addition to the $1 which was specified by the legislature as the cost, Frank D. Fitzgerald, secretary of state, is sending letters to local government units discouraging the practice of charging notary fees. Mr. Fitzgerald's letter follows:

“Word has reached this office that in some communities of the state motorists obtaining new drivers' licenses, under the terms of the new drivers' license law, are being obliged to pay a notary fee in addition to the statutory license fee of $1. In Detroit and elsewhere, this notary fee is 25 cents, bringing the total cost of the license to $1.25.

“This extra charge has been added by local officials without any consultation with the secretary of state's office. The notary fee goes to the local governmental unit, not to the state. So far as I know, there is nothing to prevent local officials from adding a notary fee if they wish to do so, but I am sorry that any motorist is being obliged to pay a cent more than the $1 provided by the statute.

“The legislature directed that 15 cents of each dollar collected for a driver's license be returned to the city or county to recompense it for the work of issuance. I do not think the legislature contemplated the addition of any notary fee by any local governmental unit. If it had anticipated anything of the kind, I do think it would have provided that the state should give the city or county part of the dollar. I am making this statement because I want the public to understand that the secretary of state's office has had nothing to do with the present unjust conditions, under which motorists in some communities get their licenses for $1 each, while those of other communities are obliged to pay $1.25. Our attitude is that $1 should be the total cost to everyone in Michigan.”

CUTTING LOCAL TAXES

Out on the farm of Minnesota there is getting under way a movement designed to bring tax reduction by the only sound means by which such reduction can ever be achieved—economy—in public expenditures. From many sections of the state come reports about action taken in the recent town meetings, reducing the levies for town purposes.

Lyon county townships voted reductions averaging thirty-five per cent compared with last year. All but four of the twenty town meetings decided on economy measures. The same story comes from many other counties in all parts of the state. There is always complaint about state taxes and apparently the impression prevails that the heaviest part of the tax bill is chargeable to the state government and its spendings. Yet the fact is that the State of Minnesota levied only 5.7 mills on real and personal property last year, and two mills of that was merely collected by the state, to be distributed back for local school and road purposes. The remaining 3.7 mills really is a trivial item in the average property levy of about sixty mills.

All the rest of that sixty mills is within the control of local governments, county, municipal and school district. Local levies have mounted year by year because the scale of public service has gone higher, along with private standards of living.

It is hard to retrench, for that means cutting out activities to which citizens have become accustomed. It has been the habit to go on submitting to high taxes, and to take it out in growling.

This year, instead of growling, farmers are slashing their local government levies in a determined way. Their burdens are heavy and their incomes are reduced, a condition that is reflected in villages and cities. The farmers are handling their civic problems in the only practical way, and their example is one to be heeded.

For what is true in the rural township is just as true in the city, large or small. If cities and counties are to collect less in taxes from their citizens, then cities and counties must spend less on services for their citizens. The only way to cut taxes is to cut expenditures. There is no other method that will work.

If any community really desires lower taxes and wishes to make a fight to gain so desirable a situation there are many ways in which to accomplish that end. —Minneapolis Journal.

THE SKIMMED MILK HANDICAP

“You cannot feed a child skimmed milk this year and make it up with cream-year after next,” says Miss Grace Abbott of the Children's Bureau, discussing the effect on children of the father's lack of work. Much of the unemployment which has been a major problem during the past year came about through some change in industrial conditions over which the worker himself had no control. Much of it affected families not at all of the pauper type, families with decent living standards, fine ideals and worthy ambitions.

In one study of 150 such families, made by the National Federation of Settlements, it was found that most of them until recently had been “stable, independent, even prosperous.” Unemployment of the breadwinner had brought upon them one or more of such evils as loss of furniture, eviction from the home, children out of school for lack of shoes and clothes, neglected teeth and health, stunted growth, lack of proper food, and so on.

When these things have ended and normal living is restored, there will remain the bad effects of the year of skimmed milk. There may be even more serious consequences intellectually and spiritually—scars left on the minds and characters of large numbers of children who were cheated of their birthright.

It is because of these things that both the leaders and the rank and file of our industrial civilization should think and work to reduce unemployment as doctors and scientists have worked to reduce epidemics of disease.

MORE THAN CASUAL INTEREST

Governor Brucker's speech at a Michigan Tourist and Resort association dinner here Wednesday reveals an executive interest which is highly pleasing to western Michigan. Heretofore the attitude at Lansing toward the resort business has been more casual than enthusiastic. The state has accepted this business as something that has value but scarcely anything to get excited about. Mr. Brucker isn't exactly excited, but at least he is showing his interest is genuine. He is going farther than merely the friendly gesture of giving approval to state aid in Michigan advertising.

It is to be hoped that the Governor, having promised this fine start, did not let the May 6 engagement end his concern for Michigan's summer resort development. He can help in a great many ways. For one thing, we are hopeful that he will put his effort back of such a survey of the resort business as The Herald frequently has urged. Until we have a study of this type, nobody anywhere will know just what are the proportions of resort revenues, investments, etc., in the state. Mr. Brucker, in fact, will find innumerable opportunities for his leadership in this field. —The Grand Rapids Herald.

AIRPORT RECREATION

Large municipal airports are coming to be almost as popular as public parks for Sunday outings. It is reported that the airport at Akron, Ohio, where the world's largest dirigible is in process of construction for the U. S. Navy, has an average weekly attendance of 70,000 visitors, with as many as 50,000 on some Sundays.

Other airports note the same phenomenon, with the sizes of the crowds varying according to weather and special interests.

Akron officials are taking advantage of this tremendous outpouring of visitors to make some money on the side. They are making the region of the airport into a highly diversified verified municipal center with amusements for all. A list of the attractions having nothing to do with commercial aviation includes a soccer field, three baseball diamonds, a 22-acre golf course, circus grounds, a glider knoll where three gliders can take off at once, a beautiful war memorial garden, a tourist camp, huge picnic grounds, and parking space for 400,000 cars.

The regulation equipment for a flying field is all there, too—administration building, weather bureau station, hangars, elaborate lighting system, and so on.

It is obvious that if as many people took air trips as throng airports on fine days, there would be a great boom in flying.

DEADLY TWO-DOLLAR BILL

To the manifold duties and responsibilities of the secretary of treasurer may now be added that of combating the widespread superstition attaching to the two-dollar bill. Why, in this country especially, any kind of money should be regarded “unlucky” is difficult to explain. But that may ascribe a baleful influence to the two-dollar bill is proved not only by common observation but also by the daily arrival at the treasury of a large number of these pieces of currency each with a bit carefully torn off one corner. It's pompously supposed that such partial mutilation destroys the “curse.”

This superstition is proving costly to the treasury, since such mutilated bills must be replaced with new ones. Last month the expense of this item was about $15,000. There is no hope, of course, of destroying the superstition itself overnight. But if those thus obsessed would only adopt some other method of averting ill luck, their action would mean a substantial savings to the treasury. Instead of tearing off a corner of a two-dollar bill, why shouldn't superstitious folk merely cross their fingers or rap on wood—or their own heads. According to eminent authorities on demonology, these methods are quite effective in exorcising evil influences.

THE RETURN TO PRODUCTION

The return to production of motor cars is very gratifying. We are told that the production during April amounted to nearly 350,000 units. That would indicate, on a nine-month year of production, a production of 3,125,000 units for this year, and if the average for a year held out for ten months, a production of 3,500,000 units, which is as much as ought to be expected. The principal point of the figures is that they indicate a return to nearly normal production. In this section of the country automobile production spells good times, just as steel production means the same thing in other sections, and textile productions means prosperity in New England.

It is worthy of remembrance, too, that automobiles are being made this year to fill orders, rather than to build up dealers' stocks, which are now reported as being at their lowest point. This means that they are going from the factories to the users, and that the slack of supply has been pretty well taken up. All in all, these items spell recovery in an industry, in which Michigan is dominant. It is quite likely that, with increased quotas of manufacture set up for May, the end of the present month will bring an even pleasanter story.

RELIGIOUS COUNCIL MEETING NEXT WEEK

CORRESPONDENCE

CENTRAL LAKE

Commencement exercises this week Wednesday.

School closes this week Friday. Bellaire and Mancelona close at the same time.

Miss Marie Starks of Mancelona, has been helping at the new hotel here this week.

Cherry trees are in full bloom, and do not appear to be harmed by the frost last Thursday night.

Joe Devlin, highway commissioner, has been grading and graveling the half mile of road north of Bay View school.

Mrs. A. E. Sage of the Log Cabin Lodge at Bay View had her opening day Sunday. She has lately erected a log cabin oil station at her resort location.

Philip Ohman returned last week to Ludington where he has a position on a boat plying between Ludington and Milwaukee. He expects to return to the farm in July.

Ivan Hill and wife are running a hotel in Bellaire, and he is also teaching the Mitchell school while his wife finishes her school in the Turner district north of Bellaire.

Mrs. Olive Hamilton has come up with her father, Elkanah Mudge, of Detroit, and is keeping house again for him at his residence in the village. They will remain here for the summer.

Harry Batterbee and wife were called to Boyne Falls to the bedside of Mrs. Knowlton, their grandmother, who was not expected to live. She is 95 years of age.

The death of Probate Judge Bailey occurred at Bellaire 3 o'clock Friday afternoon. Mrs. Jessie Hunt, his assistant, will probably take his place. Mr. Bailey had not been well for a number of years. Hardening of the arteries is given as the cause of death.

The Misses Louise Greenman and Eva Morse met with quite a serious accident last week when the car that Miss Greenman was driving turned over after leaving the road and running through a fence, near Bellaire. Miss Morse received medical attention, but Miss Greenman was not badly injured. Miss Morse had the presence of mind to turn off the motor, thus preventing any chance for fire. They managed to crawl out of the car.

There was a big attendance at the baccalaureate services at the Congregational church here last Sunday evening. Rev. J. C. Kendall gave the opening prayer and the sermon was preached by Rev. Stanley Hyde of the Congregational church. The singing was given by the eleventh grade. The class of 1931 consisted of the following: Dan Davis, Lloyd Moore, Mabel Emery, Earl Stevens, Miller Young, Esther Harter, Margaret Smith, Lyle Morse, Harold Box, Alvin Kuiper, Robert Aenis, Adrian Sisson, Vivian Kendall and Marguerite Cobb. Bellaire's class of 1931 consists of the following young people: Charles Pike, Annabel Lee, Dorothy Sigler, Carl Akin, Dorothy Post, Martha Fuller, Anna Brake, Lyle Derenzy, Lola Ritt, Orville Gregory, Daisy Lambert, Morley Smith and Vivian Bedell.

John Blodgett, proprietor of the shoe store here, suffered a third severe stroke of paralysis Thursday afternoon, and at this writing (Monday) is in a very critical condition. Mr. and Mrs. Blodgett have been residents of the village for a number of years. Mr. Blodgett at one time worked at shoe repairing, until his eyesight became so bad he had to give up the work. Since then he had run a small shoe and grocery store.

E. S. Carroll, secretary of the Antrim County Sunday School Association, announced in his card to Sunday school superintendents last week that he wished a report on last Sunday's attendance from every Sunday school in the county. As ill luck would have it, there was a decided falling off in the attendance for last Sunday. The following is the attendance for last Sunday: West Holland 68, Congregational 54, M. E. 52, F. M. 22, Bay View 27, Enstport 23, Green River 22, Finkton 8, and Lake View 13. A week ago Sunday Bellaire M. E. Sunday school had 220 enrolled and an attendance of 169. The Antrim county Sunday school convention will be held at Bellaire on the afternoon of June 4th, and a report is requested from each Sunday school.

Bring your car to Brown's garage for $1.00 washing and greasing.—Adv. 2012.

NORWOOD

James Runyon is having his home painted.

Fred Brown and Mr. Avery, who spent the winter at Norwood, left for Kalamazoo Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Rollie Baumbach and family visited at the Oscar Ward home in Ironton last Sunday.

The Norwood school will close Friday. Mrs. Lashbrook of Central Lake was the teacher. Plans are made for a picnic dinner on the beach.

The Light brothers, who had the misfortune of losing their garage and oil station at Atwood by fire last week, are rebuilding, and we all wish them luck.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Smith and son, Lyle, and Mrs. Arthur Waite and two children, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Nixon at Marion Center.

Wilbur Seymour, accompanied by a gentleman friend of Grand Rapids, visited relatives at Ellsworth last week and also called on his uncle, Russ Alward, Tuesday, at Norwood.

The M. E. church services were well attended at Norwood last Sunday. Church services will be held at Norwood again next Sunday. Church school on Friday evening at the regular hour.

On May 30th, Saturday of this week, America honors her soldier dead. We decorate their graves with flowers as our tribute of love and respect to those who gave their lives for their country.

Pink and yellow tulips decorated the table at the home of Mrs. E. W. Publow Wednesday evening, at a 6 o'clock dinner, given by the members of the L. A. S. and a few invited guests. Other spring flowers were used about the living room. After the regular meeting a program was featured by the past presidents. Two of the favorite numbers rendered were a witty recitation by Mrs. Ypma and also one by Mrs. Harris Pierce.

Mrs. William Alward introduced a game of composing poetry, the theme being "Springtime." Prizes were awarded Mrs. Pierce for the best composed verses, and for the wittiest composed poem, to Mrs. Frank Richardson.

We need your washing and greasing and will do it for $1.00 each. Brown's garage.—Adv. 2012.

AT THE MOVIES

Gary Cooper in Greatest Soldier Role He Has Ever Played, in "Morocco"

Mid a glare of martial music and a waving of flags, Gary Cooper will swing onto the screen at the Palace theatre Saturday and Sunday next in the greatest soldier role he has ever played, in "Morocco," Paramount's gigantic and spectacular drama of the French Foreign Legion.

Not even in "Beau Sabreur" did Cooper attain to the colorful background which features "Morocco," and the brilliant action which makes every moment of this Josef von Sternberg picture a breath-taking experience. In "Morocco," the talking screen has found its voice of love for, with Cooper, is seen that amazingly beautiful actress whom Paramount brought from Germany to feature in this production, Marlene Dietrich.

"Morocco" is a love story, emotion-swept, filmed on an epic scale, under the direction of the man who made "Underworld," whose rare combination of artistic and practical skill has proved his right, time and time again, to be listed with the greatest directors of the all time. It is the story of a man and a woman; a man ruthless with all women, considering them but passing pleasures to be tasted and tossed aside; a woman embittered of life, scorning all men.

Gary Cooper, happy-go-lucky soldier of fortune, a private in the French Foreign Legion, is a young man, without an illusion, even when he makes a play for the girl, beautiful Marlene Dietrich, a cafe singer, whose ravishing charm also interests a man-of-the-world, Adolphe Menjou.

Riot of Comedians in "Kiss Me Again"

The comedy possibilities of "Kiss Me Again," screen version of "Mlle. Modiste," Victor Herbert's famous musical romance which comes to the Palace theatre on Tuesday and Wednesday as a Vitaphone and Technicolor special, may be guessed at by the fact that four of Hollywood's highest paid comedians appear in the production. The cast includes Edward Everett Horton, Frank McHugh, Claude Gillingwater, and Albert Gran.

Bernice Claire and Walter Pidgeon head the cast of "Kiss Me Again." Others are June Collyer and Judith Vosell. William A. Seiter directed.

"I will buy only the leading make of tire"

GOOD YEAR

THE famous Goodyear All-Weather Tread is superior in traction. Note how the deep-cut, light-gripping blocks are placed in the center of the tread, where they belong. Press the palm of your hand upon this tread and feel how the blocks grip and pinch the flesh. . . . This illustrates the All-Weather Tread's holdfast action on pavement or road.

THE patented Goodyear Super-Twist Cord Carcass is superior in vitality and long life. Under continued flexing or sudden road-shock, where ordinary cords fatigue or snap, the extra-elastic Super-twist cords stretch and recover, like rubber bands. Ask us to show you on our cord-testing machine the extra stretch—enormously greater—of Super-twist cord over the best standard cord.

Millions more people ride on Goodyear Tires . . . Goodyear builds millions more tires than any other company. Value brings volume . . . and volume further increases value. You save when you buy THE leading make, backed by our friendly, interested service.

AGRICULTURAL NOTES

By B. C. Mellicamp

Potato Demonstrations Carried on By Four Farmers

Of interest to potato growers in the county will be several demonstrations, two of which will indicate the influence of date of planting on yield and quality, and the other two on the benefit of liberal application of commercial fertilizers.

Harry Behling of Boyne City, and W. K. Straw of Charlevoix are the two co-operators in ascertaining the influence of date of planting. These two demonstrations are made in replicate plots to make the results accurate. Three plots of four rows each were planted the middle of May, the next planting will be the latter part of May, and the last date will be around the 10th of June.

In the case of fertilizer demonstrations Lee Sneathen and D. E. Ingalls of Charlevoix are the co-operators, and are planning on using high analysis fertilizers in amounts from 500 pounds to 1500 pounds per acre. Mr. Sneathen will also use different spacing distances, which will enable us to find out the most profitable planting distance to be used.

We have a notion that the quality of Michigan potatoes can be bettered by planting early, by harvesting early (by the first of October), by planting close (from 12 to 15 inches apart in the row) and by using liberal amounts of high analysis fertilizer. Whenever results are obtainable they will be published, so let's watch the progress of these experiments.

Summer 4-H Club Program Under Way

During the last week considerable activity has been manifested by a large number of rural boys and girls in projects to be carried on this summer.

Already the Barnard Calf club has been organized with a membership of around twelve boys. Canning clubs have been started at Ironton and Bay Shore. A Potato club has also been organized in East Jordan with eight members. We expect great results from this club, of which many members have already completed two successful years. One of its members is putting in five acres this year, and financing it himself.

Then too, Bean clubs are being organized at Walloon Lake, East Jordan, and Burruss. Other Dairy Calf clubs will be started in Boyne City and Ironton.

It is indeed gratifying to note the interest and enthusiasm shown by a large number of boys and girls throughout the county. In the majority of cases the girls in the Canning clubs will can at least 50 quarts of fruit and vegetables, as well as jellies, jams, preserves, and canned meats. The boys in the crop projects are raising not less than one-half acre of beans, corn, and potatoes and are doing all the work possible, themselves.

At this early date it is impossible to submit the names of the various club members, but somewhat later this will be done.

Topic, "Ancient and Modern Necromancy, alias Mesmerism and Hypnotism, Denounced."

Wednesday evening at 7:45, first Wednesday of month only. Reading room Tuesday and Saturday, 3:30 to 5:00 p. m.

The public is cordially invited to all services.

"Soul and Body" was the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Christian Science churches on Sunday, May 24.

Among the citations which comprised the lesson-sermon was the following from the Bible: "O God, thou art my God; early will I seek thee: my soul thirsteth for thee, my flesh longeth for thee in a dry and thirsty land, where no water is." (Ps. 63:1).

The lesson-sermon also included the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Be- come conscious for a single moment that life and intelligence are purely spiritual,—neither in nor of matter,—and the body will then utter no complaints. If suffering from a belief of sickness, you will find yourself suddenly well." (p. 14).

COUNTY NORMAL NEWS

The county normal class is having a valuable experience in planning the yearly exhibit.

The Charlevoix county normal alumni banquet of 1931 is a thing of the past. But—as is true of many worthwhile events—gone, but not forgotten. It was a decided success in every sense of the word. Among the 45 people in attendance were former teachers and students, present members of the board of education, teachers and students as well as friends and guests. Many the spirit of "getting together" continue.

We are hopefully, yet regretfully closing a valuable, enjoyable school year. We are looking forward to our next school year, but are reluctant to leave the wise guidance of our instructors.

NORTHERN MICHIGAN NEEDS SANATORIUM

Institution Will Be Built in North District After July 1, 1932

A state tuberculosis sanatorium intended primarily to serve this and 36 other counties in the northern lower and eastern upper peninsula, will be built some time after July 1, 1932.

This fact was definitely assured on Thursday, May 14, when the House of Representatives duplicated the previous day's action of the senate in voting to over-ride the governor's veto of the malt bill, providing funds for constructing the institution. Both houses previously had passed a measure providing for its establishment.

"For years one of the cherished hopes of the Michigan Tuberculosis Association has been for the establishment of a state sanatorium in Northern Michigan," states T. J. Werle, executive secretary of the Association, in commenting on passage of the sanatorium and malt tax bills. "Enactment of this legislation undoubtedly represents the most important advance Michigan has made in years in its fight against the Great White Plague."

The campaign for the new sanatorium long recognized as a necessity in the state's institutional equipment for treatment of tuberculosis, took definite form in August of last year when, at the request of the Michigan Tuberculosis Association, delegates appointed by the boards of supervisors of the interested counties met at Grayling and formed the Northern Michigan Sanatorium Association.

With the opening of the legislature, Speaker of the House Fred Ming and other influential members of the house and senate began active work in the legislature for the institution. Ming's early plan of meeting its cost through a malt tax eventually proved to be the basis for passage of the measure.

The new sanatorium will provide care reasonably close to the homes of patients from this area and will relieve a statewide shortage of sanatorium beds.

TELL WAYS TO KILL INSECTS OF GARDEN

Prepare Special Bulletin for Owners of Small Plots of Vegetables

Insects which have been living on the fat of the land in home gardens while avoiding the wholesale poison campaigns used by commercial truck growers are going to find Michigan an inhospitable state this year as Michigan State college has recently published a bulletin which tells how to kill insects in retail lots.

Formulas for preparing poison mixtures advocated in this publication are reduced to quantities which can be used advantageously on small gardens, and, in some cases, poisons or rather methods of control which are not commercially practical are recommended for the amateur gardener.

Remedial measures recommended range from kerosene baths applied to the insects to paper collars applied to the plants. Either method is claimed to be effective in controlling the particular insect's appetite for which the control is recommended. Cutworms that climb and cut worms which burrow for their food are all cataloged, their appetites described, and sentences pronounced.

ALFALFA WILL FILL MICHIGAN HAY MOWS

Increased Acreage Would Have Saved Planting Emergency Crops

A single farmer out of 1,300 who recently attended a series of Michigan meetings to discuss emergency hay crops said that he could not profitably increase the present acreage of alfalfa on his farm because he already had the whole farm planted to alfalfa, and the others told the crops men from Michigan State college that if they had more alfalfa they would have no need for emergency crops.

The series of meetings covered 12 counties and those attending stated that they would increase their alfalfa acreage 48 per cent by seedings made this spring. This is probably a greater increase than will be made by all Michigan farmers but there will be many acres planted in all sections of the state. The Michigan alfalfa acreage has increased 800 per cent in the past ten years, and the past year's drought proved that this crop is excellent insurance against short rations for the livestock.

LEGAL NOTICES

Probate Notice.

State of Michigan, the Probate Court for the County of Charlevoix, do hereby give notice that the estate of William Stoltz, Sr., deceased.

Notice of Mortgage Foreclosure Sale

Notice is hereby given that default has occurred in the conditions of that certain mortgage, dated the 1st day of September, 1923, executed by Elizabeth Nielsen, a widow, as mortgagor, to The Federal Land Bank of Saint Paul, a body corporate, of the City of St. Paul, County of Ramsey, State of Minnesota, as mortgagee, filed for record in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for Charlevoix county, Michigan, on the 1st day of September, A. D. 1923, at 1:30 o'clock p. m., recorded in Liber 62 of Mortgages on page 283 thereof, in that that certain installment of Eighty-one and 25/100ths Dollars ($81.25), principal and interest due September 1st, 1930, remains unpaid, and further that the taxes were not paid by the mortgagor and were permitted to become delinquent; that on the failure of said mortgagor to pay said taxes, the Federal Land Bank of Saint Paul did elect to pay the same, and on April 1st, 1931, paid the sum of Four Hundred Sixty-seven and 60/100ths Dollars ($467.60) as taxes for the years 1928, 1929 and 1930. That pursuant to the provisions of said mortgage, said mortgagee has elected to declare the whole debt secured thereby to be now due and payable, and there is due and payable at the date of this notice upon the debt secured by said mortgage, the sum of Twenty-nine Hundred Thirty-three and 32/100ths Dollars ($2,933.32); and that no action or proceeding at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover said debt or any part thereof, that, by virtue of a power of sale therein contained, said mortgage will be foreclosed and the land and premises therein described lying and being in the County of Charlevoix, and State of Michigan, as follows, to-wit:

Lots Two (2) and Three (3) and the Southeast Quarter (SE 1/4) of the Northwest Quarter (NW 1/4) of Section Nineteen (19) and the East Half of the Northwest Quarter (E 1/2 NW 1/4) of Section Thirty (30), all in Township Thirty-three (33) North, Range Seven (7) West, containing Two Hundred Fifteen (215) acres, more or less; will be sold at public auction to the highest bidder for cash by the Sheriff of Charlevoix county, at the front door of the court house, in the City of Charlevoix, in said county and state, on Tuesday, August 11th, 1931, at 10:00 o'clock in the forenoon, to pay and satisfy the debt secured by said mortgage and the costs and disbursements allowed by law upon said foreclosure sale.

Dated this 9th day of May, 1931. The Federal Land Bank of Saint Paul, Mortgagee.

James F. Shepherd, attorney for mortgagee, Charlevoix, Michigan. —Adv. 19113

Notice of Mortgage Foreclosure Sale

Notice is hereby given that default has been made in the performance of the conditions of a certain mortgage, dated October 19, 1921, executed by Henry P. Block and Catherine Block, his wife, to Reuben Geer, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of Charlevoix county, Michigan, on October 22, 1921, in Liber 54 of mortgages on page 638 on which mortgage there is claimed to be due at the date of this notice the sum of Nineteen Hundred Forty-three and eighty-five one-hundredths dollars in principal and interest and the further sum of $146.51 in taxes paid by the mortgagee, together with an attorney fee of $25 provided for in said mortgage, and that no suit or proceeding at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover the said debt or any part thereof, and that the recording taxes on said mortgage have been paid as provided by law. Therefore notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale therein contained the said mortgage will be foreclosed by sale of the premises therein described or so much thereof as may be necessary to satisfy the sums due as aforesaid together with costs and expenses of foreclosure, and said attorney fee, at public auction to the highest bidder by the Sheriff of said county, at the front door of the court house in the City of Charlevoix, said county and state, on Saturday, the 25th day of July, 1931, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of said day.

The premises as described in said mortgage are all those certain pieces or parcels of land situate in the City of Charlevoix, in the County of Charlevoix, and State of Michigan, and described as follows, to-wit: Lots Twenty-five (25) and Thirty-two (32) of Mason's Second Addition to the Village of Charlevoix, now City of Charlevoix, Michigan, according to the recorded plat thereof.

Dated, April 29, 1931. Norman W. Rogers, administrator of the estate of Reuben Geer, deceased, mortgagee. Business address: Charlevoix, Michigan. 17113

Notice of Mortgage Foreclosure Sale

Notice is hereby given that default has occurred in the conditions of that certain mortgage, dated the 17th day of September, 1924, executed by Hydon J. Heaton and Mildred Heaton, as his wife and in her own right, as mortgagors, to The Federal Land Bank of Saint Paul, a body corporate, of the City of St. Paul, County of Ramsey, State of Minnesota, as mortgagee, filed for record in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for Charlevoix county, Michigan, on the 11th day of October, A. D. 1924, at 9:30 o'clock A. M., recorded in Liber 62 of Mortgages on page 312 thereof, in that that certain installment of Fifty-six and 10/100ths Dollars ($56.10), principal and interest due September 17th, 1930, remains unpaid; and further that the insurance premium was not paid by the mortgagors and was permitted to become delinquent, and on the failure of said mortgagors to pay such insurance, the Federal Land Bank of Saint Paul did elect to pay the sum of $55.80 as insurance premium; and further that the taxes were not paid by the mortgagors and were permitted to become delinquent; that on the failure of said mortgagors to pay such taxes, the Federal Land Bank of Saint Paul did elect to pay the sum of Three Hundred Twenty-three and 80/100ths Dollars ($323.80) as taxes for the years 1928, 1929 and 1930. That pursuant to the provisions of said mortgage, said mortgagee has elected to declare the whole debt secured thereby to be now due and payable at the date of this notice upon the debt secured by said mortgage, the sum of Twenty-three Hundred Sixty-one and 26/100ths Dollars ($2,361.26); and that no action or proceeding at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover said debt or any part thereof, that, by virtue of a power of sale therein contained, said mortgage will be foreclosed and the land and premises therein described lying and being in the County of Charlevoix and State of Michigan, as follows, to-wit: The East Half of Section Twenty-one (21) and all that part of the Northwest Quarter (NW 1/4) of Section Twenty-two (22), Township Thirty-three (33) North, Range Six (6) West lying South and West of the Charlevoix State Road, excepting therefrom Twenty-five (25) acres described as follows: Commencing at the North 1/4th post on the North and South 1/4th line of said Section Twenty-two (22), thence South on 1/4th line 19.93 chains to center 1/4th post, thence South 86 degrees 57 minutes West on the East and West 1/4th line 10.05 chains to a stake set for southwest corner, thence North parallel to the North and South 1/4th line to center of Horton's Bay road about 25.32 chains, thence South 83 degrees 30 minutes East in center of said road about 10.10 chains to an iron stake on North and South 1/4th line, thence South on said 1/4th line 3.96 chains to place of beginning, containing in all about One Hundred Sixty (160) acres, more or less, will be sold at public auction to the highest bidder for cash by the Sheriff of Charlevoix county, at the front door of the court house, in the City of Charlevoix, in said county and state, on Tuesday, June 16th, 1931, at 10:00 o'clock in the forenoon, to pay and satisfy the debt secured by said mortgage and the costs and disbursements allowed by law upon said foreclosure sale.

we can do for those who left their lives on the nation's battlefields to give us peace, security, and the blessings of freedom. To keep their memory bright, to accord a love and reverence that changes only to deepen, to set aside one silent hour to do them honor—that's all. Little enough, indeed; but once again, on this Memorial Day, we'll do our little—humbly, gratefully, wholeheartedly.

Trolling for mackinnow has changed now from Lake Charlevoix to Lake Michigan, although in the latter lake some fine catches of steelhead trout and menominee are now being made. Lee Allard brought in a string of six Saturday afternoon, three steelhead and three menominee. During the past week several parties of Charlevoix summer residents have been here to enjoy the sport.

PETOSKEY PAYS UP OLD BRIDGE BONDS

Case There Is Parallel to Railroad Bridge Bonds at Charlevoix

A United Press dispatch says Petoskey has at last paid off its famous bridge-bond debt, which ran so long the interest exceeded the principal.

The last bond has been bought up. The bridge for which the city issued the bonds years ago has been wrecked and a new concrete bridge is being built to replace it.

The Petoskey bridge-bond debt has a parallel here at Charlevoix. This city still has bonds outstanding on the railroad bridge, and interest paid out on the issue has long since exceeded the amount of principal.

DODGE TEST CAR WAS HERE LAST MONDAY

Had Registered 94,802 Miles Since Leaving Detroit Last April

A Dodge 8, which left Detroit in April 1930, and has been travelling ever since in a marathon test run, visited the garage of Benjamin Brown, local agent, on Monday of this week.

At the time of its arrival here, the car had registered 94,802 miles, a remarkable record of Dodge dependability and enduring power.

The test car made its next stop at Cheboygan, and on Tuesday completed its test run at Detroit.

PETOSKEY CEMENT PLANT OPERATING

Two Kilns at Work Now, Others to Begin Within Short Time

The Petoskey Portland Cement company plant, which has been under repair for several weeks, was placed in operation last week, two of the four kilns being started. Work on the other two kilns is being rushed and they are expected to be started this week.

The big plant, employing several hundred men, has been shut down since last fall, owing to the present business depression, which hit the cement industry rather hard. However, general building is picking up and the Petoskey plant has now disposed of much of its stock left over from last summer's run.

Summer shipment of cement, always heavy, is expected to pick up gradually during the coming weeks. The steamer J. B. John, which has been at Harbor Springs for about a week, will likely be brought here for a load within a short time, and then continue carrying cargoes to lake ports at quite rapid rate. Shipment by rail also will go forward as the market continues to develop more favorably.

The Petoskey plant makes quite a large quantity of cement for both state and federal government requirements such as roads, bridges, and harbor works.—Petoskey Evening News.

street improvements and providing for the absorption of township roads in county systems.

A measure credited by its proponents with being of outstanding importance was that providing for periodical reregistration of automobile drivers.

A bill was adopted and is awaiting action by the governor, providing for the registration of all aliens with the commissioner of public safety.

The Chelsea Cement plant, long a bone of contention, was legislated out of existence—as a state issue—unless the next legislature reinstates it—by the passage of an act authorizing that it be disposed of in 1934. Measures were adopted placing slightly more rigid restrictions upon the power of the state administrative board. They prohibit appropriations for any purpose save actual emergencies and insist that funds shall not be juggled.

Despite reverses in the legislature which wrought havoc with the general program of tax reduction sought by Governor Brucker, voters of the state should be apprehensive of the effort put forth by the executive in their behalf. In this northern district, it is felt that Governor Brucker's record so far is a mighty good one, considering he was faced with an enormous deficit, problems of a general business depression which brought on additional demands, and, in many instances, a legislature bent upon extra expenditures. His stand on the mill tax won him great support, as did other items of legislation sponsored and successfully carried through by the administration. In view of his fine record, Governor Brucker may be assured that this district will give him the same splendid support two years hence as he received when elected last November.

METHODIST NOTES

We announce our annual Children's day program by the church school for next Sunday morning at the regular service at 10:30. There will be the usual springtime decorations, songs, readings and a delightful poetic pageant entitled, "The Enchanted Garden." Bring your special offering envelopes to this service. Children's baptism.

A brief general session will be held for church school and distribution of literature.

The Epworth League will meet from 6:30 to 7:15 for a most interesting topic.

Next Wednesday the Missionary Society will gather in the parsonage at 2:30. Have you an old Mite Box?

This Thursday the Literary club is to be entertained by Mrs. Walter Taylor for the closing session. Mrs. Emile VanAllsburg will speak on "Child Discipline."

A special meeting of the men of the church is called for Monday next at 7:30. Business is important.

LEGION MAKES PLANS FOR DIST. MEETING

"Stag" Party Thursday Night; Drum and Bugle Corps Progressing

Prospects for one of the "biggest and best" district conventions that the American Legion has staged in this part of the country for several years are enhanced by word recently received from Traverse City that Bowen-Holliday Post is going to turn out in force and bring its bugle and drum corps along. A good quota from Cadillac and St. Ignace—the other two invited posts from outside of the district—should insure a real party.

Decorations of the Legion home on East Garfield avenue is rapidly nearing completion and will be a big surprise to those who see it after the finishing touches have been added. The proceeds of the 5 o'clock tea, held at the Coulter home on April 16th by the ladies of Baxter Relief Corps, have been expended on curtains for the post hall and the Legion members went to thank the Corps most heartily for its fine cooperation.

Thursday evening, May 28th, another of the Legion's popular stag card parties will be held, to which the men of the community who enjoy a game with pastboards are cordially invited. "Spike" Goss is again in charge of the show detail and that in itself guarantees the quality of the refreshments. Drum practice, which was scheduled for Thursday night, has been postponed until Friday night.

Competent instructors have been secured for both sections of the drum and bugle corps. Claude Fairman of Ellsworth, who is considered an expert with the sticks, is bringing the drummers along in fine shape, while John Ter Wee, well-known band master, achieved excellent progress with the bugle section at their first practice under his supervision last Monday night. This musical organization, while not prepared to "strut their stuff" on Memorial day, should be ready to function by the Fourth of July and, possibly, on the day of the district convention.

BAPTIST CHURCH TO HOLD BIBLE SCHOOL

Vacation Classes Start June 8 and Continue for Two Weeks

The third annual daily vacation bible school will be held this year by the Baptist church.

This school is for any boy or girl in the community who desires the opportunity of a vacation school. The bible school administers to the physical, mental, moral, social and spiritual needs of the children through its courses of instruction in the bible, missions, habit and character-forming stories, music and the expression of activities like note-book work and craft work. There are also supervised play periods.

The school will begin Monday morning, June 8 at 9 o'clock, and continue for two weeks. Parents are urged to send their boys and girls for this two-hour period of religious training each morning. Further announcements will be made next week.

CHERRY FETE'S NAME CHANGED

Erstwhile Michigan Carnival Becomes National Affair

The executive committee of the Michigan Cherry Festival meeting last Thursday, formally voted to change the name of the Annual Cherry Harvest Celebration to National Cherry Festival. This is in accordance with resolutions adopted by the Michigan legislature, sponsoring the National Festival.

The new title is more in harmony with the prestige which the festival has won since it was started three years ago, according to Don Weeks, chairman of the executive committee.

AGED CIVIL WAR VET-

John Ward, Age 92 Years, Died Saturday at Bay Shore

Funeral services were held from Greensky Hill church Tuesday morning for John Ward, age 92 years, who died Saturday at the George Greensky home at Bay Shore, where he had been making his home for three years. Rev. John E. Lockyer of the local Methodist church, officiated.

Ward was a Civil war veteran, having served with a New York cavalry regiment.

MISSIONARY GROUP MEETS WEDNESDAY

The Missionary Society of the Methodist church will meet next Wednesday, June 3rd, with Mrs. John E. Lockyer at the parsonage. Report from the convention and the closing chapters of the year book will be of interest to every member. If not in, bring your Mite Box.

SCHOOL BOARD WILL BUILD TENNIS COURTS

Advertise for Bids on Construction of Concrete Double Courts

Charlevoix's oft-discussed tennis court problem appears to be nearest solution at the present than it has been in several years.

The board of education is this week asking for bids on the construction of two regulation size, concrete double courts. According to plans on file, the courts, if constructed, will be built the length way (north and south) on the school yard, fronting the high school and junior high buildings.

Back-stop screens will be constructed at the north and south ends. The center screen will serve both courts, and will be removable so as not to obstruct the skating pond in the winter.

Whether or not the courts anticipated will be a combination board of education and city proposition is not yet known. However, from a public standpoint, it would seem advisable that the board of education build their own courts on the school grounds, and the city build additional ones at the park on Lake Michigan, near their present playground equipment. An arrangement of this kind would furnish Charlevoix with all the courts it needs, whereas those contemplated by the board of education would serve only to relieve temporarily the present situation.

CHARLEVOIX BASE-BALL NINE FORMED

Open Season Schedule With Game at Harbor Springs Sunday

Baseball fans will be pleased to hear that a team has been organized to represent Charlevoix in competition with other northern Michigan cities during the coming summer season.

Glen Rose has taken over the managerial reins and has gathered together a likely bunch of baseball material. Practice has been under way each night at the north side ball park for the past two weeks. In the line-up will be several who played on the local Indian ball nine last summer, in addition to a group of school material and other local talent.

The team will open the season away from home next Sunday, taking on the Harbor Springs aggregation at Harbor. A regular schedule of home and out-of-town games is being arranged.

GRAND RAPIDS MAN OPENS FRUIT STORE

New Establishment Is Located in Benj. Brown Building, Bridge St.

A new business place, to be known as the Charlevoix Fruit Store, opened in the Benjamin Brown building on Bridge street on Tuesday of this week.

Andy Grillo of Grand Rapids, wholesale and retail fruit dealer, is owner of the new establishment, which will be under the management of Mrs. Grillo and her sister, Miss Phyllis Longo.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

Charlevoix services: Morning worship, 10:45; church school, 12:00; mid-week service Thursday, 7:00 p. m.

Ironton services: Morning worship, 10:00; church school, 11:30 EST. Because of the baccalaureate services there will be no young people's service at either church.

At Charlevoix the church school will observe Children's day Sunday. This service will be held at the regular church school hour, 12:00. In connection with the Children's day services the rite of baptism and consecration will be administered to children. This service will take place during the regular morning worship period. Parents who wish to have their children receive this rite please present them at the 10:45 o'clock hour.

CHURCH OF GOD

I. T. Mark, Pastor

The pastor preached an evangelistic sermon last Sunday evening, and a number of people came to the altar for help.

Meetings Sunday will be as usual. Sunday school, 10:00 a. m.

Would like to see more present at the Sunday school hour.

Proaching at 11:00 a. m. Young people's meeting at 6:30. Preaching service, 7:30 p. m. Prayer service Wednesday at 7:30. The public is cordially invited to all services.

Notice!
Bids will be received up to 5 o'clock June 1st, for the construction of two cement tennis courts as per plans and specifications on file at the Charlevoix Abstract and Engineering Co. office. The Board reserves the right to reject any or all bids. Board of Education, Mrs. E. J. Miller, secretary.—Adv. 2111.

"10-CENT-A-DAY-MAN" MADE A VISIT HERE

Carl Johnson, 35, the wandering "10-cent-a-day" man, was in Charlevoix last week on his way here and there toward Canada and then to Europe. The visitor carried a big pack on his back and had his faithful dog and his red lantern. He never goes any place without the dog, and does not venture out nights without his safety red lantern. He has visited southern states, Mexico, Central America and is now heading north and east toward the sea. He says he lives on ten cents a day.

CHILD HEALTH COMMITTEE IN SESSION

MET LAST THURSDAY AT DEER LAKE GRANGE HALL

Reports of District Health Officers Heard—Next Meeting July 2 at Boyne City

Half the townships of the county were represented at the third meeting of the Charlevoix County Child Health Committee—at Deer Lake Grange hall last Thursday afternoon. The total attendance was 43.

Presiding at the meeting was Mrs. Arthur Beergeon of Charlevoix, county chairman. Dr. Quinlan sketched the summer dental program, and asked the committee's cooperation in providing transportation of children to the various clinics.

Dr. Carleton Dean, director, reported statistics during 1926-28 showed the maternal mortality rate in counties of this district were higher than the state average. The infant mortality rate was also higher, although the year 1930 showed a decided improvement.

Dr. Gibson, director of dental division of the Michigan Children's Fund, impressed upon the group the fact that "outside" help doesn't accomplish much in a health program unless the local communities and committees assume the responsibility of its success.

Miss Congdon, county nurse, announced the location of the summer classes on infant and maternal hygiene to be conducted by Dr. Hennessy as follows:

July 6—A. M., Charlevoix; p. m., Ironton. July 7—A. M., East Jordan; p. m., Wilson township. July 8—A. M., Boyne Valley; p. m., Clarion. July 9—A. M., Horton Bay; p. m., Bay Shore. July 10—P. M., Marion township.

The committee accepted the invitation of Miss Geiken to meet in the library in Boyne City, Thursday, July 2.

Mrs. Timmer's musical contribution and the refreshments served by the Wilson township committee were enjoyed by all.

GOLF COURSES OPEN TO PLAY THIS WEEK

IMPROVEMENTS COMPLETED AT CHARLEVOIX COURSE

Wm. Watson Returns as Pro—Milton Converse to Be Pro at Belvedere—Courses in Fine Shape

Charlevoix's two eighteen-hole golf courses will officially open for the 1931 resort season this week.

There has already been considerable play at the Belvedere course, but out at the Charlevoix Golf course, play is being held up until the latter part of the week to allow completion of an extensive program of repairs which was started last fall and is now practically completed.

Golfers will find the Charlevoix course in the best shape in its history. Starting after play closed last fall, all of the eighteen greens were thoroughly raked, re-seeded and given a thick covering of new, rich dirt. Weedy spots were removed and new sod replaced. The seedlings took a good hold last fall and then grew rapidly during the spring months. Another coating of rich dirt has put them in excellent condition, and, of course, early spring rains have brought them along in fine shape.

Another part of the improvement program was carried out on the fairways, which were gone over with a spike-tooth drag and then re-seeded. A heavy coating of fertilizer was left on the fairways throughout the winter.

William Watson, who has been professional at the Charlevoix club many years, is here personally supervising the final preparations for the season. He stated the same corps of assistants would be at the club again this season, including Cleveland Roe, who will again act as caddy master; "Bill" Supernaw and Arthur Krulik, repairmen and club-makers; Angie Scott as bookkeeper and Miss Arlyene Supernaw, assistant. Charles Hamlin, overseer of the course, has been on duty throughout the spring months.

The Belvedere course, which again will be the scene of the Michigan Amateur Championships during July, is already open for play. Frank Supernaw, caretaker, is in charge until the arrival of Milton Converse, who will act as professional this year. Other members of the staff are not known at this time.

The Belvedere course, known as Michigan's most picturesque lay-out, is in its usual wonderful condition.

"THE EXCHANGE" OPENING SET FOR FRIDAY

Mrs. J. J. Simmons and Mrs. Lucille Ikens to Operate New Store

Charlevoix's latest store, The Exchange, which will be operated by Mrs. J. J. Simmons and Mrs. Lucille Ikens, has set Friday, June 12th, as their opening date. The store is located in the S. M. See & Sons building, 411 Bridge street.

Features of the store's service will be cut flowers, agents for Mrs. Snyder's candy, a famous Chicago product, a rental library, planning for parties, gifts and notions of all kinds, etc.

"The Exchange" means just what the name implies. Articles such as underwear and needle work, paintings, antiques, etc., will be taken and sold on a commission basis.

LOCAL PARTY BUYS RAMONA PARK HOTEL

MR. AND MRS. FRANKLIN C. SEARS ARE NEW OWNERS

Mr. Sears Will Take Over Management This Year With Mrs. Sears at the Belvedere

(From Emmet County Graphic) Ramona Park hotel and all the unsold land—formerly known as Traverse Shores Country club today (last Thursday) became the property of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin C. Sears of Charlevoix.

The hotel and country club site with more than 115 lots and a half mile of shore line on Little Traverse Bay is valued between $150,000 and $200,000.

Formal opening under the new owners will be July 1. Mr. Sears will manage the hotel this summer. The season will extend to September 20. Mrs. Sears, who has been manager of the Belvedere hotel in Charlevoix for seven seasons, will remain there in the same capacity this summer. She will come to Harbor Springs to assist Mr. Sears during the 1932 season.

Widely known as one of the finest resort hotels in Michigan, the Ramona Park hotel will be greatly improved under the extensive program outlined by the new owners. No detail will be overlooked to make the service and management of the hotel satisfactory to guests. Mr. Sears announced. Mr. Sears has had wide experience with hotel management.

LEGIONNAIRES AT TENO DIST. MEET

SEVERAL HUNDRED AT CONVENTION HERE SUNDAY

Otto Scott, Petoskey, Picked as District Committeeman—Parade, Banquet Leading Features

An estimated crowd of 700 Legionnaires, Auxiliary members and their friends attended the annual meeting of the lower 11th district at Charlevoix last Sunday.

Leslie T. Shapton Post No. 226, Charlevoix, was host to organizations of the district, and a well planned and executed program was presented under the guidance of various local committees. Parties from points throughout the district, as well as delegations from Cadillac and Traverse, who brought their splendid drum and bugle corps to augment those from the district, started arriving early in the forenoon and before the appointed time for activities to commence, the city was crowded with visitors.

A large parade, in which all Posts and five bugle and drum corps participated, was a feature of the morning. Charlevoix's newly-organized bugle and drum corps took its place along with the splendid ones of other cities.

At the business session, held at the Belvedere casino, Otto C. Scott, Petoskey, was chosen district executive committeeman, and as such will be delegate to the state convention. John McIntosh, Onaway, was chosen alternate. Onaway was chosen for the next district convention, and a committee was appointed to arrange a boat excursion to the national convention at Detroit in September.

Nearly four hundred attended the excellent banquet at the Belvedere hotel, which was opened for the occasion. Karl Detzer, Leland, author, who was principal speaker, urged Legion members of the district to attend the state convention at Pontiac, in July, and use their influence in shaping its policies. Other speakers were Dr. George Waters, Port Huron, state vice-commander, and Dr. C. J. Gray, prominent Petoskey Legionnaire.

Mr. Scott, Petoskey, gave the address dedicating Charlevoix's new Legion home on Garfield avenue, and presented the local post with a trophy for the greatest increase in membership during the past year.

St. Ignace Junior Legionnaires won the ball game from Alpena in a closely contested battle by a score of 5 to 4.

The famous Ramona artesian well, 128 feet deep, flowing 10,800 barrels of water daily at an unvarying temperature of 45 degrees supplies water for the hotel. A second well furnishes sulphur water in abundance.

Regulations on Bass, Etc., Unchanged From Last Year

Regulations unchanged from last year, the open season for bass, bluegills and sunfish starts June 25. At that time all lakes and streams will be open to fishing for all game and non-game fish. Only two species are protected throughout the year, grayling and sturgeon.

Size and possession limits were unchanged by the 1931 legislature. The black bass size limit is ten inches with a creel limit of five per day or in possession at one time. Twenty-five is the daily limit for calico, rock, strawberry, white and warmouth bass, crappies, bluegills, sunfish and perch or any combination of these species.

COUNCIL ADOPTS BUDGET FOR YEAR

GENERAL TAX OF 12 MILLS THE SAME AS FOR LAST YEAR

Substantial Reduction in Electric Light and Power Rates Adopted; City Finances in Good Shape

A city tax rate the same as last year and a substantial reduction in illumination and power rates were adopted by the Charlevoix city council at their regular meeting Monday night.

That Charlevoix's tax rate is considerably lower than other cities of the region, and that the city now finds itself in a position to lower electric light and power rates to its users will be a great source of satisfaction to the public in these times of general business depression.

The city's finances, as of a report of June 1, are in excellent condition. Several funds were found to be in the "red," but balances in other funds more than off-set the difference. The budget for 1931-32, totalling $39,140.70, is designed to put all funds in the "blue" and provide sufficient money to carry them through the coming fiscal year. To furnish the above total, a city tax of 10 mills, and an interest and sinking fund of 2 mills will be levied, bringing the total tax to 12 mills, the same as a year ago, when the two called for 9 and 3 mills, respectively. The total money to be raised is within a few dollars of the 1929-30 figure.

Under the direction of Lisle Shanahan, city attorney, a new bookkeeping system has been installed for the city. A monthly financial report covering all funds and departments will be prepared for the council in the future. It is designed to aid in the regulation of expenditures and to keep the various funds within their budget.

During the past year the city has constructed and put in operation the new Deisel power plant on Ferry avenue. The unit is entirely paid for without any increase in taxes, issuing of bonds or borrowing money. The plant, costing around $65,000, was paid for from earnings of the electric light department. It might also be interesting to know that the Bellinore water power plant is paid for, and that the remaining $10,000 in bonds outstanding on the new steam plant will be taken up in September, making all three plants free from any debt. Their total value is placed at $255,000, and they are owned by the city.

Other indebtedness reported was $28,000 on the new water pumping station. These bonds are being paid at the rate of $4,000 each year from earnings of the department. The $25,000 railroad swing bridge bonds fall due in 1934, and an interest and sinking fund has been provided to care for them.

True to promises that a reduction would be made in electric light and power rates as soon as possible, a new schedule was adopted Monday night.

Taking immediate effect, illumination rates for the months of June, July, August and September will be 12c per k. w. up to and including 150 k. w. and 8c per k. w. over that amount—compared to the former rate of 12c per k. w. up to 200, and 10c per k. w. over that amount. Rate for the balance of the year will be 8c per k. w. While this lower rate does not help the small user directly, it will increase revenue of the department to an extent where a certain portion of income may be transferred to the contingent fund, thus decreasing the general city tax.

The highest reduction has been placed in effect on power rates. A year around rate of 3c per k. w. has been adopted, as compared to the previous rate of 5c per k. w. in summer and 4c per k. w. in winter. The lower charge has already had its effect in the installation of several electric ranges and other large power-using equipment.

The water rate of 30c per 1000 gals., with a minimum of $1.25 per quarter, remains unchanged.

Within another year or so Charlevoix tax-payers can look for a general tax reduction. The city will soon have its bonded indebtedness cleared up, and revenue from its utilities will be converted to the general fund, thus allowing a decrease in the amount which must be raised by general tax to carry on city operations.

Prospects are encouraging and the present status of the city's finances are worthy of favorable comment.

This BALL AND BOTTLE TEST

...lets you SEE that New Iso-Vis will not thin out from dilution"

"Just 3 seconds of your time and a flip of the wrist—that's all it takes for you to make this interesting test. You'll probably get a big surprise from watching the four steel balls sink through the oil to the bottom of each bottle.

"What these little steel balls tell you is the gospel truth—New Iso-Vis will not thin out from dilution. And what's more, it's the only motor oil that will stand up like this.

"Here's a challenge. Fill up with New Iso-Vis. Then when it's time to drain, come in. Try your own oil in the Ball and Bottle Test. See for yourself that New Iso-Vis will not thin out from dilution."

NEW SMALL FRUITS QUITE PROMISING

In the discussion of new small fruits at the short course in horticulture at University farm, St. Paul, F. P. Daniels said the Mastodon strawberry, an everbearing variety, had apparently come to stay. Trials given it in Minnesota and elsewhere have proven it to be an abundant producer of large sized fruit. It also propagates readily.

Mr. Daniels said the Beaver on past performance in this region is worth observing and studying. Those who have grown it believe it is a coming berry. It is large, has good color, and holds up well. Other new varieties of merit are Minnehaha, Bliss, Bonquet and Table Queen. A very early variety is the Early Bird, a Michigan introduction.

Mr. Daniels described a new currant and a new red raspberry which were developed at the state fruit breeding farm and which are now known only by numbers. This currant ripens a week later than the normal fruit and holds on a long time, producing a good crop late in the season, when prices naturally strengthen.

The new raspberry is earlier than the Latham, though a trifle smaller, and is declared to be very promising. It has never shown evidences of mosaic and is regarded as practically immune from that disease. These new fruits will not be available for general planting for some time.

Alfred, a blackberry of high quality and large size, was recommended for planting by the university horticulturist. Trials in Michigan have demonstrated its hardiness in 30 below weather without covering.

Making Needed Repairs

on Favorite Apple Tree

One frequently finds a case, particularly in the home fruit garden, where some favorite old apple tree has rotted cavities which threaten to wreck a main branch or even the whole tree. In such cases it is well worth while to attempt some treatment of these cavities.

The first essential of success is to dig out just as thoroughly as possible all the old, decayed wood, getting back to good sound tissue. If the cavity is deep this may be difficult, but with a good sharp chisel, a mallet and considerable perseverance the thing can usually be accomplished.

The second essential is to fill this cavity properly. If the hole is large use two parts of sand and one of cement. And if very large, bricks or stones may well be used to fill up part of the space. With small cavities use one part each of sand and cement. In either case the sand and cement should be thoroughly mixed before any water is added, and one should use just as little water as possible; have the mortar in such condition that when tightly squeezed in the hand the water will just barely drip from it. When the hole is filled smooth off the surface as carefully as possible to have a surface that will exclude all moisture.

Use Poison Bran Mash in Eradicating the Cutworm

The cutworm is one of the pests placed on this earth to try men's souls. Try a poison bran mash composed of one pound of bran, one ounce of paris green, three tablespoonsful of cheap sirup, one-fourth of a lemon, and two and half cupsful of water. This amount will cover a quarter of an acre. Mix the bran and paris green dry. Squeeze the juice of the lemon into the water and add the peel and pulp after chopping it fine. Then dissolve the sirup in the fruit juice mixture and stir the liquid into the bran. Since cutworms are night feeders the bait should be spread in the evening so that it does not have time to dry out, writes H. B. Tukey, in the Rural New Yorker in a little-mentioned tomato plants, the raspberry cane, or the strawberry plants if cut worms are bothersome, but be careful about possible poisoning of children, dogs, and birds.

CULTURE OF PEAR IN FEW SECTIONS

Pear culture has succumbed to unfavorable conditions to a greater extent than perhaps any other fruit. It has been planted over a wide variety of conditions, just as has the other fruits, but it is tender to winter cold, has suffered terribly from the scourges of pear blight, does not stand extremes of soil moisture, and hence its commercial production has been narrowed down to a relatively few sections, writes J. H. Gourley in the Ohio Farmer. True the Kleffer, Garber and Le Conte which were derived from the Eastern sand pear and the common pear, are grown over a wide range but are certainly not very popular varieties.

Tukey, in a recent book on pears, gives the following as the ten leading commercial sorts: Bartlett, Kieffer, Seckel, Clapp Favorite, Beurre d'Anjou, Beurre Clairgeau, Winter Nellis, Flemish Beauty, Doyenne du Cornice, Howell. Ten suited to the home orchard: Bartlett, Seckel, Clapp Favorite, Beurre Bosc, Winter Nellis, Dana Hovey, Tyson, Elizabeth, White Doyenne, Bloodgood.

Ten blight resistant sorts: Kieffer, Garber, Le Conte, Sudduth, Seckel, Tyson, Duchess d'Angoulême, Bullfinch, Doyenne Boussock, Beurre Giffard.

The two chief sections of pear culture in the United States are New York state and California. In New York the plantings are more than 50 per cent of Bartlett, followed by Kieffer, Seckel and Clapp Favorite. In California Bartlett is also the leading one followed by Anjou, Bosc, Easter Beurre, Howell and Winter Nellis. Half of the California crop is canned or dried and the remainder reaches the market as fresh fruit.

In pruning the bearing tree Tukey states that "bearing trees in their prime need very little pruning. Cross branches and dead limbs should be removed, and thick trees should be thinned out, as much to help in insect and disease control as any benefit that may be derived in growth."

With the Kieffer, however, a different course must be pursued. Bearing trees are likely to overlad and to produce undersized fruit. The customary practice, which really amounts to a thinning operation, is to head back the preceding season's growth about two-thirds each year, commonly termed "stubbing." Some growers prefer to cut back into two-year-old wood every other year. Both practices are successful.

We have stated previously that the pear has a place in northern Ohio and that moderate plantings in the lake region would seem to be justified, where proper cultural attention can be given.

Legumes Are Best Cover

Crops for the Orchard

Green crops for plowing under are commonly used in orchards and vineyards in western New York. Many of the best fruit growers practice clean culture up until about the first of August and then sow a cover crop. Vineyardists who object to having a cover crop in the vineyard at picking time, on account of the discomfort caused to pickers by dew and wet weather, commonly sow cover crops in alternate rows.

The legumes, among which are clover, pears and vetch, make the best cover crops, writes L. H. Woodward in the Rural New Yorker. Other crops are oats, rye, buckwheat, turnips and millet. The choice depends on the soil and the kind of fruit. A rotation may be practiced or a mixture of the above crops used. The cover crop should be sown in midsummer, at the time of the last cultivation, and be plowed under late in the fall or very early in the next spring. The grains—oats, rye or barley—should be sown at the rate of two bushels per acre; clover, 15 pounds per acre; vetch, 20 to 40 pounds per acre.

Kept Certificate of

Girl's Birth on Egg

The recent will of a Manchester street child, written on an eggshell, which was admitted to probate, is not the only occasion on which an egg has figured in a singular capacity.

In 1839 an egg was produced, and accepted, as a certificate of birth. In that year a widow named Bell was called upon by the Norwich union to prove that her daughter had reached school-exemption age.

She produced an egg beautifully colored in purple, yellow, and cream, wherein, in almost copper-plate characters, the name and date of the daughter's birth were picked out in white, together with the text "The Lord shall guide thee continually" and "Teach me to do Thy will."

This novel certificate was the only record possessed by the mother, and was accepted as evidence.—London Tit-Bits.

Grafting Grapevines

Grapevines may be held-grafted through the ordinary cleft method that is usually employed in top-working apples. The union is made just below the soil level, and while the scions are firmly tied in place no wax is used to cover the jointed parts, they being protected by a mound of loose earth that should extend up to the top buds of the scions.

Vines ten years of age can be successfully cleft-grafted to the desired varieties.

Safety Glass

Ford cars are now equipped with safety glass in all doors and windows at a small extra charge

$15 for the Coupe, De Luxe Coupe, Sport Coupe or Convertible Cabriolet $20 for the Tudor Sedan, Standard Sedan, De Luxe Sedan, Town Sedan or Victoria

THE Triplex safety glass windshield has always been an outstanding feature of the Model A Ford. By reducing the dangers of flying glass, it has saved many lives and prevented countless injuries in automobile collisions.

Now comes a further assurance of safety to every Ford owner . . . polished plate safety glass in ALL DOORS AND WINDOWS at slight additional cost.

The charge for this extra protection is unusually low because of large production and the development of new methods of manufacture. Simply tell the dealer when you buy the Ford that you want "safety plate glass in all doors and windows" and the car will be factory-equipped for you in that manner.

Today, as before, the safety glass windshield is furnished as standard equipment on all Ford cars without extra charge.

FORD OWNERS This announcement refers only to NEW CARS. Ford dealers are not in a position to install safety glass in the windows of your present Ford at the above prices.

AT THE MOVIES Daring Westward Trek Lives in Breath-Taking Spectacle

The story of the hardy frontiersmen transporting necessities across the 1600 miles of unconquered territory lying between the Mississippi and the gold fields of California will be unfolded in a great moving picture spectacle at the Palace theatre, starting Saturday, for two days, when Paramount's thrilling drama, "Fighting Caravans," shows here. The part these freight trains played in history, differing from the part played by the early covered wagons, is told by Keene Thompson, who, with Edward E. Paramore, Jr., and Agnes Brand Leahy, adapted Zane Grey's famous novel for the screen.

"Fighting Caravans" can be best described as the story of those hardy old frontiersmen of "The Covered Wagon," beating out new trails, making new history, conquering the old West," says Thompson. "It is a continuation of the exploits of the two beloved characters, Bill Jackson and Jim Bridger, portrayed by Ernest Torrence and Tully Marshall in Emerson Hough's 'The Covered Wagon.' They are still two old scouts, but, whereas in 'The Covered Wagon' they fought off Indians for small pioneer wagons, in 'Fighting Caravans' they are performing the much harder job of protecting a caravan of huge freight wagons.

"The Covered Wagon" took place in 1848, just before the days of the Forty-Niners; 'Fighting Caravans' takes place in the period around 1863, fifteen years later and just before the Civil war.

Northwoods Drama Soon to Show at Palace Theatre

"The Right of Way," Sir Gilbert Parker's famous novel, once so successfully dramatized on the stage, is coming to the Palace theatre Tuesday and Wednesday in cinema garb. Conrad Nagel, Loretta Young, Fred Kohler, William Janney, Emmett King, Harry Cording, Brandon Hurst and other favorites head the all-star cast. Frank Lloyd directed the pictures, and it is said that it puts the noted director once again (for the eighth consecutive time) on the list of the "Ten Best Directors." This honor rating began with his "The Sea Hawk."

Money spent at home builds up community resources, which means better jobs, more business, and additional privileges for all our people.

Mrs. Jones Had on a Wonderful New Dress--

THE Mrs. Jones we're talking about is the sort of woman who, in spite of only moderate means, is always well dressed . . . whose home is furnished with exquisite, though not extravagant, taste . . . whose table is frequently graced with some appetizing new food product . . . whose housekeeping equipment, kitchen requisites, all seem to have been chosen with rare good judgment.

Mrs. Jones is an observant woman. A well-informed woman. A keen judge of values. A careful buyer. She reads the advertisements in her favorite newspaper.

Whatever is new or improved in the realm of merchandise, Mrs. Jones most likely knows all about it. She reads the advertisements.

Whatever store is putting on an unusual sale, Mrs. Jones has probably heard about it. She reads the advertisements.

Are you Mrs. Jones? Or a woman like her?

To get the newest, the best and the most for your money . . . read the advertisements

DESERVED PRAISE

If one is inclined to the belief that our conservation laws are meant for the country's good and should be observed cannot but feel very grateful and proud of the action of Fred Coon, the Charlevoix fisherman who caught and held and brought about the arrest and conviction of the six fellows of Wolverine that shot an elk on the Pigeon River reserve last Sunday. Mr. Coon did an unusual thing, and it took a great lot of determination and nerve to act as he did under the circumstances. It is common for the public to see and have knowledge of violations of all kinds going on about them, and not only shut their eyes to violations that are destroying those things most valuable to our country, but refuse to give evidence that might incriminate others. If more of the public would evidence that nerve and the backbone that was evidenced by Mr. Coon all kinds of violations would grow less. The writer visited that same section in which the elk was killed on Tuesday and in talking with a shacker learned that many elk had been killed out of that big herd not only by Wolverine people but by Tower and Onaway hunters, who did not take the whole carcass of the animals away, but just the hind quarters, and that deer were being killed too all the year around, by people preying upon the wild life of that section, which is large and pretty hard to patrol. We also discovered a few days before a half dozen beaver carcasses back in the swamp away from the river bank, and found a beaver trap in the river and the trap had closed down on a beaver foot, which the beaver had chewed off and left in the trap. We know too that there is a conservation department camp with many men about in that section, but we have never discovered any of those men doing anything about trying to enforce the conservation laws except what directly came under their observation as surveyors, chain bearers, plowers, barn boys and tower men. With the men of that department looking after the many things about that department as keenly as do the state police give attention to everything that comes to their attention, that elk herd, the many deer that are in that section, the beaver and the fish would be much better protected than they are now by a conservation man appearing in there once in a while from Wolverine, from Charlevoix, from Atlanta, from Onaway or Cheboygan. —Cheboygan Observer.

DOROTHY STRUTHERS IN TRAVERSE CONTEST

Represents Charlevoix for Honor of National Cherry Queen

Miss Dorothy Struthers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Struthers of Hayes township, was chosen Monday by a committee of the Charlevoix Association of Commerce as this city's candidate for National Cherry Festival Queen.

Miss Struthers left this afternoon for Traverse City, to be the guest of Dr. R. P. Sheets, contest committee chairman, and Mrs. Sheets. Selection of the queen will be made tonight at the Lyric theatre. Representatives of nearly every western Michigan city, chosen for their beauty and talent, will compete.

Miss Struthers, 18, a graduate of Charlevoix high school, class of '31, is a blonde. She was a member of the 1931 winter queen's court and is popular with the younger social set. Charlevoixans are "pulling" hard for Miss Struthers to win the coveted honor.

CITY COUNCIL RENEWS CONTRACT FOR AIRPORT

Pass $50 License Ordinance on Outside Laundry, Cleaning Solicitors

The Charlevoix city council Monday night renewed for another year a contract with Mrs. Lota Coulter for use of what is known as "Coulter Field" for an airport.

Pilots who have landed at the airport previous years and during the spring months, declare that with less than $50 expended in improvements, the field could be made the best in Northern Michigan. Its size, location and shape make it ideal. All that appears really necessary is the levelling of runways across a roadway which runs through the field. At the present time, the airport is not registered with the Government Bureau of Aeronautics, a matter which will be taken care of.

The city also passed an ordinance at their Monday night session making it necessary for outside laundry and cleaning enterprises to take out a $50 license to solicit business within the city.

LOCAL GIRL ENTERS TAINS DEBATE TEAMS

Onway, Cheboygan and Charlevoix Groups at Party Given Saturday

Miss Dorothy Staley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Staley, entertained debaters from Onaway, Cheboygan and Charlevoix schools with a beach party at Two Mile Point last Saturday evening.

Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Schobals, Carleton Adair, Camella Fish, Robert Lee and Jean McMillan, Onaway; the debate coach, Lewis Berry, Catherine McArthur, John Casprzak and John Cain, Cheboygan; Mrs. Ruth Dowd, Albert McMillan, Virginia Nickerson, Daisy Dutcher, Marie Novak and John Dutcher, Charlevoix.

After the wiener and marshmallow roasts, games were played. Later the party returned to the Staley home, where hot coffee and wafers were enjoyed.

MRS. P. S. DAY RECOVERING FROM ILLNESS

Shows Great Improvement Following Recent Major Operation

Charlevoixans will take a lot of satisfaction in the following article, taken from Petaluma-Arcus, Petaluma, Calif., regarding Mrs. P. S. Day (Miss Bertha Larson), former superintendent of Charlevoix hospital, who has a large following of local friends:

"Mrs. P. S. Day, who five weeks ago underwent a major operation, was able to leave the Petaluma general hospital on Saturday for her home at 7 Howard street. Mrs. Day has shown a remarkable recovery and she is now in better health than she has been for some time. Her many friends will learn with pleasure of her restoration to health."

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear darling daughter, Edna, who passed away six years ago, June 9, 1925.

Six years have passed since that sad, sad day.
When one we loved dearly was called away.

Do not ask us if we miss her,
O, there's such a vacant place:
Oft we think we hear her footsteps,
Or see her smiling face.

She has gone to brighten regions
Safe from every grief and care;
We shall meet again in heaven,
And never more be parted there.

Angels guard you, darling Edna,
And may your hrrp ring loud and clear;
Leaving notes of love behind you,
To the one that loves you dear.

Your loving mother, Mrs. C. Noble.

CHARLEVOIX WINS EAST JORDAN TILT

Take Long End of 8 to 4 Score Sunday—Next Game at Conway

Charlevoix's independent baseball team evened up the season's count Sunday afternoon by defeating East Jordan in a close and well-played game, 8 to 4. Charlevoix lost their opening tilt last Sunday at Harbor Springs.

Colby of Petoskey, pitched the route for Charlevoix and turned in a good performance. Members of the local squad gave him good support.

Charlevoix plays away from home again next Sunday when they meet Conway there.

BAY SHORE

A very pleasant party was held last Wednesday night, June 3rd, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Gilman, in honor of their son, Leonard's birthday anniversary. Cards were played and ice cream and cake were served at a late hour.

Miss Alice Worth spent last week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Worth.

O. Tillotson celebrated his 87th birthday anniversary Sunday, June 7th, at his daughter's home in Petoskey, Mrs. William Hubbard.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Tillotson visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Tillotson Sunday evening.

Lee Brecheisen and family have moved to Bay Shore and now occupy Mrs. Long's house.

Mrs. Bessie Zipp, her family and her mother, Mrs. A. G. Tillotson, called on Nelson Tillotson and family of Charlevoix, Monday evening.

Card of Thanks
We wish to express our sincere thanks to neighbors and friends for the many acts of kindness shown during our recent bereavement, also to those who gave floral tokens. Mr. and Mrs. August Schenck.—Adv. 2311pd.

Mr. Moxley, Michigan State College, Breaks Outlaw Horse at Colt Breaking Demonstration

For the first time in the three years that colt breaking demonstrations have been conducted in the county a real bad colt was the victim.

This horse was trucked over from Central Lake and had caused considerable trouble for its several owners. Being seven years of age it possessed its maximum strength, and not that alone, but having bested several men, it was smart. Mr. Moxley, in a very few minutes, had the colt throwing itself in an attempt to get out of its predicament, but upon finding its inability to do any damage quieted down, and shortly after was hitched to a wagon.

The next day Mr. Moxley made a trip to Central Lake and again helped in subduing the colt. To indicate the interest that the horse had created around Central Lake, twenty-five persons, without having received any publicity at all, visited the demonstration to see it properly broken. By the middle of the afternoon the horse was hitched to a drag and was faithfully doing its work.

Two More Bull Pens Being Constructed

The recent demonstrations showing the construction of bull pens and breeding chutes were nicely attended and attracted a good deal of favorable comment.

During the forenoon the college truck, which is equipped with a power saw, spent two hours at the farm of Harold Hamlin, Charlevoix, and was able to have the breeding chute pretty well completed. Mr. Hamlin will build the enclosure, or exercising lot, as soon as possible.

The afternoon demonstration at the farm of John Struthers, Charlevoix, was a complete success. The breeding chute was finished, and the exercising lot had been previously completed by Mr. Struthers, so that all present were able to see the bull pen as it should be. The material used in making the exercising lot was poles laid horizontally and fastened by means of wire to good sized posts, distributed some eight feet apart. This was an inexpensive way of making the enclosure. However, number nine fencing can be highly recommended if it is available. Other material which might be used is old gas piping.

Upon request the plans and specifications for the construction of the breeding chute will be gladly sent.

Guernsey Breed Association Holds Annual Meeting

The annual meeting of the Charlevoix County Guernsey Breed Association was held in Boyne City on Tuesday night, May 26th. Mr. Nelson and Mr. Musson of the Michigan State college were present and outlined in detail the problems facing the breeders of Guernsey cattle. Plans were made for this year's activity, which will largely center around the annual summer show and picnic to be held in East Jordan some time during the middle of July. This event is proving to be more popular every year and the exhibits reflect the progress being made among the Guernsey breeders of the county. Last year thirty head of the most representative Guernsey cattle were in the competition and this year it is fully expected that about the same number will be on hand again.

The election of officers resulted as follows: President, Archie Murphy, East Jordan; vice-president, Carl Stevens, Walloon Lake; secretary-treasurer, Oakley Saunders, Charlevoix. Board of Directors, two-year terms: Clyde Clute, Boyne City; Ray Loomis, East Jordan; Orvie Gun-solas, East Jordan; one-year term, Carl Grutsch, East Jordan; Bert Lumley, Boyne City; Oakley Saunders, Charlevoix.

All Guernsey breeders in the county are urged to join this association and to work hand in hand in advancing the interests of the Guernsey breed. A small membership fee of fifty cents will make you an active member. Oakley Saunders, secretary, will be glad to hear from you.

Quality Cream Truck Meetings in County

All dairymen will be deeply interested in the appearance of the quality cream truck from the Michigan State college, in Charlevoix county the week of June 15th.

On the truck will be exhibit and demonstration material about quality cream and how to produce it. The discussion that will occur at these meetings will be practical and to the point. Professor G. M. Trout, cream and butter judge of the dairy department, will be in charge of the meetings.

This week the new Jordan Valley Cooperative Creamery started operations. This creamery is your creamery and if it makes the success it should it must have the highest quality cream possible to manufacture 32 score butter for highest profits to you.

The following meetings will be held:

Wednesday—afternoon, June 17th, 2 o'clock fast time, Ironton Grange hall.

Thursday morning, June 18th, at 9:30 fast time, Barnard Grange hall. Thursday afternoon, June 18th, at 2:00 fast time, Burgess school house.

Friday morning, June 19th, at 9:30 fast time, farm of Frank Fox, north of Hortons Bay.

Friday afternoon, June 19th, at 2:00 fast time, Boyne City Co-Op company.

Saturday afternoon, June 20th, at 2:00 fast time, East Jordan Cooperative Creamery.

The Saturday meeting at the creamery will be your opportunity of personally visiting the creamery and inspecting its operation. The creamery officials are planning a fine program for you and cordially urge you to be present at the "Visitors' Day."

Please come to your nearest meeting. Tell your friends and neighbors. This will further the dairy interests of the county.

STERILIZATION OF CRIMINALS

Sterilization of mental defectives is legal in 15 states, but with the passing of the new Oklahoma law, which provides for the sterilization of third-term criminals, a fine point in criminology and sociology as well as in law is raised. It is generally believed that the new law will be reviewed by the United States Supreme Court. The law, designed not as a punishment for the criminal but as a protection of society, appears to be based on the assumption that criminal tendencies are hereditary. Any third-term in the state penitentiary or reformatory, sentenced for felonies, is subject to the law, it is said.

Governor W. H. Murray in giving his signature to the bill making it a law says, "Criminality and weakness of the brain both unmistakably are due to inheritance. Sterilization is not a punishment but a protection."

We agree with the governor that there are many forms of congenital insanity or brain weakness. We believe that these victims should be sterilized as a protection to society. However we disagree violently with the governor of Oklahoma that 'criminality is unmistakably due to inheritance.' We think the honorable Mr. Murray should study an elementary course in eugenics and one in sociology. The pitfalls in the way of a person who has served a term in prison and tries to establish himself in society again are usually so numerous that the individual in many cases has no alternative other than to return to a life of crime. It is a problem of social and economic relations. True, many criminals are psychopathic cases but they are far from insanity. If the governor could prove that criminals transmit their criminal tendencies by inheritance to their offspring, he would have some basis for his action. Unsatisfactory environment is the breeding place of crime. The Oklahoma law is contrary to the principles taught by eugenics.

OUR POLICE OFFICIALS

That college trained police officers are needed in law enforcement is the contention of William I. Cross, captain of the Michigan State Police. College athletes make ideal police officers, combining quick mental and physical action, he says. The majority of young men who seek positions on municipal or state police forces have high school records only, examination of police statistics show. There exists, and always will exist a need for college-trained men in the field.

Opportunities for a young man of physique, courage, ambitions, and education are offered by the modern police department. A college trained man can listen, absorb and plan action. In order to deal with the new type of criminal who uses scientific aids in his crimes, the college-trained police sleuth might well be put on his trail. He would be able to cope with scientific crime through an individual knowledge of science. The day has passed when any man can take a gun and badge, accept an oath, and without preparation enter into the enforcement of the law.

Already Los Angeles requires at least two years of college training for candidates to the police force. The best of human brains is necessary to compete with criminals and to protect life and property.

Policing a nation is a difficult job, when the criminals are usually one step ahead of the police in their use of the sawed-off shot gun before the police retaliate in kind. Will the criminal adopt radio for his use before the police departments can afford to use it? Will the brains of college men be turned into criminal channels instead of law enforcement?

AVOID FIRE HAZARDS

Michigan's forests represent potential millions of dollars to the people of the state. Our scenic beauties are one of the principal drawing points for the great number of tourists who annually come here. When we destroy these places of scenic beauty with forest fires, we destroy our principal stock in trade for one of Michigan's greatest industries.

We couldn't intentionally toss a cigarette into a pile of inflammable material in the factory in which we earned our living. We shouldn't carelessly set fire to a forest that is a financial asset thousands of Michigan people who earn their livings from the tourist industry. Yet half of all our forest fires last year resulted from the fact that lighted matches, cigar and cigarette butts and pipe "heels" were tossed away without a thought.

IN THIS CAGE

The Detroit Zoological park on Belle Isle proposes to add an ordinary milk cow to its collection of animals this year. The cow, we are told by the Detroit News, will form part of a general barnyard exhibit to satisfy the curiosity of juvenile Detroiters, thousands of whom have never had a close view of an honest to goodness cow.

This is an excellent idea, but it could be extended profitably. There is another strange type of creature with which Detroiters, young and old, are more or less unfamiliar, and we look forward to the day when a comfortably cage in the Belle Isle zoo will house a real live prohibitionist. —Grand Rapids Chronicle.

When people and things become important, they are mentioned in the newspapers. If business is to seem important, it should be mentioned in the advertising.

The teachers are bothered by the young people who fail to learn their dates, while the girls are bothered by the boys who fail to keep them.

Notice of Mortgage Foreclosure Sale

Notice is hereby given that default has been made in the performance of the conditions of a certain mortgage, dated October 19, 1921, executed by Henry P. Block and Catherine Block, his wife, to Reuben Geer, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of Charlevoix county, Michigan, on October 22, 1921, in Liber 54 of mortgages on page 638 on which mortgage there is claimed to be due at the date of this notice the sum of Nineteen Hundred Forty-three and eighty-five one-hundredths dollars in principal and interest and the further sum of $146.54 in taxes paid by the mortgagee, together with an attorney fee of $25 provided for in said mortgage, and that no suit or proceeding at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover the said debt or any part thereof, and that the recording taxes on said mortgage have not been paid as provided by law. Therefore notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale therein contained the said mortgage will be foreclosed by sale of the premises therein described or so much thereof as may be necessary to satisfy the sums due as aforesaid together with costs and expenses of foreclosure, and said attorney fee, at public auction to the highest bidder by the sheriff of said county, at the front door of the court house in the City of Charlevoix, said county and state, on Saturday, the 25th day of July, 1931, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of said day.

The premises as described in said mortgage are all those certain pieces or parcels of land situate in the City of Charlevoix, in the County of Charlevoix, and State of Michigan, and described as follows, to-wit: Lots Twenty-five (25) and Thirty-two (32) of Mason's Second Addition to the Village of Charlevoix, now City of Charlevoix, Michigan, according to the recorded plat thereof.

Dated, April 29, 1931.

CHICAGO CLUB SWANS NEST FOR FIRST TIME

One Pair Have Four Young on Loeb's Bay, Other Pair Nest on Old River

For the first time since being brought to Charlevoix seven or eight years ago, swans owned by Mrs. Geo. B. Douglas of Cedar Rapids, Ia., well known Chicago Club summer residents, have mated and nested.

Early this spring, one pair of the flock of ten beautiful swans disappeared, and it was only after many days' search that it was discovered they had stolen their nest in Loeb's Bay on Lake Charlevoix. At latest reports, the proud parents were diligently protecting four little swans hatched from a nesting of five eggs. They were to be brought back to their home in Old River on the Chicago Club grounds Wednesday afternoon by James Gaskin, caretaker, who has cared for the flock since it was brought here.

Mr. Gaskin also reported another pair of swans are nesting on Old River, but so far have hatched no young.

While their habits are not familiar to this writer, it is said both the male and female swan take equal responsibility during nesting time, alternating turns on the nest. When the young swans are being taught to swim, the mother will take them on her back when they become tired from a lesson. The swans will fight fiercely to protect their young and their maternal instinct is far above that of the average bird.

LOCAL YOUTH RECOVERING FROM ILLNESS

John Kelderhouse Returns to Coast Guard Duties at Muskegon

The following article, taken from a recent issue of the Muskegon Chronicle, concerns John Kelderhouse, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Kelderhouse, this city, and will be of interest to local residents:

"John Kelderhouse, one of the heroes of the sinking of the stone barge Salvor Sept. 27, has just returned to light duty at the Muskegon coast guard station after spending nearly eight months in the Marine hospital, Chicago.

"Suffering from a bad attack of pleurisy, hoarse with a hard chest cold, Kelderhouse maintained his watch in the lookout at Pt. Sherman all during the afternoon and evening. Then when a call came from up the beach for more powder for the breach buoy guns, Kelderhouse got into the station lifeboat, rowed across the treacherous channel to the powder house, got the boxes of powder into the boat, and then fell into the cold water in attempting to get back into the boat.

"A few days later, plural pneumonia developed. Later the young man was moved to the Chicago hospital, where after six months, he was nursed back to health."

FIND BODY OF MISSING LANSING ANGLER

Son of Emmet School Commissioner One of Trio Drowned in L. Superior

Finding of the body of Millard Hootman on Tahquamenon island in Whitefish bay of Lake Superior Monday had definitely established the fate which he and his two companions met after they set out on a fishing expedition three weeks ago.

Hootman, with John and Charles Ferguson, all of Lansing, departed May 16th with a row boat heavily laden with supplies. A gale swept the bay shortly after they left shore and it is believed that their boat was overturned during the storm.

The body of Hootman was found washed ashore by Ivan Palmroy. A watch found in Hootman's clothing indicated that the trio had met their fate about two hours after leaving shore.

PAYTON RESIGNS AS DEPUTY CITY CLERK

Retirement Concludes Many Years of Service to County and City

Daniel S. Payton, who had served the city of Charlevoix as deputy city clerk since 1918, handed in his resignation to the council at the regular meeting Monday evening.

Ill health, which has extended over a period of several months, was given as the reason for his retirement.

Showing appreciation for the many years of faithful and excellent service given by Mr. Payton, the council drafted and forwarded a resolution of appreciation. Mr. Payton's record as a public servant extends back many years into the early history of Charlevoix county. He has had an enviable career and it will be with deep regret that his many friends witness his retirement from public life.

Mr. Payton's successor has not been appointed as yet.

STR. "PEARY" ONCE A FAMOUS VESSEL

Its Career Said to Be Equalled Few Times in History

The "Peary," now a cruising boat on the Great Lakes, is said to have a career that has been equalled few times in history.

On its initial voyage it was one of four mine sweepers ordered by the French government at Fort Williams, Ont., during the World war. At the close of the war the craft was useless and then was bought at one-fifth of the original cost for use on the Byrd and McMillan polar expeditions.

When it was returned a New York sportsman purchased the vessel to explore African wilds. It was then bought by James Bramley, Cleveland millionaire, for a cruise on the Pacific ocean in search of a treasure island which he believed existed.

Last year when the "Marguerite," a survey boat owned by the lake survey department, could be used no longer, the "Peary" was bought to replace it. It is commanded by Capt. Charles Green, of St. James, Beaver Island.

WESTERN UNION REGU-LATES NATION'S TIME

Master Clock Corrects Discrepancies Every Day

"When the gong sounds it will be one minute past eight o'clock," declares the radio announcer, as residents of Charlevoix sit down to their ham and eggs.

And throughout the day their every movement is almost sure to be timed by the Western Union network which has provided the nation with standard time for forty-two years whether the time is obtained by radio or telephone or at office, factory, store, theatre, or school.

Responsibility for getting residents of this city to work, play and sleep on time rests with the manager of the local telegraph offices. The task of regulating Charlevoix local clocks may seem difficult to those who wind up the old alarm clock nightly, but he performs it with ease in three minutes daily by regulating the local master clock. During those three minutes, the Western Union manager stands at the master clock and corrects any discrepancy, of even a small fraction of a second.

DRAMATIC CAMP GIVES PROGRAM AT BAY VIEW

Will Present Four Evening Programs During Summer Season

The Lake Charlevoix Dramatic Camp at Ironton, will give four evening programs at the famous Bay View Assembly this summer. The camp staff and students will present "The Taming of the Shrew" and "The Intimate Strangers." Each show will be given two nights, the latter on the evenings of July 20 and 21 and the former on the evenings of August 5 and 6. Dr. Hugh Kennedy, of Detroit, manager of the great Bay View Assembly, states that he anticipates many well known Detroit and Southern Michigan persons will appear in the cast of characters in these two plays and that the auditorium will be filled all four nights.

Work on the reconstruction of the camp, which was completely destroyed by fire recently, is progressing rapidly, and assurance given that the camp will be in readiness for opening June 27th as originally planned.

METHODIST NOTES

Each Sunday morning in church is an opportunity to worship God with your fellows who feel the need of God as you do. Whatever the sermon may be this fellowship hour has privileges all can profit by. The sermon at 10:30 a. m. is "The Right to Be Happy." Is this a human right or is our thinking askew? Just what ought we to expect out of life? Come and hear, but chiefly, come and worship.

Church school continues at 12:00 noon.

Epworth League is at 6:30.

Dr. Randall conducts the third quarterly conference Thursday evening at 8:00 p. m. in the church parlors.

We continue the daily bible vacation school through next week. Classes for all below 10th grade in public school. No special fees.

BELVEDERE HOTEL OPENS NEXT WEEK

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 25TH, SET
AS OFFICIAL DATE

Prospects for Present Season Are Considerably in Advance of Former Years, Management States

The Belvedere hotel will open for the 1931 summer season on Wednesday, June 25th, the same as in previous years, according to Mrs. Franklin C. Sears, manager, who will manage this popular hostelry again this season.

Work of preparing the hotel for opening has been in progress for some time past, and a large crew will be kept busy at the task up to the opening day.

Many attractive improvements were made prior to the opening date a year ago and still more have been made again this spring. The lobby and lounge were entirely redecorated in a color combination of old ivory and mahogany and furnishings and electric fixtures correspond. Another large group of bedrooms have also been redecorated and new furnishings added.

Mrs. Ruth Shaddock, whose efficient service in the beauty parlor has been so pleasing to patrons for the past three years, will again be in charge of this department. Her equipment includes a Eugene waving machine.

Improvements have been continued in the kitchen, which last year was rebuilt and refurnished with increased pantry space, new steam table, new sinks, ice boxes and other equipment designed to add to the efficiency and rapidity of food service in this department.

Very few changes will appear in the hotel staff of former years. Frank A. Shattuck of Coral Gables, Fla., will return for his fourth year in charge of the front office. Dineen Latady of Daphne, Ala., will act as assistant clerk. Wyatt Wilson of Ann Arbor, who was attached to the hotel staff in another department last year, will return as porter, and Mrs. Selma Cameron of Harbor Springs returns as secretary and bookkeeper.

Mrs. Jeanne Durgin of Petoskey is returning for her fourth season in charge of the housekeeping department.

Harry Wilkins of East Lynn, Mass., is already in Charlevoix, and will have charge of the dining room service for the seventh consecutive year. Ed. Yates will preside over kitchen duties as chef again this season and has brought with him a capable crew of kitchen experts from Chicago. Mr. Yates was employed during the winter in one of the leading hostleries at Avon Park, Fla. Frank Stills comes from the Indian River hotel, Rockledge, Fla., to take over the duties as pastry cook.

Returning as stewardess, a position she has held for many seasons, will be Miss Mary Julian of Chicago, and Miss Lucy Hogan, who comes from New York.

Charlevoix will help Emmet county stage air circus.

Emmet county is staging her annual air circus on June 26 and June 27 at the Emmet county airport and as usual Charlevoix county will lend her assistance to the success of the event. This air circus has come to be a regular June event for Emmet county and is staged by the Petoskey-Harbor Springs Air Circus committee, with the Michigan Air Tour doing the entertaining.

The show this year will be on Friday afternoon and evening, June 26, and Saturday morning, June 27. The program includes the many stunts, new and novel, the showing of the big cabin glider, rides in all the new fangled planes, the landing and departure of the fleet, and many other things. Charlevoix folk who attended the other two there brought home word the programs were fine.

These two cities always give Charlevoix and the other resorts a good hand on their tennis tournaments, golf tournaments, boat races, etc., and also attend the Fourth of July celebrations, giving away entirely on the Fourth to the Charlevoix county affair. In return Charlevoix and Charlevoix county always boost for the air circus, the summer pageant, children's parade, Harbor Springs regatta and other similar occasions.

The doings of July 26 and 27 promise to be the best held at the Emmet county airport. This port is located halfway between Petoskey and Harbor Springs on highway M-131.

winter's experience in one of Florida's leading hotels, will be in charge of the pantry.

Mrs. Franklin C. Sears, manager, is optimistic over prospects for the coming season. Deposits on advance booking are considerably in excess of former years, as are also inquiries and reservations. The Belvedere enjoyed one of the most successful seasons in its history under Mrs. Sears' management during 1930 and present prospects point to a repeat this year.

HAMLIN BEAUTY PARLOR TO OPEN MONDAY

Will Be Located in Mussalem Building, 110 Bridge Street

Carried elsewhere in these columns is an announcement of the opening of the Hamlin Beauty Parlor for the summer season.

Mrs. Hamlin, who last year operated parlors in the Birnkant building, has this year installed equipment in the Mussalem building, 140 Bridge street, where alterations and redecorating is under way in preparation for the opening, which has been set for Monday, June 22nd.

CUT CONSERVATION DEPT. FIELD FORCE

DRASTIC ACTION TAKEN TO KEEP WITHIN STATE BUDGET

Join Field Divisions and Drop 40 to 50 Men From Force Is Ordered by Commissioners

Reorganization of the personnel of the state conservation department, made necessary by a shortage of funds, was authorized Monday by George Hogarth, state director. The changes will involve the dismissal of an estimated 40 to 50 field workers. Department activities will be merged to cut expenses.

The conservation commission, declaring that because of reduced appropriations "reductions and consolidations of all operations are necessary," directed that the forest fire, law enforcement, game, reforestation and land divisions be consolidated at once. H. R. Sayre, now chief forest fire warden, was designated as administrator of the new consolidated unit.

At present Hugh Green is head of the enforcement department. It was not decided what disposition will be made of him. All technical activities of the department were ordered consolidated under the direction of P. S. Lovejoy, who now heads the game division.

The reorganization will extend to all sections of the state. In the various districts of forest area there now are a district warden and an assistant with one in charge of enforcement and the other in charge of forest fire work. The department will select one of the two in each district and put him in complete charge of all activities. The force, likewise, will be reduced to one in each county in which there are now game and fire wardens. According to Hogarth, it is planned eventually to establish a mobile enforcement group to supplement the activities of the reduced force of local wardens. There are now 146 field men in game.

FORMER TEACHER PUBLISHES POEMS

WORK OF MISS ETHEL ZIPP IS GIVEN ENTHUSIASTIC PRAISE

Book of Fifty-six Poems, Entitled "A Bit of Everything," Is Highly Regarded by Critics

Miss Ethel Zipp, former kindergarten teacher in Charlevoix schools and well known to many local residents, now a resident of Saginaw, has made a decided success as a writer of poetry.

She has recently published a book containing 56 poems in two parts. The first part contains poems of and for children, and the second bits of every day philosophy, nature poems, and, in fact, a bit of everything. Her nature poems were inspired by the beauty of the northern country. Miss Zipp has given her poems before children and adult audiences and their appreciative reception gave her the incentive to have them published.

The following clipping regarding Miss Zipp's work, is taken from a Sunday issue of the Saginaw Daily News:

"A compilation of the little poems that she jotted down on occasions when she was happy in companionship or solitude, philosophical or in a mood to worship nature is 'A Bit of Everything,' a slim volume of verse published last week by Dorance & Co., Inc., of Philadelphia, for Miss Ethel Zipp, a teacher in the Saginaw schools.

"Saginaw readers of the poems by Miss Zipp will recognize the settings for several of the children's verses that comprise the first part of the book—the zoo or the kindergarten room at the school—and for the poems of philosophy and nature in the second portion. But, whether or not they possess backgrounds familiar to their readers, the poems are light, likeable, and often delightfully fanciful things.

Here is a sample, picked at random from the children's section of the volume. Its title is 'If I Could—':
If I could ride a pony
If I could dance or sing.

ERNEST D. SHAFER IS DEATH VICTIM

Succumbed Suddenly Early Thursday Morning at Petoskey

Ernest D. Shafer, well known former local resident, died very unexpectedly at about 4 o'clock Thursday at his home in Petoskey. He had apparently been in good health and word of his passing came as a shock to local friends.

Mr. Shafer, on two former occasions connected with the S. M. See & Sons store as funeral director, went to Petoskey this spring to assume similar duties with the Henika company, a position he had held prior to coming to this city.

Mr. Shafer was born June 24, 1879. Surviving besides his wife is one sister, Mrs. Bertha Dergin of Custer, Michigan.

Funeral services were held at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon from Henika's chapel, with Rev. G. A. Weaver officiating. The services were under auspices of Charlevoix lodge No. 282, F. & A. M., of which Mr. Shafer was a member. Burial was at Greenwood cemetery, Petoskey.

1931-32 TEACHING STAFF ANNOUNCED

TWO DEPARTMENTS ARE ADDED TO SCHOOL CURRICULUM

Six New Names Appear on Teaching
Staff Announced by Gerald F.
Bush, Superintendent

Several changes have been made in the 1931-32 teaching staff of Charlevoix public schools, according to Gerald F. Bush of Lansing, who will take over the superintendency. Mr. Bush has completed his staff, and, while not heretofore personally, has forwarded the names to Mrs. E. J. Miller, secretary of the board of education.

Two new departments have been added to the curriculum and six new names appear on the teaching staff in addition to the new superintendent.

Manual arts and health education, two departments which will be new to local schools, have been added. Walter Weisenberger has been engaged to take charge of the former department, and Joanne Dasef will have charge of health education. Another innovation is the addition of an ungraded room. This department will take students from any grade up to the sixth who are below average in certain subjects for special training. For instance, a third grade pupil who is backward in mathematics, but average in other subjects, will be given concentrated work in the subject in which he is having trouble. This new department, in charge of Elizabeth Farago, should be a great aid to the school system.

Esther Mary Atkinson will replace Mrs. Ethel McKee as director of music; Miss Vera Belding, formerly of Owosso, will succeed Miss Lydia Phillips as first grade instructor. Harry Bingham will be principal of the junior high, a position formerly occupied by Walter Alexander, and Albert Rider of Chicago, has been added to this department as mathematics instructor and band director, replacing John TerWee of East Jordan.

Following is the complete school staff:

FUNERAL OF FORMER RESIDENT TUESDAY

Mrs. John Lynn Died Saturday at Home in Glen View, Illinois

Funeral services were held Tuesday at Glen View, Ill., for Mrs. John Lynn, former local resident, who died at her home there last Saturday following an operation.

The Lynn family, who are well known to local residents, left Charlevoix over twenty years ago. While here they resided on Nettleton street, and much of the rustic work in and near the city was done by Mr. Lynn, who made a specialty of building rustic creations.

Surviving besides the husband are two sons and three daughters, viz: Earl Lynn of Glen View; Judd Lynn, Northbrook, Ill.; Mrs. Dorothy Covington, Villa Park, Ill.; Mrs. Helen Sanford, Springfield, Ill., and Miss Marguerite Lynn of Chicago; also a brother, Ben Yettaw of Charlevoix.

BEAVER ISLAND TRIO HAILED INTO COURT

One Charged With Breaking and Entering, Others With Perjury

Frank O'Donnell, St. James, was bound over to August term of circuit court Saturday after waiving examination on a charge of breaking and entering. He furnished $2,500 bond for his release.

According to local officers, O'Donnell's arrest followed complaint of Dan Boyle, who alleges O'Donnell and two companions broke into his home while he was at a school entertainment. Returning home unexpectedly, Boyle claims he caught them in the act of stealing his chickens, that they had broken into his house, and when he attempted to stop their escape, he was run into by their automobile.

After hearing testimony of O'Donnell's companions, Earl Boyle and Francis McDonough, prosecuting attorney, Rollie L. Lewis evidently figured they were not telling the truth, for he charged them with perjury and bound them over to August term of circuit court under $500 bond each, which was furnished.

TENNIS COURT CON- STRUCTION STARTED

BOARD OF EDUCATION AWARD-ED CONTRACT TO E. LUSK

Ground Broken Late Last Week on Two Concrete Double Courts
at School Grounds

Local citizens are watching with interest the progress being made on new tennis courts ordered built on the school grounds by the board of education. Ground was broken the latter part of last week and the work is now well under way.

Contract for two regulation concrete double courts was awarded last week to Edgar Lusk, thus fulfilling a need which has been apparent here for several years.

Prior to construction of the new grade building several years ago, the board of education maintained two clay courts on the north side of the school property on Clinton street. The courts were in constant use throughout the spring, summer and fall months. Since they were torn up to give way for improvements following construction of the grade building, local tennis enthusiasts have had to depend largely on the generosity of private court owners when they wanted to enjoy this sport. The need of public courts has been a paramount one since that time.

According to present plans, two courts will be built, running north and south on space in front of the high school and junior high buildings. Temporary wire enclosures will be built this summer, one at each end and another running between the courts. They will be removable so as not to obstruct the skating rink during the winter, and in another year the school board plans to build more suitable enclosures.

The present project is sponsored wholly by the board of education, and it is the hope of local citizens that the city may soon see its way clear to build additional courts in another location. At least six municipally-owned tennis courts would be none too many to accommodate Charlevoix's needs along this line.

CHILD HEALTH PRO- GRAM IS ANNOUNCED

CENTRAL LAKE

Remember the rural Sunday school rally at Eastport June 25th.

The J. B. Rice trial grounds is a busy place this week transplanting radishes.

Norton Pearl and family of Detroit, are again resorting at Eastport, on the lake.

Mrs. Maud Youngs and daughter Justine, are kept busy at their new lunch room here.

Some of our old residents are attending the Old Settlers' reunion at Traverse City this week.

Jerry Ardema, who was kicked by a horse a few weeks ago, breaking his ankle bone, is around again.

Clifford Morse, who is attending summer school at the Ferris Institute in Big Rapids, was a visitor in town over the week end.

Bids have been put out for the construction of a new sidewalk from the artist mill towards the lake near the Briggs' boat house. This will make it much better for those fishing on the lake.

Miss Parsons, manager of the girls' camp, "Wananda," on Torch lake shores, was up last week preparing for the opening of the camp. Other summer residents are beginning to make their appearance.

Lawrence DeVries of Zeeland, came up last week to look after his cherry orchard here. He also visited friends at Charlevoix. His mother is reported as recovering from her recent injury.

William Smith, Banks township highway commissioner, has just completed traveling a strip of road from Central Lake township line towards the Holland church, which makes a decided improvement.

Mrs. John Brouwer and son, Nelson Brouwer and wife, came up Saturday and took A. Snitsler and Miss Ida Brouwer for a trip to the Son. Mr. Brouwer's people reside at Jamestown, Michigan.

Dan McNary's funeral was held last Saturday at Manelona. He resides east of town, but had recently come with his family from Lansing. Mr. McNary was about 75 years of age. His son was killed in the World war.

The Pere Marquette Railway company began laying new rails between here and Bellaire last week. They employ quite a force of men, mostly foreigners. It is expected it will take about two weeks to complete the work.

The free picture show began operating near the Standard Oil gas station two weeks ago and is drawing quite a crowd. This means of attracting summer people and others from neighboring towns is put on by the village.

The first home grown strawberries were on the market June 12th, which is a little in advance of former years. We have had no rain for about three weeks and it is bad for the cherries. A heavy shower which washed out roads occurred at Jordan river, Green River and Manelona Saturday. Petoskey had a heavy thunder shower also, so Rev. Weaver reports, and the electric tower there was struck by lightning.

A big Sunday school meet of Jordan and Green River Sunday schools was held at Green River last Sunday afternoon. There were 114 present. One lady walked two miles, carrying a year-old baby in her arms, to attend. Missionary Rev. G. A. Weaver of Petoskey, gave the main address. Different numbers on the program were given by pupils of the two schools, and Jordan River orchestra gave several fine selections. The program given at that time will be repeated at the county rally at Eastport on June 25th.

Norwood Sunday school had an attendance of 43 last Friday evening. There were 24 in the young people's class. Mr. Block was on hand with his young people's orchestra, eight strolls, four girls and four boys. The young people did splendidly and are improving all the time. They played several selections which were medleys of sacred songs. Mr. Block is certainly helping out the young folks wonderfully in a musical way. We all extend to him our thanks for helping with the Norwood services. As Rev. Kendall could not be present, the music by these young people was of great assistance. Most of the note books were handed in. The one by Bertha Pierce was really a work of art. Miss Thelma Miller has completed her note book also. Buy View Sunday school had 30 present Sunday, which is the best yet. Miss Frances Dawson, as well as Miss Mary Baumbach of Norwood class, had been doing some missionary work, and Miss Dawson brought in 15 extra young people Sunday. Plans are being completed for the big rural Sunday school rally which will take place at Eastport picnic grounds near the bay on Thursday, June 25. The following Sunday schools have been invited and most of them have expressed their intention of attending and helping with the program: Norwood, Atwood, Bay View, Green River, Jordan River, Finkton, South Milton, Creswell, Lake View, Pleasant Valley, North Holland, Vance, Kewadin and Eastport.

Mr. Ricks, state agriculturist from Lansing, and County Agent Ousterout held a demonstration at the Allen Ardema orchards last Thursday, which was very instructive.

Good talks were given by Ousterout on spraying, and cover crop by Ricks. Mr. Fairman of Banks township, and John Muckle from east of Central Lake were among those present. All reported light crops of cherries, and some had none at all. It was brought out in discussion of cover crops that quack grass is a good one, and saved the day for some this spring, while those having clean orchards had nothing.

Mr. Ricks said that the general talk in coming back from the Wisconsin orchards was "my, what dirty orchards," but there is where they get the good yields. He said good cultivation should be kept up until about the first of August, then an oat cover crop sown. The low yield this year was placed by Mr. Ricks to low vitality of the tree, caused by various things, such as dry weather last year, heavy crops, lack of good cover crop, frost, and poor fertilizing, and bees not being able to work on the trees on account of cold weather. Around Hart, southern Michigan in general, and in this part of the state, he estimated half a crop, and thought the price might be around four cents. Allen Ardema, who had a bumper crop last year, has scarcely anything this year. Mr. Ricks places Mr. Darbee, of Evelyn Orchards, among the best as orchard culturist. He says Evelyn has a fairly good setting for fruit this year.

BAY SHORE

Mrs. Henry Hair is quite ill at her home here.

A Children's day program was held Sunday at the Presbyterian church.

Miss Mary Mawby is spending a short vacation with her mother, Mrs. Alice Mawby.

Master Dick Zipp and Miss Arthella Zipp returned home Saturday after spending two weeks visiting in Saginaw.

Simon Dodge is again at work in Walloon Lake for the summer. He has a position as meat cutter in a market there.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Lee Brecheisen, a daughter, June 9, at Petoskey hospital, who will answer to the name of Helen Gay.

Miss Edna Tibbottson and Dorothy Zipp are spending two weeks' vacation visiting their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Varise in Saginaw.

Miss Nina Shearer, Miss McCalmon and Mrs. Florence Novotny came home Friday night from Big Rapids to spend the week end. They returned Sunday afternoon.

The Ladies' Aid met Wednesday, June 10, at the home of Mrs. Alice Brecheisen for an all day meeting. Dinner was served at noon and the ladies spent the afternoon sewing for Mrs. Arthur O'Dell. The next meeting is planned to be a picnic, place to be chosen later.

ANTRIM CITY

Mrs. C. Stott and daughter Edith called on Mrs. M. Tyrrell Sunday.

L. O. Harrington, the McNess man, was in our neighborhood Tuesday.

Charles Stott, son Joe, and daughter Edith were business callers in Bellaire Monday.

"New Iso-Vis Proved Excellent in BUICK"

Reports A.A.A.

EXCELLENT is hardly the word. Read these facts gathered on the Indianapolis Speedway and certified by the American Automobile Association.

- 1 New Iso-Vis did not thin out from dilution.
- 2 During entire 9,000 mile tests, all parts of engine and chassis were lubricated effectively.
- 3 Only 1 quart of oil—Iso-Vis 50 (Heavy)—was used in 1,000 miles at 30 m. p. h.
- 4 Carbon formed was only 5.4 grains per cylinder at 30 m. p. h. using Iso-Vis 50 (Heavy).

5 The cylinder wear was too little to measure.

New Iso-Vis stands out on every one of these important qualities. Here are figures for other oils to shoot at.

They give dramatic proof of the protection given by New Iso-Vis—the only motor oil that will not thin out from dilution.

New Iso-Vis proved itself in 12 other cars on the track. No matter what make you drive, your car needs the protection of New Iso-Vis. Change your oil and fill up with New Iso-Vis at once.

Investing Money In Poultry Equipment

Sanitary Runway Goes Hand in Hand With Wire Floor.

(By G. T. KLEIN, Extension Poultryman, Kansas State Agricultural College.)

Considerable investment in brooding equipment is necessary to make poultry work profitable. In Wisconsin a survey shows that the poultry and dairy farms returning the highest rate of interest on the investment are those having $1,000 to $5,000 invested in poultry and dairy equipment.

The sanitary runway goes hand in hand with the wire floor for the brooder house. It is a wire runway to be placed in front of the house. Chicks are being brooded very successfully on the runway for 8 to 12 weeks.

A suitable range house gives a shelter for the chicks after 8 or 10 weeks of age. This roosting shed is easy to move, economical to build, requires no cleaning, and is an ideal summer shelter. It is usually 10x10 feet, giving roosting space for 100 to 125 pullets. It has a low "A" shaped roof of metal or boards, wire sides, and low 1x4 roosts built for an entire season without being necessary to clean the house. The houses are open and well ventilated and cause no trouble from roost and colds that come from crowded, poorly ventilated brooder houses.

The list of brooding equipment should also contain the feeder and watering devices. The one recommended for range use is an outdoor feeder that is waste proof and with a considerable capacity for feed.

Ways to Control English Sparrow

Greater Part of Their Feed Is Various Grains and Garden Stuff.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Where English sparrows become too numerous in a locality it is often necessary to control them. Economical and effective methods of controlling these birds where they become overabundant are described in a leaflet, 61-12, "English Sparrow Control," just issued by the United States Department of Agriculture.

Birds Are Vegetarians.

Recent studies of the food habits and economic status of the English sparrow under present-day conditions show that the adult birds are essentially vegetarian, says the bureau of biological survey. More than 96 per cent of their food is mixed feed, various grains, weed seeds, and garden products. The nestlings subsist largely on insects, but the beneficial work the sparrows do in catching bugs lasts for only 10 or 12 days, after which the young become quite as vegetarian as the adults.

Methods of control outlined in the new leaflet include the following: Destroying nests and eggs; shooting; trapping, by means of nest-box or other types of traps described and illustrated; and poisoning with a strychnine-grain bait, directions for the preparation and distribution of which are given.

Danger With Poisons.

"Though poison," says the leaflet, "is an economical and effective weapon in controlling English sparrows, its use is fraught with certain dangers. For this reason sparrows should be poisoned only by persons fully aware of the danger to poultry, live stock, and other farm animals from the careless handling of poisoned baits. Poisoning English sparrows in sections abounding in native seed-eating birds should be avoided, since carelessly exposed poisoned baits might endanger beneficial birds, many of which are protected by state and some by federal laws."

Copies of the new leaflet, 61-12, may be obtained free on request to the office of Information, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

Good Rule Never to Use Sod for Strawberries

It is a good rule never to use an old sod for strawberries because of the damage that is likely to occur from white grubs and wire worms. Land that has been in potatoes, sweet corn, or other cultivated crop is best from this standpoint. When manure is used just before setting the plants there is danger of introducing weed seeds so either previous manuring or a green manure with fertilizer is best. Two hundred fifty to three hundred pounds of nitrate of soda or sulphate of ammonia, and five hundred pounds of superphosphate (acid phosphate) would be a moderate application for strawberries.

Hammer Mills Favored for Electric Power

In experiments on feed grinding at the University of Wisconsin, Prof. F. W. Duffee has found that hammer mills are much better adapted to farm requirements than burr mills where electric power is used. An improved feeding mechanism was developed which gives a uniform movement of the grain into the mill. The hopper bottom below the grinding screen of the mill should have a slope of at least 60 degrees if the ground feed is to slide over it freely. The tests so far seemed to show that speeds of 3,000 to 4,000 revolutions per minute for the elevating fan give the best results.

Fruits in Storage.

In storage most deciduous fruits should be kept at temperatures as near 32 degrees F as possible and high humidity should be maintained to prevent shriveling. Piling the crates in a manner which permits air circulation is likely to decrease damage from scale, and a type of container which permits some aeration has the same tendency. Wrappers retard the spread of rots from one fruit to another, and old wrappers are particularly effective in reducing scale.

Mix Lime-Sulphur

Directions for making lime-sulphur sprays ordinarily are based on use of standard concentrated liquid lime-sulphur testing about 32 degrees by the Baume hydrometer. Thus, for example, where the recommendation "lime-sulphur 12 to 100" appears, use 12 gallons of standard liquid concentrate and add water to make 100 gallons of spray. When powdered or dry lime-sulphur is used, it will require about four pounds to equal one gallon of the liquid concentrate.

GOVERNOR APPROVES STATE PARK RULES

Driving and Fire Regulations to Be Strictly Enforced This Summer

State park rules and regulations for 1931, as approved by Governor Wilbur M. Brucker, will remain the same as during the past season.

Superintendent of state parks, P. J. Hoffmaster, has asked the public to give particular attention to certain of the rules to insure the safety of other visitors at the parks.

20-Mile Speed Limit

A reduced speed limit for motor vehicles on park roads of not more than 20 miles an hour is absolutely necessary and local park superintendents have been charged with rigidly enforcing this rule, Mr. Hoffmaster said. Park officers have full police powers.

He asked that park visitors riding horseback or driving automobiles, pay particular attention to signs forbidding horses or automobiles in certain areas of the parks. These areas include picnic grounds, playgrounds and bathing beaches, where people congregate and where horses and automobiles would be a menace to safety.

Caution with fire is necessary. Building or starting fires in the open or in any place except where proper provisions have been made, or to leave fires while burning is prohibited.

Camping Limit

In all parks, except those in six counties, a 15 day limit is established on camping permits. In single park sites in Oakland, Livingston, Macomb, St. Clair, Ottawa and Bay counties, permits to make camp are good for but seven days. These permits may be renewed if facilities are available.

FRUIT ENEMIES LIVE ON WILD PIN CHERRY

Owners of Orchards Are Advised to Destroy These Breeding Places

The common pin cherry which grows on Michigan cut-over lands is a natural host for the cherry fly whose depredations cost many thousands of dollars each year to the cherry growers of the state, and the entomology department of Michigan State college recommends that all pin cherries near orchards be destroyed.

The wild cherry is used by the fly as a place for egg laying and, as the wild cherries are not harvested, the larvae of the fly have a chance to develop and grow to maturity. The host of insects which are produced on the wild cherries are then ready to move to orchards in the vicinity.

Michigan is the leading producer of sour cherries and the money from this crop is one of the principal sources of income in sections of the fruit belt. The cherry fly is one of the worst enemies of the crop and it must be controlled to secure marketable fruit. The fact that it can live and multiply on the pin cherry makes its control more difficult.

Warnings are sent out by the college entomology department of the proper time to spray tame cherries. These warnings are broadcast by every possible means because the time available for applying the spray is limited and it must be applied at the proper time to secure any benefit.

SHOE MAN SAYS OUR FEET SHOULD NOT BOTHER US

How much unnecessary pain does the average person suffer? If this question were asked a physician he would probably say the amount was very great, because many people neglect many of their aches and discomforts as a matter of course. They take no measure to prevent or relieve them.

Certainly this is true of the feet, according to Mr. Campbell of the Campbell shoe store, who declared today almost all of the suffering that most people endure because of corns, bunions, calluses, fallen arches, weak ankles, itching feet and toes, ingrown toe nails, hot perspiring feet, pains in the legs can be quickly eliminated through the use of Dr. Scholl's Foot Comfort Appliances and Remedies and correctly fitted shoes.

He also declared that to obtain complete foot comfort, shoes need not be ugly, so-called comfort foot-wear, but any style a person may choose to purchase. Mr. Campbell is a trained Foot Comfort Expert and uses the method of Dr. Wm. M. Scholl, the well-known foot authority. All during the week, beginning Saturday, June 13th, which is Dr. Scholl's Foot Comfort Week, he is going to give free demonstrations to which all who have foot troubles are invited to attend.

He then explained that there is a Dr. Scholl Remedy or Appliance for every form of foot trouble. The fitting of these appliances, he said, is always made by a trained Podiatrist who is especially trained along these lines.

Foot Comfort Week, he said, offered a splendid opportunity for any one, whether he had any foot trouble or not, to come in and find out just how good his feet were.

There was no obligation to buy anything, he said, simply a good chance for one to provide himself or herself with good "Foot Insurance."

Nine Canning Clubs Being Organized
Again Charlevoix county shows an increased membership in the boys' and girls' club program. By the end of this week, unless something unforeseen happens ten canning clubs will be in operation, which is two more than we had last year.

Last Thursday and Friday, June 11 and 12, Miss Sylvia Wixson, assistant state club leader from Michigan State college, met with the different clubs in the county and outlined the requirements of the clubs and made many suggestions useful in carrying out the canning club program. It is indeed gratifying to see the great interest and enthusiasm displayed by such a large number of rural boys and girls. Every year has seen an increase in membership and high quality work being done.

The following communities will have clubs this year: Norwood, five members; Peninsula, eight members; Barnard, six members; Marion Center, seven members; Ironton, twelve members; Deer Lake 5, East Jordan 12 or more, Murray 9, Bayne Falls 8, and Phelps 6 or more.

During the year the girls will can from 30 to 50 quarts of fruits and vegetables, and many in the second, third and fourth year projects will can in addition to that, jellies, jams, marmalade, vegetable mixtures and meats. Some time during the year all the girls will bring in their canned goods for a summer exhibit. Records will be carefully kept on all costs, and a story will also be written at the end of the club season.

Visitors' Day at New Jordan Valley Cooperative Creamery

All farmers are cordially invited and urged to visit the new Jordan Valley Cooperative Creamery on Saturday afternoon, June 20, at 2 o'clock. You will not only have the opportunity of personally seeing the equipment and hearing all the facts in connection with its activities but will also visit the quality cream truck which carries considerable exhibit material and machinery necessary in the production of high quality cream.

Professor G. M. Trout will be with the truck and will be the main speaker of the afternoon. He is in charge of butter judging and butter manufacturing at the Michigan State college.

And don't forget—free samples of butter made by the new creamery will be given to each one attending so that you can sample the high quality product being made. Crackers will also be furnished. The creamery has been in operation one week and a very fine volume of cream has come in. All the new machinery and everything has been running smoothly. At the present time truck routes have been established in all sections out of East Jordan, Charlevoix, Atwood, and Elk Rapids, and by the end of this week will cover practically all sections of the county.

Mark down the date of Saturday, June 20, on your calendar and accept the kind invitation of the creamery officials to be their guests.

The shoe leather that people saved by riding so much in automobiles the past years, has probably been all worn out at this season's dances.

COUNTY'S SEAL SALE TOTAL IS REPORTED

Sale of 3.72 Seals per Capita Is Shown By Report

Charlevoix county residents purchased last December $446.16 worth of tuberculosis Christmas seals, representing a sale of 3.72 seals per capita, complete figures on the 1930 sale compiled by the Michigan Tuberculosis Association show. The 1929 county sale was $478.42.

By means of funds raised in the 1929 and 1930 seal sales, a varied program of anti-tuberculosis and related health activities has been carried on by the association during the past year. These activities, among others, included free chest clinics, distribution of more than 200,000 posters, leaflets, and other materials in the April "Early Diagnosis Campaign," work for the northern state tuberculosis sanatorium, sending of a monthly health calendar and magazine to all rural and many city teachers, and conduct of a continuous educational program by means of motion pictures, talks, literature, articles in publications, exhibits, and individual correspondence.

One of the association's chief child health activities in the past year consisted of sponsorship of the "Princess Watassa" health talks in the schools of the state. Two young women have been engaged continuously during the school year just closed in giving these talks, appearing in that time before 97,039 children and 4,221 adults through a total of 1,125 programs.

In the three-year period since September, 1928, when the "Princess Watassa" work was begun, every county in the state has been reached by the program. Two thousand sixty-five appearances have been made in that period before a total of 274,914 persons. In Charlevoix county 18 programs have been given, reaching 2,911 children and 107 adults.

AT THE MOVIES

Bancroft Seen in Atmosphere of "City Room"
This time George Bancroft is the two-fisted managing editor of a tabloid newspaper. He is a man feared by all society for his code is a code of "yellow journalism."

We see him in an atmosphere charged with the electric busy-ness of high-tension news-gathering. Presses roar, newsboys shriek the latest "scoops." Reporters sly-talk their way into places where they are not wanted. Civic leaders protest. Pridelike citizens are ruined in a one-citation blast from the newsprint trumpet of this Bancroftian terror who barks his withering commands, and never retreats.

Poor and rich alike are caught in the path of the news juggernaut. "If it's news, print it," says Bancroft. "No matter whom it may hurt."

At the Palace theatre Saturday and Sunday next.

Fascination
William Powell—and Paris! They fit each other perfectly. Both are fascinating. Both appeal forcibly to the romantic imagination.

"Man of the World," the new William Powell dramatic conflict which the Palace theatre will feature for two days, starting Thursday next, brings Powell and Paris together in a story of tremendous emotional appeal. And, in the leading feminine role, Carole Lombard exercises the charms which have lifted her in a brief meteoric screen career from Mack Sennett comedies to near-stardom.

The action of the story, centering around the love of the suave Powell for the girl who is beyond his reach, is filled with suspenseful emotion, with the desire of the man for a life which his past makes impossible. It shows Powell, as an outcast, loved by two beautiful women—one he wants and can't have; the other he can have and doesn't want.

Wynne Gibson, whose thorough schooling in the theatre and screen experience gained in two recent Jack Oakie hits, "The Gang Buster" and "June Moon" have established her as one of the most promising of the screen featured players, has the role of "the other woman."

MARION

Notice of Mortgage Foreclosure Sale

Notice is hereby given that default has occurred in the conditions of that certain mortgage, dated the 1st day of September, 1923, executed by Elizabeth Nielsen, a widow, as mortgagor, to The Federal Land Bank of Saint Paul, a body corporate, of the City of St. Paul, County of Ramsey, State of Minnesota, as mortgagee, filed for record in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for Charlevoix county, Michigan, on the 1st day of September, A. D. 1923, in Liber 62 of Mortgages on page 289 thereof, in that that certain installment of Eighty-one and 25/100ths Dollars ($81.25), principal and interest due September 1st, 1930, remains unpaid; and further that the taxes were not paid by the mortgagor and were permitted to become delinquent; that on the failure of said mortgagor to pay such taxes, The Federal Land Bank of Saint Paul did elect to pay the same, and on April 18th, 1931, paid the sum of Four Hundred Sixty-seven and 40/100ths Dollars ($467.40) as taxes for the years 1928, 1929 and 1930. That pursuant to the provisions of said mortgage, said mortgagee has elected to declare the whole debt secured thereby to be now due and payable; and there is due and payable at the date of this notice upon the debt secured by said mortgage, the sum of Twenty-three Hundred and 22/100ths Dollars ($232.22); and that no action or proceeding at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover said debt or any part thereof, that, by virtue of a power of sale therein contained, said mortgage will be foreclosed and the land and premises therein described lying and being in the County of Charlevoix and State of Michigan, as follows, to-wit:

Lots Two (2) and Three (3) and the Southeast Quarter of the Northwest Quarter (SE 1/4 NW 1/4) of Section Nineteen (19) and the East Half of the Northwest Quarter (E 1/2 NW 1/4) of Section Thirty (30), all in Township Thirty-three (33) North, Range Seven (7) West, containing Two Hundred Fifteen (215) acres, more or less; will be sold at public auction to the highest bidder for cash by the Sheriff of Charlevoix county, at the front door of the court house, in the City of Charlevoix, in said county and state, on Tuesday, August 11th, 1931, at 10:00 o'clock in the forenoon, to pay and satisfy the debt secured by said mortgage and the costs and disbursements allowed by law upon said foreclosure sale.

Dated this 9th day of May, 1931.

Ford Owners Attention

"PRETTY SMOOTH, EH?"

Bill: What in the world have you done to your car?

Bart: I finally took it to my Ford dealer for special lubrication. For $2 those boys do a real job.

Bill: I'll say so! Only $2.00? Why, the greased lightning must be free!

Our two dollar lubrication service and oil change. Veedol or Mobiloil, is a FORD value that's just as hard to duplicate as the value of the Ford car itself.

And look at what you get for only $3. We will furnish all materials and make all adjustments as follows: Change engine oil. Flush transmission and rear with kerosene and refill with fresh lubricant. Spray springs with penetrating oil. Tune motor. Adjust distributor points. Clean and adjust spark plugs. Clean sediment bulb and carburetor. Adjust carburetor. Tighten intake and exhaust manifolds. Check battery.

Drive in for quick, clean, low cost service. Our prices on accessories, tires, batteries, etc., also save you money.

LIVE STOCK

PURE-BRED SIRE CAMPAIGN HELPS

Increased Interest Is Shown in Improved Stock.

(Directed by the United States Department of Agriculture)

Increased interest in improved live stock is shown by the records of the pure-bred sire campaign conducted by the states in cooperation with the United States Department of Agriculture. Listings of breeding stock submitted in recent months by those enrolling in the campaign show a total absence of scrub animals in herds headed by pure-bred sires, and the proportion of scrubs to all females listed before July 1, 1930, was only one in seven. Although every male animal used must be pure bred in order that the owner may enroll in the campaign, the females kept on the farm may be crossbred, grade, or scrub animals as well as pure bred. Most owners reported a considerable number of pure-bred females among their breeding stock.

Enrollment in the campaign entitles the farm owner to a farm sign resembling a bronze tablet, which bears the inscription, "Pure bred sires exclusively used on this farm." In addition the owner is furnished a certificate, suitable for framing, signifying interest in better live stock. Enrollment blanks may be obtained on application to the United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

YOUNG PIGS NEED
DIRECT SUNSHINE

Experiments Carried Out at Saskatchewan.

For years the value of sunlight in growing stock has been admitted without much argument, but just now and why it should be so, has not been so widely known. In an effort to get some definite facts about these lines, Prof. A. M. Shaw, dean of agriculture and head of the animal husbandry department of the University of Saskatchewan, has carried out a series of experiments with young pigs and has reported his findings in Scientific Agriculture. Three trials were run in the winter and one in the summer, and the findings were unanimous in at least one respect—that direct sunlight prevented the development of rickets, or rapidly improved those that had it and it also helped make greater gains in young pigs kept in the open than in those kept under any kind of glass. It was also shown that young pigs benefited by direct sunlight much more than those three or four months of age. The question of the kinds of rations the pigs got, that is whether they were balanced or not, did not seem to be so important as whether they included green legumes or other green plants. But the main fact deduced from these experiments is that all growing pigs, particularly those under three months of age, need access to a yard in which they can get plenty of exercise and obtain the full benefits of sunshine in order to make their most successful gains.

Three Important Things in Care of Young Pigs

There are three things that are very important in the care of fall pigs, according to C. F. Culbertson of Iowa State college. These things are keeping them warm and dry, feeding them a good ration and keeping them in sanitary quarters.

The housing quarters must have plenty of room and be sanitary, well ventilated and bedded with clean straw. A big offer in the quarters is valuable in the winter to keep down lice. Automatic feeders in the house will be the means of keeping the pigs from eating in the cold winds which are hard on them. If feeders are not located in the house there should be a windbreak to protect the pigs while eating. Water tanks with heaters in the houses will insure the pigs getting plenty of water. Warm water is as essential, but plenty of water is always necessary, Mr. Culbertson states.

A good balanced ration of corn and protein supplements is essential to rapid growth and a homemade or commercial mineral is also essential, according to Mr. Culbertson.

Basis of McLean System of Sanitation for Hogs

The McLean system of swine sanitation is based on the proposition that if animals are kept away from manure, there will be no trouble from that source. It can be successfully carried out by doing four things thoroughly and accurately, as follows:

1. Wash with soapy water and a brush all sows before they are put in farrowing houses, which have been scrubbed with boiling lye water.
2. Confine sows and pigs to the clean house until they are ready to move away from the old huts.
3. Haul, do not drive, the sows and pigs from the farrowing house to the clover field or pasture, which has had no hogs for at least a year, as driving would enable them to pick up worm eggs and thus infect the pigs at an early age.
4. Confine the pigs to the clean pasture, clover preferred, until they are four months old. Make sure there are no holes in the fence through which the pigs can go to the old huts.

Revive Chilled Lamb by Immersing in Hot Water

If, perchance, a new-born lamb comes thoroughly chilled and even may appear to be almost lifeless, such a lamb may be placed in a tub of water, as warm as the shepherd can stand to keep his elbow in. This method is called the shepherd's "magic cure" and at times it really is amazing how an apparently lifeless lamb will, within 15 or 20 minutes, be decidedly alive and bleating for its mother.

Not only keep the lamb's nose out of the water, but his entire head as well, for the lamb's mother will recognize it not by sight or by sound, but by smell, and if the lamb's natural scent is entirely removed by being in the water, the ewe will likely disown the lamb when it is returned to her.

Use for Artichokes

The greatest usefulness of Jerusalem artichokes in the past has been as a stock feed. At present in France they are mostly used for sheep and cattle, and in this country they are most frequently grown for hogs. The crop has been highly recommended for this purpose, but has never superseded corn where that crop succeeds. The leaves and branches are also good stock feed and are extensively used abroad. The stalks may be cured in the same way as corn stover.

Live Stock Facts

Feeds grown on worn-out soils, when fed to animals, produce what is known as pleur or depressed appetite.

Cattle should not be allowed to follow a mare that is working because they not only get in the way, but they get too tired, the exercise doing more harm than good.

Cattle do exceedingly well on early rice pasture in the spring, and it will stand heavy grazing before other pastures are ready. It is not a good summer pasture, however.

The need for a profitable market for grain on a farm devoted primarily to the production of grain will call for a larger number of brood sows or perhaps the purchase of feeder pigs.

A horse or a cow ought to receive an average of about 12 gallons of water a day, depending on the season, the work and several other conditions. A sheep or a hog ought to have at least one gallon per day.

MICHIGAN SERVICE MAPS ARE VALUABLE

Contain Conservation As Well As Highway Information

A state map combining the features of the maps formerly issued annually by the state highway department and of those formerly issued by the department of conservation, is now available for public distribution. The "Official Michigan Service Map" is in colors to facilitate easy reading. On it, in addition to indicated hard surfaced roads, improved and earth roads and roads under construction, are shown state parks, fish hatcheries, trout feeding stations, game refuges, state and national forests, forest fire towers, airports, ferries and other information.

All of the better known rivers, streams and inland lakes are marked on the map.

The back of the map is covered with pictures of noted beauty spots of Michigan. Details concerning various conservation projects and of the state's parks are also included.

Maps will be sent to all state park superintendents and to the various tourist and resort associations to be distributed to the public. Copies may also be obtained directly from the Lansing offices of the highway and conservation departments.

EDITORIALS

STUDY CHANGES IN EATING

Sharply different from those of her mother and grandmother is the table Mrs. Charlevoix sets for her family.

A study of the American diet of the present-day and that of 25 years ago by the Household Science Institute of Chicago, provides some interesting comparisons.

To begin with, Mrs. Charlevoix provides her family with a "great variety of food undreamed of by her forebears. Fruits and vegetables which at the turn of the century were delicacies for a short period of the year only are now, thanks to perfected canning, refrigeration and other modern preserving methods, available in great abundance at all seasons. Corn meal, the great "staple" of former generations is not at all prominent on the present-day table. Flour products, such as bread, cakes, etc., are not nearly as much in evidence as in other days. On the other hand, her table abounds in all forms of dairy products, butter, cheese, milk, ice cream, and the like. Her sugar bowl is much fuller than it used to be, and the meat platter larger than those served by her forebears.

This mention of meat, by the way, suggests the sensational gains in popularity made by that most humble of food articles—sausage. In the last decade, particularly, its vogue has grown by leaps and bounds until it competes with ham, bacon, steaks, chops and roasts for first place in the favor of the consuming public. Improvement in quality through modern methods and equipment and careful selection of choice meats and their proper seasonings has been the determining factor in winning over the public to greater sausage use. The fact that sausage readily lends itself for use in a myriad of ways and at all seasons, that it requires little preparation and practically no fuel expenditures, and its own innate economy as a food, have weighed heavily in its favor with women folks.

The coming of the automobile and kitchenette apartment and the wide distribution of highway stands selling "skinless frankfurter" sandwiches, have also proved elements to its advantage. But perhaps the greatest single stimulus to its increasing popularity was the introduction of synthetic vegetable fibre casings which, because of their transparent character, enable the housewife to determine at a glance the exact quality and freshness of the sausage she contemplates buying.

SAVINGS INCREASE

Savings deposits in Michigan state banks for the first quarter of the year showed an increase of $8,933,832 over the last quarter of 1930, the state banking commissioner has reported. Commercial deposits decreased $69,694,343 in the same period.

The commissioner's report declared that $769,632,415 were on deposit in savings accounts March 25 and $461,425,531 in commercial deposits. They represent a decrease in savings of $14,614,902 and a decline of $83,521,084 in commercial deposits under last year at this time.

ADDED PROTECTION

Seventy-five men will be added to the Michigan State police force, which will bring the state force up to 200 men, alive, alert and active agents out on the city and country roads doing more toward the suppression and elimination of crime than any other agency ever established outside of the long famous northwest police. Two hundred men that do not depend on their neighbor's vote to keep them on the job.

Two hundred men without axes to grind or political fences to keep up. Two hundred men trained to treat all alike, no matter whether rich or poor, politically or financially important or how lowly. Two hundred men any of whom one might expect to turn up at any time in the most out of way places as well as in the most frequented centers of our state. That will be the state police.—Cheboygan Observer.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SOCIETY

Sunday service, 10:45 a. m.
Topic, "Is the Universe, Including Man, Evolved by Atomic Force?"
Wednesday evening at 7:45, first Wednesday of month only.
Reading room Tuesday and Saturday, 3:00 to 5:00 p. m.

The public is cordially invited to all services.

"God the Preserver of Man" was the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Christian Science churches on Sunday, June 14.

Among the citations which comprised the lesson-sermon was the following from the Bible: "He said unto them, Give place: for the maid is not dead, but sleepeth. And they laughed him to scorn. But when the people were put forth, he went in, and took her by the hand, and the maid arose." (Matt. 9:24, 25).

The lesson-sermon also included the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Sin, sickness and death must disappear to give place to the facts which belong to immortal man. Learn this, O mortal, and earnestly seek the spiritual status of man, which is outside of all material selfhood." (p. 476).

State Owned Land

Land owned by the state in Charlevoix county totals 20,737.00 acres; in Cheboygan it owns 101,003.16; Chippewa 169,096.80; Roscommon 117,443.81. In Branch, Hillsdale, Montcalm, Ottawa and Wayne counties the state owns no land.

Card of Thanks

It is impossible for me even to attempt to thank the scores of friends on Beaver Island for their many acts of kindness, their deep expressions of sympathy and their desire to be of service during the illness and after the death of my husband, Harry W. Bundy.

We were far from our home in Detroit but we could not have been surrounded by more generous and devoted friends and neighbors. No service was too great for them to perform willingly and no personal sacrifice too heavy.

The memory of that overwhelming evidence that our neighbors returned in full the sincere affection in which Mr. Bundy always held them, will never cease to be a comforting memory.

Mr. Bundy died in the spot he loved best; among friends in whose comradeship he had spent many of his happiest days. Of that I am sure, I hope the knowledge will in some way do what I can never hope to do, and that is to repay in at least some measure, the great debt under which the people of the Island have placed me. Grace E. Bundy.—Adv. 2411.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear son and brother, Laurence Livingston, who passed away three years ago, June 19, 1928.

Long days, long nights, he bore his pain. To wait for cure, but all in vain; Till God himself knew what was best. And took him home and gave him rest. Ever remembered by parents, sisters and brother.—Adv. 2411.

ARM INJURED WHEN CAUGHT IN TOW ROPE

Lloyd McDonough, Capt. of "Rambler," Here Saturday for Treatment

Lloyd McDonough of St. James, was here Saturday for X-ray and medical treatment for injuries received to his arm Friday.

Due to high winds, the Str. Puritan, which made St. James harbor with a party of thirty students arriving to attend the Christian Brothers summer academy, was unable to leave the harbor without assistance. The tug Rambler was called to give the larger craft a tow, and McDonough, captain of the Rambler, was injured when his arm became caught in the tow rope.

Fortunately there were no broken bones, his injuries being confined largely to lacerations from the rope.

LOCAL ANGLER SPENT NIGHT IN OPEN BOAT

Sam Halverson Stranded Off North Point When Motor Failed

Sam Halverson, local angler, was brought in by Charlevoix coast guards Saturday morning after spending the night out on Lake Michigan in his small open launch.

When his motor failed while trolling for mackinaw trout beyond North Point, Halverson tied to a nearby net buoy to await help. Coast guards had been notified of his failure to return and they put in the night searching for him. At around 3 o'clock Saturday morning they located the boat moored to the fish buoy.

Fortunately an off-shore wind prevailed, and Halverson was none the worse for his adventure.

A BOUNTY ON CROWS

Conservation Dept. Makes Fact Known Answering Inquiries

The State of Michigan does not pay a bounty on crows, the law enforcement division of the conservation department has stated in a reply to scores of letters that have been received asking for bounty money.

Recently a bill was introduced into the legislature to establish such a bounty. The bill was not adopted. However, it apparently gave many people the impression that the state was paying a bounty and the law enforcement division is being flooded with requests for money. The number of such requests has been growing steadily for several weeks, it was said.

activities and 285 part-time men working from April 15 to October 15 to combat forest fires.

The department will have approximately $3,775,000 to spend for the coming biennium compared with $4,013,000 for the current biennium. Mandatory expenditures ordered by the legislature will further reduce the amount available for general conservation activities to about $3,375,000. A 75-cent increase in trout licenses was provided by the legislature, but this added revenue will not be available until next year and then only will bring in an estimated additional $50,000. Deer license fees were increased $1; but the legislature ordered that $1.50 from each deer license be spent for game refuges. The department also must spend an estimated $160,000 for taxes on swamp and cut-over lands which have not been paid heretofore.

From a field of fifteen of northern Michigan's most pretty girls, Miss Maxine Weaver of Traverse City, a tall, slender, winsome high school senior of 17, was chosen as queen of the 1931 National Cherry Festival last Wednesday evening.

A crowd of 2,000 persons jammed the Lyric theatre, Traverse City, to view the fifteen candidates, representing as many cities and towns of northern Michigan. Miss Weaver, a stately-appearing, brown-haired and brown-eyed girl, was elected by unanimous vote of the three judges after the field was narrowed to four girls.

Miss Tressie Cole of Bear Lake, competing as Miss Manistee, was runner-up. Miss Naomi Hooker of Petoskey, and Miss Dorothy Struthers of Charlevoix, were the other two given queenship consideration by the judges—Ray Barnes, artist of the Grand Rapids Herald; Gordon Williams, publisher of the Big Rapids Pioneer, and Mrs. Siene Holmer Ray, queen of the 1930 festival.

Miss Weaver embarked this week on an airplane trip to several cities, including Lansing, Ft. Wayne, Ind., Cleveland, Buffalo, New York and Washington. Later she is scheduled to make a tour of Michigan's communities.

Play Fast Ellsworth Team Here Sunday in First Home Game

Charlevoix's independent baseball team lost the first of a two-game series with Conway at the Emmet county village Sunday afternoon.

Despite the fact that John Cobey, who hurled the route for Charlevoix, struck out 17 batters, the local team lost 5 to 0. Charlevoix was unable to bunch their many hits for scores.

The local team will play their first home game of the season next Sunday, playing Ellsworth at the north side park.

POSTAL TELEGRAPH OPENS OFFICE HERE

Located in Earl A. Young Building, 224 Bridge Street

Confident that present conditions call for initiative and enterprise rather than restriction, Postal Telegraph is extending its service in Michigan and opened four new offices in the state June 15th.

The new offices will be at Charlevoix under the management of William C. Young; Petoskey under the management of Mrs. J. DeLone; Harbor Springs under the management of Miss Lucille Gernand, and Mackinac Island under the management of M. S. Gayo.

The office at Charlevoix will be located in the Earl A. Young building, 224 Bridge street, telephone 81.

This expansion, in addition to serving summer colonies, is in line with the aggressive policy adopted by Postal Telegraph, since its affiliation with the International Telephone and Telegraph Corporation.

Our company is going ahead with promotional developments, confident that present conditions call for initiative and enterprise rather than restriction. Colonel A. H. Griswold, executive vice president, stated at New York headquarters: "We are anxious to furnish Michigan with the best possible fast communications service, both for domestic and international business and social purposes."

Surveys completed by Postal Telegraph in the four Michigan points involved demonstrated activity sufficient to warrant the expense connected with the expansion. These surveys are carefully checked and when telegraph offices are recommended it is excellent indication of generally healthy business conditions. Arrangements have been made with the Michigan Telephone company, whereby telegrams may be telephoned to all four offices, with the charges appearing on the telephone bills.

INN WILL OPEN SATURDAY, JUNE 27

POPULAR-HOSTELRY UNDER NEW MANAGEMENT

Many Fine Improvements Have Put Hotel in Excellent Shape—Bookings Indicate Good Season

With reservations received daily indicating one of the best seasons in its history, The Inn will open the 1931 summer season Saturday morning, June 27th.

Pere Marquette Railway company carpenters and painters have been at The Inn for the past three weeks making usual improvements and repairs and The Inn is in excellent shape for operation during the season.

New carpets and draperies have been bought for the lobby, and a material change made in the set-up of the dining room. Former patrons will immediately appreciate the wonderful improvements made and new ones will find the accommodations and appointments pleasing.

New pianos have been installed, three in number, and kitchen service has been facilitated by the addition of new equipment.

The Inn is this year under the management of Glen L. Adams of Miami, Fla. Mr. Adams takes over his duties with initiative gained from many years' experience in the hotel business and has brought with many new policies. He was manager of the Harbor Point Club House, Harbor Springs, for a period of ten years, four summers at Montauk, Long Island, one year at the Everglades Club, Palm Beach, Fla., and eleven years with the Carl G. Fisher properties, Miami Beach.

William E. Flynn, assistant manager, and Mrs. William E. Flynn, housekeeper, have been with The Inn for the past fifteen years.

Other members of the new staff include George S. Duncann, chief clerk of the Nautilus Hotel, Miami Beach, and Montauk Manor, Montauk, L. I.; A. J. Sterman, cashier and bookkeeper, from the Carl G. Fisher Properties, Miami Beach; Mrs. A. J. Sterman, private secretary; Glen V. Wallace, steward with the Roney Plaza Hotel, Miami Beach, and formerly with the Cavalier Hotel, Virginia Beach, Va.; John H. Lambert, Maitre D'Hotel, from the Cloister Inn, Sea Island Beach, Ga., and formerly with the Nautilus & Pancoast Hotel, Miami Beach; Fred Young, chef, formerly eight years with the Lincoln Hotel, Miami Beach, two years with the Grove Park Inn, Asheville, and four years with the Alenxander Hotel, St. Augustine.

Chris Marlor, superintendent of service, comes with 20 years experience with the Canadian Pacific Railway hotels. John Dougherty, head porter, was formerly with the Pancoast Hotel, Miami Beach, and Buckwood Inn, Shawnee, Pa. John Klein, doorman, was with the Roney Plaza Hotel, Miami Beach, Fla., and Chas. E. Evans, chief engineer, returns from Southern Pines, N. C. C. Y. Marshall of Charlevoix, is again custodian.

Mrs. Arthur C. Friedman of Birmingham, Ala., and Miami, has been engaged as hostess and bridge instructor.

The Montclair Club orchestra of six pieces will arrive from Detroit on July 1st, and will furnish music throughout the season.

The Inn tennis courts, where the now famous Michigan Riviera championships will be played the week of August 17th, will be in charge of Paul C. Babbitt, professional, who has been assistant pro at Hot Springs, Ark., for the past four years. All five courts have been re-conditioned and re-surfaced with a clay mixture, and are in the best condition they have been in a number of years. The courts will be operated on a fee basis, with a small charge for daily play. Weekly, monthly and season cards will also be available.

The beauty parlor at The Inn has been redecorated and furnished and will be in charge of Nora Davis, who has operated the Merinello Beauty Salon at Miami for several years. Miss Davis is an authorized exponent in beauty culture. She was on the air for three months advising women how to care for their skin and hair. Miss Davis is chairman of the board of examiners of barbers and beauty culturists of Miami, and is thoroughly in accord with all legislation governing her profession. She is bringing all modern equipment for the operation of a complete and strictly high class beauty shop. She will have as her assistant Miss Constance Nardone of Miami.

The Inn Barber shop, which will be in charge of J. D. Kenney of the Boulevard Hotel, Miami Beach, and last summer with the Grasse Point Country Club, Detroit, has been redecorated and furnished. Mr. Kenney is bringing from Miami all modern equipment. He will specialize in scalp treatments, using his own Kenney's Hair Food, which is well known throughout the country.

The Inn riding academy will be operated by Dickey's Riding Stable, Palmer Park, Detroit, who will succeed Frank Welsh. Mr. Dickey is bringing a fine string of Virginia and Kentucky horses. His stable was brought to Detroit at the personal solicitation of the Fisher Brothers and his clientele in Detroit consists of the very highest class families.

Pre-opening inquiries indicate a very nice season at The Inn. A large number of former guests have made reservations this summer and negotiations are being closed for the rental of the four cottages in connection with The Inn.

Emmett French and family will arrive on the opening date and open the Orchard cottage which he has occupied for several seasons.

P. M. TRAINS ON SUMMER SCHEDULE

CHICAGO AND DETROIT DIVIS-IONS ARRIVING DAILY

New Schedule Opened Monday, June 22nd—Station Force Augmented for Summer Months

Pere Marquette train service to Charlevoix and the Northern Michigan resort region went on summer schedule on Monday morning of this week. There are three northbound and three southbound trains daily except Saturday and Sunday.

The Resort Special is being operated as two separate trains as last year, the Chicago section running via Grand Rapids and the Detroit section via Saginaw. The first northbound train from Chicago and Detroit arrived Monday morning and southbound from Bay View, the northern terminal, Tuesday.

Train No. 9, Chicago section, arrives here at 7:33 and train No. 15, Detroit section, at 6:53, standard time, daily except Sunday. Southbound No. 10, Chicago section, leaves Charlevoix at 7:32; No. 14, Detroit section, leaves at 8:25, service daily except Saturday.

The schedule of local trains has also been changed. The local southbound No. 6, leaves Charlevoix at 8:59 and Belvedere station at 9:02. Northbound No. 1 arrives at Charlevoix at 3:11 instead of 3:03 as formerly. No. 6 will have parlor car from Bay View to Grand Rapids after June 30th.

The force at the Charlevoix station has been augmented to handle the heavy summer business.

Assisting Agent B. Nickerson are J. J. Kobza of Paw Paw, and E. O. Dumas of Scottville, telegraph operators. Mr. and Mrs. Oral Lewis have been placed in charge of the Belvedere station for the summer, and Stanley Gibbs of Munclon, is baggageman at the Charlevoix depot.

WEDDING OF LOCAL INTEREST ANNOUNCED

Howard Berolzheimer, Well Known
Here, Married Last Friday

Announcement of the marriage on Friday, June 19th, at Ravinia, Ill., of Howard Berolzheimer to Miss Isabel Carothers, was received Monday by Mr. and Mrs. James Gaskin, with whom Mr. Berolzheimer has spent many summers.

Mrs. Berolzheimer is probably better known to thousands of radio fans as "Lou" of the famous team of Charn, Lou and Em, whose nightly broadcast is heard from the NBC studios at Chicago.

Mr. Berolzheimer, who is an instructor at Yale University, has spent many summers in Charlevoix and is well known to local residents. Mr. and Mrs. Berolzheimer originally intended to spend their honeymoon at Charlevoix, but owing to the necessity of Mr. Berolzheimer returning to Yale for the summer term, gave up the plan.

GOVERNOR SLASHES BIG STATE BUDGET

MILLION PAID FROM NUMER-OUS APPROPRIATIONS LISTED

Present Status Brings General Tax
Many Departments Hit

Gov. Wilbur M. Brucker signed the general appropriation bill last week, but before he did so he struck slightly more than $1,000,000 annually from the amounts which had been approved by the legislature.

For the year 1932 he cut the appropriations from $29,315,123 to $28,306,092, and for the year 1933 from $28,783,404 to $27,830,858.

Despite the reductions in the allotments of funds to state departments and institutions the governor failed to touch the tax clauses which the measure carries. At the executive office, however, it was said that the reductions will be credited in August when the state administrative board finally determines the state tax for 1932.

If this credit is made the tax levy for 1932 will be $29,282,033 or about $200,000 less than the record levy of $29,500,000 imposed during the last two years. If the board does not make this credit the tax will be more than $700,000 above the 1930 and 1931 levies. The tax clause carried by the budget bill signed is $16,396,733 for 1933 and $15,401,948 for 1932.

In addition to the budget bill, the governor has disposed of all the acts passed by the legislature. He signed the deficiency measure which sets aside $2,822,175 to cover existing deficiencies in state accounts and also disposed of six others in addition to the budget bill.

Three of these were vetoed, including the important Miller bill which would have entirely changed the method of equalizing the state tax among the counties. At the present time the state tax commission holds a majority on the board which reviews the distribution of taxes recommended by the commission. The result is that, according to proponents of the Miller bill, the commission's figures are not materially changed.

The Miller measure would have permitted only two of the three members of the tax commission to sit on the board of equalization with the auditor general, commissioner of agriculture and two citizens to be appointed by the governor.

In his veto message, the governor said that while there are defects in the present method of equalization, the Miller bill would permit sectional battles on the board and place inexperienced citizens on the board.

Brucker also vetoed the Branson bill which would have taken power from judges of probate in the handling of crippled children's hospitalization and placed it with the present commission which supervises the state's part in the work. The other bill to be disapproved was the Darin measure dealing with the annexation of school districts.

The measures signed in addition to the budget bill were the Hull bill increasing the membership of the common pleas court in Detroit from eight to nine members; the McBride bill permitting school districts to contract for small repair jobs without calling for bids; and the Culver bill making it illegal to carry firearms in autos unless the owner of the weapon has a permit to carry one on his person.

In his message transmitting the slashed budget bill to the legislature, Brucker said that it is the state's duty to lead the way for local governments in tax reduction.

"Thousands of our people are unable to meet their tax burdens on farms and homes," he said. "It is idle to defend unnecessary state expenditures by the excuse that the state tax is only ten per cent of the total tax levy. We cannot afford to add an unnecessary dollar more to the local tax burden."

The reductions made by Brucker to the budget bill were general throughout all state departments and institutions. Institution appropriations were dropped from $12,516,975 to $12,138,520, a cut of $378,455. Departments were reduced from $5,884,228 to $6,435,342, a cut of $448,886.

The department of conservation, which has been the target of the governor during his "kitchen economy" program, received further blows. The department's general appropriation was reduced more than $43,000 while an item of $25,000 for construction in state parks was entirely eliminated.

FORD TRUCK FLEET WILL VISIT HERE

DISPLAY AT LOCAL GARAGE
FRIDAY AND SATURDAY

Demonstration of Twenty-five Different Truck Units and Commercial Car Types

Commercial car and truck owners will have an opportunity to see a comprehensive display of Ford commercial cars and trucks when the Ford caravan, comprising more than 25 units, comes to Charlevoix, on Friday and Saturday, June 26 and 27, J. M. Foster, local Ford dealer, announced today.

One of the most important developments in the commercial car and truck business within the last year or so has been the Ford Motor Company's new policy of adapting its product to the manifold specialized needs of industry, Mr. Foster said. As a result, he said, Fords with standard equipment are now serving as panel delivery units, express trucks, coal trucks, dump trucks, garbage trucks, ambulances, police patrols, and in short for practically every sort of truck use.

In addition to the many body types, the dealer said, the Fords are available in a variety of colors and in many cases with single or dual rear wheels, open or closed cab, and with a choice of wheelbase and gear ratio.

"Obviously it is impossible for a dealer to carry the present full line of Ford commercial cars and trucks in stock at one time," Mr. Foster said. "But, through the caravan which is coming to Charlevoix, local truck users will have the unusual opportunity of inspecting a comprehensive display, including a wide variety of body types. We cordially invite the public to attend our showing and we will be pleased to arrange a special demonstration for anyone who is interested."

QUESTIONS LISTED FOR AUTO DRIVERS

APPLICANTS FOR DRIVERS' LI-CENSE MUST ANSWER TEN

Twenty-five Questions Are Asked on Information All Operators Should Be Familiar

"Which of these must you have on your car: Spare tire, bumpers, spot light, good brakes, tail light, horn, tow rope, muffler, wind shield wiper?"

Better know the answer before you apply for a license to operate a motor vehicle under the new operators' and chauffeurs' license law. Copies of the new examination questions arrived here Saturday, and the above is one of them.

Twenty-five questions are asked; the applicant must answer 10 "correctly and without hesitation."

Some of them sound easy like this one. "What difference does a stop street make in the rules about the right of way?"

The Right of Way
"When may you drive without a license" can be answered in just one word. Some refer to the rules of the road as this one: "When two vehicles arrive at the intersection of two streets or cross-roads at the same time, which vehicle has the right of way?"

Another question is: "What should you do if you change your address?" The answer is, "Go to a police station or to the sheriff's office and have the change of address noted on the back of the license."

"What does the law require you to do after your car has injured a person or the property of another?" is another question.

Of a decidedly minority character is this one, "State two violations of the Traffic act which will result in the suspension or revocation of your operator's license." Answers, drunk driving, reckless driving.

On Speed
A question on speed has three parts: "How fast may you drive without having the law consider your speed improper: (a) in a business district; (b) in a residential district; (c) in the open country." Answers are: (a) 15 miles; (b) 20 miles; (c) at a reasonable rate and able to stop within the assured clear distance ahead.

Other questions are: "What must you do when you come up behind a street car that is loading people on or off?"

What are the minimum number of lights required on a motor vehicle?

If the bright lights from an oncoming vehicle blind you, what is the safest thing for you to do? The answer to this one is "Pull over to the side of the road and stop."

Still other questions are:

"What is the purpose of the painted yellow line on the highways?"

"What would you do if one of your registration plates were lost or defaced, or your operator's license was lost?"

Lending Credentials

"What is the penalty for giving or loaning registration plates or operator's license to another person?"

"What should you do on hearing a siren, such as is used on police, fire, and ambulance vehicles?"

A driver's test is to be given an applicant who has had less than one year's driver's experience; who is under 16; who has any physical disability that might render him unable (Continued on page 8)

ELLSWORTH PACKERS DROP SUNDAY GAME

Defeated in Late Rally Sunday by 10 to 9 Score

Charlevoix took the Ellsworth Packers into camp here Sunday afternoon to hang up their second consecutive victory. A good sized crowd watched the closely fought contest at North Side ball park.

Getting away to a lead in the early innings, Ellsworth was leading 8 to 4 at the end of their half of the eighth inning. A hitting spree by the locals which netted six runs changed the color, however, and put the game on ice. Leo Koigma led the attack. His three-bag clout with two on base brought in a pair of runs and before the inning was over Charlevoix had the game sewed up.

Charlevoix takes on another Antrim county team next Sunday, meeting Alden at the North Side ball field.

Norton Pearl and family and Miss Mary Baumbach were in Detroit last week.

Mrs. Marie Teft's daughters, Thelma, Jeanette and Rosemary, of Manicelona, came over for a short visit with her Friday.

Morse Brothers have had eleven men helping to transplant radishes out on the I. B. Rice trial ground east of town the past two weeks. Recent rains have been just what they needed in their work.

William Ballard and wife, and son Harvey and family, returned last week from a visit with relatives in Benton Harbor. Harvey is visiting here for a short time before returning to his home at St. Paul, Minnesota.

Henry Marshall and Morris Acker and family of Charlevoix, were here Thursday to attend the funeral of Mrs. Lena Clark, sister of Mr. Marshall. Mr. Marshall and family formerly resided on a farm at Bay View, north of this place.

Howard Pinney from east of town, came up from Flint last week as work in the assembly department at the Buick factory had been discontinued. He will try to get employment here. He had been with the Buick concern for fourteen years.

Marion Davis of Flint is in town and will work on a farm east of the village for about a month until times are better in Flint. His wife and children are spending the summer with his father, Ralph Davis and family in North Carolina.

Rev. J. C. Kendall's son, Paul, and daughter, Beatrice, returned last week with him from Taylor University, Uplands, Ind., and will spend the summer with their parents here. Miss Beatrice was graduated this spring from the Taylor University.

verse City made a short visit with Mrs. Carl Brown and family east of town, Sunday. They report the cherry crop around Traverse City as rather light. Mr. Walling is now helping on a farm near Acaie.

Arthur Knowles returned Tuesday from a week's visit in Ohio. He went by auto, and reports that everything is quite dry in the farming districts through which he traveled. His brother, Robert, had charge of the meat shop during the absence of Mr. Knowles.

John Cornell, mother, wife, and family of Lansing, visited Sunday with Mr. Pinney's family east of town, on their return trip. Mr. Cornell is a cousin of Walter Cornell of the People's Bank of East Jordan. He reports times as rather dull in Lansing.

The Old Settlers' picnic at Traverse City this year was attended by quite a crowd of old residents. Rev. G. A. Weaver of Petoskey was on the program. Speeches were also made by Perry F. Powers of Cadillac, and Premier Baldwin of Manicelona. The mayor of Traverse City was chosen as president for next year and the same officers in the other departments elected. Traverse City was voted as a meeting place for next year.

Mr. Buell, Y. M. C. A. worker, preached at the Congregational church here last Sunday. There has been no services except Sunday school since the resignation of Rev. Hyle, former pastor, and who now has joined the Adventist church and is now attending their school, Jordan River Sunday school had an attendance of 51 last Sunday, Green River 22, and Bay View 30. The rural Sunday schools are nearly all planning to take part in the big rally set for Thursday of this week. The following pastors have consented to give talks: Rev. G. A. Weaver of Petoskey, Rev. J. C. Kendall of Central Lake, Rev. Harry Batterbee of Manicelona, Rev. Henry Vanderventer of Finton, and J. C. Matthews of Elk Rapids.

The death of Mrs. Lena Clark, an old resident of Bay View neighborhood occurred at the home of Burr Sage in this village last week Monday evening. Funeral services were conducted by Rev. J. C. Kendall at the home Thursday afternoon. The text, "My Peace I Give You," was the subject of a comforting talk given by the pastor. Remains were interred in Bay View cemetery by the side of her husband, David Clark. With the passing of Mrs. Clark the community loses a faithful mother, grandmother, and a helper to the needy of the neighborhood. Mrs. Clark, while in good health, was always ready to assist the sick people of the community in which she lived. She was a great friend in the caring for of two grandchildren, Norine and Harold, after their mother's death.

Rev. J. C. Kendall and wife were back to attend church school at Norwood Friday evening. About thirty-eight were in attendance, although it was a very hot evening. The thermometer that day registered 93 in the shade at this place. Next Friday evening a count will be taken of those present so as to know how many to prepare for at the social hour meeting of the Methodist church at Bay View next Tuesday evening, June 30th. The young people's class of Norwood Sunday school will serve ice cream at the hall for the benefit of the Sunday school on Thursday evening of this week. The big Sunday school rally at Eastport will also be attended, Thursday, June 25th. We hope that Mrs. Dice, president of Norwood L. A. S., will soon recover from her recent illness and be back with us again.

TELLS OF BAIT TO KILL CUT-WORMS

Gives Recipe for Mixing Poison Bait to Exterminate Pest

Destruction of the cut-worm, a serious problem confronting the farmer and gardener of this vicinity, is a simple matter according to W. C. Cribb, district agent in extension service work of the Michigan State college, if handled properly.

This little pest which annually causes thousands of dollars damage to farmers in this vicinity is more prolific this year than ever, cases having been reported where whole fields of corn have been destroyed, can be exterminated with little trouble if the proper methods are used.

According to Mr. Cribb the best known exterminator of the pest is a poison bait consisting of one bushel of wheat bran, one pound of calcium arsenate or one pound of white arsenate mixed dry. (Arsenate of lead is too slow.)

Then to four or five quarts of water add one tablespoon of banana oil or three oranges ground through a food chopper. Also add one pint of black molasses to the water. Then moisten the poisoned bran with the molasses water. This may then be scattered over the garden or field in the evening. This should kill all of the cutworms the first night.

One bushel of this bait will cover about three acres. A little scattered here and there over the field, according to Mr. Cribb, will do the job.

CHILDREN WILL LIKE SIMPLE MILK DRINKS

Flavors and Mixtures Induce Children to Use More of This Food

Milk drinks which are nutritious and for which the children will clamor can be made at home from recipes recommended by the home economics department of Michigan State college.

Chocolate milk is one of the simplest and is also very popular. A stock mixture of the chocolate flavoring can be made and a small amount used to prepare as many glasses of the milk as are wanted at any one time.

The flavoring is made by mixing into 12 pounds of sugar, one pound of cocoa, one-half pound of corn starch, two teaspoonfuls of cream of tartar, and a dash of ground cinnamon. The mixture should be boiled a few minutes in a gallon of water, cooled, and three ounces of vanilla added. One ounce of this flavoring is added to seven ounces of milk.

Egg nog, a favorite drink for many years, is made by beating the mixture of one egg, one teaspoonful of sugar, a sprinkle of cinnamon and nutmeg, and a few drops of vanilla into a glass of milk. This drink has a high food value and is rich in proteins and minerals. Different flavors can be obtained by using lemon, orange, or prune juices instead of vanilla.

Some of the newer milk drinks are made by adding honey to milk and they are said to be very tasty. Three ounces of honey and 15 drops of lemon or orange extract are used to make honey blossom drink. The mixture should be shaken until the honey dissolves.

Attractive milk drinks can be made by adding two or three teaspoonfuls of fruit jam or marmalade. The seeds in the jam should be strained out of the drink after the mixture has been thoroughly stirred. Grape, raspberry, blackberry, pineapple, or cherry jams may be used.

Used cars at a price you cannot recondition your old car at Brown's garage.—Adv. 26c2.

MALT TAX SUPPLIES SANATORIUM REVENUE

Money Received by Treasury for Northern Michigan TB Patients

Money received under the new malt tax law is being turned over to the state treasury as fast as it is collected and will be released by the administrative board for care of the state's tubercular patients, Secretary of State Frank D. Fitzgerald announced.

Under rules of the department of state, grocery trucks in which the delivery of malt is an incidental activity, will not be required to secure a $25 license. Every retail store handling malt or wort will be required to secure a license. Where a large number of stores are owned and operated by one company, each store will be required to secure a license.

Another rule of interest is that malt tax stamps, issued under the old law, can be redeemed and exchanged for new stamps. In cases where the old stamps have been affixed to cans, inspectors of the department will be authorized to issue new stamps upon proper examination. Stamps are available at the following offices of the secretary of state: Lansing, Detroit, Grand Rapids, Jackson, Saginaw, Flint and Marquette.

Attention to Sprayers Is Important Detail

While use of sprayers which are badly worn and will no longer do an efficient job of spraying is not to be recommended at any time, it is good policy to junk spraying equipment give full service. Appreciation of attention necessary for maintenance of the fine workings parts of large power sprayers is much more widespread than formerly. Work of agricultural extension agents, manufacturers and various information sources has helped to emphasize importance of sprayer care.

Attention may well be called to some precautions which should be observed before storing the sprayer. Briefly, these include thorough flushing and draining of all parts, with attention to drain cocks and valves; oiling of moving parts and painting of tank—inside and out; cleaning and storing the hose in a dry place and oiling the rods and nozzles. Old crankcase oil may be left in the pump over winter or simply drawn through.

CELEBRATE JULY 4TH WITH EAST JORDAN

Tennis Tournament Attraction of Three-Day Homecoming Event

East Jordan's homecoming celebration, to be held on the 3rd, 4th and 5th will have a tennis tournament along with the various other activities that are to take place at this time.

This is possibly the first time that East Jordan has had a tournament that is open to anyone that can swing a racquet, men, women, boys and girls. It will be a singles tournament only, and the women and girls participating will have to register and play with the men.

There will be an entry fee of fifty cents for each participant. This fee is to be used to pay for the trophies which will be given to the winner and runner-up.

The tournament will start at 9 o'clock a. m. of the third and continue until all but the finals will be played off at 2 o'clock p. m. of the Fourth.

The participants will play in the order that they register. The first two whose names are registered will be opponents and so on down the line. This is a much quicker way than drawing for the opposition.

This should be an event well worth watching as well as taking part in, as the tennis ability in Boyne City, Charlevoix and East Jordan are well above the average for towns of this size.

The entries will be made on the third and the fees collected at this time. No entry will be accepted on the Fourth.

For further information write Arnold Dedoes, East Jordan.

MRS. BEN BEERMAN IS TAKEN BY DEATH

Succumbed Sunday Evening at Home of Her Daughter, Mrs. H. Powers

Mrs. Ben Beerman, well known to local residents, died Sunday evening, June 21st, at 11:40, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Harry Powers, 701 Grant street. Mrs. Beerman had been ill about four months.

Surviving besides her husband are four children, viz: Mrs. Harry Powers, Charlevoix; Mrs. Wm. Stoddard, Oakland, Calif.; James Pumfrey of California; Bert Pumfrey, Kalama-zoo; also a brother, Maurice Flake of Grand Rapids, three grandchildren and one great-grandson.

Funeral services were held at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon from the Powers residence, Rev. W. H. Rauch officiating. Interment was at Brookside cemetery.

POMONA GRANGE TO MEET WITH BARNARD

Afternoon and Evening Session Planned for Saturday, June 27th

Barnard Grange will entertain Charlevoix County Pomona Grange at an afternoon and evening session on Saturday, June 27th.

The meeting will open at 2 o'clock, and following the afternoon program, a pot-luck supper is scheduled at 6 o'clock. The evening program opens at 8 o'clock.

An interesting program has been arranged. Charlevoix county 4-H Club champions will be present and memorial exercises will be given by Marion Center Grange.

BELVEDERE CLUB EXPECTS GOOD SEASON

Forty Cottages Occupied at Present Time—All Will Be Taken

Indications point to another very successful summer season at the Belvedere Club.

W. H. Miller, warden, reported Tuesday that up to that time forty cottages had been occupied, which is a wonderful showing for June. Fourth of July week end will see a heavy influx of cottagers, and it is expected all summer homes will be filled before the season is far advanced.

A year ago every cottage on the resort was occupied a greater portion of the summer.

CLINIC FOR INFANTS ON TUESDAY, JUNE 30

Open All Day at District Health Unit Office, Petoskey Avenue

The District Health Department will conduct a clinic for infants and pre-school children at the office, 365 Petoskey avenue, on Tuesday, June 30.

The clinic will be open all day, starting at 9 o'clock a. m.

Parents are urged to come and bring their children under school age, and to urge their neighbors to come also if they have babies or small children they would like to have weighed, measured and examined by the doctor. The clinic is free of charge.

JACKSON ORCHESTRA PLEASES BIG CROWD

Music by Anderson's Collegians at Moonlight Gardens Saturday

Anderson's Collegians, a group of dance musicians from Jackson, entertained a large crowd of merry-makers at Moonlight Gardens last Saturday evening.

The orchestra, which will appear regularly during the summer months at this popular entertainment place, certainly made a great hit with the crowd, which had gathered from practically every point in Northern Michigan.

A. T. Jeffery, owner of Moonlight Gardens, stated he will have two bands during the present summer season, and promises the usual high class entertainment to his many patrons.

MOTORISTS REMINDED OF NEW LICENSE LAW

From letters reaching the department of state, many Charlevoix county persons do not know exactly when they must secure a new automobile driver's license under the provisions of the 1931 law. All persons who secured their present driver's license before Jan. 1, 1925, must re-register prior to Nov. 1, 1931, while persons securing licenses prior to Jan. 1, 1928, have until May 1, 1932 to re-register.

The new law increases the fee to $1, of which 15 cents is returned to the county or municipality. Because of this feature of the law, the department has taken a definite stand against an additional notary fee of 25 cents being imposed by local officials.

FINE RESORT PROPERTY GOES ON MARKET

An article in the Boyne Citizen states that Springwater beach resort on Lake Charlevoix is out of the courts and the title rests with J. H. Parker.

For some years while the law was seeking the rightful owner of that fine property a number of enthusiastic resorters have waited for the courts decree before commencing building operations. Now that title to the property is no longer in question, development will begin immediately.

MICHIGAN CROP PROSPECTS BEST

GOOD SPRING RAINS AID TO MOST EVERY PART

Wheat, Oats and Most Fruits Will Yield Heavily—Large Lot of Peaches and Apples

Crops substantially better than those of the last few years are in prospect for Michigan farmers this summer. V. C. Church, state and federal farm administrator reported, The summer with it is credited to spring rains.

There is a 50 percent chance that fruit crops will be the best in years, the report asserts. With the exception of hay, all of the major crops to date are above the five year average.

"While there has been a marked deficiency of soil moisture throughout the spring and the surface soil has been rather dry in some sections, there has been sufficient moisture and warmth to induce proper germination, the growing condition of all grain crops is generally above that of last year and considerably above the ten-year average," the report says. "Good rains since June 1 have materially increased the moisture supply and further improved the general crop prospects."

"The reported condition of oats and barley is 87 per cent, which is five points above the ten-year average for both crops. Winter wheat is still in a very promising condition, being reported at 90 per cent of normal, which is equivalent to a production of 16,380,000 bushels. Most of the crops is headed in the southern half of the state and stands are uniformly good.

"The rye crop is estimated at 2,670,000 bushels, a slight increase over the previous month's estimate and a slightly larger production than in 1930.

"The outlook for hay is the least promising of any important Michigan crop. New seedlings were badly killed out by drought last summer and old meadows have been slow in starting this spring.

"Fruit prospects are the best in several years. The bloom was heavy on apples, peaches, plums and cherries; the weather was favorable for pollination and the set was generally good. Peaches did not bloom so heavily nor set freely, the reported condition being 60 per cent of normal. The percentages of normal conditions for the other fruits were reported as follows: Apples, 83; peaches, 83; cherries, 80; plums, 80; blackberries and raspberries, 79; strawberries, 70; and grapes, 64.

Frost and freezing weather late in April and again during the third week of May caused considerable injury to grapes in the southwestern Michigan commercial area and some local damage throughout the state to grapes, peaches, cherries, early apples and strawberries. Notwithstanding these losses, the outlook is much above average for all fruits except grapes and pears.

The boys who went hatless through the winter might consider how smart they would appear if they also went barefoot.

WHAT A STATE!

Michigan is a great state! Great in extent and in scenic beauty. Great in its natural resources and its industries. Great in its history, its traditions, and the character and spirit of its citizens.

Consider its mines and forests; its fields and its productive orchards and vineyards; think of its beautiful lakes and streams; its diversified industries and its splendid educational institutions.

Michigan is a good place in which to live! Here Nature is kind. We are not visited with flood, drought or other disasters to any degree. Nowhere else can people work more profitably nor under better conditions than in Michigan.

And no state has more to offer to the tourist, whether from outside or within the state, than has Michigan. Our company, through the advertising columns of the Michigan press, has steadily called attention to the advantages of Michigan as a vacation land.

We hold that it is in the interest of every citizen and every individual in Michigan, first, to contemplate and appreciate the privileges and advantages of working and playing in Michigan, and, second, to call the attention of others, both in and out of the state, to those facts, continuously and by every proper means that will contribute to the pleasure and profit of every individual, every business and every community.

Michigan is a great state to live in and a great state to visit!—Michigan Bell.

"BUY NOW" REALLY NEEDED

While it has become rather common to smile at the "Buy now" movement which was first suggested in these columns and then rather widely adopted last Fall, there seems to be a great similarity between what this slogan and plan aimed at and numerous suggestions which have appeared in the meantime.

Those who criticized the first idea have realized that the first step toward business recovery will not be taken until confidence is restored. To restore this confidence, men must be sure of their jobs, investors sure of their dividends and capital sure of its profit. To meet all these conditions purchasing is needed.

There was never any thought when "Buy now" was suggested that people would buy when they had no means of buying. It was pointed out, on the contrary, that, unless those who did have money were more liberal in their purchasing, they might jeopardize their own jobs or suffer the loss of income. That was the argument that required emphasis, and it received too little.

It is true enough that low prices supply an impulse to buying which no amount of "sloganizing" can accomplish, and for this reason the combination of low prices at present and an intensive drive to overcome buying resistance among those who can afford to spend more should enjoy excellent chances of success. Manufacturers who sell at fixed prices might as well recognize the new level of values and join retailers in promoting a movement which would bring home to all the danger of unwise thrift. — The Michigan Timesmen.

COMMONPLACE INTERESTS

It has been said that there is nothing quite so intriguing as the commonplace things of life. One need only act natural in vaudeville to win applause. Books that discuss the everyday things of life are always in favor. Humanity prefers the mirror to the telescope.

Several publications in this country and England recently took up with considerable success, both in supplying interesting information to their readers and in attracting the interest of the public, the discussion of the origin and evolution of the gentlemanly act of shaving. The history of shaving was pieced together from many sources.

Samuel Pepys was quoted as describing shaving with a pumice stone as "very easy, speedy and cleanly."

In the works of the younger Pliny someone found reference to a dandy who was both shaved and pumice-stoned — "ratus atque etiam pumiceatus."

When Martin was writing his epigrams the gilded youth of Rome were having their beards treated in all the then modern modes—tonsa, clipped with scissors; rasa, shaved; vulsa, plucked.

All of these who contributed to this symposium on the gentle art of shaving agreed that there have been shaven faces since the time of Nero or before, but only one supplied any evidence that razors of steel were in use as early as the time of the Roman Empire.

It is a duty imposed upon the writers of today that they leave to posterity an accurate and minute history of those commonplace things which have originated in this day and age, such as baseball, jazz music, automobile petting parties, blocs, knickers for men, highway soft-drink stands, roadside ten rooms, good roads and many others which future generations will no doubt be curious about. —Isabella County Times News.

POLITICAL FEUDS

When one politician finds himself in possession of an extreme dislike for another politician, it seems, from rather careful observation, very easy for both politicians to work against each other. In the ordinary pursuits of life it is not impossible to dislike another; but project this possibility into the realm of politics and you obtain a background for a regular feud.

Which brings to mind a few choice words let loose a few weeks ago in the Michigan legislature by former Governor Fred W. Green, upon the subject of political friendships and enmities. Mr. Green had just seen a red-coated oil painting of himself and two hunting dogs hung in the rotunda of the Capitol building. When he spoke to the legislators he had one of the dogs with him. And this is what he said:

"There are those in public office who are not worthy of the office. They have been unfaithful to friends who aided them. All one can get out of politics or public life is the opportunity to help his friends. I shall not hesitate to oppose those who have shown they are traitors to their friends. Nobody is going to kick my dogs around."

Many close observers of the Republican party in Michigan are convinced that as Green spoke those words he had in mind foremost the person of Governor Wilbur M. Brucker. It is open information that these two men are farther apart politically now than ever before. You may rest assured that he who wins the political enmity of Fred Warren Green has been given no slight barrier to political safety and security. Brucker's only concern need be the ability of himself to prove a courageous loyalty toward good citizenship, honest friendship and proper political promises. —The Birmingham Eccentric.

Body bumping, refinishing and re-conditioning at Brown's garage. —Adv. 2512.

THE EDITOR'S FRIENDS

The thing that makes it hard for a person to run a newspaper is his friends. When a friend thinks something ought to be kept out of the paper he doesn't hesitate to ask it as a personal favor. An enemy doesn't ask any favors. But a friend thinks the conduct of a newspaper is the personal matter of the editor, when as a matter of fact he is largely in the position of a man serving a public trust.

A philosophical old fellow once said to the writer, "A newspaper that doesn't make you mad once in a while isn't worth the subscription price."

To make people mad isn't the chief province of a newspaper, but if it's going to be one worthy the name, it must print the news without fear or favor. This paper has been threatened with, and indeed has suffered business reprisals, not once but frequently. These things must necessarily be borne in silence. The great reading public which a newspaper serves is not interested in the personal difficulties of the editor or publisher, though we have known instances where a full airing of threats and subsequent reprisals would have made absorbing reading.

But such things must be regarded as part of the game—to be suffered perhaps, because of sins committed in other directions. And then, too, it must be remembered that all things, both human and divine, are subject to criticism. Even the Bible does not escape. —Harlan (town) Republican.

DOG SAVES LIVES OF BELLAIRE CHILDREN

Aroused Them as They Slept in Burning Tent—One Seriously Hurt

Virginia and Texas McDonald, daughter and son of Mr. and Mrs. S. McDonald of Bellaire, were badly burned when a tent in which they were playing caught fire from candles which burned down and ignited the tent.

Had it not been for their pet dog both children might have burned to death. The dog roused them by barking and jumping around the blazing tent. Virginia was aroused first and then her brother. He tried to wrap his sister in a blanket to get her to safety, but she was so frightened that she rushed through the flames. Her clothing and hair caught fire and before the fire was extinguished she was burned badly.

She is now in a hospital in Petoskey and it is feared she may have inhaled the flames or smoke which will cause pneumonia.

Texas, her brother, was burned on the arms and hands.

$1,720. Charlevoix city was lowered $10,625; Boyne City, $3,755, and Norwood, which received the heaviest drop among the townships, was lowered $10,635.

An additional appropriation of $6,900 was allowed the county poor commission to carry on for the next four months of the fiscal year. This will bring the total to around $30,000, a new high mark for the county. The commission's report showed $23,169.11 had been expended. Of this amount $16,593.75 went for temporary relief outside the infirmary, and $13,093.24 went to the three cities as follows: Boyne City, $6,327.33; East Jordan, $6,066.06; Charlevoix, $699.85. Supervisor Pearson of Boyne Falls, assailed the poor commission's operations. He claimed many were asking for relief when they should be at work—in other words taking unnecessary advantage of the county's generosity. In some instances, his contentions are probably true. However, Charlevoix county legislators may take some consolation in the fact they are not the only ones in the same predicament. The condition is widespread throughout the state.

A total of 16 claims, totalling around $200, were allowed for damage done by dogs.

July 9, 9:30 a. m., Boyne City; 2:00 p. m., Bay Shore.

July 10, to be scheduled later; 2:00 p. m., Marion Center.

Watch papers for additional notices and any change in schedule. All time scheduled eastern standard time.

MANY TOURISTS USING CHARLEVOIX AUTO CAMP

Parties from Widely Scattered Points Have Registered There

One of the popular spots during the past two weeks has been the Charlevoix auto camp on Lake Michigan.

A casual glance at the register will show parties from scattered points throughout the entire country, and in good numbers, too, despite many predictions of a dearth in tourists.

Many who have visited the camp annually for several years have been back, and they are lavish with their praise of the many fine improvements accomplished by Hugh Brady, caretaker of the camp.

PEE WEE GOLF COURSE TO OPEN FOR SUMMER

Robert Krulik and Fred W. Angell Take Over Lay-Out—Open July 1

The Pee Wee miniature golf course, operated by Muskegon interests last year at the corner of Michigan avenue and River street, has been taken over by Robert Krulik of this city and Fred W. Angell of Alden.

Messrs. Krulik and Angell are now getting the course ready for opening July 1. The lay-out is being put up west of the new Charlevoix Oil Co. service station, and when completed will be equally as attractive as a year ago.

GENTRY BROTHERS SHOWS HERE JULY 4

Famous Dog and Pony Acts, Other Features—Show at Ball Park

The Circus Is Coming to Town! That announcement will be of more than usual interest to young and old alike, for it has been some time since a circus visited Charlevoix.

Announcement has been made that Gentry Brothers famous shows, featuring the original dog and pony shows under the personal management of Henry B. Gentry, the founder, will exhibit here on Saturday, July 4th.

Two performances will be given at The Inn ball park on Dixon avenue. The afternoon show is at 2 o'clock and the evening performance is scheduled at 8 o'clock. According to the announcement, there will be no street parade.

Featuring the Gentry Brothers show this year are Lucio and Simplicio Godino, famous Siamese twins born joined together, who will present a novel dancing and musical act with their wives.

Pre-war prices of 25c for children and 50c for adults have been advertised.

DENTAL CLINIC LOCATED AT HEALTH OFFICE

Parents Urged to Bring Children Promptly for Appointments

The dental clinic of the District Health Unit of the Children's Fund of Michigan was located in the district health unit office on June 20th, where it will remain for a period of six weeks.

The object of this clinic is to provide treatment for indigent school children of this part of the county. Later the clinic will be moved to Boyne City and East Jordan to serve a similar purpose in those sections of Charlevoix county.

Because of the limited period of time the dental clinic can be located in one place, the cooperation of parents is requested to the extent of having children appear at the clinic promptly at the hour of their given appointment. These appointments will be made through the mail in most instances.

HOOVER ADDS BLOODED MOUNTS TO HIS STABLE

J. C. Thomas, Formerly With Frank Welch Will Be Instructor

Two thorough-bred Kentucky saddle horses arrived here Monday afternoon to be added to the fine stable of riding mounts at the Hoover Riding School, which is already serving its many patrons who are here for the summer.

Another announcement which should be popular with patrons, is that J. C. Thomas of Pinehurst, N. C., formerly with Frank Welch, has joined Mr. Hoover as instructor. Mr. Thomas has been coming to Charlevoix for many years and has a large following of friends. His addition to the Hoover Riding School staff will be a popular one.

CHANGES DELAY ISSU- ANCE OF STATE MAPS

Delivery of New Michigan Service Map Promised July 1st

Changes in the Michigan Service map issued by the departments of highway and conservation, necessary to bring information up to date, has delayed delivery of the maps and no more will be available until about July 1.

Early demands for the maps exhausted the first delivery of 10,000. Applications for maps will be filled just as soon as copies of the second printing are received.

CHARLEVOIX SUMMER ACADEMY WILL OPEN

William Kingsbury, Cincinnati, Takes Over Ach Interests

The Charlevoix Summer Academy, operated here formerly by Jacques Ach of Cincinnati, Ohio, will this year be under the direction of Wm. Kingsbury of Cincinnati.

Mr. Kingsbury and Alfred Schwab, who will be a member of the staff, are in Charlevoix preparing for the opening of the Academy. The usual summer program of supervised sports will be carried out.

CAMP CHARLEVOIX OPENS 1931 SEASON

SEVENTY-FIVE BOYS ENROLLED FROM SCATTERED POINTS

Charles E. Hendry, Famous Camp Authority, Added to Staff of Counselors—Others Return

The 1931 season of Camp Charlevoix officially opened on June 28th, with representatives from Los Angeles, Calif., to Barcelona, Spain.

The campers this year number approximately 75, and more are expected later. There is a staff of 22, 12 of which are college graduates, and the remaining ten undergraduates of universities.

This year the camp has been extremely fortunate in obtaining as director of activities, Charles E. Hendry, one of the foremost authorities on camping in North America. Mr. Hendry has a record of 14 years of camping experience. He began at Camp Ahmek in Canada, in the capacity of assistant leader; when he left Ahmek he was associate director. He has supervised the camp, which is the farthest north of any camp on this continent. He has camped in the Rockies, and on the Ball prairie in Canada, where there is no wood and one must bring charcoal for making a fire.

Mr. Hendry was appointed research fellow at New York University, where he assisted Dr. Frederick M. Thrasher, author of "The Gang," which is a study of 1,300 Chicago gangs. He himself has written a book with Lenock, "Camping and Character," as well as many magazine articles and pamphlets. Mr. Hendry says camping is in a period of transition, where it is changing from a purely recreational to a more educational purpose. Camp Charlevoix is organized to build its program around the real interests and needs of boys. The central objective of the camp is to equip boys to be useful citizens of the camp community. This central purpose is forwarded by the fact that each boy is studied as an individual person. The program of the camp finds its focus in boys rather than in a set scheme of activities.

Earle S. Oldham, familiarly known as "Oky," is in his fifth year at Camp Charlevoix. He is the oldest counselor as regards years of service, and possesses an excellent record which speaks for itself. Oldham, the head counselor of the senior section, has charge of aquatics, and helps to keep true the slogan, "Every Charlevoix Camper a Swimmer." He is a Michigan graduate, and is taking work in medicine at the present time.

Ira Hirschy is the leader of the juniors. He is starting his third season, giving instruction in woodcraft and campcraft. Hirschy graduated from Jamestown college, North Dakota, is now a junior in the medical school at Ann Arbor.

Colonel E. Gillespie, who is in his second year at the camp, is heading the intermediate section. He also has charge of the athletic program, being well qualified for this position by his experience as athletic coach of Dearborn high school.

The camp physician this year is Dr. Clare Rittershoffer, head resident physician of the Cincinnati Children's hospital. He is an outstanding authority on the diseases of children. One of his first nets was to take a nose and throat culture of every camper, which will be sent to be analyzed at a Michigan hospital.

Mrs. Reimann, the camp director's wife, acts as camp mother, sewing on buttons, mending socks, etc.

Last, but not least, comes Lewis Reimann, the head of the camp. Mr. Reimann has a wide camp knowledge and experience, and he really knows boys. He says: "In spite of the serious business depression, Camp Charlevoix is more than holding its own in comparison with other camps, largely due to the fact that we have a well-trained staff of college men."

The program of Camp Charlevoix comes under five main headings: Athletics and swimming, handicraft, riding, woodcraft and campcraft, and music and dramatics. These have several subdivisions which are too numerous to mention here. Riding is under the direction of Johnny Olwin, assisted by Jack Hodge, a camper who has had training with horses at a military academy. The horses (Continued on page 8)

WILL OPEN DANCING CLASS AT BELVEDERE

Miss Helen Gillaspie, Grand Rapids,
Succeeds Miss Calla Travis

Miss Helen Gillaspie, a graduate director of the Calla Travis Dancing School at Grand Rapids, will succeed Miss Travis as instructor of the dancing art at the Belvedere casino during the 1931 resort season.

Miss Gillaspie is a member of the staff of counselors at Camp Kairphree. She will divide her time between the camp and the Belvedere, maintaining a schedule of classes similar to that conducted by Miss Travis in previous years, in addition to private appointments.

While the date of the opening class has not been announced, it is thought the school will open Tuesday, July 7. Instruction in tiny toe dance rhythms, French toe hallet and dance technique, taps and musical comedy, ball room dancing, etc., will be given. Appointments may be made by calling the Belvedere Club or Camp Kairphree.

BELOVED MARION PIONEER CALLED

MRS. SARAH ADAMS DIED SAT-URDAY AT ADVANCED AGE

Had Been a Resident of Marion Township Since 1881—Funeral Service Held Monday

Marion township lost a beloved and highly respected resident in the death early last Saturday morning of Mrs. Sarah Adams, a pioneer of the district.

Mrs. Adams passed away at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Robert Gregory, following an extended illness. She suffered a slight stroke of paralysis May 8th, and has been bedfast since that time.

Deceased was born October 24, 1845, in Indiana. She spent most of her early life in Ashtabula county, Ohio, and taught school in Ohio and southern Michigan prior to her marriage in 1866 in Wayne county, to James Adams, who preceded her in death 14 years ago.

The family came to Marion township in 1881 and had resided on their farm on the west shore of Adams lake since that time.

Mrs. Adams was mother of four children, viz: Ella and Edith, deceased; Mrs. Robert Gregory and Jay Adams, both of Marion township, who survive in addition to a sister, Mrs. Charles Pierce, also of Marion.

Funeral services were held at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon from the residence, Rev. J. E. Lockyer of the Methodist church officiating. Interment was at Brookside cemetery.

Mrs. Adams was a quiet and lovable disposition, endearing her to a host of close friends.

Attending the funeral services from out-of-town were Mr. and Mrs. George Holmes, Mrs. Zack Holmes, Ted Mott, Detroit; Mr. and Mrs. Sam Orr, Dearborn; Matt Orr and Mrs. Charles Foster, both of Wayne.

Huge banks of beautiful floral tokens testified to the esteem in which Mrs. Adams was held by her many friends and neighbors of the Marion district.

CHILD HEALTH COMMIT- TEE MEETING FRIDAY

Session to Be Held at Boyne City
Library, Three o'Clock, E. S. T.

Grace E. Congdon, R. N., has issued announcements for the July meeting of the Charlevoix County Health Committee.

The meeting will be held Thursday, July 2, at 3 o'clock eastern standard time, at the Boyne City library, the committee at their last meeting having accepted the invitation of Miss Caroline Geiken to meet at that place.

All members of the committee and the public are cordially invited and urged to attend.

SCHEDULE ANNOUNCED FOR STRAITS STEAMER

SHAKESPEARE SUM- MER CAMP IS OPEN

FIRST PRODUCTION OF SEASON
TO BE GIVEN JULY 4TH

Producing Staff at Camp Rehearsing Barry's "The Youngest," the Initial Presentation

The Shakespeare Memorial Camp, which has displaced Camp Manitow at Ironton, has gotten under way.

A producing staff is on the ground rehearsing Barry's "The Youngest" with which the new camp will be opened on Saturday, July 4. A large producing staff is to be maintained throughout the summer for the production of a play each Wednesday and Friday nights. Only the modern plays will be done at the start but as the season progresses one or two revivals will be done, and a Shakespearean play will be given in connection with a camp festival.

The Shakespeare Memorial Camp is conducted by Professor Earl E. Fleischmann of the University of Michigan for those who are interested in a delightful vacation amid pleasant surroundings and congenial people. While the chief interest at camp will be dramatics many other delightful things will be done during the summer. It is planned that invitational dances will be given once during each week by the camp group as well as many other things.

Not only will the camp afford an excellent means of training for those interested in advanced theatrical work, but the plays given twice each week will be welcomed by the visitors to Northern Michigan. Those who are familiar with Philip Barry will readily recall "The Youngest," a fast moving comedy. Richard is one of five children. The older children of the family inhibit Richard until he fears to move lest he be stopped and reprimanded. Then Nancy comes to his rescue and decides for his good to make a man of him. How she succeeds will be told Saturday night at the camp theatre.

Lake Charlevoix Dramatic Camp is attracting nation-wide attention because of its connection with the National Shakespeare Memorial competition for amateurs which is to be held for the first time as a feature of the Chicago world's fair in 1933. The participants in this competition will be representative of the finest work that is being done in the speech arts in various local communities in the United States, and the selection of the first Memorial Company of Amateurs thus will be a fitting culmination to the educational exhibit in the speech arts.

The whole project of which this competition is a part is intended to serve as a patron for all the spoken arts of literature; it seeks to coordinate and to integrate all of our work in the speech arts into a comprehensive national program. It is the greatest single step ever undertaken to unite the various cultural and educational interests in the interpretative arts of literature. It begins by furnishing greater incentives and opportunities for the young man or woman of unusual talent who is seeking a larger scope for the exercise of his artistic powers beyond the college years. But the plan, when (Continued on Page Six)

MANY CHANGES IN STATE GAME LAWS

LEGISLATURE PASSED 32 BILLS GOVERNING CONSERVATION

Increased License Fees, Later Opening Date of Duck Season, Are Important Changes

No single state activity received as much attention during the recent session of the legislature as conservation. Of 900 bills introduced by the 132 law-makers, 104 concerned the preservation, exploitation or regulation of natural resources. Of this number, 32 passed both the house and senate and all but four were approved by Gov. Brucker. The 28 new laws and amendments to old laws now take their place with other statutes governing conservation.

As is usually the case, the general game and fishing codes are considered the two most important conservation measures in the eyes of Michigan's 600,000 fishermen, hunters and trappers. The Netting Game Law established a number of new regulations governing hunting and trapping, principal among which is the elimination of all commissions heretofore paid county clerks and deputies for the sale of various forms of fishing and hunting licenses. This will save the state about $90,000 a year and will go into the protection and propagation of game fish, birds and animals. In addition to this, the resident small game hunting license fee was raised from $1.25 a year to $1.75 while the resident deer hunting license was increased from $2.50 to $3.50. Muskrat trappers must pay a $2 fee for the use of 20 traps and an extra 10 cents for each trap over 20, and the open season for taking these fur-bearers is to be established by the conservation commission.

Bear Can Be Killed
Although the attempt was made to take the protection from black bear, the new law admits the killing of this animal by hunters only during the open bear hunting season, except that owners or tenants of land may kill black bear at any time of year if they are found doing damage or about to do damage.

The rabbit-hunting season in Lower Michigan now runs from Oct. 15 through Jan. 31 and covers both cottontails and jacks, while the open peninsula season runs from Oct. 1 through Jan. 31.

In addition to legalizing the hunting of fox squirrels, the new law also includes gray and black squirrels with the season set to run in Upper Michigan from Oct. 1 through Oct. 10, and in the lower peninsula from Oct. 15 through Oct. 24, but a provision in the new law states that black and gray squirrels cannot be hunted until 1933.

The wild fowl hunting season, including ducks, geese, brant, coots and jacksnipe, is set in Michigan from Oct. 1 through Dec. 15, while the season on rails closes Nov. 30. Woodcock hunting begins Oct. 15 and winds up Oct. 26 in lower Michigan, and runs from Oct. 1 to Oct. 12 in upper Michigan. Although an open season of 12 days is established on Hungarian partridge, they cannot be hunted legally until 1933. Male Chinese ringneck pheasants and ruffed grouse now have a season running from Oct. 15 to Oct. 26 in lower Michigan, while the season on prairie chickens is left entirely to the discretion of the conservation commission. The new law provides that killdeer, woodcock, elder ducks, swans, black-bellied and golden plover, yellow hob-white quail, spruce hens, yellow legs and sandpipers cannot be killed at any time.

Trapping Season
The trapping season remains closed on otter, fisher and marten. Raccoon and opossum may be taken from Nov. 1 through Dec. 15 and badger from Oct. 15 to Jan. 1 in the lower peninsula and from Oct. 15 to Jan. 31 in the upper peninsula. The open trapping season on muskrat and beaver will be established later by an order of the conservation commission. Among the unprotected animals, that may be killed at any time are: Timber wolves, coyotes, lynx, bobcats, weasels, porcupines, woodchucks, ground squirrels, red squirrels, skunk, foxes, minks and house cats. The latter is a new addition to the list of predatory animals in this state.

The bag and possession limits on all birds and animals remain the same as during the past two years. Of particular interest to the duck hunters are the new regulations governing (Continued on page 7.)

TENT SHOW COMES HERE NEXT WEEK

SLOUT PLAYERS PRESENT SIX-
DAY PROGRAM OF PLAYS

Engagement Comes Under Auspices of Local American Legion Post—Have Special Features

A full week of high class entertainment is in prospect with the announcement that the American Legion has secured the Slout Players for a six-day engagement.

For the past seven years this company has toured Michigan, but this will be their first appearance in Charlevoix. The tent will be located on the American Legion grounds, Garfield avenue.

Some of the plays that will be presented during the stay here will include "The Family Sap," "What's Your Wife Doing," "Up Popped the Devil," "Nice Girls Don't" and the best all, the mystery play "House of Fear." Most of these plays have been a success in both New York and Chicago, and each will be staged with all special scenery and electrical effects.

The Slout Players have the finest tented theatre on tour, seating more than a thousand persons.

Between the acts each night there will be a number of high class vaudeville features, including Mervin Jenkins, "The Sunshine Boy of the Radio." Before the performance each evening there will be a musical program by Flo Phillips and her Melody Boys, a jazz band direct from the leading night clubs of Florida.

A feature of the opening night will be the admission free of one lady with each adult paid admission.

During the six-day engagement the kiddies will not be forgotten, as Mr. Slout has secured Amos and Andy for a special matinee performance on Saturday.

The engagement here is under auspices of Leslie T. Shapton Post No. 226, American Legion, who have recently reorganized and established quarters on Garfield avenue.

4TH OF JULY PRO- GRAM AT BARNARD

Program of Sports and Big Picnic
Dinner Are Announced

Following a custom of several years, leading citizens of the Barnard district have organized to hold another 4th of July celebration at that rural center.

According to programs issued, races and other contests have been arranged, also a ball game and the usual big picnic dinner.

The Barnard band, composed of boys and girls of the district, will furnish music throughout the day.

Barnard is located six miles south of Charlevoix on the State road.

NELL'S CAFE OPENED FOR SUMMER SEASON

Nell's Cafe, one of Charlevoix's most popular summer restaurants, opened Monday for the 1931 resort season.

Preparation for opening had been under way for a week or more. The place is newly redecorated and presents a very pleasing appearance.

KAMP KAIRPHREE OPEN FOR SEASON

LARGE GROUP OF GIRL CAMP-ERS HAVE ARRIVED

Usual Summer Activities Are Planned Under Direction of Efficient
Staff of Counselors

The 1931 summer season for boys' and girls' camps on Lake Charlevoix opened over last week end.

Kamp Kairphree, one of Northern Michigan's most popular girls' camps, was included among the number. The camp is operated on the north shore of Lake Charlevoix by Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Swain of Ann Arbor.

The girl campers poured in by train and automobile all day Saturday and by evening all were comfortably settled and embarked on what bids fair to be the happiest season the camp has yet enjoyed.

Included in the early enrollment this year are Dorothy Ann Bradley, Midland, Mich.; Jeanne Brigham, Jane Cheney, Viola Comfort and Anne Turner, Webster Grove, Mo.; Nancy Canner, Monica Porter and Emily Swinton, Detroit; Marian Conde, Flint, Mich.; Kate Crane, Clara Kanouse, Mary Kazanoff, Frances Lucille Martin, Jean Reiman, Ann Arbor, Mich.; Joanna Dailey, Ypsilanti, Mich.; Emily Espenshade, State College, Pa.; Emily Harrison and Rose Mary Harrison, Napoleon, Ohio; Jane Pope, Birmingham, Mich.; Winifred VanKeulan, Grand Rapids; Ruth Putman, Midland, Mich.; Betty Schneider, Elkhart, Ind.; Dorothy Sprau, Kalamazoo; Jean Frances Woodruff, State College, Pa.; Ruth Salomon, Rogers City.

Mr. and Mrs. Swain have brought with them their usual staff of efficient and trained counselors. Members of the staff this year are:

Jeanette Brauns, Corvallis, Ore.; Florence Boycheff, New York City; Winifred Bensley, Traverse City, a student at Battle Creek college; Mrs. Byrum, Ann Arbor; Dean Smithwick Gaiser, Ann Arbor; Marian Carey, a student at U. of M.; Ann Arbor; Miss Helen Gillaspie, Grand Rapids; Roberta Johnson, a student at Albion college; Margaret McCoy, Highland Park, N. J.; Adelle Myson, Muskegon, a student at U. of M.; Isabelle Shankland, Ann Arbor; Marjory Bowser Swain, East Orange, N. J.; Dorothea Waterman, Ann Arbor, U. of M. student.

The usual program of camp activities is now under way under the direction of the camp staff.

NEW ISLAND MAIL BOAT STARTS RUN

"Marold II" Made Initial Trip to Beavers Wednesday Morning

New boat service between Charlevoix and Beaver Island was inaugurated Wednesday morning.

With a large passenger list, the Boyne City band and a good crowd to give them a send-off, the oil-burning steamer "Marold II," chartered from the Hill Steamboat Line to take over the Charlevoix-Beaver Island mail contract recently awarded Capt. J. H. Gallagher, left port on her initial trip.

The craft has excellent accommodations. It has a length of 140 ft., and beam of 20 ft. A 200 h. p. Diesel engine gives the boat a speed of 12 miles per hour. One hundred passengers may be carried and space is available for ten automobiles in addition to freight.

The craft is in charge of Capt. Hill of the Hill Steamboat Line, and Capt. Hill's son is the engineer. Capt. Gallagher will handle the business end of the transportation line.

Capt. Gallagher announced Wednesday that in addition to the regular mail run, week end excursions from Charlevoix to northern ports will be run.

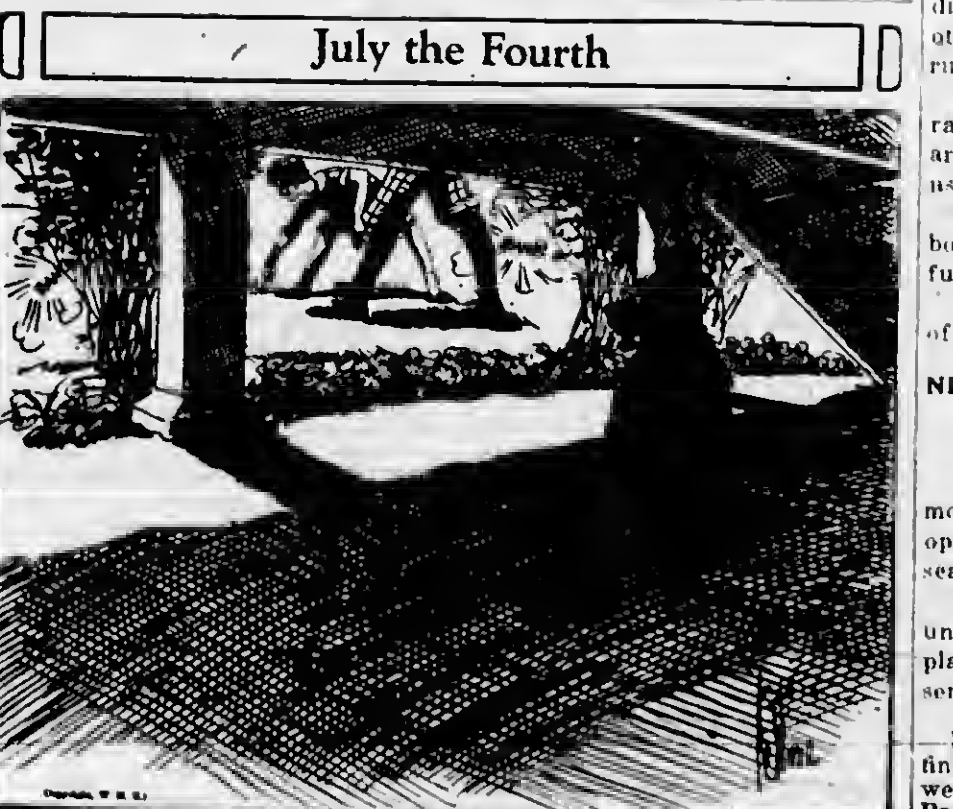

WORK PROGRESSING ON NEW TENNIS COURTS

Concrete Work on North Court Completed and Other Started

Work is progressing rapidly on the two new concrete double tennis courts recently contracted by the board of education.

Concrete work on the north court was completed late last week and now operations have shifted to the south court. Several days will be necessary before both are finished and it will probably be a week before they are put into use.

Work on the courts is being done by Edgar Lusk.

AT THE MOVIES

"Dracula" Lead Plays Role in "Black Camel"

Political exile from his native land, Bela Lugosi, who plays the mysterious fortune teller, "Tarn-verro," in Fox Films' "The Black Camel," which comes to the Palace theatre next Thursday, is one of the few foreign-born and educated actors to attain a commanding position on the American screen.

Among his recent talkie successes are roles in the Fox productions of "Renegades," "Such Men Are Dangerous" and "Wild Company," followed by his remarkable triumph in the screen version of "Dracula." This last performance brought him the difficult but vital role of "Tarn-verro."

Big Newspaper Office in "The Finger Points"

Eighty-four typewriters were used in the big newspaper editorial rooms set to be seen in "The Finger Points," the First National production starring Richard Barthelmess which comes to the Palace theatre Saturday, July 4 only. This set, covering twenty thousand square feet of floor space, was modeled after a metropolitan daily newspaper office. There was a desk for each typewriter and a reporter for each desk.

New Von Sternberg Pictures Lifts Dietrich to Stardom

Co-starring with the popular Victor McLaglen, famous for his roistering portrayals in two of the decade's great moving pictures, "What Price Glory?" and "The Cock-Eyed World," Marlene Dietrich comes to the Palace theatre Sunday next for two days, in "Dishonored," an intriguing story of a woman spy in wartime.

The magnificent Dietrich, who captivated the millions of two continents in two motion picture appearances, in "Morocco" and "The Blue Angel," has arrived at the peak of film fame in "Dishonored." She has been starred by Paramount in response to the overwhelming acclaim accorded her performance in "Morocco," she portrays a character of never-ending changeableness; she has acquired the support of one of screen's outstanding male stars, Victor McLaglen, and a supporting cast of almost unequalled strength. Dietrich has arrived.

Many people who complain that the government is not run right, are the ones who vote for the best hand shaker.

Did anybody mention price?

Do you knock on wood every time you set out for an airing in the car?

Is your heart in your mouth when you swing into a curve at a little more speed than the law allows?

There's nothing like a set of junky old tires to take the joy out of driving.

Why worry about blowouts when you can buy sturdy Goodyear Pathfinders at present levels?

Never in the history of the automobile has tire mileage been priced so low.

Supertwist cord, Goodyear craftsmanship, long life, safe riding.

Tuberculosis Eradication Campaign Completed in Charlevoix County

We are glad to announce that the tuberculosis campaign started last September has been completed and a very small percentage of infection found. It is particularly gratifying to note how the infection has been decreasing by this constant testing program.

The results this year show that a total of 1,061 herds were tested consisting of 10,012 head of cattle with only 16 reactors being found in the county. When figured upon a percentage basis we find that the percentage infection is only .16 of one percent, which is indeed very slight. It is interesting to compare the results this year with those of 1926 and 1927 when the last test was completed. That time we found 1,014 herds tested consisting of 8,364 head of cattle with 48 reactors being found, which in that case gave a .57 of one percent infection.

With the exception of about two months all the tuberculosis testing was done by Dr. Pomeroy of Boyne City. To hurry the program along Dr. Merlan of the state department was engaged for about two months last fall.

From now on the tuberculosis program will be conducted entirely by the state instead of by the county so in the future the appropriation for tubercular work will not be born by the local appropriation. At the present time all the infected herds have been retested with no reactors so a good job is completed and one that meets the approval of both the consumer and producer of dairy products. Since the inauguration of tuberculosis testing there has been a decrease of this disease among humans, which makes us all feel that this program is well worth while and should be continued.

Attention! Sheep Owners

Have you drenched and dipped your sheep this spring? We are finding that external as well as internal parasites are somewhat more severe than during the past years. A program of drenching followed rather carefully will give you protection against stomach worms, tape worms, and other types of worms that are causing great losses among sheep owners. It is highly recommended to drench your flock at least once a month through the summer months. Although it is rather inconvenient it will pay you good dividends to do this. Use one ounce of copper sulphate (blue vitriol), and one ounce of nicotine sulphate (black leaf 40) to three quarts of water. Give your ewes four ounces of this liquid and decrease to one or one and one-half ounces to your young lambs.

Lice are also very troublesome and often go unnoticed due to their small size. Dipping is the only sure method of getting rid of ticks and lice as the use of powders sprinkled in the wool does not give a complete eradication. A complete emerging of the sheep for one minute in any one of the commercial dips such as the coal tar, nicotine sulfate, or arsenical products will kill the living ticks and lice. The majority of sheep men in the state are using Cooper's dipping powder and arsenical powders which is giving very fine results. One application of this material will take care of both ticks and lice as the powder remains in the wool after the sheep dry off, for a sufficient length of time to take care of the nits and eggs present as they hatch out.

While this information is not new and has been recommended for several years some times the owners neglect to do this job, and this announcement is merely to call your attention to the importance of doing this.

300 People Visit New Creamery

The first visitors' day for the new Jordan valley cooperative creamery was a huge success. Farmers and their families from all sections of Charlevoix and Antrim counties were present and were surprised at the business-like appearance of our latest agricultural institution. Great interest and enthusiasm was manifested by the visitors who were amazed at the wonderful change that had taken place in the building during the last two months.

On the program appeared Prof. G. M. Trout from the dairy department of the Michigan State college, who told them the story of how butter was sold on the large markets and how quality dictates the price, and finally, how good clean cream could be produced by every patron. Next, Mr. Reutz, manager of the Remus creamery, spoke of the wonderful success already enjoyed by the new organization. The first week that the creamery started they made more butter than the Remus creamery made during any one week in their first year, and during the second week we made more butter than Remus made during any one week during their second year. Mr. Percy Penfold, the manager of the creamery, was then introduced and very modestly assured the patrons of his sincere efforts to make the creamery a success. He thus far has demonstrated that he knows how to make good butter, and has already made an efficient group out of the inexperienced help employed by the creamery. John Martin from the marketing department of the Michigan State college gave a very splendid talk on the cooperative movement illustrating what has been accomplished and what the future holds forth for the creamery. At the conclusion of the program everyone had a sample of the fine butter being made.

The new equipment and machinery was inspected. Everything has been carefully arranged so as to save added steps and inconvenience. During the first week approximately 8,000 pounds of butter was made and during the second week over 12,000 pounds was made. This is a most remarkable performance and speaks highly of the loyalty and cooperation of the dairy farmers. The creamery has already justified its existence, as the first payment was on the basis of 20 cents per pound, where if the creamery was not in existence, and judging by past performances the farmers today would not be receiving over 14 to 17 cents per pound. Up to the time of organization the farmers in this area were receiving from 5 to 6 cents less per pound of butterfat than the price of 92 score butter sold on the Chicago market. After the creamery started there was only 1 cent difference between the price of butterfat and the price of 92 score butter in Chicago. In other words, instead of taking from 5 to 6 cents per pound less the difference has been narrowed to only one cent.

The final plea is "Give this new creamery your business and patronage and you will receive all that is possible to give you." Just remember that the creamery is responsible for the higher prices paid for butterfat and even if outside interests will pay 2 or 3 cents more than the creamery can pay, it is only to wreck this new institution and not because they want to pay the high prices. Don't be fooled by this bait dangling before your eyes, but stay with the creamery and success will come to you and all dairy farmers in the territory.

BIG STEAMERS WILL STOP AT MUSKEGON

New Port of Call for the Michigan Transit Corporation

The growing popularity of summer resorts in northern and western Michigan has influenced the Michigan Transit Corporation to make Muskegon a new port of call for the big steel steamships Puritan and Manitou. These boats, long well known for their fast overnight service from Chicago to resorts as far north as Traverse City, are very popular with folks who frequent these resorts.

A regular schedule of seven sailings a week will provide a more adequate service for these points. To give this service, the Michigan Transit Corporation has discontinued its Mackinac Island cruise.

One decided advantage in taking this quick direct route to Michigan is that the early departure hour 15 o'clock in the afternoon enables passengers to enjoy a cool sail and dine in comfort, arriving at Muskegon at 11:30 p. m. that night. Thus the trip is made most economically (no berth charge) and the trip across the lake is a pleasant preface to a vacation.

OPEN BEAVER TRAP-ING SEASON LIKELY

Conservation Commission Action Now Awaited on Matter

Michigan will probably have an open beaver season this year. While final action was not taken by the conservation commission at its June meeting, this was the consensus of opinion. This matter was again placed before the commission following the governor's statement that such matters were the proper function of the commission and that his veto of the legislative act opening the beaver season was his method of referring the matter to the commission for action.

The game division of the department was asked to draw up rules and

DOCTOR AND BANKER

Al Smith, during his brief experience in the banking business, made a bankers' banquet sit up by asking financiers to "talk United States" to their clients instead of the jargon of high finance. He recited the incident of a rich man who wished to offer the bank an advantageous deal, but who was kept back from it because he could not understand what a young vice-president meant by talking about "equities, maturities, amortization, etc., etc." The president of the American Medical association, Dr. Judd, gave similar advice to physicians recently. He said that the use of Latin words and scientific phrases but contributed to the mystery of medicine. We are not sure that the maintenance of this mystery is not an excellent thing. Exact understanding is essential in a matter of dollars and cents. But we all of us know where exact understanding of an illness or an operation would have been little short of fatal. We think we shall let the doctors be as difficult to understand as they think we ought to be for our own good. But when we go to a banker, we'd like from him the same kind of "straight talk" that Al Smith advises.

THE TARIFF BOOMERANG

Canada's new tariff schedule is expected to affect $200,000,000 worth of United States exports to the Dominion. Thus we find Canada with some 26 other countries carrying on major trade relations with the United States, following the "eye for an eye and tooth for a tooth" policy of matching the high tariff of the United States with similar measures. The Hoover-Grundy tariff is now placed on trial for its life. America's plan of super-protection to home industries is proving a boomerang to the industries that are seeking protection.

Many American industries are being forced to establish factories and branches abroad in order to avoid the loss on profitable foreign trade. This is not a healthy situation when there are tens of thousands of American workers jobless. The plants already are operating in this country to supply the export commodities to Canada and other foreign countries. But now many of them will be shut down and similar branch plants will be built in Canada to furnish products formerly manufactured in the United States.

France and other European countries took the same step last fall, when the tariff on automobiles was raised excessively. The United States invented tariff and first put it into practice. In the early days of the Republic it was absolutely necessary to protect the infant industries against the encroachments of established industries of other countries. But instead of modifying the tariff policy as business here became more stable, the nation continued its early tariff system. Today many of our industrial leaders are wondering if we shouldn't lean more in the direction of free trade.

It is high time tariff was taken out of politics and given an economic treatment.

CARPENTER INJURED IN FALL FROM BARN

Sam Woodworth, Ironton resident, is in Charlevoix hospital recovering from injuries received Saturday afternoon.

Woodworth, according to reports, fell 30 feet from a scaffold on a barn he was tearing down. His right arm was broken and he received a fractured nose. He was unconscious for some time following the fall.

Attendants at the hospital said that he would recover.

CATCHING BIG BROWNS IN CEDAR RIVER LATELY

An article in the Antrim County Record says Archie White has landed several nice Browns in Cedar river, lately. He tried to save one for the aquarium at the Bellaire hotel but it died shortly after being put in the tank. It was 26 inches long and weighed 5 1-4 pounds dressed. He caught its mate the next evening that was 28 inches and weighed 5 1-2 pounds au natural.

GENTRY BROTHERS FAMOUS SHOWS

Exhibit at North Side Park on Saturday, July 4

Yes, they are the original Gentry Brothers Famous shows — the kind mother saw and has told about to the children.

This answers a question asked many times since the visit of the shows here Saturday, July 4, has become known. And furthermore, they are owned and managed by Henry B. Gentry, who established them in 1888.

Fifteen years ago, on account of failing health, Mr. Gentry induced his brothers to sell their property. Recovering, he bought back the title and again is managing the educational institution which caters to refined audiences, especially ladies and children.

Many will recall the hordes and herds of trained animals, dogs, monkeys, ponies, pigs, goats and such, that delighted children a decade and one-half since. The children of today have heard of them only as a bedtime story. Now they may see the shows in fact.

On account of traffic congestion Gentry Brothers shows give no street parade. This conserves the strength of the trained animals. Prices of admission are twenty five cents for children and thirty five cents for adults.

As a special added attraction the shows offer Lucio and Simplicio Godino, the famous Siamese twins, with their wives. These young men present a novel act. They enjoy life quite as much as any other young men.

The shows will be located on Inn ball park. They will give performances at two and eight o'clock Saturday, July 4.

CHARLEVOIX BALL NINE DEFEAT ALDEN

Won Third Straight Game Here Sunday by a 10 to 4 Score

Charlevoix Independents made it three straight Sunday afternoon by defeating Alden Resorters 10 to 4 in a one-sided contest at North Side ball park.

Alden was unable to solve Cobey's effective delivery until the late innings. Charlevoix led 7 to 0 at the close of the 7th stanza, and Alden rallies in the eighth and ninth while producing four runs, were not strong enough to overcome the commanding lead against them.

Charlevoix's fielding and batting were up to the average, which has won them three straight games in as many Sundays.

Manager Rose so far has an open date for the coming Sunday, although it is thought a game will be arranged with Kegomic.

RAMONA PARK HOTEL TO OPEN WEDNESDAY

New Owners Making Extensive Improvements—Expect Busy Season

Ramona Park hotel, four miles east of Harbor Springs on Little Traverse Bay, will open Wednesday, according to Franklin B. Sears, owner. "A busy season is in prospect," said Mr. Sears, "with many guests who have been coming to Ramona Park each year returning, and new guests making reservations daily."

Since buying the hotel and other property a few weeks ago, Mr. and Mrs. Sears have made many improvements. The lobby and most of the rooms have been redecorated. The floors were rebuilt and the furniture redecorated. The grounds of the hotel have been attractively landscaped.

NEW BOAT ON BEAVER ISLAND MAIL ROUTE

Capt. J. H. Gallagher Charters "Marold," a Larger Craft

Captain J. H. Gallagher of Boyne City, who has lately secured the mail contract for the Beaver Islands, has chartered the steamer Marold for this run.

The new boat will start on the run July 1, when the mail contract opens. The Beaver Island run is from St. James to Charlevoix.

The new boat will carry about ten automobiles and one hundred passengers. She is a very staunch craft and is expected to give the islanders splendid service during the season of navigation. The Marold arrived at Charlevoix last week and has been made ready for her first run on July 1st.

Side trips to Petoskey and Little Traverse Bay and to Mackinac Island and the Straits cities also are anticipated by Captain Gallagher.

RESIDENT LICENSE ONLY FOR GAME FISH

Must Have License for Brook, Brown and Rainbow Trout

Residents of Michigan are not required to have a license to take any species of fish in season, except Brook, Brown and Rainbow trout. Recent legislative discussion concerning a general rod license led many people to the impression that Michigan now has such a license. The bill was not adopted and regulations so far as needs for fishing licenses are concerned remain as they have in the past.

The fish division of the conservation department has been receiving scores of inquiries as to whether a license is necessary to fish for other species than trout.

completely worked out, will bring into participation young people of all ages and will provide various activities in the spoken arts of literature from the speaking of lyric and dramatic poetry by individuals to the most finished work of complete theatrical production of which the combined talent of advanced amateurs is capable.

The project is conceived as a perpetual living memorial to the genius of Shakespeare, whose name symbolizes the highest achievement in our dramatic literature and whose influence has, to a large degree, been a determining factor in the culture of English speaking people. Instead of a memorial in bronze or stone, how much more fitting is it to honor his memory and to perpetuate his influence through the annual production of one of his plays designated as the memorial play of the year, and performed by a distinguished company of amateurs selected by national competition?

No greater recognition or award could be given the talented young amateur for extraordinary achievement and excellence than a place in the Memorial company. And who can foretell the benefits to the American people which may come from the notable productions of these plays and the ever-present inspiration to young people of this annual Memorial event?

Very briefly, each annual cycle will begin with the Shakespeare Memorial Camp where young people will come for an eight weeks period of intensive training under highly skilled direction, in preparation for the competition to follow. The camp will provide an agency for the training and selection of entrants to the competition, which will be held during the winter months of the following year. While the camp will be open to any man or woman, 18 years of age and over, who is deemed to possess the necessary qualifications of an advanced amateur, participation in the competition will be confined to those who have given evidence of superior ability in the pre-camp summer camp. Since the purpose of the competition is to select a company for the production of the designated memorial play of the year, each of the successful candidates will be invited to compete for a particular role in the designated memorial play. In this way, so-called minor roles will be given equal consideration with the usually favored "leads." The competition will thus result in the selection of a representative, well-balanced company for the memorial play of the year.

The festival performance of the memorial play by the Memorial Company of Amateurs will be the culmination of each annual cycle, and should prove an outstanding cultural event from year to year. Eventually, the demand for performances of the memorial play throughout the United States should lead to the organization of a tour by the Memorial company. In such an event, the tour will be conducted as a traveling college in the arts of the theatre for the benefit of these young artists, as well as for the benefit of the local communities visited.

Since the first competition is to be held in 1933 in Chicago, the first Shakespeare camp will be organized in 1932.

Notice is hereby given that default has occurred in the performance of a certain mortgage, dated the 2nd day of September, 1924, executed by John Priebe and Amelia Priebe, as mortgagors, to The Federal Land Bank of Saint Paul, a body corporate of the State of Minnesota, as mortgagee, for record in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for Charlevoix county, Michigan, on the 7th day of September, A. D. 1924, at 11:00 o'clock a. m., recorded in Liber 62 of Mortgages on page 343 thereof, in that partial installment amounting to sixty-five and 100/100ths Dollars ($65.00), principal and interest due September 2, 1930, remains unpaid; and further that the taxes were not paid by the mortgagors and were permitted to become delinquent; that on the failure of said mortgagors to pay such taxes, The Federal Land Bank of Saint Paul did elect to pay the same, and on June 9th, 1931, paid the sum of Three Hundred Fifty-six and 42/100ths Dollars ($356.42) as taxes for the years 1929 and 1930. And further that the insurance premium was permitted to become delinquent; that on the failure of said mortgagors to pay such insurance, The Federal Land Bank of Saint Paul did elect to pay the same, and on February 17, 1931, did pay the sum of ninety and 95/100ths Dollars ($94.95) as insurance, that pursuant to the provisions of said mortgage, said mortgagee has elected to declare the whole debt secured thereby to be now due and payable; and there is due and payable at the date of this notice of foreclosure, the sum of Twenty-nine Hundred Twenty-two and 63/100ths Dollars ($2,922.63); and that no action or proceeding at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover said debt or any part thereof, that by virtue of a power of sale therein contained, said mortgage will be foreclosed and the land and premises therein described lying and being in the County of Charlevoix and State of Michigan, as follows, to-wit:

The Northwest Quarter (NW 1/4) Section Twenty-nine (29) Township Thirty-four (34) North, Range Six (6) West, containing One Hundred Fifty-nine (159) acres, more or less, according to the Government survey thereof, excepting therefrom One (1) acre in the Northeast corner thereof, Ten (10) rods North and South and Sixteen (16) rods East and West.

The above land is situated in Township Thirty-four (34) North, Range Six (6) West, containing One Hundred Fifty-nine (159) acres, more or less, according to the Government survey thereof, excepting therefrom One (1) acre in the Northeast corner thereof, Ten (10) rods North and South and Sixteen (16) rods East and West.

Will be sold at public auction to the highest bidder for cash by the Sheriff of Charlevoix county, at the front door of the court house, in the City of Charlevoix, in said county and state, on Tuesday, September 29, 1931, at 10:00 o'clock in the forenoon, to pay and satisfy the debt secured by said mortgage and the costs and disbursements allowed by law upon said foreclosure sale.

James F. Shepherd, attorney for the mortgagee, Charlevoix, Michigan.—Adv. 26113

Notice is hereby given that default has occurred in the performance of a certain mortgage, dated October 19, 1921, executed by Henry P. Block and Catherine Block, his wife, to Reuben Geer, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in Charlevoix county, Michigan, on October 22, 1921, in Liber 54 of mortgages on page 433 on which mortgage there is claimed to be due at the date of this notice the sum of Nineteen Hundred Forty-three and eighty-five one-hundredths Dollars ($1,943.85) principal and interest and the further sum of $146.51 in taxes paid by the mortgagee, together with an attorney fee of $25 provided for in said mortgage, and that no suit or proceeding at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover the said debt or any part thereof, and that the recording taxes on said mortgage have been paid as provided by law. Therefore notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale therein contained the said mortgage will be foreclosed by sale of the premises therein described or so much thereof as may be necessary to satisfy the sums due as aforesaid together with costs and expenses of foreclosure, and said attorney fee, at public auction to the highest bidder by the sheriff of said county, at the front door of the court house in the City of Charlevoix, said county and state, on Saturday, the 25th day of July, 1931, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of said day.

The premises as described in said mortgage are all those certain pieces or parcels of land situated in the City of Charlevoix, in the County of Charlevoix, and State of Michigan, and described as follows, to-wit: Lots Twenty-five (25) and Thirty-two (32) of Mason's Second Addition to the Village of Charlevoix, now City of Charlevoix, Michigan, according to the recorded plat thereof.

Dated, April 29, 1931.

crucial the use of blinds. The new law places duck blinds in two classes, temporary blinds and permanent blinds. A temporary blind is defined as being of such cheap or flimsy construction as to involve or imply no personal property rights. This includes boats that are camouflaged for duck hunting purposes when such boats are not located at a given point more than 12 hours in a single day.

A permanent blind is one built of such substantial construction as to be very capable during one or more hunting seasons and having a cost or value such as to involve or imply personal property rights, and which remains in one location for more than 12 hours in any one day in any water under public control. Permanent blinds call for a license fee of $5 and all blinds must carry the name and address of the licensee, the license number, and a copy of the rule and regulations governing the occupancy of such blinds. If any permanent blind is not occupied by the owner by 8 a. m. E. S. T. during any of the open duck-hunting season, any other licensed duck hunter may occupy it. It becomes illegal hereafter to leave any decoys set out over night.

Temporary blinds can only be used and occupied within 100 feet of the shore of any well defined brush, reed or grass bed and many be occupied by the first on the ground.

Permission to break dogs on any species of protected game was reduced from 60 days before the open hunting season on the respective species to 30 days.

No changes were made in the deer hunting season which will run from Nov. 15 to 30.

Teagan Fish Code

Second in importance to the general game bill is the Teagan Fish Code. This provides for an increase in the resident trout angler's license from $1 to $1.75 and that for non-resident for all species of fish from $3 to $4. However, these new license fees will not go into effect before 1932. The attempt to include a general rod license of $1 in this new law failed, and residents may fish for any species of game or food fish in the inland lakes or Great Lakes without being forced to secure a license.

Spearing through the ice in inland lakes is now confined to the months of January and February. In rivers it runs from March 1 to April 30 for the taking of carp, suckers, mullet, dogfish and gar pike in the lower peninsula, and March 1 to May 15 in the upper peninsula with the exception of trout streams where the spear is banned entirely.

During September, October and November, rainbow trout may be taken on hook and line in a number of lakes in western Michigan listed in the law. The bass, bluegill and sunfish season is held to open June 25, closing Dec. 31, while the trout fishing season extends from May 1 to Labor day, adding a full seven days on to the season this year.

Only 25 Perch

The size limit of all game fish as well as the creel limit remain the same as heretofore, and contrary to general belief only 25 perch can be taken in one day. The attempt to make this an unlimited number failed. However, there are a few lakes in western Michigan directly connected with the Great Lakes where 50 perch may be caught in one day.

Although this law was given immediate effect, no attempt will be made by conservation officials to collect the increase in license fees, but all other provisions will be held valid at once.

The discontent that has manifested itself in certain sections through the failure of the state to pay taxes upon lands taken over by the conservation department for game refuges and public hunting grounds was embodied in a new law ordering the director of conservation to pay all taxes upon land dedicated as game refuges and public hunting grounds in the Pigeon River Reserve in Otsego county. This involves an expenditure of about $8,000 and settles the taxation problem of a number of years' standing.

Representative Reed's bill regulating motor boats on inland waters is another immediate effect law. It provides that all motor boats of every description operating in the inland waters or within one-quarter of a mile of the shore line of the Great Lakes must be equipped with mufflers and shall be operated in a safe manner at a safe speed so as not to endanger the life or property of any person, and that boats cannot be operated at a rate of speed greater than will permit the pilot to bring it to a full stop within the assured cleared distance ahead. All boats must be equipped with a light on the bow from one hour after sunset to one hour before sunrise.

Another Law

A law of particular interest to municipalities provides for the establishment and maintenance of county, township, village and school district forests. This gives such corporations authority to establish forests within their boundaries through the creation of a local forestry commission and cooperation with the department of conservation. State lands are to be utilized for this purpose.

Four more counties were ordered closed to Sunday hunting, provided the registered voters of the counties affected approve of the local act. This vote will be taken in the fall and the counties involved are: Lenawee, Clinton, Hillsdale and Monroe. Should the Monroe voters approve of this act it will mean that every county adjacent to Wayne will prohibit Sunday hunting beginning this year.

Notwithstanding the protests of many groups of hunters throughout the state, the counties of Lake, Newaygo, Manistee, Mason, Missaukee, Claire and Wexford have been closed to deer hunting for the next five years.

Senator Norman Horton, of Fruitridge, succeeded in securing a law that prohibits the posting of public or privately owned land against trespass, fishing or hunting, except by the owner. This does away with the annoyance caused over the past year by the posting of lands by free-lance hunters who had no property rights and carried on the work merely to assure them a private place to hunt or fish.

Money for Advertising

The Rushton-Hartman law provides for an appropriation of $200,000 for the next two years to be spent by the state in advertising the recreational advantages of Michigan through four tourist and resort associations, but these associations must match the state's appropriation, dollar for dollar, before expenditures are authorized. This law is similar to one enacted two years ago.

The Rushton-Coats act, which provides for the establishment of commercial forest reserves, now supplants the Pearson timberland tax law which has been operative for several years. The principal features of the new law are a more liberal interpretation on what should constitute a commercial forest reserve and includes standing mature or merchantable timber in addition to lands to be reforested by the owner. Instead of paying the usual general property tax upon commercial forest reserves, the owner is assessed 10 cents an acre per year and the state pays 10 cents an acre per year to the counties and townships in which the land lies, and at the time of harvesting any forest crop the owner pays an additional 10 per cent to the state on the stumpage value of any products removed.

Senator G. T. Hartman of Houghton was successful in having a bill passed providing the establishment of a five-man commission to complete the land acquisition program on Isle Royale for its establishment as a national park. These commissioners will be appointed by the governor.

An entirely new law governing the taking of clams in inland waters of the state is now in effect. This changes the season for clamming from July 1 to Sept. 30 and increases the resident clamming fee to $3. It also allows the department of conservation to declare certain waters closed to clam fishing.

Can Kill Rabbits

Although Gull Lake, in Barry and Kalamazoo counties, and the land surrounding it, has been declared a wild life sanctuary, a law was enacted allowing land owners to kill rabbits in the area for the reason that these animals have become such a nuisance that they were defeating the purpose of the land sanctuary.

An appropriation of $50,000 for the next two years was made by the legislature to be matched by a like sum from the federal government for aerial mapping purposes throughout the state.

Three commercial fishing acts of local interest were also passed. These include the banning of commercial fishing in Whetstone Bay, lying between Lake Superior and Lake Huron; in Northport Harbor and around Les Cheneaux Islands.

The Green bill, which provides that the conservation department shall pay a tax of 10 cents an acre on all state-owned lands of certain classes to the various counties and townships in which these lands lie means the diversion of over $80,000 this year from the game protection funds of the state, but will compensate the northern communities for the public use of hunting grounds from which they have never received any revenue.

With the exception of five other land bills of minor importance, this constitutes the 1931 legislature's contribution to the conservation laws of the state, and although many changes were inaugurated, none are quite as drastic as those enacted during the 1929 session of the legislature.

DAIRYMEN HAVE PLAN FOR IMPROVED HERDS

Groups Take Advantage of Low Price for Purebreds to Purchase Sires

Many groups of Michigan dairymen are taking advantage of the present low prices for purebred sires and by the joint purchase of excellent animals are preparing to build up herds of high producing cows in anticipation of the inevitable upturn of milk prices.

These groups are being assisted by members of the dairy department of Michigan State college by a series of meetings held in Branch, Barry, Sanilac, Jackson, Allegan, and Mason counties. A special truck carries representative sires of three dairy breeds, and the farmers who attend the meetings are told the advantages of forming bull clubs.

By this method two, three, or four dairymen cooperate in the purchase of the sire. Animals whose dams average yearly butterfat production of 400 or more pounds can be bought for prices as low as $75.

Each of the men has the use of the sire in his herd, and the group of men can easily afford to build a safety bull pen in which the animal can be kept without any danger of any person being injured. At the end of two or three years, the group can trade sires with some other group, and in this way two or more animals can be obtained for the price of one.

The sires which are traded are proved animals. Their heifers can be seen so no chance is taken on the kind of calves which will be obtained. The dairy department at the college helps the clubs in these trades and will also aid any groups to organize a club.

HISTORIC OLD FORT WILL BE RESTORED

Michilimackinac State Park Attracting Many Visitors

There are a number of campers in Michilimackinac State Park this early in the season, and preparations are being made to care for the thousands who will visit the park this summer.

The camping grounds are green and present a very inviting appearance at this time of year. Small tables with benches attached are provided for the convenience of the campers while large tables are used by picnickers and family parties. Cooking facilities and pure water are also provided.

The children's play ground has many visitors who spend happy hours on the swings and slides.

This summer the old fort which was destroyed and the inhabitants massacred during Pontiac's rebellion, is to be rebuilt on the old site in the park.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SOCIETY

Sunday service, 10:45 a. m.
Wednesday evening at 7:45, first Wednesday of month only.

Reading room Tuesday and Saturday, 3:00 to 5:00 p. m.

The public is cordially invited to all services.

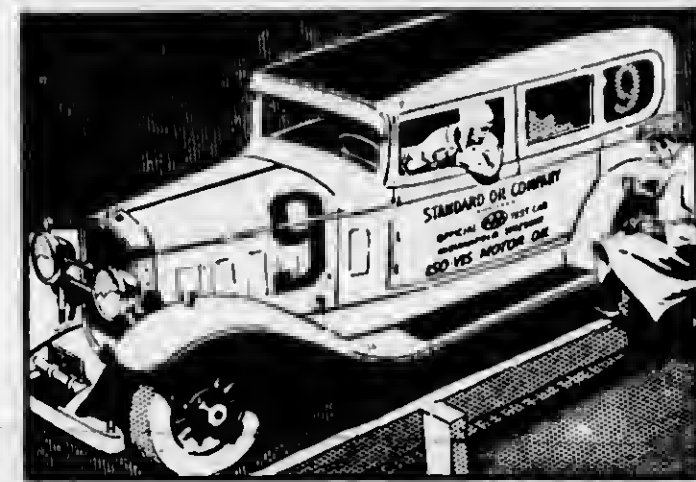

"Christian Science" was the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Christian Science churches on Sunday, June 28.

Among the citations which comprised the lesson-sermon was the following from the Bible: "Light is sown for the righteous, and gladness for the upright in heart. Rejoice in the Lord, ye righteous; and give thanks at the remembrance of his holiness." (Ps. 97:11, 12).

The lesson-sermon also included the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Christian Science is dawning upon a material age. The great spiritual facts of being, like rays of light, shine in the darkness, through the darkness, comprehending them not, may deny their reality." (p. 546).

"New Iso-Vis Showed High Efficiency in CADILLAC"

Reports A.A.A.

READ this record that shows how New Iso-Vis distinguished itself in the Indianapolis Speedway tests. It's certified by the American Automobile Association.

1 New Iso-Vis did not thin out from dilution.

2 During entire 9,000 mile tests, all parts of engine and chassis were lubricated effectively.

3 Consumption: Iso-Vis 50 (Heavy) at 30 m. p. h.—only 2 qts. in 1000 miles. At 55 m. p. h. all oils all cars showed consumption 7 times that at 30 m. p. h.

4 Carbon formed was only 7.8 grams per cylinder at 30 m. p. h. using Iso-Vis 50 (Heavy).

5 The cylinder wear was too little to measure.

New Iso-Vis rings the bell on every point. No matter how you choose motor oil, if your choice is based on cold, hard facts, you must choose New Iso-Vis. These figures can't be dodged.

The make of car you drive makes no difference. New Iso-Vis proved itself in 13 prominent makes on the Speedway.

Enjoy the proved protection of New Iso-Vis—the only motor oil that will not thin out from dilution. Change to New Iso-Vis today.

JUILLERET'S OPEN-ING SET FOR JULY 4

Famous Michigan Orchestra Engaged at Popular Entertainment Place

Juilleret's at Charlevoix will open the night of July 4 at 7 o'clock, according to Earl Juilleret, the manager. Dinners will be served from 7 to 9:30, after which a la carte service will obtain. No cover charge will be in effect until after 9:30 p. m.

One of Michigan's best dance bands, Dick Bowen and his orchestra of Detroit, presented by Del Delbridge and Ray Gornell has been engaged for the season. Mr. Bowen, a man reputed to be of great versatility, will act as master of ceremonies. He plays the violin, sings and dances and has a keen repertory. Bowen was master of ceremonies for two seasons in the legitimate production of the Merry Widow production in its recent revival.

The band includes several other fine vocalists and entertainers. Some of the more recent engagements which the band filled include the Arcadia Ballroom, Oriole Terrace, Hollywood Night club and the Trocadero Cafe in Detroit and the King Edward Hotel in Toronto.

A corps of trained personnel from the Book Cadillac hotel in Detroit have been secured in an effort to make the cabaret service unexcelled in the north. New appointments add to the attractiveness of this dining and dancing place. This is the third season under the ownership of Mr. Juilleret, who owns and operates a similar establishment in Harbor Springs and a restaurant and ice cream parlor in Petoskey. "Juilleret's" has stood for high class, clean entertainment in the north for many years.

FORD TRUCK FLEET
- VISIT CHARLEVOIX

Two-Day Demonstration Held Here
Friday and Saturday

Representing the various types of commercial truck and car bodies made by the Ford company, the big Ford truck caravan arrived in Charlevoix Friday afternoon and made a tour of the city.

The various cars, about thirty in all, were then parked in front of the Northern Auto company garage on Clinton street. The display included ambulances, police patrols, all kinds of delivery cars, big and small trucks, etc. Local drivers brought the caravan into the city.

Demonstrations were conducted under the direction of J. V. Stearns, in charge of the caravan. He is from the Ford Motor company, Detroit. In general charge of the stay here was H. H. Pulver, advance man, also of Detroit. Rolt, Bench is the Ford mechanic on the tour. Ray Mains is representing the Fruehauf Trailer company and Richard Helms is representing the Highway Trailer company, associated with the tour with their own makes of equipment for use on Ford trucks.

One truck in which much interest was shown was the fire truck, while other divisions were the light delivery and heavy duty trucks.

Northern Auto company officials and officials with the caravan were kept busy all day answering questions about the various types of cars shown.

BATTLE FOR MICHIGAN TITLE AT BELVEDERE COURSE

Qualifying Round Wednesday, Match Play Thursday and Friday, Final 36 Holes Saturday

One of the strongest fields in history is expected to tee off here next Wednesday morning, July 15th, in the qualifying round of the 24th annual Michigan state amateur golf championship, which event opens the summer sports program at Charlevoix.

By popular vote of members of the Michigan State Amateur Golf association, the tournament was returned again this year to the beautiful Belvedere Club 18-hole course, which has been rated by both professional and amateur golfers as the best resort lay-out in the United States.

According to advance reports, no less than three former champions will be in the field in an attempt to win the title that is now in the possession of "Chuck" Kocis, youthful Detroit star. James D. Standish, who first won the title back in 1909, repeated in 1912, 1915, 1924 and was runner-up in 1930, is entered, also L. L. Bredin of Detroit, champion in 1919-21, and Dave Ward of Big Rapids, title holder in 1926. Other outstanding contenders will be William Courtney, Detroit district champion; Francis Ryan, runner-up in 1929; Chris Brinke, former Kentucky amateur champion and 1929 Detroit district titleist; Ken Beukema, Grand Rapids, rated Michigan's longest driver; Harry Allen, his fellow-townsmen, a veteran of many tournaments, and Johany Bergelin, former U. of M. star.

Last year's entry was well over the 150 mark, with 43 clubs represented. 19 Detroit district clubs and the balance clubs outside of Detroit.

In winning the event last year, Kocis finished with four successive birdies to defeat James D. Standish 9 and 7. He was four under par for the 29 holes and 5 under par for the 11 holes played in the afternoon. His performance was one of the most outstanding ever witnessed in a tournament here; professional or amateur.

Qualifying round will be Wednesday. Match play starts Thursday between the 32 low scorers of the qualifying round and continues Friday, 36 holes each day. On Saturday, the two survivors of Thursday's and Friday's rounds will battle 36 holes for the title.

James D. Standish, Detroit, secretary of Michigan State Amateur Golf association, will arrive here July 11th to direct the tournament. Pairing will be made that day.

Visiting golfers will find the Belvedere course in excellent shape. Abundant showers of a week ago have put the greens and fairways in early spring condition.

FLEET RUM CHASERS VISIT LOCAL HARBOR

Coast Guard Boats Stop Here Enroute to Galveston, Texas

On Friday of local and summer residents of Charlevoix was considerably aroused Tuesday afternoon by the entrance in Round lake harbor of a fleet of 14 U. S. coast guard boats.

The fleet, in charge of Capt. J. W. McGaw, is being transferred from service at Buffalo, N. Y., to the coastal service at Galveston, Texas, via the Great Lakes and Mississippi river. The two patrol boats will return to Buffalo, while the 12 picket boats will be conveyed through to their destination.

The transfer is being made to replace the crafts with more modern boats as rum chasers on Lake Erie. Taking the place of these boats will be modern type craft, capable of making 35 miles per hour, according to Capt. McGaw.

Capt. McGaw stated the fleet had a harrowing experience off Thunder Bay in Lake Huron last Sunday when they encountered a severe rain squall. Several of the smaller boats drifted away from the convoys, and it was only after much difficulty they were gathered together again.

In many instances, present crews of the boats will remain in service at Galveston, Capt. McGaw stated.

WORLD WAR VETERANS MAY GET STATE BONUS

Commander Lee Allard Asks Legion Members to File Claims At Once

World war veterans of Leslie T. Shapton Post, Charlevoix, who have not applied for the Michigan Soldiers' Bonus are urged by Commander Lee Allard to make application immediately at the adjutant general's office, Lansing.

"The Michigan bonus is not to be confused with the federal bonus," said Commander Allard in discussing the soldiers' aid plan.

New claims must be filed before Dec. 31, 1931. Disallowed claims may be reopened by submitting new evidence before Dec. 31, 1932.

Veterans who have not made application or received their bonus are asked to send their full name, branch of service, serial or service number, organization and dates of entering and leaving service. No application will be sent from headquarters until the above information is received.

Capt. R. S. Dean is in charge of the department at Lansing.

DISTRICT SCHOOL MEETING MONDAY

ANNUAL ELECTION OF TRUSTEES AND OTHER MATTERS

Taxpayers Will Be Asked to Vote on Proposition of Holding 9½
Months of School

A coming event which should, and according to indications, will be of more than usual importance, is the annual meeting of Charlevoix school district No. 1, city and township.

The session is scheduled for 8 o'clock Monday evening, July 13th, at the high school assembly room.

Two members of the board of education will be elected at this time. Members whose terms expire are Clarence N. Wood and William Hicken.

At the meeting a year ago, former Supt. M. Otterbein brought the matter of 9½ months of school up before the electors present for discussion. The matter was given but little consideration before it was brought to a vote and passed. The change was to take effect at the beginning of the 1931-32 school year.

Since that time many objections have been voiced against the plan, so at the meeting Monday evening, the matter will again be brought to a vote. It is required by law that the length of school year, also the salaries of school officers, should be voted at the annual meeting.

It is a matter of general knowledge that Charlevoix taxpayers are far too lax in the interest they show in their schools. Only a handful usually turn out to the annual meeting, and consequently general opinion is not followed in shaping school policies. It is a public fault which should and will have to be corrected.

Many things have happened during the past year which have not been in general accord with voters. Charlevoix is shortly to have another superintendent—about the fifth in ten years, by the way. Changes in the teaching staff, new policies, etc., have been adopted. The public should have a voice in such matters, but never will unless they take sufficient interest to attend meetings called for that purpose.

LOCAL LAD INJURED IN QUEER ACCIDENT

Car Stalled in Path of Train Hurlled
Through Air to Strike Him

Arthur Hebert, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hebert, received bad leg injuries in an accident near the Coulter farm Monday afternoon.

A Ford tudor, owned by M. B. Hooker & Son, and driven by Hebert, became stalled on the Pere Marquette tracks in the path of northbound train No. 6. After attempting to push the car off the tracks, Hebert failed to get far enough distant when the crash came. The impact hurled the car through the air and it struck the lad on his legs.

The machine was a total wreck.

Game Violations Decrease

A decrease of more than 40 per cent in the number of conservation law violations in Michigan during May as compared with the same month in 1930 was reported by the law enforcement division of the department of conservation. The division reported 297 convictions in May 1931 and 430 convictions in May 1930.

MAY TRAP BEAVER IN THIS COUNTY

CHARLEVOIX COUNTY ONE OF NINETEEN OPEN THIS YEAR

Season December 5 to 19—Heavy Curtailment in Conservation Program for Next Two Years

The state conservation commission, holding its July meeting at Traverse City at the invitation of one of its members, Harold Titus, was in session at the Nicholas hotel at Leland Thursday afternoon after an opening session at the Park Place hotel in Traverse City.

An order declaring an open trapping season on beaver in 19 counties was the most important of several game regulations adopted. The open season in these counties will run from December 5 to 19, the commission decided, while all state and national forest areas and all game refuges will be closed to trapping of beaver.

Counties where the new open season prevails are:

Alcona, Montmorency, Otsego, Atrim, Charlevoix, Cheboygan, Presque Isle, Emmet, Chippewa, Mackinac, Luce, Schoolcraft, Alger, Delta, Menominee, Dickinson, Marquette, Iron and Gogebic.

By another order of the commission the partridge season in the upper peninsula remains closed for one more year.

The season on prairie chicken was opened by a commission order in the lower peninsula only and then excluding all counties in the two southernmost tiers. There the season remains closed.

A discussion of the muskrat season ended in a decision not to change the season from 1930.

Serious curtailment of conservation department activities is necessitated by the recent drastic reduction of funds allowed the department, Director George R. Hogarth reported.

No forest plantings whatever will be possible in 1932 or 1933, the commission learned. The field activities of the land economic survey must be cut 50 per cent and no funds are available for publication of the maps of 12 counties where the survey has been made. The personnel of the geological survey is being cut from 25 to 9.

ARMY WORM THREAT PRESENT IN STATE

Appearance in Ingham County First Reported in Ten Years

The first appearance in ten years of the army worm in Michigan has been reported from Mason, Ingham county, to the entomology department at Michigan State college.

At the present time, according to Prof. R. H. Pettit, head of the department, the worm is working in oat fields. To detect it search must be conducted at night with the aid of a light. Pettit said. Later in the year the pest invades corn fields and damages stands extensively. Ploving three furrows 10 to 12 feet apart and parallel around the spot where the working is given as a control measure. The furrows must be plowed in towards where the worms are located.

CHERRY FESTIVAL OPENS NEXT WEEK

THREE-DAY PROGRAM GREAT- EST IN EVENT'S HISTORY

Aerial Bombardment Marks Opening of Festivities Next Wednesday,
July 15—Region Invited

The drone of airplanes circling high overhead and the sharp reports of exploding aerial bombs will awaken Traverse City at dawn next Wednesday, July 15, signalling the opening of the national cherry festival, the most pretentious celebration ever attempted in cherryland.

Three solid days and nights of entertainment of a wide variety have been arranged, and the last word from Don C. Weeks, chairman of the festival committee, is that a fair deal from the weather man is all that is needed to insure a record-breaking attendance.

Seven gleaming white ships of the Great Lakes trailing fleet, U. S. Naval Reserve, with 1,000 men aboard, will be riding at anchor off Traverse City when the airmen fire their salute. The sailors will be the guests of the city all day, and will parade through the downtown streets in the afternoon.

The morning will be given over to orchard tours. One motor cavalcade will cover a 40-mile route over the famous Old Mission peninsula; a second, 75 miles long, will cover Leelanau county, with stops at Suttons Bay, Peshawabtown, Omena, Northport, Northport Point and return via Leland and Lake Leelanau. Herbert E. Powell, state commissioner of agriculture, will send these two tours on their way from the Park Place hotel. Other tours of a more informal character will go into Antrim and Benzie counties.

The cherry jubilee program at the Northwestern Michigan state fair grounds Wednesday evening brings Mayor Frank Murphy of Detroit into this region as a public speaker for the first time.

Five hundred children, ranging in age from infants in baby cars propelled by their parents, to 12-year-olds will take part in the juvenile parade, Thursday afternoon, according to the Rev. William Chapman, chairman of this feature of the festival. There will be boys and girls with pets, and a prince and princess, whose regal carriage will be drawn by four white ponies, surrounded by youthful attendants on foot. In the morning, United States Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg is scheduled to dispatch the season's first solid trainload of cherries, and the prince and princess of the festival will receive their crowns. Harness and running horse races at the fair grounds, and boat races for the visiting sailor boys round out the Thursday afternoon program.

Governor Wilbur M. Brucker will attend the ball in his honor at the Park Place hotel Thursday evening. The 65-piece band from the boys' vocational school, Lansing, will give a concert downtown, for those who do not care to attend the ball. Friday, the last day, is also the one crowded with the largest number of stirring events. The festival strikes its climax each year when the governor officiates at the coronation of the queen, and this year's coronation ceremony will be more impressive than usual, for Maxine Weaver, the queen, has attained a prominence greater than that of any of her predecessors. Her cross-country air tour.

with visits to mayors, governors and to President Hoover, was more extensive than anything planned for previous festivals. Queen Maxine will be surrounded by a court, typical of the youth and beauty of northern Michigan. Members of the court are: Tressie Cole, Munistee, maid of honor; Dorothy Currier, Cadillac; Naomi Harker, Petoskey; Dolora Munro, Elk Rapids; Grace Erwin, Harbor Springs; Clare Ozonne, Northport; Maria Benaske, Frankfort; May Call, Beulah; Doris Rose, Empire; Dorothy Struthers, Charlevoix; June Tompkins, Old Mission; Colleta Snahr, Suttons Bay; Ruth Vigland, Elberta; and Sophia Brezezinski, Cedar.

The National High School band will make its only appearances of the season away from the home bowl at Interlochen, Friday morning and afternoon. The floral parade, more than a mile long, and featured by the appearance of the queen and her attendants on a gorgeous float, takes place Friday afternoon. LIQUOR RAIDS NET SEVEN VIOLATORS

OFFICERS DRY UP PORTIONS OF COUNTY OVER WEEK END

Six Bound Over to August Circuit Court Under Bonds Ranging
From $500 to $1500

Charlevoix county was made considerably more arid as the result of a series of liquor raids conducted over the past week end by Sheriff Dave Vaughan, assisted by deputies and state troopers.

Seven sources from which moonshine and home brew were alleged to have been circulated are closed and six of the seven were arraigned Monday afternoon before Justice Robert Withers. The seventh, a probationer, will be brought in when officers want him. All of the violators have been bound over to August term of circuit court under bond, charged with possession.

Taken in the raids were Robert Kane, Hayes township; Floyd Morgan, Thomas McWaters and Charles Belha, East Jordan, where home brew was found. Archie Karlskin, Advance, is the probationer. Officers found home brew at his place. Over in Boyne Valley township the officers took Joe Skope, at whose place they found a still, barrel of mash, 3½ gallons of moonshine liquor and a quantity of home brew. His bond was set at $1,500, while those of the others were $1,000 with the exception of Floyd Edson of Boyne Falls, who must dig up $500 or stay in jail until the next court term.

Sheriff Vaughan stated Monday that he had had several placed under suspicion some length of time and was just waiting an opportune time to get them "with the goods." His efforts were more than successful as results will testify. Officers have sufficient evidence to bring the parties in on several charges if they care to.

The raid, in which the sheriff was assisted by deputies and state troopers, was one of the most extensive pulled off in the county for some time, and intimations were that others would follow unless conditions change.

SPIRITUALISTIC CAMP OPENING NEXT WEEK

Meetings at Snow Flake to Extend

DRAMA CAMP GIVES ITS OPENING PLAY

"THE YOUNGEST" WELL RE- CEIVED SATURDAY EVENING

Diversified Program Planned—Next Production, Wednesday and Friday, Is "The Mollouse"

"The Shakespeare Memorial camp has closed its first play, "The Youngest" and from indications manifest by the audience it was a success.

The play was centered around a youngster who had been shoved into the background by his family. He was deprived of all that a young boy would want. Particularly was he deprived of the thing that was closest to his heart, writing. His resentful attitude availed him nothing until Nancy stirred the fires of ambition and from thence onward the youngest became the head of the household. Of course, at the final curtain Nancy was so completely captivated herself that she could not resist asking Richard if he really would marry her—which he did.

It is the aim of the players at camp to give to the people of northern Michigan something by way of variety. The type of plays will also be changed each week so that the same situations will not always prevail. Beginning Wednesday of this week and continuing again on Friday "The Mollouse" will be presented. This is a decided change over "The Youngest"—indeed, it is not a situation play, but rather one of characterization. The story revolved around a lady who is extremely lazy. She is very similar to the mollouse, in that she clings to something and allows the world to slip past as the tiny animal clings to a rock, using all its energy to hold fast rather than foraging about for food. The brother comes from the west and of course, he comes for a purpose. What he accomplished cannot be appreciated without first seeing the characters and their relation to each other and understanding just how impossible "The Mollouse" has become.

From "The Mollouse" the players are making a long leap in choosing their next play, "The Ghost Train." It is a rapidly moving light mystery drama. It is not one of the type which had the hero turned to the right the whole plot would have unfolded but a play which is logically developed and in consequence will challenge the best mind before the final curtain.

GIDEONS TO CONDUCT SERVICE HERE SUNDAY

Dedicate Bibles in Two Charlevoix
Hotels—Special Services

The Gideons, Christian Commercial Travelers' association, who put the bible in the guest rooms of commercial hotels, will dedicate 100 bibles to the Belvedere hotel next Sunday afternoon, July 12, at 2:30.

The services will be held in the casino of the hotel, under the auspices of The Gideons. The public is cordially invited to attend, and take a part in the services.

In addition to the Belvedere, nine bibles will be placed in the Noble hotel. A Gideon will speak at the morning services in the local churches of our city, telling about their work. They were organized by three Christian commercial traveling men, May 1899, at the Y. M. C. A., Janesville, Wis. Their first 25 bibles were placed in the Superior hotel, Iron Mountain, November, 1908. Since that time they have placed in the guest rooms of hotels 1,134,280 bibles.

Lyman M. Covey of Grand Rapids, state bible secretary, was in the city last week making the arrangements. He said Michigan stands in the eighth place for bibles placed, and is battling hard with Iowa for seventh place. He will have charge of the dedication.

BAND WILL GIVE POP- ULAR NUMBERS WEEKLY

To Hold Thursday Evening Concerts
Throughout July and August

Another popular program will be presented by the Charlevoix city band at the corner of State and Mason streets Thursday evening.

The weekly program will be carried out through the months of July and August, according to present plans.

NORWOOD
Vern Baumbach of Kingsley, visited his parents over the Fourth.

Mr. and Mrs. John Baker of Kingsley, who visited at the Genett home last week, also called on friends in Norwood.

Mr. and Mrs. Elzie Sheldon and Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Whaley of Cadillac, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Penny Genett from Friday until Sunday.

Milton McClend of Huxelton, N. Y., who is a guest of John Hull and family of Charlevoix, called on Mr. and Mrs. Charles Greeley one day last week.

Mr. and Mrs. William Wright of Chicago, are now occupying their cottage at Norwood, where they entertained friends over the national holiday, from Chicago.

With ideal summer weather over the Fourth of July and Sunday, Norwood citizens inched aside their work and enjoyed picnicking, ball games and outings at different places.

E. W. Publow of Lansing, visited Mrs. Publow from Friday until Sunday at their cottage. They motored to Mullet lake, where they visited friends Saturday night and Sunday.

George Block of Barnard, is instructing several of the young folk in-band music, where a band will be organized. Mr. Block is deserving of much credit for the interest in the work.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Newland and five children, of Detroit, who are occupying a cottage at Central Lake frequently visit Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Jones. Mr. Newland is a brother of Mrs. Jones.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Muzzie of Flint, visited their father, Adolph Seymour, July 4th. Mr. and Mrs. Muzzie were accompanied to Charlevoix by Mrs. Ben Bacon, where she visited friends and relatives.

The young people's church school class enjoyed a fine time at the home of their teacher, Mr. Morse, at Central Lake, last Tuesday evening. A program was rendered and delightful refreshments were served during the evening.

Mrs. Margaret Hull and family enjoyed a family reunion at the home of her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Jay McPherson at Kewadin Sunday. Twenty-six relatives were present and enjoyed a fine pot-luck dinner and visiting.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Holecbeck and family of Charlevoix, accompanied by a guest, Donald Holecbeck, of Midland, were Sunday guests at the Jones' home. Mr. Holecbeck is a contractor for building cement roads, where Mr. Holecbeck is employed.

The three Kendall sisters are sponsoring an entertainment of singing, whistling, piano and guitar music, also readings, at the M. E. church in Norwood, Friday evening of this week. Free will offering will be taken. Everyone welcome.

Daniel Wagner of Detroit, and Daniel Haddock and son Merrill of Central Lake, and Mr. and Mrs. Adamson of Bellaire, and their son, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Thayer of Traverse City, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Richardson.

BAY SHORE
Mrs. Ed. Yohr and daughters were business callers in Petoskey Friday. Mrs. Ha Adams and friends of Detroit, are visiting at the "Shin Tangle" cottage.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Litson of Grand Rapids, are visiting at the Homer Sly home, on the bluff.

Mrs. Oakley Saunders of Ironton, spent Saturday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Yohr.

Miss Virginia Murray returned home Sunday from a five weeks' visit with her father in Detroit.

Many people from Bay Shore spent the Fourth at Petoskey fair grounds, guests of the Portland Cement company.

Miss LaVern McCalmon spent the week end at her home, returning to her school work at Big Rapids Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Vorse and son of Saginaw, are spending a week visiting their parents here and at Harbor Springs.

Philip Mann and family have moved to the house where Charles Hall lived. Mr. Hall has moved to Carpenter Corners.

Steve McGregor of Flint, with his father and mother, of Birmingham, Ala, were callers at the McCalmon home Saturday evening.

William McCalmon of Chicago, with his mother and sisters, Mrs. William Webster of East-Jordan, and Mrs. G. C. Moore of Boyne City, visited Sunday at the McCalmon home.

George Barber and family have bought the house where the Burch family have lived for the last few years. Mr. Barber has moved in and will make quite a few improvements on the place this fall.

FAIRVIEW-BANKS
Somewhat cooler since Friday. Annual school meeting will be held Monday evening, July 13th. Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Venema of Hudsonville, spent the Fourth of July with relatives here.

The weather being ideal for haying this week, a greater part of the crop is being taken care of.

Mr. and Mrs. William G. Drenth and family of Muskegon, are visiting relatives here over the week end. Mr. and Mrs. Gerrit W. Drenth of Grand Rapids, are visiting with friends and relatives here for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. John Timmer of Ellsworth, and Mr. and Mrs. William G. Drenth visited with Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Timmer Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. David Postmus and Mr. and Mrs. J. Steehouwer of Grand Rapids, were visiting friends and relatives here the past week.

NEW PLYMOUTH FLOATING POWER and FREE WHEELING

To produce in 1931 an achievement in motor car design, engineering and pricing so revolutionary that it transcends every previous standard of quality, performance and value in the field of lowest price is to challenge the world.

That is precisely what the New Plymouth does.

For years, while designing fine Sixes and Eights for Chrysler, Dodge and De Soto, Chrysler Motors engineers have worked unceasingly for the perfected Four.

Now they give you the results of their labors and discoveries—

The New Plymouth, a quality car of lowest price with the Smoothness of an Eight and the Economy of a Four—due to Plymouth's exclusive Floating Power.

Here is power unshackled, yet power as smooth as satin, as soft as velvet. Here is power without vibration—literally floating; power so silky that even experts could not name the number of cylinders under the Plymouth hood, and many guessed the New Plymouth to be an Eight.

Plymouth now also gives you Free Wheeling which makes it possible to shift gears between all forward speeds without declutching.

Besides Free Wheeling Plymouth offers a new Easy-Shift transmission which makes it possible to shift not only from second to high at speeds of 35 or 45 miles an hour but back into second at these speeds, when you need sudden acceleration, without clashing or grinding.

The new Plymouth engine develops 56 brake-test horsepower—with actual stop-watch speed of 65 to 70 miles per hour; pick-up from 0 to 40 miles in 9.7 seconds.

Among all cars in the lowest-price field, only Plymouth has weather-proof hydraulic brakes—simple and unexcelled for safety and smoothness.

Chrysler Motors engineers have given Plymouth a double-drop frame. Plymouth has a still lower center of gravity, still greater safety, still greater riding ease, still finer style.

We believe the new Plymouth establishes in the field of lowest price a new degree of artistic advancement with new eye-compelling beauty of line and color.

Plymouth challenges with full-size Safety-Steel body, with wire wheels standard, with hydraulic shock absorbers. No feature of comfort, of reliability, of economy has been left out of the New Plymouth.

I am happy to extend to the entire motoring world a cordial welcome to see, to drive and to ride in the New Plymouth, and to invite comparison between this exceptional product of Chrysler Motors engineering and any car in the world, at or near its price.

"KIDS" YEARS MAKE A DIFFERENCE

WEEKLY CAMP CHARLEVOIX NEWS COLUMN

—Edited by—

VINCENT ARNOLD

The following boys are attending Camp Charlevoix this season:

John Adams, Kalamazoo; Vincent Arnold, Cleveland, Ohio; Louis Baker, Detroit; Walton Barry, Detroit; Dick Barstow, Midland; Robert Bennet, Midland; Bob Beuhler, Ann Arbor; Phillip Beutel, Midland; Stuart Branson, Midland; Fred and Bill Breer, Detroit; George Brown, Ann Arbor; Russell Brown, Battle Creek; William Brownell, Kalamazoo; Charles Case, Fenton; Donald Chase, Royal Oak; Charles Clarke, Detroit; Tom Clayton, Detroit; John and Joseph Dain, Moline, Ill.; Wm. David Eddy, Barcelona, Spain; Vernon Evans, Grand Rapids; Jack Hodge, Los Angeles, Calif.; Elmer Evans, Grand Rapids; Dick Farley, Battle Creek; Ted and Gariner Friedlander, Milwaukee, Wis.; Richard Fayraw, Los Angeles, Calif.; Charles and Lawrence Goodman, Detroit; Lewis Greenman, Charlevoix; George Hain, Dearborn; Wiley Hitchcock, Birmingham; Frank Harlow, Midland; Phillip Huber, James Hund, Detroit; Bellenden Hutchison, Carle, Ill.; Elmer LaPointe, Ann Arbor; Edward Lerchen, Birmingham; Samuel and Russell Lortz, St. Louis, Mo.; Teddy Mattson, Manistee; Atwood McAndrew, Ypsilanti; Howard McGregor, Detroit; Dick Muzzy, Birmingham; Rowland McLaughlin, Chicago; Robert Owen, Grosse Pointe; William Patton, Detroit; Thomas Peirson, Ann Arbor; Norman Peircain, Birmingham; Mark Putnam, Midland; Jimmy Ramm, John Reifel, Detroit; John and George Riel, La Grange, Ill.; Curtis Seehardt, Dick Shepherd, Phillip Simenton, Detroit; Ralph Smith, Farmington; Paul Stevensma, Jackson; Edwin Taylor, Huntington, Ind.; Billy Thompson, Ypsilanti; Robert Thompson, Battle Creek; Winship Todd, Kalamazoo; Charles VanDusen, Birmingham; Jack Wallbilleck, Dearborn; Arnold White, Ann Arbor; Bill Wynnut, Jackson; Dick Woodfield, Jackson.

Fred Zeder, Detroit; James Johnson, Grosse Pointe.

One of the interesting projects of Camp Charlevoix this year is the construction of an Indian village. A sweat lodge, which was the Turkish bath of the Indian, and a tepee, are planned for this season, with each yearly group of campers adding at least one building.

Earle Oldham's senior cabin is taking charge of the whole thing and will be assisted by various other groups.

On July 4th the camp traveled over to its old site on a sort of excursion. After a swim, sandwiches, cookies, and the reliable seidel's were provided.

A campfire was built on the beach later in the evening and various contests were held. Bob Owen and Phillip Simenton engaged in a three-round boxing match, much to the interest of the rest of the campers. Several tag-of-wars were also held, and "Chick" Hendry, director of activities, introduced the game of "Buzz," in which the participants are subject to stinging faces for a time.

A goat has been added to the camp animal family. No name has been found for the newcomer as yet, but judging from his queries he is anxiously awaiting a cognomen.

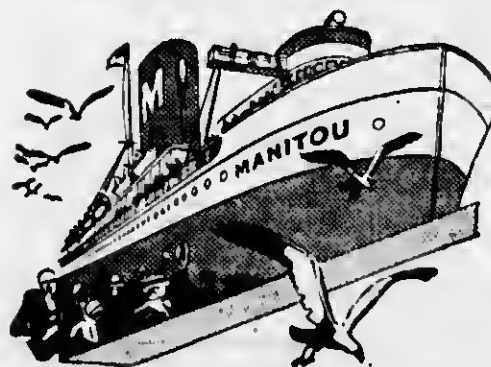

C. B. Anderson, camp photographer, made several photos of the campers on Monday, July 6. He was even so bold as to invade the mess hall and "snap" the boys at dinner.

A pillow fight was staged at the club house on Monday night. Counsellors Harry Bingham and Ira Hirschy clubbed at each other for ten minutes, and finally the match ended in a draw. Fred Breer managed to conquer all his intermediate opponents except Bill Brownell, the latter managing to eke out a draw with the champion.

POULTRY

BIG ESSENTIAL
FOR HEN FLOCKViolet Rays Foes of Rickets and Other Ills.

Violet rays in direct sunshine aid in the assimilation of calcium and are foes of rickets and other ill to which flesh is heir.

While this is a familiar story to many poultry keepers it is not generally known that not all sunlight has equal value—that, in fact, winter sunshine in northern latitudes has few or no violet rays, the factor that cures or prevents the rickets.

Discussing the practice of some poultry men of shading their flocks at this time of year into bright sunlight, Frederick B. Hunt, poultry specialist of the agricultural extension service of the University of Minnesota, says: "This may be of value to stock kept for breeding but does not give the birds much if any more of the anti-rickets factor than they were getting inside the hen house. Experiments have shown that in latitudes even farther south than Minnesota the amount of ultra violet rays of the most valuable wave length is too small in winter to be of much importance. After the first of March the value of the sunlight increases rapidly and by April and May it has a rickets banishing potency about eight times as great as in January.

"The merits of various glass substitutes have been widely advertised the last few years. While it is quite true that many of these will transmit, when new, more ultra violet rays than window glass, the fact remains that even the best of them cannot transmit such rays when there are none to transmit. Neither will the breeding flock get its full requirement of the valuable factor if turned outdoors on the brightest days in February.

"But a ample supply of this factor is a prime essential if good hatches are to be obtained in the early spring. The only safe plan is to feed a good brand of cod liver oil at the rate of 2 per cent in the mash. By April 1, at which time the sun is again giving full value for the money, feeding of the oil may be safely discontinued."

HUNGRY HEN IS NOW PREFERREDLast of Feed Consumed Fills the Egg Basket.

The hen without an appetite is a shirk in the poultry flock. It is that last 10 or 20 per cent of feed that the hen consumes which fills the egg basket, while all the rest is used to maintain the bird, declares R. E. Gray, extension specialist in poultry for the Ohio State university.

The trick in forcing birds to lay more eggs is in the lulling them to eat more feed. Gray has five suggestions for boosting feed consumption by fowls in their winter quarters. These are:

Use artificial lights during the winter months so that the hen will have more time to eat. However, if feed consumption is not increased, lights are of no benefit.

Feed the largest part of the grain at night. This has a tendency to keep the birds hungry during the day and they consume more mash. And feed the grain in hoppers rather than in the litter.

Provide a sufficient amount of mash-hopper space, one foot for five or six birds. There are always timid birds in the flock that won't eat unless there is plenty of hopper space.

Feed fresh mash every day. When the hoppers are filled with a sufficient quantity to last several days, the hens pick it over and eat what they like best; when they reach the leftovers, feed consumption and egg production both slump.

Use a wet mash. Just as a boy will eat more bread when there is jelly on it, so will a hen eat more mash when it is moistened with milk. Feed mash the same time each day.

In Wintering Breeding
Geese Watch the Feed

It is not the lack of exercise directly that causes trouble in wintering breeding geese. Exercise is probably slightly beneficial, but lack of it does not entirely account for lowered vitality, health and fertility. The common foods for wintering geese are almost entirely from grains, corn, wheat, oats and barley. Little else is commonly fed. When the ground is bare or nearly so they will supplement such a ration by means of grass, dead and partly dead, and hny leaves and stems if allowed around the barns and feed-lots. Given no chance at legume hay, they will strip off and eat the more tender leaves of corn fodder.

Geese are normally foraging fowls, making the bulk of growth and gain from grass and other green feed.

Poultry Notes

Hatch from stock that will raise the type and production level of your flock.

Sprouted oats, fed to growing chickens when green feed is scarce, will prevent nutritional roup, or A-Vitaminosis.

Do you knock on wood every time you set out for an airing in the car?

BENJ. BROWN, CHARLEVOIX

MORE PEOPLE RIDE ON GOODYEAR TIRES THAN ON ANY OTHER KIND!

Eggs for hatching should be fairly uniform in size and shape. Eggs that are very large or very small, misshapen, checked, or very bloody should not be set.

Hens kept for breeding purposes can be hastened back in production by limited use of lights from January 15 until March without any apparent effect on hatchability of eggs.

Lights make it possible to carry early hatched pullets through the first fall and winter production period with much less molting than when lights are not used.

When is a hen old? For laying purposes a pullet becomes an old hen with her first moult. With the first and each succeeding moult a hen's capacity for laying eggs decreases directly in proportion to the number of moults in her life cycle.

On most farms turkey raising has become a gamble. So much so that turkeys are becoming extinct in many sections.

Eggs not more than eight days old are best for hatching. These held longer than one week are scarcely safe to use.

The most important thing in breeding for egg production is to identify the good producers that have the ability to produce good layers and use their blood in the flock.

Vigor should be the first consideration in breeding for egg production.

Promiscuous breeding is always unsound, and is one of the commonest causes of a rapid retraction from a high producing flock to a mediocre one.

Artificial lighting to increase egg production, at least during the season of high prices, is fundamentally sound and has great potential possibility.

People are urged to write more cheerful letters. The debtors often send them, however, in place of a check.

WHERE THE MONEY GOES

It costs the average American family a little more than one-third of its income for food. The average earner has an income of $1,513.29 a year, or just under $30.00 a week, out of which he spends $548.51 for food, according to the most recent statistical compilation of figures on the cost of living. Rent, whether in the form of maintenance and taxes on a home, or in actual rent paid to a landlord, averages a little over one-fifth of the total income or in the case of the average wage earner, $342.14. Clothing for the entire family, on the same scale comes to $237.60, leaving $385.04 out of this average wage earner's income to miscellaneous expenditures.

That is substantially a quarter of the average workers' yearly earnings, out of which he has to pay doctor's bills, cost of educating his children, all amusements, his life insurance premiums, if any, and everything else that he spends money for. On the same basis of figuring the average wage earner spends $16.33 for automobiles. Since the cheapest automobile sells for around $500, this means that only one wage earner in thirty buys a car in any given year. With ordinary care, however, even a cheap car will last for years. It is a safe assumption that at least one out of every ten wage earners in America owns an automobile.

Doctor's bills for the average family run nearly four times the cost of automobiles. Insurance accounts for $43.28 a year out of the average family income. And after paying for all of the things already mentioned, this average American working man has $90 a year left for cigarettes, Christmas presents or other non-necessary expenditures, besides putting $78.93 in the savings bank.

There are figures that cannot be matched anywhere else in the world. Nowhere has the man who works with his hands such a surplus above his actual living as he has in America. For that matter, no worker under any other flag has as comfortable living quarters or as good and ample food. It is this surplus or earning above expenses that has enabled American workers to carry through a long period of depression and unemployment without being reduced to beggary and starvation. — The Midland Republican.

AN EXAMPLE FROM NATIONAL PARKS

There is at least one place in the country where the motorist may escape the horrors of billboards, shacks and other structures that line practically every highway. It is within America's national parks. Much has been said about the value of maintaining the capital city of Washington as an example of attractiveness and good order for other centers of the United States. A similar consideration holds for the national parks. Fortunately, in both cases great progress has been made.

The national capital, under the efficient direction of its park and planning commission, is being developed along the original lines of the L'Enfant conception, while the natural beauty of the national parks is being preserved through adherence to a rigid program. At a St. Louis conference a few days ago Horace M. Albright, director of the national park service, explained that no structures of any kind are allowed in these areas that "are out of harmony with the landscape."

While previously the rule had not been followed in all instances, there now is strict adherence to the idea, a corps of landscape architects being maintained for the purpose. The director says the national parks have never had to contend with the billboard evil, because signs of a distracting or commercial character have been "absolutely prohibited."

With approaches to the parks, however, the situation is different. But the unsightliness there is being effectively attacked by the National Association for Protection of Roadside Beauty, which, along with other organizations, seems at times to be making headway against the litter that has accumulated along the country's main thoroughfares. The whole enterprise is worthily directed in the interest of the public, which pays for the highways and has a right to their use without interference from recognized nuisances. — Traverse City Record-Eagle.

RETAIL SALES RISE

It has been suspected for some time that there were actually more goods being sold this year than there were last year. The Central Trust company of Chicago, after a survey, presents definite figures.

Retail sales for the first half of the year, it finds, have been five per cent less than they were a year ago—in money. Prices, average 15 per cent lower, so there is actually a gain of 10 per cent in volume of goods sold.

This improvement, no doubt, comes partly from the fact that so many articles and supplies were out or became exhausted, and had to be replaced. It is probably due still more to the drop in prices. No matter how reluctant people may be to spend money, there is always a figure at which they will buy. A market is like a pool of water—the lower you go, the stronger the upward pressure. And when a new wave of buying is well started, it tends to carry prices up with it.

The general effect of this situation will not be overlooked. The report referred to says:

"The first evidence of an impending change in business volume and in the commercial and financial activity of the country generally may always be found in the retail sales of merchandise." Thus business as a whole should soon show the improvement already started.

LEARNING FROM MISFORTUNE

From these troubled times, President Hoover remarked in a recent speech, the American people will emerge with a determination to examine critically a banking system which permits the wasteful speculation which preceded the present depression.

To do something about a system of taxation which encourages the dumping of securities on a falling market and unfairly burdens landholders and home-owners.

To reform a marketing system which lends itself unduly to speculation in commodities.

The sooner attention is focussed on these problems, the more chance there will be of the nation gaining some benefit from its present tribulation.

WILL ERECT MEMORIAL FOR LUMBERMEN

Pioneers of Industry Back Move to Perpetuate Early Woodsmen

A memorial to the pioneer lumbermen of Michigan will be erected east of East Tawas late this summer or early fall, it was announced this week.

The memorial will be composed of three lumberjacks garbed in pioneer clothes. It will be stationed at the "Y" where the Thompson trail breaks off into a number of smaller roads near the Au Sable river.

The project is being sponsored by descendants of pioneer lumbermen, among them being William B. Merzhon, lumberman of Saginaw; R. G. Shreek, former supervisor of Huron national forest and John W. Blodgett, Grand Rapids.

WHAT IS A BAR FLY?

IS THE BARFLY EXTINCT?

If you don't remember the corner saloon of the much discussed "good old days," you may never have heard of a "barfly" before. The barfly was a bar-room bum, sometimes an amusing fellow; more often a tragic example of a sudden wretch of a man dragged down to abysmal degradation, begging drinks to satisfy his insatiable craving for whiskey.

A typical and amusing specimen of a full-fledged barfly may be seen in the character of "The Barfly," as created by Thomas Jefferson in the all-talking picture "Ten Nights In A Bar-Room," now showing at the Temple theatre, Petoskey.

Thomas Jefferson, the grand old man of stage and screen, will always be remembered as the lovable Bill Jones of the stage play "Lightning," which starring role he played continuously for more than five years. In "Ten Nights In A Bar-Room," Mr. Jefferson plays a remarkable part, for throughout the entire picture he never speaks a word.

POULTRY

TURKEYS RAISED IN CONFINEMENT

Idea That Large Fields Are Needed Disproved.

The poultry department of the Pennsylvania State college recently published some interesting work on feed consumption and cost of raising turkeys in complete confinement. Apparently the idea that turkeys require large fields for range has been disproved. R. M. Fink, who conducted this work at the Pennsylvania State college but who is now with the poultry department of the Missouri College of Agriculture, summarizes the experiment with turkeys as follows:

1. The average weight of the Bronze toms in 24 weeks was 19 pounds and the White Holland toms averaged 16.3 pounds at the same age.

2. The rate of growth obtained was greater than that heretofore reported.

3. The mash and grain consumption per bird for the first 24 weeks was 58.05 pounds and 54.12 pounds for the Bronze and White Holland varieties, respectively.

4. The feed cost of producing a pound of gain was 14.7 cents for the Bronze and 15.3 cents for the White Holland.

5. As the birds approached maturity, the feed required to produce a pound of gain increased from 2.56 to 7.71 pounds.

6. The protein intake remained at a high level until the eighteenth week, varying around 20 per cent. From the eighteenth to the twenty-fourth week the level decreased from 20.2 per cent to 14.8 per cent.

7. More than 93 per cent of all turkeys started were raised to market age.

8. The loss from blood and feather dressing for the males was 9.5 per cent; for the females, 10.4 per cent.

The full grown birds showed a total shrinkage of 24.2 and 24.7 per cent for the males and females, respectively. These differences are due to size, not to sex.

It is excellent market birds were produced in complete confinement.

Cod Liver Oil Help to Breeders and Chickens

Experiments at the Kansas and Wisconsin experiment stations have demonstrated that cod liver oil is a valuable feed for both hens and young chicks that do not have an abundance of sunshine. This product contains a vitamin that helps to take the place of sunshine, in that it helps the birds or chicks to make proper use of the minerals in their rations.

With hens that are used for breeders this helps to develop a better shell on the eggs. This seems to cause the eggs to hatch better, as a better time content is furnished the chicks and less evaporation takes place. In addition it makes hens healthier, thereby improving the vitality and vigor of the flock.

In the northern part of the United States it is necessary to hatch some chickens before it is possible for them to run outside where they get the benefit of direct sunshine. The addition of from 1 to 2 per cent of cod liver oil to the mash will prevent rickets and help to keep the chicks in the best of health.

Raising Turkeys While Confined Is Practical

The Minnesota plan of raising turkeys in confinement consists in matching and rearing artificially and ranging them on clean soil. One plan is to build a roosting shelter in the middle of the range, containing four trap doors, one leading into each fenced lot. The entire fenced area contains about an acre of land over which no poultry have ranged for several years.

Each one-quarter acre lot has proven large enough for 200 or 300 young turkeys when they are turned out of a different trap door into a different lot at least once each month. The plan calls for careful feeding and keeping the turkeys away from chickens at all times.

Flame Colored Plymouths Take Country by Storm

Like brilliant lights stabbing the twilight, more than 2,000 spectacular flame-colored Plymouth cars have made their appearance simultaneously in every section of the United States within the past few days.

These cars are new Plymouths with "floating power" and free wheeling, introduced July 6th to an enthusiastic public.

Conceived solely as demonstration cars and as a means of bringing to the attention of American motorists the revolutionary new Plymouths, the color combination of these cars is the most startling that Chrysler Motors' engineers could devise. The paint pigment used on the body of the car—a flame color—was designed and developed to reproduce the appearance of a lighted red neon tube.

The long, sweeping lines of the new Plymouth, particularly lend themselves to this unusual color combination. The entire car is of the flame color with blue and silver trim and blue and silver lettering appropriately carrying the message of "floating power" and free wheeling. The wire wheels have alternate blue and flame spokes.

These new Plymouth demonstration cars were shipped to the most important cities and towns in the country and are being used by Chrysler, Dodge and De Soto dealers, through whom the Plymouth is sold and serviced, to demonstrate the new and startling engineering principle which gives this car the economy of a four, and the smoothness of an eight.

The United States post office department has placed an order with the Washington branch of the Ford Motor company for 1,500 motor truck chassis, of which 500 will be ½ ton carrying capacity and 1,000 of 1½ tons carrying capacity. The purchase of the motor equipment was the largest made by a government department since the war. With this order Ford sales to the post office department during recent years reached a total of 2,900 units.

The purchase marked another step in the department's program of building up its fleet of several thousand trucks and also to replace some of the surplus trucks turned over to the post office department by the army at the close of the war.

Deliveries are to start immediately and continue as rapidly as the bodies contracted for are ready for installation. The completed trucks will then be distributed to some 60 cities throughout the United States.

The order was placed with the Ford company after an exhaustive test conducted by the department with the cooperation of the Bureau of Standards. The tests were under the supervision of W. A. Jacobs, automotive engineer of the Bureau of Standards, and William Wolma of Chicago, and Morris Carrier of Brooklyn, motor vehicle engineers of the post office department.

Agricultural Hints

Phosphate often will more than pay for itself in clover growth.

Aisles will make a very favorable growth in low, sour spots, where other clovers will not do as well.

A cleaned garden will offer an easier garden in which to perform the multitudinous tasks that confront us in the early spring.

Where soil is plowed and left rough during the winter the preparation of the spring seedbed is usually easily and quickly done.

It is wise to provide before the summer spraying work begins, an additional supply of the parts and equipment likely to break or wear out rapidly.

Among the insects that might be destroyed by plowing are, the corn ear worm, white grubs, wire worms, cut worms and to some extent grasshopper eggs.

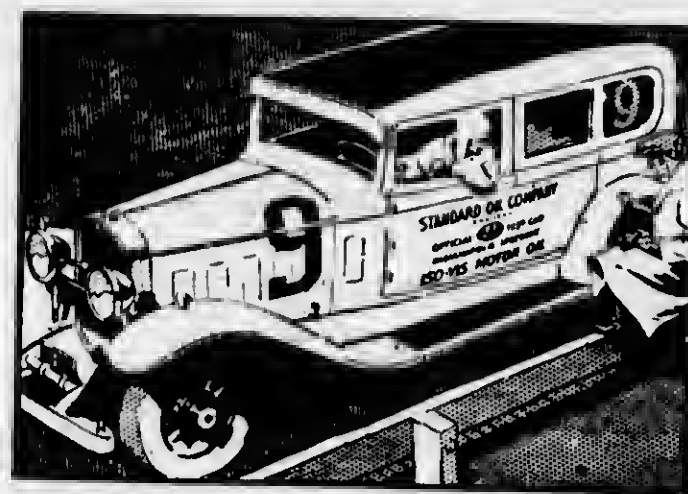

Apple trees should be protected against sunscald and mice injury by wrapping them with newspaper or binding cornstalks about them or by using building paper.

When drinking cups are used, making it possible for the animal to take a small quantity of water at frequent intervals, there is little reason for warming the water, and it would not pay.

The best way to grow rye is to sow it early in the season, on land prepared about as you would prepare it for oats. Or you may even sow the rye and disk it in, as is sometimes done with the oats crop.

Even busy men have time to tell jokes.

"New Iso-Vis Showed High Efficiency in CADILLAC"

Reports A.A.A.

READ this record that shows how New Iso-Vis distinguished itself in the Indianapolis Speedway tests. It's certified by the American Automobile Association.

1 New Iso-Vis did not thin out from dilution.

2 During entire 9,000 mile tests, all parts of engine and chassis were lubricated effectively.

3 Consumption: Iso-Vis 50 (Heavy) at 30 m. p. h.—only 2 qts. in 1000 miles. At 55 m. p. h. all oils all cars showed consumption 7 times that at 30 m. p. h.

4 Carbon formed was only 7.8 grams per cylinder at 30 m. p. h. using Iso-Vis 50 (Heavy).

5 The cylinder wear was too little to measure.

New Iso-Vis rings the bell on every point. No matter how you choose motor oil, if your choice is based on cold, hard facts, you must choose New Iso-Vis. These figures can't be dodged.

The make of car you drive makes no difference. New Iso-Vis proved itself in 13 prominent makes on the Speedway.

Enjoy the proved protection of New Iso-Vis—the only motor oil that will not thin out from dilution. Change to New Iso-Vis today.

Measured In Miles

SUPPOSE for a moment that advertising didn't exist—that there were no trade-marked goods—that everything you bought had to be judged solely by its look or feel or taste.

Imagine your self setting out to do the morning's shopping under such conditions. You'd drive down the street, looking in windows for the articles you needed—the blouses for Johnny, the half dozen bath towels, the toilet soap, the ginger ale for tomorrow's picnic. You'd stop, ask questions, examine the towels, smell the soap, wonder if here was your money's worth or if you might find something better farther on. And though you followed this procedure mile after weary mile, you could never be sure.

Computed simply in terms of gasoline and tires and shoe leather, advertising saves you a startling sum every year. And if you add the value of your time, the amount is vastly increased.

When you buy a product that is advertised you know in advance what you will get, how much it costs and where you can obtain it. That is why, in millions of modern homes, the newspaper advertising columns are a daily guide to purchases.

Read the advertisements, decide what you need, then buy with assurance.

WESTERN UNION TO GIVE NEW SERVICE

Begin Sale This Week of American Express Money Orders

To meet the constant demand of Charlevoix residents for a money order to be mailed or sent by methods other than the telegraph, local Western Union offices will begin the sale Wednesday of American Express money orders, it was announced today by the local manager of the telegraph company.

Western Union main and branch offices in all parts of the United States will inaugurate the service at the same time. Offices of the American Express company will act as branches of Western Union in the sale of telegrams, cablegrams and telegraphic money orders.

By agreement with the American Express company, 500 Western Union offices in and near New York City, Boston and Philadelphia began a trial of the sale of American Express money orders last December 15. Immediate success of this trial indicated a general demand for an economical money order which can be obtained at conveniently located offices, and accordingly, the general extension of the plans was arranged.

This service will in no way conflict with the Western Union telegraphic money and gift order service, which annually transfers $275,000,000 in small amounts, and comprises about 93 per cent of the nation's telegraphic money orders.

Miss Clarice Anderson of the University of Chicago, will prepare students for college entrance, stressing methods of study. Miss Anderson is an honor student at the University of Chicago. For further particulars and terms, call 193.—Adv. 2613.

The aer-nautics program in the afternoon will include military maneuvers by National Guard airmen, exhibition flights by the Detroit News autogiro; and the appearance of the Goodyear dirigible "Puritan," which is being brought to Traverse City through the cooperation of M. J. McIntosh. The blimp also will perform on Thursday. There will be another matinee of horse racing Friday afternoon.

The three-day celebration comes to a glorious, carefree finish, with the Mummers' parade, the Mummers' ball, and a fireworks display. Streets will be crowded with masked dancers, attired in grotesque costumes. Dancing follows at the Park Place, where the Mummers' King, his identity hidden, until he receives his crown, will be unmasked.

LEMIEUR-FETTIG WED- ING A PRETTY AFFAIR

Solemnized Last Thursday Morning at St. Mary Church—Many Attend

A pretty wedding was solemnized last Thursday morning at 9 o'clock at St. Mary church, when Miss Mary Lemieur, niece of Miss Adelia Lemieur of this city, became the bride of Donald Fettig, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Fettig, Petoskey.

It was the first church wedding held here in recent years and 250 guests were present. Fr. R. E. Fitzpatrick read the nuptials, followed by Holy Mass. The church was prettily decorated with pink and white peonies.

Attending the bridal couple were Miss Madeline Lemieur, sister of the bride, and Albion Fettig, brother of the groom. Ushers were Robert Foster and Victor Smith, and attendants to Fr. Fitzpatrick were Louis Orlovski Jr. and Ben Yettaw Jr.

Following the church ceremony, a reception and wedding breakfast were given at the home of the groom's parents in Petoskey.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. John Fettig, Mrs. James Kopp and daughter, Helen, Mr. Francis Duncan, Mrs. Ted McLean, Mrs. Louis Fettig and Miss Vera Miller, Petoskey; Mr. and Mrs. Albert Lemieur and daughter, Marjorie, Detroit.

Mrs. Fettig is a graduate of Marywood Academy, Grand Rapids, and Charlevoix county normal. For the past three years she has been secretary to the superintendent of schools here. Mr. Fettig is employed at the Kelley Service Station, Petoskey, in which city they are now making their home following a short honeymoon trip to Sault Ste. Marie.

The Courier joins their many local and Petoskey friends in extending congratulations.

STATE PLANS BAND- ING OF SMALL TROUT

Research Dept. Provides Light Metal Band for Purpose

Using a miniature metal band, the institute for fisheries research of the Michigan department of conservation will begin tagging fingerling trout this season.

Until now it has not been possible to obtain information as to migratory habits of small trout because of the fact that no tag small enough for the fish to carry or which could be attached without injury to the fish, was being manufactured.

However, the institute now has a supply of the small tags which are made of duraluminum, being of the same style as previously used but of much smaller size.

FARM HAND DIES OF HEAT STROKE

Albert Dakencoop Felled by Sun While Pitching Hay

Northern Michigan's first fatality of the heat wave came Wednesday afternoon with the death of Albert Dakencoop, 60-year-old farm hand, on the Mebert farm in Leelanau county.

Dakencoop was pitching hay about 4 o'clock when he fell over in a faint. He died two hours later, failing to gain consciousness, and Dr. Ralph Kernkamp, Suttons Bay coroner, said death was due to heat prostration.

STATE COLLEGE SEEKS AID FOR HUCKLEBERRY

Offers $25 for Bush Bearing Half Inch Berries

An offer of $25 for a huckleberry bush which produces berries one-half inch in diameter or larger has been offered by Michigan State college. The owner of the second best will receive $10. The offer is being made to stimulate interest in the huckleberry industry, which specialists at the college say, promises to be one of the most profitable in the state providing a larger and better quality berry can be produced.

POPULAR COUPLE WED AT ANN ARBOR

Hood-Jones Nuptials Came as Surprise to Their Many Friends

Stealing the march on their many local and down-state friends, Harold Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Jones of this city, and Miss Elizabeth Hood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Hood of Adrian, were united in marriage on Saturday, June 27th.

The ceremony was performed at Ann Arbor by Dr. Frederick Fisher, pastor of the Ann Arbor First Methodist church. The couple were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Jones of Flint, brother and sister-in-law of the groom.

Following their return to Adrian, two receptions were given in honor of the bride couple, on Sunday at the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. Charles Hood, and the other at the home of the bride's parents on Monday.

Mr. Jones, a graduate of Charlevoix high school, is associated with G. W. Priest at Priest's studio. The bride, who is a graduate of Adrian college, was instructor of domestic science in Charlevoix high school for three years, and for the past two years has been teaching in the public schools at Royal Oak. Mr. and Mrs. Jones are at home in Charlevoix.

AT THE MOVIES

"Young Sinners" Heralded as Entertaining Production

"Young Sinners," heralded in previews as one of the most entertaining Fox dramas yet to reach the talking screen, will open an engagement at the Palace theatre next Thursday, where it will remain for one day only.

The ever-popular Thomas Meighan returns to the screen in this picture and portrays the important role of the robust trainer, who, at his camp in the Adirondack mountains, essays the moral and physical reformation of the wilful son of a multi-millionaire. How he accomplishes his object and how he is unwittingly aided by the girl who loved his charge, forms the basis of the intriguing story.

"The thrill of a lifetime," which comes not many more times than once to most lives, arrived en masse and with a bang for the children of San Bernardino, California.

For a period of two weeks they were called upon to act for a talking picture.

Before Paramount sent a company sixty-five miles from Hollywood to San Bernardino, to make episodes of Percy Crosby's "Skippy," which will open Friday at the Palace theatre, arrangements were made with school officials to permit one hundred children of the off-studio city to perform in atmospheric hits.

Children, whom it was considered most needed the money, were selected and given permission by the board of education to work with Jackie Cooper, as Skippy; Robert Coogan, five-year old brother of Jackie Coogan, as Sooky; Jackie Searle and other film players.

Stellar Actors Seen in Picture About City Life

"The Vice Squad"—Paramount's sensational expose of the secret operations of big city authorities in combatting rackets, comes to the Palace theatre on Sunday next for a two day run.

The story is an original by Oliver H. P. Garrett, and was directed by John Cromwell. The featured leads are Paul Lukas, Kay Francis and Helen Johnson.

Garrett, a former newspaper reporter in New York City, is the author of "For the Defense," "Street of Chance," "City Streets" and many others both silent and articulate. He has been associated with Cromwell in the first two of these productions. Cromwell, who graduated to the talkies from a long and successful stage apprenticeship as a director of legitimate plays, made "Unfaithful," "Tom Sawyer," "The Mighty" and "Scandal Sheet" for the Paramount company. He has been tremendously successful as a producer of talkie hits.

BAPTIST CHURCH W. H. Rauch, Pastor

Morning worship at 10:30. Rev. John Ross of Petoskey, will speak both morning and evening.

Sunday school at 11:30. Evening service will not begin until 8 o'clock. We are making this change to accommodate those who are working late.

Wednesday evening prayer service at 7:30. Choir practice at 8:30. As a result of the intense heat last week Rev. Rauch was taken ill last Sunday morning at church and was unable to fill his pulpit throughout the day.

Supervision of Trained Instructors—Many Visit Camp

The various activities of Kamp Kairphree have started off with the greatest of enthusiasm, and the end of the first two weeks finds them in full swing.

Swimming, one of the most important of the camp sports, is under the expert direction of Miss Jeanette Brauns of Evansville, Ind., a graduate of Battle Creek college, now swimming instructor at Oregon State college, Corvallis, Oregon; and her assistant, Miss Winifred Benseley of Traverse City, a student at Battle Creek college.

The campers have been divided into three classes according to their proficiency in swimming, but this rating is only temporary; a camper is able to rise rapidly from one class to another, as her swimming improves through the help of the instruction hour each day. Those who have reached the highest class are anxious to pass Red Cross life saving tests and are working toward this goal with the aid of the instructors.

Riding is another very popular sport this summer; more than half of the campers are enthusiasts, and riding plays a large part in the activities of the camp day. This is made possible by an arrangement made with Camp Charlevoix for the use of their horses by Kamp Kairphree. Although many of the campers are amateurs now, the end of the summer will probably see their development into fine riders, thanks to the capable instruction of Miss Margaret McCoy of Highland Park, New Jersey. Miss McCoy is the daughter of an army officer, and knows all there is to know about riding.

Other sports, such as canoeing, riflery, and archery, all have their place in the camp program; but the physical activities are not the only important events of a camper's day. Many happy hours are spent and much excellent work is done in the crafts shop, with the assistance of Mrs. Marjory Bowen Swain, the gifted art counselor, while classes in dramatics are taught by Miss Florence Boycheff, a graduate of Oberlin college, who is now studying music in New York City. Miss Boycheff, or Miss Peter, as she is known by the campers, also lends the group singing which all enjoy so much. Dancing takes a large place in the camp program. Miss Helen Gillaspay of Grand Rapids is the talented instructor, and her classes are very popular with the campers.

Aside from these regular activities there have been special outings to provide an enjoyable break in the camp routine. At one time the whole camp had a picnic on the beach of Lake Michigan. Supper was eaten on the sand dunes after a swim in the lake. The 4th of July was celebrated by another picnic, on a hill-top affording a beautiful view of both Lake Charlevoix and Lake Michigan. A suitable program was given in the evening when the campers returned home. The assemblies each evening.

ANNUAL HOSPITAL MEETING WEDNESDAY, JULY 22

Election of Directors and Arranging of Finances Important Issues

A coming event of interest to Charlevoix local and summer residents, is the annual meeting of the Charlevoix hospital board of directors, which will be held Wednesday evening, July 22, at the city council rooms in the library building.

In addition to annual reports and arranging of finances for the coming year, three directors will be elected. The terms of Harry A. Craig, George W. Weaver and Martin Black expire with the close of the 1930-31 fiscal year.

Last year's meeting drew a record attendance, and financial problems, which at that time were not in the best of condition, were arranged for. The same public interest will be necessary at the coming meeting to keep the institution on an even keel for the coming year, and all interested are requested to attend.

Mary Brewster Circle will hold a baked goods sale at Abstract & Engineering company office, opposite County Bank, Saturday, July 18th.—Adv. 2811.

PLAN FOR REGISTER OF DEEDS CONVENTION

Meeting for 1931 to Be Held Here
September 3 and 4

Preliminary plans for entertainment of Michigan registers of deeds when they come here for their annual convention September 3 and 4, are being made by Frank F. Bird, Charlevoix county register of deeds, who will have charge of the program.

Headquarters of the convention will be at Hallett's Inn. While not completed, the tentative program calls for the annual banquet at the picturesque and famed Camp Charlevoix on the north shore of Lake Charlevoix. Lewis C. Reimann, camp director, has been invited to act as toastmaster.

Another contemplated feature of the program is a boat trip to Beaver Island on September 4th, with a fish dinner at Hotel Beaver. Business sessions for the day will be held on the boat on the trip over and while returning.

Mr. Bird stated other interesting features of entertainment are being arranged with the view in mind of making the 1931 convention one of the outstanding ever enjoyed by Michigan's registers of deeds and their families.

PLAN CHARLEVOIX OPEN TENNIS MEET

EVENTS TO BE STAGED AT NEW SCHOOL TENNIS COURTS

Tournament Opens Week of July 27th with Men's, Women's, Junior Boys' and Girls' Singles

Officers of the Charlevoix Tennis Club are making plans for the 6th annual Charlevoix open tennis tournament.

According to present plans, the event will be held the week of July 27th. Play will open either Monday or Tuesday of that week, depending upon the entry, and the tournament will close Saturday, August 1.

The tournament this year is being shifted from The Inn clay courts to the newly constructed concrete doubles courts recently completed by the board of education on the school grounds. This move will make the tourney a strictly local affair, managed under the direction of the Charlevoix Tennis Club. Mason Rose, Jr., of Sarasota, Fla., has been employed to direct the tournament.

The Charlevoix open has attracted great interest among members of the summer colonies both here and in surrounding resorts since its inception five years ago. A large number have expressed their intention of entering. Three years ago the entry ran well over the hundred mark, and, according to the many inquiries already received, the field will be an outstanding one again this summer.

Events listed are men's and women's singles, junior, girls' and boys' singles. If there is sufficient demand, doubles events may be added. Loving cups will be awarded the winners and prizes go to the runners-up. The tournament will decide the champions of Charlevoix and vicinity for 1931 and is open to all players.

Last year's champions in the Charlevoix open were: V. Goldsmith, Detroit, men's singles; James Bryan, Oak Park, Ill., junior singles; Robert Carey, Chicago, and V. Goldsmith, Detroit, men's doubles; Miss Ellen Squires, Austin, Texas, women's singles; Richard Siddle, Detroit, boys' singles; Miss Adair Orr, Chicago, girls' singles; Richard Siddle, Detroit, boys' singles, 13 to 15 years.

Entries will be received up to Monday noon, July 27th, by Archie Livingston at the State Savings Bank, or at the Charlevoix Courier.

CONTRACT AWARDED FOR NEW STATE FERRY LIFT

Contract for construction of elevator supports at the state ferry docks at St. Ignace and Mackinaw City will be placed in the hands of the Lyons Construction company of Mackinaw City, Grover C. Dillman, state highway commissioner, announces. The support for the elevator on the St. Ignace side of the Straits will cost $16,551, while the one at Mackinaw City will cost $9,102. The supports will be used for elevators which will lift autos to the second deck of the state ferries. Acceptance of the contracts was recommended to the state administrative board by its road committee.

STATE AMATEUR GOLF BATTLE ON

LARGE FIELD COMPETING FOR TITLE HELD BY "CHUCK" KOCIS, DETROIT STAR—PLAY STARTS TODAY

Tournament This Year Silver Jubilee, Observing 25th Annual Championship for Michigan Men Golfers—Several New Features of Play Add Interest—Banquet Tonight

A large field of Michigan's foremost amateur golfers teed off this morning at the picturesque Belvedere course in the qualifying round of the 25th annual Michigan state amateur golf championship tournament.

When pairings were made Tuesday evening by James D. Standish Jr., Detroit, secretary of the Michigan State Golf League, 122 had entered, and post entries made at the first tee this morning brought the field to 140, a few less than the record entry of a year ago.

Judging from the quality of golf displayed in practice rounds by early arrivals Monday and Tuesday, the 32 qualifiers in the championship flight will have to shoot close to par figures. James D. Standish, runner-up to Charles Kocis, Detroit, 1930 champion, turned in a card of 74 Tuesday afternoon after spoiling his chance for perfect figures by going over par on the 17th and 18th holes. Other equally good scores were made in practice rounds.

This year's tournament, returned to the Belvedere course for the second time, will be a silver jubilee affair, observing the 25th annual championship for Michigan men golfers. Thirty-two will qualify for the championship flight, and two rounds of match play Thursday and Friday will bring the field down to the 36-hole final Saturday.

Several special features have been arranged for players who are eliminated in the first or second rounds. On Thursday, the 16 players beaten in the first round of the championship flight will continue in a special match play flight. Friday there will be a handicap best ball foursome competition at the Charlevoix Golf Club course. Saturday afternoon an 18 hole medal play handicap is scheduled at the Belvedere course.

The annual dinner and meeting will be held tonight at the Belvedere hotel.

Represented in the field which started this morning were 43 clubs as follows:

Detroit district clubs: Western, Lochmoor, Barton Hills, Washenaw, Detroit Golf Club, Oakland Hills, Birmingham, Brooklands, Bloomfield Hills, Dearborn, Indianwood, Meadowbrook, Detroit Country Club, Thorncliffe, Red Run, Forest Lake, Plum Hollow, Plymouth Country Club, Pine Lake Country Club.

Clubs outside Detroit district: Lenawee Country, Adrian, Highlands, Cascade Hills, Masonic, Country Club of Western Michigan, Kent Country Club, Blytheheld, Indian Trails, Grand Rapids, Muskegon Country Club, Muskegon, Westdale, Saginaw Country Club, Merin Grotto, Saginaw, Bay City Country Club, Euclid Country Club, Bay City, Mecolin Golf Club, Big Rapids, Gull Lake Country Club, Kalamazoo Country Club, Maple Hills, Kalamazoo, Masonic Country Club, Jackson Country Club, Jackson, Verona Hills, Bad Axe, Gaylord Country Club, Gaylord, Lansing Country Club, Walnut Hills, Lansing, Mackinac Island Golf Club, Wequetonsing Golf Club, Belvedere Golf Club, Charlevoix.

Of interest to the traveling public is announcement that five round trips daily are now being made by the S. S. Algonquin between Mackinaw City and Mackinac Island. The ship leaves Mackinaw City at 8 a. m., 10:30 a. m., 12:45 p. m., 2:35 p. m. and 5 p. m. On the return trips across the straits it leaves Mackinac Island at 9:30 a. m., 11:30 a. m., 1:35 p. m., 4 p. m. and 7:15 p. m. The schedule follows central standard time.

HAYES PIONEER RESIDENT DIED TUESDAY

Jones Lewis Passed at Charlevoix Hospital After Extended Illness

Hayes township lost one of its pioneer residents Tuesday morning in the death of Jones Lewis, who succumbed at Charlevoix hospital, where he was taken ten days ago for treatment.

Mr. Lewis had been in ill health for about three months. Coming to Hayes township as a youth, Mr. Lewis had spent nearly his entire life there. He was 71 years of age at his death.

Surviving are a son, Wilbur Lewis, and a sister, Mrs. Phillip Howe. Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon from the Church of God, Rev. I. T. Mark officiating.

CHARLES EMERY OPENS HABERDASHERY STORE

Charles Emery, former Charlevoix county clerk, and recently of San Diego, California, has opened a haberdashery shop in the Alonzo Powders building on Bridge street. While no formal opening has been announced, the store has been opened while stock is being arranged.

"HEDDA GABLER" IS NEXT PRODUCTION

SHAKESPEARE MEMORIAL PLAYERS
GIVE IBSEN MASTERPIECE

This Production to Be Followed by Tarkington's "The Intimate Stranger"—Other Players Invited

Last week the Shakespeare Memorial Players varied their program with a characterization play, "The Mollusc" was a unique story built around a woman who had come to resemble a mollusc. She did not lack ambition, but used an excess amount to resist flowing with the tide of events.

The regular performances of "The Mollusc" were given on Wednesday and Friday evenings. On Monday evening an additional performance was given for the benefit of the church at Ironton.

The show season as far as it has gone has proven satisfactory to the audiences and to the players. Each week for all performances a good crowd has been entertained. The audiences have apparently enjoyed the plays, because each week all of the familiar faces may be seen along with a group of new ones.

For the next play the Shakespeare Memorial Camp is presenting "Hedda Gabler." Everyone who is familiar with the theatre will call to mind having heard of Ibsen's masterpiece. The story is much different from anything that has thus far been given by the players. One might perhaps class it as a tragedy despite the fact that the end as Ibsen has designed it is the only release for the various characters around whom the story is built. There is nothing but tense feeling for an audience seeing "Hedda Gabler." It is not a play that can be seen and then forgotten, many of the situations will be rehearsed mentally long after the play has closed. Nor will the average player be satisfied with the situations themselves. He will insist on rebuilding the entire plot. But try as he will, he must eventually come again to the solution that Ibsen has offered. His inevitable.

Following "Hedda Gabler," the playgoing public will have an opportunity to see a still different type of play. Tarkington's "The Intimate Stranger" affords a change that is delightful. Everyone from ten to one hundred knows of Tarkington's delightful style. And here, if ever, he displays his genius. As well as giving a different type of play, the camp has invited several of the summer colonists to play with them. Anyone who is an amateur and who has had a reasonable amount of experience can try out for the various parts and should they prove acceptable, will be cast.

For "The Intimate Stranger," a young lady who had had, besides her training, five years of experience, will add a touch of newness that will be appreciated.

MANY ATTENDED SCHOOL MEETING

SCHOOL OFFICERS VOTED SALARY—CONTINUE 9 MO. TERM

Clarence Meggison Elected to Succeed Clarence Wood—Hicken Re-elected for Another Term

Voting salaries to school officers for the first time in recent years, retention of a 9-month school term, a squabble over bus service and election of trustees were high spots at the annual meeting of Charlevoix school district No. 1, city and township, held Monday evening at the high school assembly.

Charlevoix tax-payers to the number of around 250; which is believed to have set a record of attendance, were present to air their views.

The meeting was opened by reading reports of the secretary and treasurer and the librarian's report. The financial report showed the board had handled total receipts of $83,916.93. Expenditures amounted to $74,493.90, leaving a balance on hand of $9,423.03, indicating finances are being handled in good shape.

A report from the lecture course committee showed that this entertainment feature had run $200 in the "red." In view of this fact, and also because of so many other attractions during the winter season, it was decided to discontinue the lecture course series.

The matter of school busses, operated since the discontinuance of ward schools to carry pupils from outlying districts to the central grade school, was the subject of considerable discussion. Township patrons charged that the busses have not been operated early enough in the fall, nor late enough in spring. Accusations and denials, charges and counter charges flew thick and fast, but in the end the matter was left to the discretion of the school board without any definite action.

Charlevoix schools will continue a 9-month term. At the 1930 meeting it was voted to hold a 9½ month term, but because of objections, this matter was left as it stands at present.

For the first time in our knowledge, all members of the school board were voted a salary. Members of the board will receive $50 per year, and the salary of the secretary and treasurer was set at $100.00 each.

Backed by a solid American Legion vote, Clarence Meggison was elected a member of the board to succeed Clarence N. Wood, who declined to be a candidate for another term. On the first ballot, the vote stood Meggison 56, Vern Norton 55, Henry Partridge 30, Mrs. C. Hanson 13. On the second ballot, Meggison received 124 votes out of the total of 193 cast.

William P. Hicken was re-elected for another term out of a field of five or more candidates. On the first ballot the vote was Hicken 87, Frank Partridge 17, Dr. F. F. McMillan 45, Vern Norton 46, William H. Cook 4. Mr. Hicken received 101 votes out of a total of 199 on the second ballot.

Township patrons, who have never had a representative on the school board as far as we can learn, failed again Monday night to put a candidate over. Inasmuch as the township's contribution to school operation costs amounts to around 10 per cent of the total, it hardly seems more than fair they should have a member on the board.

OBITUARY

(From The Normalite, June 26, 1931) Rev. John Small was born June 4, 1853, at Bethlehem, Pa. At the age of five his family moved to Jersey City, N. J., where he attended the grade and high school. For some years he worked for his father who was Superintendent of the Morris Canal and president of the Atlantic Coast Wrecking Co. Later he returned to school and attended the Centenary Collegiate Institute at Hackettstown, N. Y. His full college course was taken at Mt. Union college in Ohio. His theological training was received at Drew Theological Seminary from which he graduated in the class of 1881.

Mr. Small came west in the fall of 1881 and joined the Central Illinois Conference of the Methodist Episcopal church. His first appointment was at Reynolds, Ill. He served faithfully at a number of charges for a period of 38 years, among them Snunemin and Buckingham, where in each case he served the full term of five years. While pastor at Snunemin he completed a course of study at the Chicago Seminary of Science and received the Ph. D. degree.

In the fall of 1881 Mr. Small was married to Emma Lefar Stover of Boston, Mass. She passed away in 1908. Later he was married to Minnie M. Wilson of Normal who with a daughter, Mrs. Jessie B. Winder of Charlevoix, Mich., survives him. There are also three grandchildren and three great grandchildren.

Rev. Small retired from the active ministry in 1918 and has since lived a quiet life at his home, 614 N. School street. For about two years he has been in declining health. On June 24 he suffered a severe heart attack from which he never recovered.

BIG CIRCUS COMES HERE NEXT SUNDAY

HAGENBECK-WALLACE SHOW IS UNDER LEGION AUSPICES

Afternoon and Evening Performances at Legion Grounds, East Garfield—Many Attractions

For the first time in many years, Charlevoix is to be visited by one of the country's outstanding circuses.

Coming under the auspices of Leslie T. Shapton Post No. 226, American Legion, the world-famous Hagenbeck-Wallace circus will show at the Legion grounds, East Garfield avenue, on Sunday, July 26th, with afternoon and evening performances. The huge equipment will be unloaded here Saturday afternoon.

Sensations and thrills galore are packed into the 1931 performance of the Hagenbeck-Wallace show. Many attractions from Ringling Brothers circus, which is not on the road this year, have been added to the program of the Hagenbeck-Wallace show, providing a bigger list of attractions than ever before. Last year the show carried ten elephants, while this year there are 20. New aerial acts and other novelties not shown a year ago are listed.

Heading the list of dare-devils is "The Great Wilno" who is actually fired with violent velocity from the mouth of a monster cannon. Wilno's act is one of the sensations of the present day, as this human bullet shoots through space from the huge gun to a net many feet away. Wilno is an exclusive Hagenbeck-Wallace feature.

Clyde Beatty, the youthful subjugator, who is said to be the world's greatest animal trainer, will offer a display of over 30 ferocious Royal Bengal and Siberian tigers and African lions. This is the largest group ever presented under the tutelage of any American trainer. Aage Christians, a noted European trainer, will present a vicious and savage group of hyenas, leopards, pumas, bears and other animals.

Included among the arenic stars will be Poodle's Hanneford and Family of riders, the Flying Clarksons, Wright Troupe, the Montmarte Family of acrobats, the Lee Sisters, the Walter Neiss Troupe, and the Nortons. Clown alley, as usual, will contain only the best of laugh-provokers. "The Golden Orient," a beautiful story of old Japan, will provide the opening musical presentation.

OF INTEREST TO FARMERS
By B. C. Mellicamp

Sixteen Farmers Raising Certified Seed Potatoes

The list of Charlevoix county farmers who have applied for inspection of their seed potatoes has been released by the Crop Improvement association. It contains sixteen names, only two less than last year.

We find a total of 88 1/2 acres of Russet Rural, 2 acres of Russet Burbank, 1 1/2 acres of Irish Cobbler, and 1/2 acre White Rumlis being grown for certification this year. At the present time prospects point to a fine crop of potatoes. The vines are healthy and thrifty and of good development.

The following are the farmers raising certified seed for this year: Roscoe Smith, R. V. Liskum, East Jordan; George Meggison, W. H. Henley, Charlevoix; W. C. Behling, Boyne City; Earl Bricker, East Jordan; E. P. Jensen, Walloon Lake; F. A. Behling, Boyne City; W. K. Straw, Charlevoix; Henry Behling, Boyne City; John Addis, East Jordan; L. R. Hardy, Boyne City; Clint Blanchard, Charlevoix; H. C. Stephens, H. J. Korthase, Lee Sneathen, Boyne City.

Ten Charlevoix county farmers are endeavoring to raise table stock potatoes to meet the requirements of the New Standard Potato Club. This club has been organized with a view of securing a higher price for potatoes of a superior grade which will be produced by this group. For one thing all potatoes in this club will be kept separate. Then a much more exacting grade will be made from their production, which means the housewife will be better satisfied with her purchase and will be glad to pay a higher price for these superior potatoes.

It is hoped that at least 300 farmers in all sections of the state, will belong to the club, in order to have sufficient volume to handle the demand. Among the requirements to be met are that the seed must be closely related to certified seed, planted early, seed treated, sprayed several times, and harvested early.

A total of 67 acres of Russet Rural are listed for examination by representatives of the new club.

HIGH ALTITUDE POINT SOUTH OF CADILLAC

The highest point of land in the lower peninsula of Michigan has been definitely determined as being at a place about seven miles southeast of Cadillac. Two hills at this place, both of about the same height are approximately 1,710 feet above sea level.

Gaylord is the highest city in Michigan being 1,325 feet above sea level, according to the geological survey division of the department of conservation.

The Porcupine Mountains in the west end of the upper peninsula are 2,023 feet above sea level.

Elizabeth Hanneford, whose costumes are the joys of her feminine admirers wherever she goes, is coming here with the Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus and all her 14 trunks of beautiful dresses will be on the same train in a specially built wardrobe wagon.

Miss Hanneford has the reputation of being the best dressed, the prettiest and most graceful rider in the land of spangles. Her snow-white mount, Silver Beau, is the most beautiful of all circus horses. This pretty English girl is of the new school of equestrianism. While she is adept at the forward and backward somersault and all like feats of horsemanship, her most remarkable achievements lie in her daring toe and ballet dancing performed upon the back of her swiftly moving steed.

Miss Hanneford is but one of the two score riders to be seen here with the Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus, which will stage two exhibitions on Sunday, July 26, at the American Legion grounds, East Garfield avenue.

WEEKLY CAMP CHARLEVOIX NEWS COLUMN

VINCENT ARNOLD

On Saturday, July 11, Camp Charlevoix held a track and field meet. Each section had its own events, naturally, because of the difference in the ages of the boys.

Cabin 3, Tim Neal's cabin, carried off first honors in the junior section, with 32 points. The intermediates were headed by Colonel Gillespie's cabin, which managed to mass 24 markers.

Cabin 15, which houses the fellows helping in the kitchen, won in the senior division with 28 points. Austin Kline, one of the occupants of this cabin, was high point man with 15½ points. He was hard pressed by Curtis Seeladt of the intermediates who managed to gather 15 points to his credit.

Each Saturday night at the camp is known as stunt night, and is given over to rending, plays, etc. July 11 saw the presentation of a pantomime by the campers in which the actors say nothing, and interpret, painfully literally, the words of a reader backstage. For instance, when the reader says, "She caught her breath," the character must blow violently and clutch at the invisible cloud!

The counselors presented "The Shooting of Dan McGrew" in a very convincing manner. Mr. Reimann made a most authentic bartender, and Chick Hendry, in the role of the stranger, was excellent.

Chuck Husted gave a couple of readings, the best of which was "Cohen at the Telephone."

After a hard week's work the counselors and two men who help around camp have completed a good sized raft for the enjoyment of the swimmers. A diving board has been included in the raft's make-up, but it may have to be fixed, for the boys say that it does not have enough "spring" to it.

The camp was visited by quite a few parents last Saturday and Sunday. It is a rule of Camp Charlevoix that mothers and fathers wait two weeks after camp opens before coming up to see the boys.

The following parents were at the camp: Dr. and Mrs. A. S. Adams of Kalamazoo; Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Ashman, Midland; Mrs. Carl A. Branson and mother, Midland; Mr. and Mrs. Tom S. Clayton, Detroit; Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Bradley, Midland; Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Evans and Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Evans, both of Grand Rapids; Mrs. Blanche L. Greenman, Charlevoix; Mrs. A. L. Hain, Dearborn; Mr. and Mrs. Howard N. Hendricksen, Sandusky; Prof. and Mrs. A. C. McLaughlin, Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Patton, Detroit; Mr. and Mrs. Mark E. Putnam, Midland; Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Riel, La Grange, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. Clarence E. Seebaldt, Detroit; Mr. and Mrs. Paul M. Taylor, Huntington, Ind.; Mrs. J. W. Whitlick, Dearborn.

Claude A. Dock of Detroit, governor of the Michigan District of Kiwanis International, and his wife and son, were the guests of the camp Tuesday afternoon and evening. Gov. Dock spoke to the boys at supper hour.

Every Sunday afternoon one section has the use of the big camp truck and may go anywhere it pleases. Food is always in the form of sandwiches, a fruit drink, and cookies. On July 12th the intermediates traveled to Mt. McSaha, and the seniors who had lost their turn the previous Sunday, because of rain, went to Young's state park in the small Dodge and a counselor's car.

The boys look forward to these excursions with a great deal of pleasure for they mean a variation from regular camp routine which is always welcome.

On Monday night the camp held a gym night, during which the campers found themselves in rather embarrassing positions. The counselors sponsored the festivities, while the campers were the goats. All sorts of tricks were played on various boys, from the biggest senior to the smallest junior.

The evening ended in a young riot, for the counselors' quartet, which had promised to sing "About a Mile," a selection very popular with the boys, broke into the strains of "Ain't Gonna Study War No More," and the four culprits were forced to exit in a most uncounselor-like manner.

BITS OF INFORMATION

Direct sunlight injures leather of certain types. Keep leather-bound books, leather-upholstered furniture, and other leather articles destined for long service out of direct sunlight.

Silage made from corn, alfalfa, sweet clover and soybeans; and green alfalfa, cabbage, turnips, rape, and kale markedly affect the flavor and odor of milk if fed just before milking time. Give these feeds soon after milking.

An experiment in producing baby beef, conducted at the Havre, Mont., field station of the U. S. department of agriculture, showed that calves fattened on barley and alfalfa are likely to bloat when they receive up to five pounds of barley a head daily.

Horse and mule breeders in many states are now protected against inferior types of stallions and jacks such as were used 25 years ago, because 24 states now have legislation on public service sires. One of the most common requirements is that stallions and jacks must be sound and free from hereditary and transmissible defects and diseases. Some states allow only purebred stallions and jacks to be used, while others permit grade and scrub sires.

Boxes made of knotty lumber, if properly designed, will be as serviceable in shipping as are boxes made of clear lumber, tests made by the forest service show. In thin box lumber, don't use boards with knots exceeding in diameter one-fourth the width of the board, says the forest service. In thicker lumber, knots with a diameter of about one-half the width of the board will not lessen the serviceability of the box. The position of the knots makes little difference so long as they are not at the nailing edge.

Forage crops are more likely to be profitable on alkali lands than are crops grown for fruit or seeds, says the U. S. department of agriculture. Certain meadows and pasture grasses, sorghum, barley, and rye, as hay crops, sweet clover, and rape give fairly satisfactory results where the salt content of the soil is not excessive. Alfalfa will stand a moderate quantity of alkali if the grower can get a stand. Sugar beets are somewhat tolerant, but the size and quality of the roots are inferior when much alkali is present.

Pithy Directions as to How to Buy Seed

Expert of New York State College Outlines Plan.

From the New York State College of Agriculture at Ithaca come pithy directions as to how to buy seed, written by Paul Work of the station staff. Here is the how of good seed buying: "Seed, to be good, must be clean, viable, free from disease, and true to a good name."

"There are two ways of obtaining good seed: first, to produce it; secondly, to purchase it."

"Growers should learn, in a general way, how the seed business is handled, and should study the character, the ideals, the integrity, and the reputation of the various seed houses, for these differ as widely as do individuals in these respects."

"Make inquiries as to the origin of the seed and whether or not the houses maintain trial grounds. Learn to judge whether the statements made in the catalogues or by the salesman are based on facts or on mere ideas."

"When you locate good sources, endeavor to get seed of the identical percentage another year. The use of the seedsmen's stock numbers will help both you and the seedsmen in this. Don't shop around too much if you locate a good seedsmen. He soon learns your needs and will endeavor to meet them."

Carbohydrate Supply Cheapest in Any Silo

The need for the silo is not measured geographically. Silos are being successfully used in every state and nearly every county in the Union. Many of the countries of the world are using silos with success. Too many farmers have figured that they were out of the silo belt, and let it go at that. They should use the silo formulas to determine the economy of such structures rather than count themselves outside the silo district.

The losses in feed-crop forage are seldom spoken of. Weathering by sun, wind, rain and frost are great. When shocks and stacks are covered with snow and ice, then the silo is appreciated. But even if we did not have this weather damage, silage is our cheapest supply of digestible carbohydrates.

Most Convenient Form of Farm Repair Shop

Probably the most convenient form of repair shop for the farm is a building that combines the workshop with the garage. The car can be taken out and the machine run in while repairs are being made. The essentials of such a building are heat, reasonable light, and tools. The tools that come with machines may be sufficient for most work, although good tools, save time. Heat may be secured from an old stove which may not meet all the requirements of the living room but which will heat the shop.

The 14 by 20 building offers a well arranged combination shop and garage. Plans for it may be secured at cost from county extension agents or from the college of agriculture at Columbus, Mo.

Agricultural Squibs

Peat may be added to clay or sandy garden soils to improve their water-holding capacity.

Brooder stoves are an excellent means of warming the laying house during cold snaps this winter.

It has been costing the federal government more than $10,000 a day to keep down forest fires in national forests.

When raspberries and blackberries have been harvested, cut out and burn the old fruiting canes. This will help hold disease and insect injury in check.

Sunlight or ultra-violet ray is necessary for the prevention of rickets in dairy calves unless the ration fed the animals contains ample quantities of vitamin D.

Winter rye sown in the spring will not make a grain crop the first season, if at all. It will make an excellent pasture for a short time but heads would not shoot up.

Grapes do well on a wide range of soils, but they prefer a well-drained gravelly loam. They require good drainage and will suffer far more from wet feet than from lack of fertile soil.

Asparagus should be planted as early as possible in spring. A rich soil is required. Prepare the piece of ground this fall by digging it deeply and in the process work in plenty of barnyard manure.

Ordinarily, a wooden building needs repainting about once every three or four years. An extra good job of painting may last six years, but it's poor business to put off painting until it is absolutely needed.

Human beings are about the only animals with a taste for ice water. Poultry and live stock on the farm don't care for it. They do appreciate warm drinking water and show their appreciation in increased profits.

After a man is dead people usually find out how good he was.

VITAMIN SCOFFERS
That the widespread punning on the subject of calories and vitamins by newspaper columnists and speakers is helpful is the opinion given in a recent editorial in The Journal of the American Medical Association. Physicians throughout the country are placing greater faith in vitamins and they are being used directly in medicine and even surgery.

Says the medical journal:
"Two decades ago, the scoffers cried that 'what we need in this country is food, not calories.' When a few years later, it became likely that food would win the war and that calory-yielding foods were 'fuel for the fighters,' the humorist failed to find an appropriate theme in the calory concept.

"Today the vitamin hypothesis supplies a profitable theme for the columnist. He demands more evidence for the existence of the postulated food potencies.

"If they are real, why don't the chemists exhibit them, as they do salt and sugar?

"Such frivolous presentations of scientifically serious subjects have some wholesome aspects. The vitamin hypothesis, which still presents analogies with magic because it represents the unusual or unexpected in routine experience, has become something for the false publicity-seeker and the food-faker to conjure with. Vitamins have become the vague talking-points in the promotion of cereals and panaceas for health.

"Furthermore, modern advertising has all too often presented a dire picture of vitamin starvation among the population and has ventured to arouse the fear of untoward consequences unless immediate steps are taken to supply the lacking essential. One might also conclude, after reading some of the bill-boards or newspaper columns, that America is the home of a nation living exclusively on polished rice or corn-starch or gelatin or olive oil. Hence salvation is to be acquired only through the purchase of this or that proprietary vitamin preparation.

"The pictured cure is as dramatic as are the actual experiments with animals existing on such extremely one-side diets. Fortunately, the average American diet affords little justification for the assumption of widespread starvation with respect to any dietary requisite."

WE BORE OUR SHARE

While it has been the policy of preceding administrations, nevertheless we are pleased to see the same policy clearly defined by the powers that be at Washington now. While the agitation is going on in Europe for a change in the reparations treaty, and while some alteration probably is necessary and justified, nevertheless a further remission of indebtedness to the United States by the European countries who borrowed from us would be a gross injustice to the people of this country. We bore the heavy brunt of the expenses of the war while it was in progress anyway. We spent money like water on the other side of the Atlantic building anything they thought they wanted for war purposes. What did we get? Well, we got pretty much the dirty end of the stick. All we asked was a return of the money which we loaned over there after the war was ended and some of that which was loaned prior to our entry, much of which has been wiped off the state. But, just so long as Europe can unload any of her bills on the United States, she'll do it and without so much as a "thank you!" Washington's advice against European entanglements is just as good diplomacy today as it was in his day! Furthermore, by making them pay, we are staving off the next war which they are right now preparing for. — The Grand Ledge Independent.

TOO HANDY WITH GUNS

Another most regrettable double killing by a quick-triggered deputy sheriff is reported from Oklahoma, where two Mexican youths, one of them a cousin of President Rubio, were slain on the public highway. The slayer and another deputy accompanying him say one of the boys drew a pistol as the officers approached their parked car to question them as to what they were doing. Whether this be true or not, the boys are dead and can not give their side of the case.

When a person is halted on the public highway, he does not know whether he is being held up by bandits or officers of the law. In either case if the citizen makes any show of resistance he is likely to be killed. Innumerable killings and wounding of innocent persons by peace officers in recent years indicate that many of these officers are entirely too handy with their guns. On the other hand, the readiness of bandits to shoot officers makes the latter's position difficult at times.

Such is the state of civilization in the United States in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred thirty-one.—Ionia County News.

SWOONS RETURNING?

We hope that Prof. Allen Overstreet of the College of the City of

New York is wrong. The prof declares that women will soon do a complete reversal to Victorian manners, including the habit of swooning away at the slightest provocation. "Right today," he says, "we find women wearing long skirts, corsets and taking on what they believe are effeminate airs. The first thing we know they will be fainting again." If swooning becomes fashionable among the fair sex we intend to pick out a good tree. Fainting was a harmless pastime in the seventies, when travel was slow and the pace unhurried, but imagine what will happen when fair Ford drivers take to swooning when someone gives them a dirty look for running the red light. Say it ain't so, prof, say it ain't so!—Grand Rapids Chronicle.

RATION FOR GROWING CHICKENS SUGGESTED

Clean Grounds and Green Food Essential to Good Egg Production

Raising and maturing a flock of chicks that will lay during the fall and winter when egg prices are the highest, is an important item in maintaining a profitable poultry flock. Too often the poultryman forgets that the quality of the pullets in the fall depends largely on the summer range given the chicks, and he makes them shift for themselves at the time when they should be given every advantage.

The range should be on clean ground, where chicks have not been raised for at least three previous seasons. It should provide plenty of green feed. Meadow pasture is satisfactory, but alfalfa, sweet clover or red clover is ideal. Ample shade and plenty of water is essential.

A proper growing mash and scratch feed should also be provided for the fowls. Ready mixed mash sold by reputable feed concerns are used by many poultrymen. Others prefer mixing their own, and a mash recommended by the poultry department, Michigan State college is as follows: 20 pounds cornmeal (ground rather coarsely), 20 pounds flour middlings, 17 pounds bran, 15 pounds ground oatmeal, 10 pounds ground oats, 5 pounds ment scrap, 5 pounds dried milk, 5 pounds alfalfa meal, 2 pounds steamed bone meal, 1 pound salt. Hopper space, 10 to 15 feet per 100 chicks should be allowed. A good scratch feed is made up by mixing 200 pounds of cracked corn and 100 pounds of wheat.

Other points not to be overlooked at this season is the removal of the cockerels from the flock, plenty of fresh air for the birds at night and freedom from lice and mites.

Mrs. Ruth Dowd will offer a short course in dramatic art, also give lessons in singing. 309 Mason street, telephone 252.—Adv. 2811 pd.

INSPECTION MADE OF CHANNEL WATER MAIN

Work of Repairing Leaking Pipe Will Be Started Soon

George Wyers, local driver, made an inspection Tuesday of the broken water main beneath the channel between Round lake and Lake Michigan, in preparation for repairs to be made at once.

It was found that a joint in the main had either been disturbed or broken loose, allowing an escape of water. John Roe of Harbor Springs, will bring dredging equipment here Monday to make excavations to allow repair operations, which will be started as soon as possible.

HAYDEN'S "CREATION" AT INTERLOCHEN BOWL

A chorus of 1,000 voices, ringing out the music of Hayden's oratorio "Creation," will be a striking feature of the 1931 National High School Orchestra and Band camp at Interlochen July 21. Members of church choirs from all sections of Michigan will make a special pilgrimage to Interlochen on that day to participate in the huge chorus. Dr. John Einley Williamson, conductor of the widely famed Westminster choir, will direct the chorus, which is to be accompanied by the National High School orchestra of 200 pieces.

Sunday evening we will have our first evening service. We have secured a very interesting speaker for that occasion. Mr. Edward A. Marshall of Kalamazoo, will give an illustrated address on Palestine in the times of Christ. Mr. Marshall lived several years in Palestine gathering information for his lectures. He illustrates his lectures with the use of a 16-foot curtain upon which he builds a picture before your eyes. It is unique to say the least. Mrs. Marshall, an artist, and a graduate of the Chicago Art Institute, painted his pictures. This collection is valued at $5,000. Mr. Marshall's lectures are packed with bible truths which interest everyone. Among his many admirers are Carl A. Gray, president Union Pacific railroad; Rev. P. W. Philpott, pastor of the Church of the Open Door, Los Angeles; and Rev. Louis H. Evans, pastor First Presbyterian church, Pomona, Cal. An offering will be received for Mr. Marshall. He will speak at Ironton Sunday morning and Monday evening. At Charlevoix Sunday evening and Tuesday evening.

METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH

We appreciate the many guests who come to worship with us these summer Sunday mornings, and thank the members who bring their guests with them. You will always find welcome among us. The resort season with its irregularities is with us and we are in danger of forgetting some things that we can not afford to forget, so it is appropriate to speak Sunday morning on "The Sabbath for Man." Service time is 10:30.

Church school meets in the league room at 8:30 and the topic is "American Music and Musicians." All visiting youth especially invited.

Evening worship in charge of the pastor at 7:45. This is a profitable hour for quiet meditation.

The Ladies' Aid will meet with the pastor's family at Lakeside on Tuesday for pot-luck dinner at 1 p. m.

Colored folks service at 8 p. m. Thursday.

ST. MARY CHURCH

Services at St. Mary Catholic church during the summer months will be as follows:

Sundays: Low mass, 6:00 a. m.; high mass, 10:00 a. m.; week days at 7:00 a. m.

There will be no services at Bay Shore church during the summer months.

TEA GARDEN OPENS FOR SUMMER SEASON

Popular Summer Place Operated by Miss Edith Blair, Oklahoma City

The Tea Garden, popular summer place owned and operated on Clinton street by Miss Edith Blair of Oklahoma City, Okla., has opened for the 1931 summer season.

Several parties have already been served at luncheons and dinner parties, for which the Tea Garden is becoming increasingly popular.

In addition to her excellent table service, Miss Blair is this year featuring the Kitty Carroll lingerie, choice antiques and oil paintings from Wetzel Galleries, who are planning an exhibit later in the season.

Associated with Miss Blair this season is Mrs. Virginia Tubbs, popular bridge instructor, formerly with The Inn. Mrs. Tubbs, who will feature the Culbertson Forcing System, will give a lecture on bridge following luncheon each Monday.

 VIEWS OF OUR NEWS By Chicagoan  Last Week's News Reviewed by a Stranger in the Windy City

Chicago, Ill., July 14. — Hello, Charlevoix folks! You didn't know it, but I've been looking at you, viewing you as you were reflected in the columns of last week's Charlevoix Courier. You'd be surprised to know what a faithful mirror of your community I found this good newspaper to be.

If Editor Usher permits, I'll write each week, telling you what most interested me in the issue of the Courier for the previous week. Later on, when we're better acquainted, I may speak rather freely at times, and then I am almost sure to make occasional mistakes. However, when I'm too far off the track, I hope some of you will call me back by dropping me a line in care of this paper. Your letters will be forwarded, and I promise to give them prompt attention.

Before going a single line farther, we'll settle one thing so that it need never be mentioned again. None of you know me. I've never been in Charlevoix, and there isn't a chance in ten thousand that you've ever seen me. I'm just an odd piece of humanity that's been tossed about on life's sea for quite a spell. Now I find my keenest pleasure in reading the good weekly newspapers that come to my desk. Such papers as the Charlevoix Courier are ever so much closer to the lives of their readers than the metropolitan sheets. In future letters I'll say very little about myself but will confine my remarks to the impressions gained from reading the Courier from week to week.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Donald Feltig, and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Jones, recently wed. Here we have four happy people who are undaunted by tales of panics or possible foreign entanglements, or by the doubtful effects of the farm-bureau's new policy. 'Tis upon such optimism that the progress of the world depends. May their voyage on the sea of matrimony be free from storms—and icebergs.

After wading through a welter of domestic unhappiness with its consequent breaking up of families, such as I do each week in the daily press, it is like inhaling a breath of pure country air to read of the reunion which recently took place when Mrs. Oakley Saunders of Ironton, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Yahr of Bay Shore. Such family visits are an encouraging sign.

for, after all, the family is the foundation of our nation. Where family ties are strong, governments prosper. But where they weaken or dissolve, civilizations decay.

We seldom realize what a great contribution medical science has made to life and human happiness, until its blessings are revealed as they were in the case of Miss Marian Bartlett who recently underwent an operation for appendicitis. Think of the suffering she has been spared through medical progress, and what a foundation has been laid for future good health! That she will have a pleasant convalescence and a speedy recovery is my earnest wish.

If you don't want the whole world to know about your business, don't advertise it in the Courier. How do you suppose I learned that Frank Rumsiek has Scotch collie puppies for sale? Nope, a little bird did not tell me. I read the ad. in last week's Courier.

I'll be seeing you next week!

Sally Eilers Once a Mack Sennett Girl

Another royal red head is on the Gloria Swanson trail! Socrates once said up all night arguing to convince his friends that a great comedian could be a great tragedian too. As usual, he won the argument.

Gloria Swanson won it again when she came fresh from the Mack Sennett studios with the custard pie still dripping from her chin, and confounded the critics, who said it couldn't be done, by becoming one of the brightest emotional stars of the screen. And now comes copper topped Sally Eilers from that same Sennett incubator to a powerful dramatic role in the Fox drama, "Quick Millions," coming Thursday to the Palace theatre.

Most Popular in "A Connecticut Yankee"

Will Rogers, whose newest Fox production, Mark Twain's "A Connecticut Yankee," opens Friday and Saturday, July 17-18, at the Palace theatre, is one of this country's most unique personalities.

He is more completely himself than any other native of America. He is entirely without sham or pretense, is kindly and good humored because that is his nature.

He has a real zest for life, and consequently is interested in everything that has any bearing on human existence. His comments fortified by his unusual sense of humor, have made him America's most widely read writer.

When the talkies arrived Rogers became a star at once. He has made three of these for Fox, "They Had To See Paris," "So This Is London," and "Lightnin'."

Selection of his present vehicle, "A Connecticut Yankee," was an ideal one, combining as it does the wit and humor of America's two greatest humorists, Twain and Rogers. He is supported by such able players as Maureen O'Sullivan, Myrna Loy, Frank Albertson and William Farnum. David Butler directed.

One of Greta Nissen's early pictures, "The Wanderer," was directed by Raoul Walsh. The eminent director never forgot the delicate beauty and dramatic talent of the ravishing Nordic blonde actress, and she was his first thought for the leading feminine role of "Elsa," when he was casting "Women Of All Nations," the Fox production which opens Tuesday, July 21, at the Palace theatre, featuring Victor McLaglen, Edmund Lowe and El Brendel in the roles of "Flagg," "Quirt" and "Olsen," the dumb swede, the same roles they portrayed in "The Cock Eyed World."

Typical Orchestra Plays in "The Night Angel" Scene

One of the earliest of stringed instruments, the cymbalon, which preceded the pianoforte, is introduced in a scene of "The Night Angel"—Nancy Carroll-Fredric March starring production which comes to the Palace theatre on Sunday next for two days. The cymbalon is popular in Hungary and Bohemian countries. It resembles a harp-like instrument laid horizontally on a table. The operator strikes the strings with two muffled hammers, producing a sweet tone.

In "The Night Angel" the cymbalon is part of the orchestra in the gay tavern where Miss Carroll serves as an entertainer and where much of the action takes place. The locale of the story is Prague, capital city of Czechoslovakia.

MANY PEOPLE RETAIN OLD U. S. PAPER MONEY

Although Uncle Sam issued the newer paper currency in hills of smaller dimensions just two years ago, recalling the old, many inhabitants of 19 counties in southeastern Michigan have the previous issue of paper money tucked away in the mattress.

At least, so it would seem from the information given out by William R. Cation, managing editor of the Detroit branch of the Federal Reserve bank of Chicago. He says approximately $25,000 in $1 and $10 bills of the older issue are being turned in monthly from the territory served by them. This figure compares with $50,000 to $60,000 a month a year ago.

The present depression is no excuse for a man to loaf; if money is hard to get, work harder to get it.

Notice is hereby given that default has occurred in the conditions of that certain mortgage, dated the 1st day of September, 1923, executed by Elizabeth Nielsen, a widow, as mortgagor, to The Federal Land Bank of Saint Paul, a body corporate, of the City of St. Paul, County of Ramsey, State of Minnesota, as mortgagee, filed for record in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for Charlevoix county, Michigan, on the 1st day of September, A. D. 1923, at 1:30 o'clock p. m., recorded in Liber 62 of Mortgages on page 289 thereof, in that certain installment of Eighty-one and 25/100ths Dollars ($81.25), principal and interest, due September 1st, 1930, remains unpaid; and further that the taxes were not paid by the mortgagor and were permitted to become delinquent; that on the failure of said mortgagor to pay such taxes, The Federal Land Bank of Saint Paul did elect to pay the same, and on April 18th, 1931, paid the sum of Four Hundred Sixty-seven and 60/100ths Dollars ($467.60) as taxes for the years 1928, 1929 and 1930. That pursuant to the provisions of said mortgage, said mortgagee has elected to declare the whole debt payable, and there is due and payable at the date of this notice upon that debt secured by said mortgage, the sum of Twenty-nine Hundred Thirty-three and 32/100ths Dollars ($2,933.32); and that no action or proceeding at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover said debt or any part thereof, that by virtue of a power of sale therein contained, said mortgage will be foreclosed and the land and premises therein described lying and being in the County of Charlevoix and State of Michigan, as follows, to-wit:

Lots Two (2) and Three (3) and the Southeast Quarter of the Northwest Quarter (SE 1/4) of Section Nineteen (19) and the East Half of the Northwest Quarter (E 1/2 NW 1/4) of Section Thirty (30), all in Township Thirty-three (33) North, Range Seven (7) West, containing Two Hundred Fifteen (215) acres, more or less; will be sold at public auction to the highest bidder for cash by the Sheriff of Charlevoix county, at the front door of the court house, in the City of Charlevoix, in said county and state, on Tuesday, September 29, 1931, at 10:00 o'clock in the forenoon, to pay and satisfy the debt secured by said mortgage and the costs and disbursements allowed by law upon said foreclosure sale.

Dated this 29th day of June, 1931. The Federal Land Bank of Saint Paul, mortgagee.

James F. Shepherd, attorney for mortgagee, Charlevoix, Michigan.—26113

Notice of Mortgage Foreclosure Sale

Notice is hereby given that default has occurred in the conditions of that certain mortgage, dated the 2nd day of September, 1926, executed by John Priebe and Amelia Priebe, as his wife and in her own right, as mortgagors, to The Federal Land Bank of Saint Paul, a body corporate, of the City of St. Paul, County of Ramsey, State of Minnesota, as mortgagee, filed for record in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for Charlevoix county, Michigan, on the 24th day of September, A. D. 1926, at 11:00 o'clock a. m., recorded in Liber 62 of mortgages on page 343 thereof, in that partial installment amounting to sixty-five and no/100ths Dollars ($65.00), principal and interest due September 2, 1930, remains unpaid; and further that the taxes were not paid by the mortgagors and were permitted to become delinquent; that on the failure of said mortgagors to pay such taxes, The Federal Land Bank of Saint Paul did elect to pay the same, and on June 10th, 1931, paid the sum of Four Hundred and 42/100ths Dollars ($442.42) as taxes for the years 1929 and 1930. And further that the insurance premium was not paid by the mortgagors and was permitted to become delinquent; that on the failure of said mortgagors to pay such insurance, The Federal Land Bank of Saint Paul did elect to pay the same, and on February 17, 1931, did pay the sum of Four and 95/100ths Dollars ($4.95) as insurance, that pursuant to the provisions of said mortgage, said mortgagee has elected to declare the debt secured thereby to be now due and payable; and there is due and payable at the date of this notice upon the debt secured by said mortgage, the sum of Twenty-nine Hundred Twenty-two and 43/100ths Dollars ($2,922.43); and that no action or proceeding at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover said debt or any part thereof, that by virtue of a power of sale therein contained, said mortgage will be foreclosed and the land and premises therein described lying and being in the County of Charlevoix and State of Michigan, as follows, to-wit:

The Northwest Quarter (NW 1/4) Section Twenty-nine (29) Township Thirty-four (34) North, Range Six (6) West, containing One Hundred Fifty-nine (159) acres, more or less, according to the Government survey thereof, excepting therefrom One (1) acre in the Northeast corner thereof, Ten (10) rods North and South and Sixteen (16) rods East and West.

"WHITE FLEET" TEST CAR COMING

AT CHEVROLET GARAGE ON SATURDAY, JULY 18

Car One of Thirteen, Used in 9,000 Mile Indianapolis Run—Remarkable Instruments Carried

The Chevrolet sedan from the "white fleet" with which the Standard Oil company of Indiana is making an elaborate test of motor car lubrication will arrive in Charlevoix July 18, and will be on exhibit for several hours at Charlevoix Auto Sales, Charlevoix, and at other points in the city.

The car is one of the thirteen which were picked out of dealer's stocks by American Automobile Association experts and used in a 9,000-mile run on the Indianapolis speedway from March 17 to April 9, in the course of which more than 600,000 observations regarding performance of oils and gasoline were recorded. The knowledge gained from the test is now being published by the sponsors in articles and advertisements in newspapers and magazines.

After participating in a parade from Indianapolis to Detroit, and in the Jubilee parade in Chicago, the "white fleet" was broken up, and each car was sent out on a separate tour of thirteen north central states. The tours will require about five months' time for completion and will cover from 5,000 to 16,000 miles per car.

Remarkable Instruments Carried
For recording further observations on the tour the cars are equipped with a remarkable set of instruments. These include:

A thermometer which measures the temperature of the water passing from the cylinder block to the radiator.

A thermometer which measures oil temperature in the crank case, a decelerometer-accelerometer showing rates of speeding up and slowing down.

A fuel flow gauge indicating the flow of gasoline in gallons per hour at any instant and revealing fuel consumption at various speeds.

A split second chronometer to insure accurate timing.

A tachometer registering engine revolutions per minute at any and all speeds.

These instruments were specially installed at a cost of $500 per car to facilitate gathering data in the course of the tour. Each road pilot will write into the log book chained to his car thousands of readings of the instruments as well as exact records of fuel and oil consumption as he goes along. The log books will then provide for automotive engineers to study the most extensive lot of figures ever assembled regarding the performance of automobiles under actual touring conditions. It is anticipated that much additional information of interest to the motorist will be gained from the road experience of the test cars.

Cars Visit 450 Towns

The tour cars will visit a total of 450 different cities and towns. In each city visited the cars are being shown to automobile dealers and, under their auspices, to their clientele. Local Standard Oil representatives are working with the automobile dealers to make the visits of educational value in focusing of attention on recently discovered facts regard-

MICHIGAN AND HER RESORTS

One of the assets of the state of Michigan is its desirability as a summer vacation field. Its forests, lakes, clear-water streams and bracing air contribute to the enjoyment of a vacation period spent about them. The state has so many other desirable qualities and so many business interests that yield large returns, that Michigan cannot be called a vacation state, as others are, whose playgrounds constitute their chief assets.

This attraction must result in bringing to Michigan a very considerable sum of money every summer season, and that the state is not unmindful of this fact is shown by a movement to obtain an improvement in the provisions for entertaining those who come to her resorts and camps. The poorly built and dilapidated hotels and cottages that are frequently to be found at these places exercise a decidedly depressing effect upon the summer patronage of them all—the well-equipped as well as the poorly-equipped.

To effect a reform in this matter is recognized as a state job and an effort along that line is now being planned largely through the crusade of one of the state's influential newspapers—the Grand Rapids Herald. A Better Resort Train is soon to travel over the state, taking note of conditions. The Pennsylvania Railroad Co., whose lines cover the state, provides the train. Cooperating with the railroad will be Michigan State college, the state board of health, the state conservation department and the State Tourists and Resort association.

As a result of improvements expected to be obtained by the movement, not only the comfort of summer vacationists, but their health and every feature of the enjoyment they have a right to expect will be looked after. Of course this is not wholly altruistic; Michigan resorts expect as a result larger and better patronage, but they will deserve it.—Columbus, O., Dispatch.

WATCH YOUR HORSES!

The gentleman who entered the hall of fame for his exploit of stealing a red-hot stove will kindly move over to make room for an unknown genius from our own fair commonwealth of Michigan. This gentleman successfully performed the very difficult feat of stealing a horse off an island.

It occurred up on Mackinac Island, where the auto is proscribed, and one either walks, rides a bicycle or engages a horse-drawn vehicle. The island is not so large that it affords much concealment, but the fact remains that someone stole a horse belonging to one of the islanders, and the missing quadruped appears to have vanished from mortal ken. Unless the horse was the Annette Kellerman of its species, it is improbable that the thief made it swim to the mainland, so the only other explanation is that some tourist accidentally included it in the bundle of souvenirs including a couple of logs from the Old Fort that he was packing up to take back to the folks in Indiana.—Grand Rapids Chronicle.

"POLITICALLY PRACTICABLE"

How much money is now involved in the liquor business no one knows accurately. The Association Against the Prohibition Amendment estimates that the bill was $2,848,000,000 in 1929. Whether or not the estimate is correct in detail, the bootleg traffic unquestionably does a volume of business which must be measured in hundreds of millions.

This business pays tribute, and an immense tribute to politicians, but it pays no taxes.

Legislators worried with problems of finding money to pay the increasing cost of government are looking hungrily at the liquor business. Michigan, as already pointed out in Collier's, is showing them one way to get some of this money.

Michigan is taxing the raw material the importance of good lubrication in car operation.

Cars of the fleet were originally painted white as a precaution against accidents in night driving on the Indianapolis speedway. Because of their striking appearance in this respect they are attracting much attention on highways traveled and when seen on city and town streets. Their unusual instrument panels are also being viewed with much interest by motorists accustomed to a simpler set of instruments to govern their driving. The important facts which the operations of the cars are bringing out cannot be exhibited so concretely as the cars themselves, but they are also appealing to popular interest as they are being told and published.

materials out of which home brew and bootleg beer are made.

This method of legally recognizing the illegal liquor trade is obviously not the sane, honorable and statesmanlike way of dealing with the failure of prohibition. It is, however, politically practicable. Tacitly the Michigan legislature has acknowledged the existence of the liquor traffic and has imposed a tax upon it.

The sensible and decent course is to admit the existing facts and to deal frankly with them. This implies the revision of the eighteenth amendment so that the federal government, the states and local governments may regulate and control a business now and long conducted in defiance of law.—Collier's Weekly.

BEER IN MICHIGAN

Despite the bitter opposition of the Anti-Saloon league, the Michigan legislature has overridden Governor Wilbur M. Brucker's veto and reinstated a malt tax law.

Under the new act a levy of five cents a pound is placed on malt extract and five cents a gallon on wort or liquid malt. The new law also provides a $5 license fee to be paid by all manufacturers and dealers, with a $5 fee for each vehicle used in the transportation of malt products.

Receipts of the measure, it is the conservative estimate, will be $2,250,000 annually.

If $250,000 covers the tax paid by the makers of and dealers in malt extract, a fair assumption, there remains $2,000,000 to be collected for the malt itself. We are told two pounds of malt makes five gallons of beer on which the tax would be 10 cents, or 2 cents a gallon.

Two million dollars, therefore, represents 100,000,000 gallons or 800,000,000 pints of beer. With the average beer bottle holding two-thirds of a pint, the $2,000,000 tax covers 1,200,000,000 bottles.

Michigan population at the last census was 4,842,325. The state legislature then, is anticipating that the average family of five will consume during a year two bottles of beer daily, with ten bottles a family for each Sunday and the Thanksgiving, Christmas, New Year's, George Washington's birthday and Fourth of July holidays.

It will be interesting to note, when the first year's malt tax receipts are in, whether the Michigan folks are as hearty beer drinkers as their legislature believes.—Baltimore Sun.

SUPPOSE for a moment that advertising didn't exist—that there were no trade-marked goods—that everything you bought had to be judged solely by its look or feel or taste.

Imagine your self setting out to do the morning's shopping under such conditions. You'd drive down the street, looking in windows for the articles you needed—the blouses for Johnny, the half dozen bath towels, the toilet soap, the ginger ale for tomorrow's picnic. You'd stop, ask questions, examine the towels, smell the soap, wonder if here was your money's worth or if you might find something better farther on. And though you followed this procedure mile after weary mile, you could never be sure.

Computed simply in terms of gasoline and tires and shoe leather, advertising saves you a startling sum every year. And if you add the value of your time, the amount is vastly increased.

When you buy a product that is advertised you know in advance what you will get, how much it costs and where you can obtain it. That is why, in millions of modern homes, the newspaper advertising columns are a daily guide to purchases.

CONSERVATION FORCE IS CUT

THREE OFFICERS DEMOTED AND SEVENTEEN DISMISSED

Ten Districts in Lower Peninsula Reduced to Six—Charlevoix District Under Thomas Marlette

Reductions in the lower peninsula field force of the conservation department, necessitated by material cuts in special funds for the next two years, were announced by Geo. R. Hagarth, director of conservation.

The number of districts in the lower peninsula were reduced from 10 to 6; three district wardens were reduced to the rank of conservation officers; and 17 conservation officers were discharged.

Earlier this week the director reduced the number of districts in the upper peninsula from eight to four and released 12 officers.

The district officers who were demoted are Ed Duell of Boyne City, Mark Crow of Traverse City, and James Leggett of Algonac.

Conservation officers who are discharged are:

George Liberty, Wolverine; John Muckle, Central Lake; A. J. Brockman, Vanderbilt; Earl Dutton, Roscommon; A. W. Wilson, Lake City; Cecil Basford, Baldwin; Geo. Graff, Hart; Gene Hart, Twin Lakes; Chas. Whitman, White Cloud; Frank Salisbury, Grand Haven; Herbert Crook, Clarkston; Noah Datzert, Washington; Emil Beuschlein, Mt. Clemens; Isaac Penbody, Grosse Ile; Ed Lamb, Cassopolis; Otto Schneller, Detroit; and Warren Burton, Howell.

WEEKS BIG AID TO FARMERS

Michigan Bean and Potato Crops Considerably Larger Than Year Ago, Says Farm Report

Although total precipitation during June was below normal in most sections of the state, timely rains and above normal temperatures favored plant growth, and the condition of all field crops except beans and tame hay was average or above on July 1. While the acreage of fall-sown grains is below that of last year, planting conditions were generally favorable this spring, and the total acreage of the 12 principal crops is estimated to be two per cent larger than the area harvested last fall, but only 1 per cent larger than the planted acreage of last July. The increases compared with last year's harvested acreages for the various crops are: corn, 9 per cent; field beans, 8 per cent; oats, 4 per cent; barley, 30 per cent; potatoes, 6 per cent; alfalfa, 5 per cent; and field peas, 14 per cent. The acreage of winter wheat remaining for harvest is set at 4 per cent less than last year, and rye 5 per cent less. The tame hay acreage is estimated to be 5 per cent smaller than the 1930 harvested acreage, and the state's sugar beet acreage 15 per cent smaller.

The Michigan bean acreage is estimated at 842,000 acres, which is 7.9 per cent more than was harvested last fall, but only 1.3 per cent more than was planted last spring, owing to the heavy abandonment last year. The condition of the crop on July 1 was only 77 per cent of normal, or five points below average for that date. This low figure reflects the poor condition of a good many fields where stands are spotted due to poor germination, cutworm and bean maggot damage. However, replantings were sufficiently early in most sections so that with favorable weather they will mature a crop. The increase in acreage this year was largely in the Saginaw valley and Thumb sections, the outlying counties of the bean belt showing a general tendency to reduce their acreages after the low yields secured last year. Since yields in the former areas have been, on the average, about 10 per cent above those for the state as a whole, the shift in acreage this year favors a higher state average yield than when the increases are in the marginal bean sections such as was the case last year. The indicated production on July 1 is reported at 8,420,000 bushels, whereas last year's crop was cut by the drought to 4,602,000 bushels.

The state's potato acreage is estimated at 250,000 acres as compared with 236,000 harvested last year. Stands are reported generally good and the crop made excellent progress during the past month, according to Irvin Holmes, assistant agricultural statistician, and Herbert E. Powell, commissioner of agriculture. The condition of 86 per cent, which is the same as the ten-year average for July 1, indicates a possible production of 27,250,000 bushels. Last year the drought coupled with October freezes reduced the crop to 13,688,000 bushels.

Although the acreage of winter wheat for harvest is smaller than a year ago, present condition and probable yield reports indicates a yield of 22.5 bushels per acre. The ten-year average for the state is only 17.8 bushels. While there was some damage from lodging due to heavy rains, wind and hail, in local areas, the outlook at harvest time for the state as a whole was 14 points above average. The production is estimated at 15,345,000 bushels.

Since several of the state's sugar beet factories will not operate this year, the acreage of this crop amounts to only 63,000 acres. Last year 85,000 acres were planted, of which 74,000 were harvested. The condition of the crop on the first of the month was reported at 2 points above average, which indicates a probable production of 412,000 tons. Last year 513,000 tons were harvested.

While the June drop on most fruits was quite heavy, the outlook on July 1 pointed to larger production than last year for all fruits, except pears and grapes. The condition of the various fruits, in terms of per centages of a full crop are: apples 71, peaches 82, pears 48, cherries 62, and grapes 62.

NEW ENTERTAINMENT FEATURES AT THE INN

Construction of Tea and Outdoor Dance Patio Started

Conforming with the policy of providing new and additional entertainment facilities for guests at The Inn, Glen L. Adams, manager, has announced plans for the construction of a tea and outdoor dance patio on The Inn grounds.

Work on the structure has been started and is well under way at this time. The patio is located on the lawn in front of the hotel. Attractive lawn furnishings and special colored lighting will add to the attractiveness of the patio and its surroundings.

While plans have not been completed, it is expected afternoon tea dances will be held Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday afternoons, also dancing every evening with weather permitting. In case of inclement weather, dancing will be in the casino or Dutch room. The Montclair Club orchestra, which has proven popular with The Inn guests this season, will furnish music.

Mr. Adams also announced the patio would be available to private parties upon request, and that summer visitors from the cottage colonies would be welcomed to take advantage of this new entertainment feature at any time. The programs at the patio, as well as those connected with the hotel, are under the direction of Mrs. Rita R. Friedman, popular social hostess.

Dancing during the luncheon and dinner hours, a new feature at The Inn this year, is proving an attractive feature with guests and the many cottagers who are enjoying The Inn cuisine.

FARMERS DAY TO BE HOME TALENT EVENT

Members of College Staff and Experimental Work on Program July 31

Farmers day at Michigan State college, Friday, July 31, will provide a homelike atmosphere for visitors as the economy which has been the farmer's household companion for several years will be apparent on the day's program which will use home talent for the afternoon talks and an inspection of the college herds and fields for the morning's entertainment.

Doubtless this year's program will be remembered long after some of the more pretentious ones preceding it have been forgotten because the college, now has so many things of interest that anyone interested in agriculture can profitably employ more than one day in examining the work which is being done with crops and livestock.

Routes will be laid out and marked over the campus and the college farm so the visitors can select the particular work or stock which they wish to see. Full directions and an explanation of the numbered routes will be handed to each visitor as they enter the college grounds.

Each of the college departments will have members of their staffs stationed at the college buildings or at the experimental plots to explain how each experiment is being performed and the results which have been obtained. Some of the experiments have been carried on for a series of years and some have been recently started as new problems in farming have arisen.

are enjoyed greatly by everyone. Many amusing stunts and acts are gotten up and performed by both campers and counselors, and much unsuspected dramatic talent brought to light. The campers have had their first overnight canoe trips, with the accompanying thrills of sleeping out in the open and cooking over a camp fire, things which they have been prepared to do by the camp-craft classes. Almost all of the girls have contributed to the first two issues of the Kchatter, the camp paper, which is read aloud Sunday evening by the editor, Miss Jean Anderson of Ann Arbor, a student at Vassar college. It has been enthusiastically received by all the camp.

Many of the parents have visited their daughters during the first two weeks, and been spectators of the camp life during their stay. They are: Mr. and Mrs. Van Keulen of Grand Rapids, Mrs. Conde and mother of Flint, Mrs. Marine of Lansing, Mr. and Mrs. Salamon and son of Rogers City, Mr. and Mrs. Woodruff of State college, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. Kanouse and daughter of Ann Arbor, Mrs. Martin of Ann Arbor, Mr. and Mrs. Bradley, Mr. Neal and Miss Helen Newton of Midland; Mr. and Mrs. Putnam of Midland, with their guest, Miss Englad, of Detroit.

GIRL CAMPERS ENJOYED BOAT TRIPS

VISITED JORDAN RIVER AND MACKINAC ISLAND

Competition for Honor Points Aroused Interest—Mother's Day Is Event of Coming Week

Kamp Kairphree's regular routine has been broken twice this week by extra activities. The first break came when the senior group of girls went on an overnight canoe trip down the Jordan river to Lake Charlevoix, accompanied by Miss Brauns, the swimming instructor, and Mr. Swain. The trip included some enjoyable paddling down the lovely river, a visit to East Jordan, meals cooked in the open, and a night spent sleeping outdoors. Everyone had a wonderful time, according to the reports next morning when the "River-trippers" came paddling home across the lake.

The second break was caused by a trip to Mackinac Island, taken by many of the campers on Friday. This excursion proved to be a very enjoyable one, including as it did the thrill of a boat ride and the fun of exploring the island with its interesting historical points. The party returned to camp laden with souvenirs and stories to tell to those who had remained at home. Those who did not go on this trip spent the day in a way almost as enjoyable. No classes were held, and a short canoe trip, a picnic, and two long swims filled the time happily.

Except for these interesting trips, however, the regular schedule of classes in nature, dancing, camp craft, swimming, canoeing, riflery, archery and art has continued. Riding remains one of the most popular activities, but great interest is shown in all aspects of the camp life. The keen competition between the opposing groups of Blues and Whites is one great factor in arousing this interest, as individual competition for points is another. Every girl is interested in earning the various honors which are given as a reward for various numbers of points. Sunday night was the occasion for the awarding of the first of these honors. Emily Espenshade, Jane Cheney, Dorothy Sprau, Betty Schneider, Winifred Van Keulen, and Ruth Putnam were given K. K. armbands to mark the gaining of their first one hundred points.

Visitors this week have been: Mr. and Mrs. Van Keulen of Grand Rapids, and Mrs. D'Ooge of Ypsilanti, and daughter, Mrs. Boucher.

Saturday, the 25th, has been set as the day for the annual camp Mother's day. On this day the parents of the girls are made welcome at the camp and given an opportunity to watch the regular activities of a camper's day. The camp would be very glad to welcome any visitors from Charlevoix who would be interested.

LEGION AUXILIARY ELECTED OFFICERS

Applications Will Be Received Until August 15 for Charter Members

At a recent meeting, the first held since receiving their charter, members of the Charlevoix Legion Auxiliary elected permanent officers.

Those chosen were: President, Mrs. Lee C. Allard; vice-pres., Mrs. Wm. Gosse; sec., Mrs. Albert Taylor; treas., Mrs. Sam King; publicity, Mrs. Ray Hamilton; chaplain, Mrs. George Keldorhouse; color bearers, Mrs. Chas. Hamlin, Mrs. Conrad Sternberg; sergeant, Mrs. Harlan McGahan.

The charter is open until August 15th and anyone eligible may become a charter member providing their application is made within the specified time limit. Application blanks may be procured from the president or any Auxiliary member.

The next meeting will be held Friday evening, July 24th, and all are urged to be present.

MAY GET BURIAL FLAGS FOR SOLDIERS SERVICES

Application for Emblem May Be Procured at Local Office

Postmaster George W. Weaver Saturday announced receipt of burial flags for burial services of veterans of American wars, including women who served as army nurses between April 21, 1898, and February 2, 1901.

The flag, 5x9 1/2 feet, may be obtained from Mr. Weaver or any other county seat postmaster, the nearest United States veterans hospital, regional office, national home or other field station of the Veterans' administration.

Application must be made by the next of kin on forms provided by the postmaster or other authority, or by the person responsible for the burial or by a representative of a welfare or ex-service organization or other person having knowledge of the facts. Proof of service by way of discharge certificate is requisite.

In case the flag cannot be obtained from the regular sources in time for the burial, the government will allow $7 through reimbursement.

Postmaster Weaver will keep on hand a supply of 24 flags. Each time there is a withdrawal a new flag or new flags will be supplied.

LEGION TO STAGE A BOXING PROGRAM

SIX BOUTS BILLED HERE NEXT FRIDAY NIGHT

Ten Round Go Between Johnny Bangert, Bay City, and Morty Simmons, Flint, Heads Program

Northern Michigan fistie fans will be interested in the announcement that Leo "Cy" Powers, American Legion boxing show promoter, is planning a card of bouts for the coming week at Charlevoix.

According to present plans, the show will be held Friday evening, July 31st, at the Charlevoix gymnasium under auspices of Leslie T. Shapton Post No. 226.

Heading the bill of six bouts will be a ten-round go-between Johnny Bangert of Bay City, former Michigan welter weight champion, and Morty Simmons of Flint. Weighing in at 145, these boys will fight to a referee's decision.

This scrap will be the renewal of a long standing feud. Bangert is the only Michigan welter holding a decision of Simmons, and Morty's manager has been gunning for a return bout for some time. It should be a merry affair when they get into the ring here. Both are colorful fighters and the personal angle adds just the necessary touch which makes a good fight.

Amos Hall, Charlevoix colored flash, will be featured in the six-round semi-final. The only trouble confronting the promoters at the present time is to get a fighter of Hall's caliber for the other half of the bout. They are scouring southern Michigan for an opponent and promise to bring the best colored fighter in the state. In his last two appearances in a local ring, Hall has polished off his men with knock-outs. The local boy puts up a good fight and has always been popular with fans.

Frank Winnick, another local boy, will fight in one of the four-rounders, and others on the bill come from Petoskey and Traverse City.

Tickets will be placed on sale soon at popular prices.

ANNUAL HORSE SHOW EVENT OF NEXT WEEK

Hooker's Paddock Will Be Scene of Colorful Social Affair

A coming event of interest to Charlevoix summer residents is the 4th annual Ladies' Horse Show and Gymkhna at Hooker's Paddock on Division street.

The event will be staged Tuesday, July 28th, under the direction of A. W. Sankey, manager. Music will be furnished through the courtesy of the Charlevoix city band.

Those who will judge the various events are W. H. Weil, Chicago; F. H. Pratt and W. J. Rennie, Traverse City. Mrs. Geraldine Sherrill of Cincinnati, Ohio, will be judge of the children's fancy dress costume ride.

The Horse Show sponsored by Hooker's Academy has always been a popular affair among summer cottagers and is one of the outstanding social events of the resort season.

JACKSON YOUTH WINS GOLF TITLE

REX BIGELOW TRIUMPHED OVER LARRY WOOD, DETROIT, SATURDAY, TO GAIN COVETED CROWN

Margin Over Detroit Is One Up—Turned Second Nine in Morning Round in Par-Shattering 34—Cards of Winner Showed Totals of 73 and 81 for 36-Hole Match Play

Rex Bigelow, 19-year-old city champion of Jackson, Saturday won his first amateur golf championship by defeating Larry Wood of Detroit, 1 up in the 36-hole finals of the 25th annual tournament of the Michigan State Golf league, over the Belvedere Country Club course.

It was a hard fought match from the start. Wood took the lead at the third, shooting a par four, while the Jackson player needed five, but Bigelow copped the next hole and evened matters. Wood came right back and won the fifth after Bigelow had landed his ball in a creek, and the Detroit contender was two-up after the seventh, where Bigelow's drive found a bad lie in a roadway at the left, forcing him to take a 5, one over par. Bigelow, however, won the eighth to reduce his opponent's lead to one up. They each haggled a birdie four on the ninth.

Bigelow made a spectacular rally on the second nine. After they halved the tenth, eleventh and twelfth, Bigelow shot a birdie three on the thirteenth and another birdie on the fifteenth, winning both holes and going into the lead, one up. He maintained the advantage when they halved the sixteenth, seventeenth and eighteenth.

Squares Match at Twentieth Wood evened the match on the twentieth when Bigelow drove out of bounds, while Wood went down in four, one less than his opponent. The Detroit boy went one-up on the next when Bigelow three-putted, and increased his lead to two holes by winning the twenty-third, one which Bigelow's putter again failed him.

Wood found a trap on the 26th and needed four strokes, while Bigelow was down in par three, reducing the Detroit's lead to one hole, but Wood scored a birdie four on the 27th, sinking a 40-foot putt, and went two-up again. Bigelow missed a 3-foot putt on this hole and took a five.

Bigelow, who was two down to Wood at the 27th, capitalized on the erratic iron shots of his opponent to win the 36-hole finals, his first major championship. A birdie four gave the Jackson player the 28th hole, reducing Wood's lead to one, but the Detroit boy took the next hole and was two-up again when Bigelow three-putted.

Bigelow Takes Lead It was then that Wood's iron failed him, his second shot being short, although he was outdriving the Jackson player. Bigelow won the 30th, 31st and 32nd holes in order, shooting pars on each, one stroke less than required by Wood.

They played the 33rd hole in par, but Wood won the next with a five, while Bigelow was struggling with a six. Four is par for the hole. The Jackson boy, however, shot another par on the 35th, which was good enough to win the hole and place him one up again. They halved the final hole of the match, taking fives, one above par, Bigelow retaining his one-hole lead.

Has Had Several Titles

Rex Bigelow of Jackson Country club, the new state amateur golf champion, has been playing golf six years and in this brief space of time he has held various golf titles. His first championship was the junior club title at the Masonic Country club in 1928, and in 1929 he won the Masonic Country club senior championship and retained his title in 1930.

Bigelow transferred to the Jackson Country club this year. Bigelow annexed the city golf championship in 1930. He failed to qualify in the state amateur at Detroit in 1929, but came through in 1930 at Charlevoix, but was eliminated in the earlier rounds.

Played in Western Junior He participated in 1929-30 in the western junior championship at Chicago, but was defeated after playing two rounds each year. This year he attempted to qualify for the United States open at Oakland Hills Country club. On the 17th hole he took 10 strokes to get out and lost his chance for qualifying.

Bigelow is the only golfer ever to equal par 72 on the Masonic club course. He tied the municipal course record at Sharp park at 72, but this old mark was broken last week by Johnny Addison, a semifinalist in the state amateur tournament last week.

Wins City Trophy

In addition to winning the Michigan State Golf League golf cup, emblematic of state amateur supremacy, and the championship prize, Bigelow was also awarded a handsome travelling bag, given to the winner by the city of Charlevoix.

Milton Converse, professional, and officials of the Belvedere Golf club have expressed their appreciation of the help given by city police officers in handling the vexing caddy problem this year.

LOCAL BALL TEAM LOST SUNDAY GAME

Dropped Close Contest at Indian River by 6 to 5 Score

In a closely-fought game, featured by a triple play by Amos John in the seventh inning, Charlevoix independent baseball team lost to Indian River Sunday by a 6 to 5 score.

Both teams mugged up five runs in the first two innings, and from then on to the last half of the ninth were deadlocked. Indian River scored the winning run in their half of the final inning.

Charlevoix plays away from home again next Sunday. On August 2nd they will play the first of a series of six home games with East Jordan.

FAMILY REUNION WAS HELD AT TROUT LAKE

Five Generations Represented at Home of Former County Resident

We are in receipt of the following communication from Miss Grace Papineau, former local resident, concerning a recent family reunion.

"The home of Robert McMillan at Trout Lake was the scene of a happy family reunion July 7th.

"The occasion was the ninety-third birthday of Mrs. Grace McMillan, widow of the late Duncan McMillan, residents of Echo township near East Jordan from 1870 to 1914, when they moved across the straits to Trout Lake.

"At the reunion were five sons, Duncan, John, Robert, Harry and Ira, and a daughter, Mrs. Flora Papineau. Two daughters, Mrs. T. E. Nowland and Mrs. Mary Hodges were unable to be present.

"Mrs. McMillan has forty grandchildren living, of whom nineteen were present; fifty-five great-grandchildren, of whom twenty-five were there; and one great-great-grandchild, which made five generations represented.

"A nephew, Duncan McMillan, his wife and daughter, Leona, who was celebrating her fifteenth birthday, were also there. In all, 47 were present for the happy occasion.

CHRISTIAN GROUP AT TYRRELL CAMP

OPENED SUMMER SESSION ON MONDAY OF THIS WEEK

Thirty-One Members Grand Rapids League of Young Men's Society There—Fine Program Planned

The Grand Rapids League Camp is now in full swing at Tyrrell's Vacation Camps, Old Antrim City, on Grand Traverse Bay. Most of the boys arrived Saturday and by Monday night they were there 31 strong. This is the third year of the camp at this location. The first year the boys brought their own tents, but now they are quartered in log cabins, holding six boys each. Last year a camp kitchen, also built of logs, was added, while this year a log dining room was added. A new well furnishing excellent water, was also a new addition.

Monday morning was spent building the raft. Down the Bay in two and three came the boys from the north pushing, riding and pulling the logs they had collected along the shore of camp. Then the roof of an old fish shanty furnished the floor, and behold a raft large enough to hold half the camp at once.

This camp is sponsored by the Grand Rapids League of Young Men's Societies, all Christian Reformed Church fellows. E. R. Post, teacher in the Christian high school in Grand Rapids, is camp director. Fred Ophof, is cook and Wallace Waalkes, formerly life guard at Central Park, Black lake, near Holland, is the camp's life guard.

Others present so far this year are Jay Pylman, Edward Hekman, Edso Hekman, Edgar Hekman, Orie Zand, George Quist, Earl Wierenga, Ralph Lendemulder, John Ritsema, John J. Ritsema, C. DeVries, H. Groelasma, G. Kingma, F. Boersma, M. Van Duijn, William Brouwer, A. Warners, Ben Van Houten, Burt Vande Vusse, John Datman, H. De Boer, A. Battling, F. Handloegen, James La Grande, Gilbert La Grande. WISCONSIN STEEL-HEAD SPAWN HERE

Tagging Shows They Migrate Across Lake Michigan Each Year

A swim across Lake Michigan doesn't offer many obstacles to a rainbow trout. In fact, according to the department of conservation, such a trip is rather ordinary.

The institute for fisheries research of the department has reported that a trout tagged by Smith Brothers, commercial fishermen at Port Washington, Wis., July 18, 1930, was recently caught at Junction dam on the Manistee river. It also reported that a rainbow trout tagged at Junction dam was later caught by Richard Lade and son three miles north of Manitowoc, Wisconsin.

There seems to be proof, according to the institute, that a rainbow (steelhead) which live as adults on the Wisconsin side of the lake, use the Manistee river in Michigan for spawning purposes.

SHAKESPEARE CAMP PREPARE NEW PLAY

TARKINGTON'S "THE INTIMATE STRANGER" IS NEXT

"The Mollusc" Will Be Given at Bay View; Cast Preparing for Shakespearean Productions

The Shakespeare players at their theatre at Ironton closed the final performance of "Hedda Gabler" Friday night and then set themselves to preparing for two performances of "The Mollusc," which were given at Bay View on the Chautauqua program. Part of the camp group have been rehearsing "The Intimate Strangers" for the opening on Wednesday evening.

While the majority of the cast for the new show will be from camp, two new people have been added to the group for future performances. Miss Mary Virginia Wilson, who is to play the part of Florence in the coming show, has had quite a bit of experience in amateur dramatics. Mrs. Ruth Anne Dowd, who will portray nunt Ellen, a difficult character role, has been interested in dramatics for quite some time. She is a teacher of dramatics in the Charlevoix schools.

It is the aim of Dr. Earl E. Fleischman to carry out the policies in the camp theatre that he has tried and proven at the University of Michigan. He wants to open his cast to as many people as possible. Of course, the individuals must have had considerable previous experience and be able to give, unflinchingly, of their time during the period that the show is in rehearsal. By furthering this policy it is possible to give a wider range of shows than otherwise and to uncover new talent that might later prove a boon to all concerned.

Dr. Fleischman says that anyone dealing with a group of amateurs must forever and always keep alert lest he find himself overlooking a potential Macklin or Garrick. Every week until the end of the season the camp theatre will offer a new show presented by some new people. It is impossible to have a complete change of cast in every performance, but with the new faces coming to camp for the balance of the season a great number of new people will be seen with each new performance.

A group of the players have already commenced rehearsals for the first Shakespearean play which will be given this season. "The Taming of the Shrew" will be the first, followed by "As You Like It."

An entirely different type of drama is to be presented this week. Everyone who knows Tarkington knows his "The Intimate Strangers," and will welcome the opportunity to see this shrewdly drawn farce portrayed. The story is set in a country town. The first scene depicts a railway station as it is found still in some small towns. The events which take place afford many, many hearty laughs. As the scene moves to the interior of a farm home the laughs increase and there is excellent character portrayal. In "The Intimate Strangers," Tarkington is at his best and he allows his humor and wit full sway over him. However, his humor is clean, wholesome and enjoyable.

LIQUOR LAW VIOLATORS ARE SENTENCED

Wm. Pearl Given 18 Months at Jackson—Three Placed on Probation

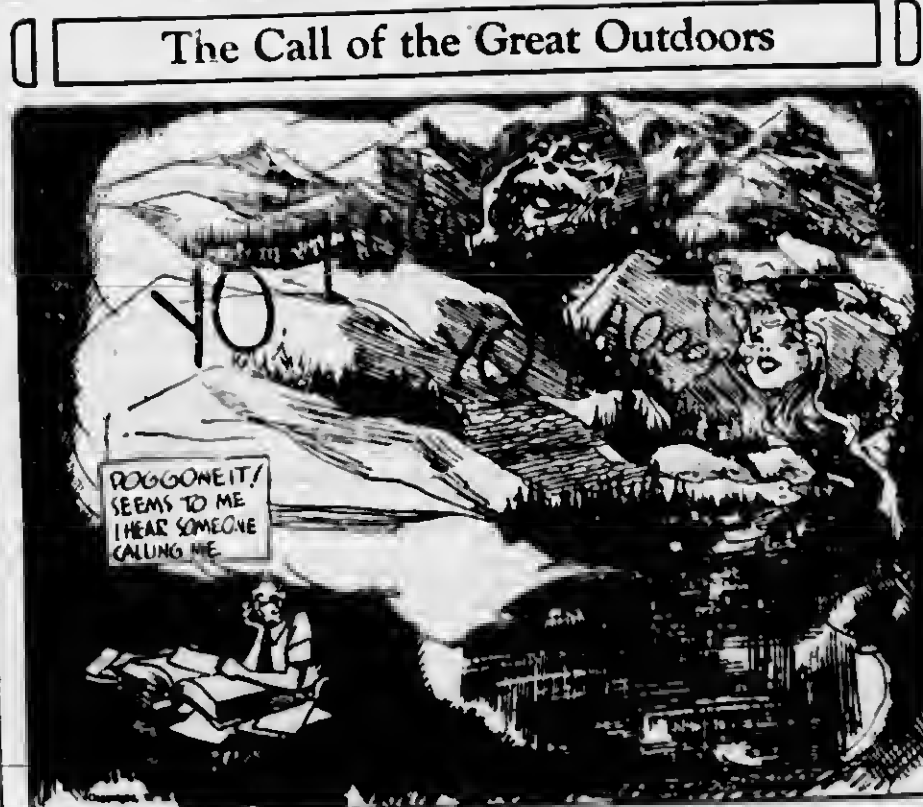

At a special session of circuit court Monday afternoon, Judge Parm C. Gilbert of Traverse City, sentenced William Pearl, 78-year-old local resident, to serve eighteen months at Jackson prison for violation of the liquor law. It was Pearl's third offense since 1911. Pearl was arrested last week by Sheriff Dave Vaughan at his place near Mt. McSaubia.

Delos Ostrum and Frank Kane, Hayes township farmers, entered pleas of guilty on a similar charge. They were given until the August term of court to arrange their affairs before sentence is passed. Ostrum has a previous record.

Floyd Morgan, Charles Belha and Thomas McWaters, all of East Jordan, taken in raids Fourth of July week end, pleaded guilty to liquor law violations. They were placed on probation until the August court term.

Elmer LaDuke, Boyne City, pleaded not guilty to a charge of statutory rape. He was bound over to circuit court under $1,000 bond.

In the long run prosperity will return, but it seems to be a long run.

CORN BORER INSPECTION HAS STARTED

Early Maturity Necessitates Advance Opening of Stations

Early maturity of the sweet corn crop in parts of the area under state and federal quarantine for the European corn borer has made it necessary to begin inspection of vehicles several days sooner than last year, and the highway stations at which they are stopped were established on Monday, July 20th.

At these stations, located on roads leading from the quarantined area, all vehicles are halted by inspectors in uniform, who explain the quarantines and ascertain if prohibited articles are carried. Corn on the cob may not be taken from within the infested area to points outside.

Spread of the pest by artificial means is prevented through the restrictions on the movement of corn which may be infested, the quarantine officials state.

The territory in the west under quarantine on account of the borer includes most of Ohio, all of Michigan, and part of Indiana.

Vehicle inspection will be continued for from sixty to ninety days.

Not every sweet young thing is as sweet as she looks.

CENTRAL LAKE

A glorious shower revived crops Sunday.

Orrie Sisson, our undertaker, is back from Cincinnati.

Mr. Sigler is still on the sick list, and Steve Bradshaw and William Somerville are very low.

O. R. and G. A. Morse returned last week from inspecting crops in the southern part of the state.

Russell White and wife of California, have been visiting his brother, Guy, and family, at this place the past week.

Miss Marjorie Richardson of Norwood, has been visiting several days with her friend, Minerva McGuire, of this place.

The band plays every Saturday night, and the moving picture show on the street is attracting large crowds Wednesday evenings.

Central Lake and Atwood played a very exciting game of ball on the local diamond last Saturday. Central Lake won with a score of 7 to 10.

A good crowd attended a song recital given by Atwood Reformed church choir at their church last Friday evening. About $20 was taken in.

C. H. Morse and Norma Arnold have been roguing radishes, peas and beans for the J. B. Rice Seed company, on farms near here the past week.

Lloyd and Lyle Morse have taken their riding horses over to Mrs. Mattison's girls' camp at Crystal lake, for the summer season. They have 13 horses this year.

The Hayowenta boys' camp, and Camp Wanaalda, girls' camp, on Torch lake, are beginning to attract large crowds, and Dodiata is filling its cottages with summer tourists.

The Kendall sisters sang to a large crowd at Norwood a week ago Friday evening. The recitals by Miss Vivian were heartily applauded. A collection of $12 was taken.

Arthur Russell, wife and daughter Lois, and son Burton, came up last week from Lansing, and will work in the cherry harvest here this summer. They may locate on a farm here as business is pretty dull in the capital city.

The death of Stephen Bradshaw occurred last Saturday. He had been ill resulting from an operation for appendicitis. Mr. Bradshaw was an old and respected citizen of this place and a brother of Ira Bradshaw of East Jordan.

One of Central Lake's most respected citizens passed away here at 6:30 a. m. Saturday, in the person of William Sherman. Dr. Duffie gave the cause of death as hardening of the arteries. Mr. Sherman froze one of his feet very badly a year ago last winter and suffered from this since then. He was for a number of years a baker here, and was pronounced one of the best. Failing health obliged him to discontinue the business and he has resided at his home near the lake since retiring. He leaves a wife to mourn her loss, an only daughter, Mrs. Harry Clark, having died several years ago. Miss Myrtle Bradford, sister of Mrs. Sherman, has been visiting with her for some time. Funeral services were held Monday afternoon.

Quite a change was made in school affairs throughout the county after last week's school meetings. Central Lake elected two new school board members, Fred Curtis and Edwin Bowers. Bay View elected J. W. Morse as director; Eastport, Miss Mabel Blow as treasurer; North Holland, Pete Spekman in place of Nick DeYoung. Bellaire raised the tuition in the grades from $10 to $30, and Perczy school will not transport pupils, but have a school of its own. Snowflake has not decided, but will have a meeting soon. Montgomery, Orcutt and Hemstreet will transport, also Murray, and probably Watrous school. Eldred will have its own school again and is repairing its school building.

Rev. G. A. Weaver and wife, and her sister, Mrs. Boyer of Dayton, O., visited Bay View Sunday school here last Sunday. Rev. Weaver gave an interesting talk on the Sunday school work, and invited all to attend the big Sunday school picnic at Twin Bridges on the first Wednesday in August. All children under 12 years of age will be given a free ice cream cone. Rev. Weaver will make several new toys and animals for the grounds again this year. He says the animals will be caged, and will be perfectly harmless. Bay View Sunday school will hire a truck and take over a big crowd this year. There were 34 present at Sunday school. Norwood had 24 present Friday evening, the number being curtailed on account of the song recital at Holland church. A good crowd is expected for next Friday, when the young people's class will discuss plans for their trip to Twin Bridges Sunday school picnic on August 5th. Also, the young people who are making Sunday school booklets will be given a little treat early Friday evening at the home of Richard Kirby.

WEEKLY CAMP CHARLEVOIX NEWS COLUMN

—Edited by—

VINCENT ARNOLD

Camp Charlevoix will celebrate its annual Dad's Day on Saturday, July 25th. This is always a gala affair, for a large percentage of the boys have their fathers in camp when that date comes around, and the day is packed with events. In the afternoon a baseball game between dads and lads will be held. A banquet is another feature of the festivities.

Another yearly feature of Camp Charlevoix is the Canadian trip. This is limited to the first twenty boys who sign up for camp before Christmas, as these lucky ones go without extra cost. The trip lasts a week and takes the campers into the Mississauga forest reserve. The truck is used as far as Thessalon, and from there the boys paddle canoes. Accompanying them will be Mr. Reiman, Counsellors Harry Bingham and Pete Morris, also Hank, one of the cooks.

At the same time the Canadian trip is being made the remaining seniors and intermediates will embark on a six-day trip up the Jordan river. One group will ride horseback on the way up, and the other group will go in canoes. On the return trip the positions will be reversed.

The Indian sweat lodge was dedicated last Tuesday, July 14, with much pomp and ceremony. There was a procession of warriors, braves, clowns, musicians, and a medicine man, which marched from the club house along the beach to the lodge. After a short address by the gaily-painted medicine man, the chief of the tribe, enacted by Mr. Reiman, entered the squat, tent-like structure, and took the first bath. Then came the various cabins in rapid succession. After the participants had gone through the operation, they ran for the lake and soothed their steaming bodies in the cool waters.

Everyone pronounced the sweat lodge a huge success. In fact, the camp is considering the initiation of the duds into the sacred ceremony next Saturday.

It is the custom of Camp Charlevoix for two cabins to unite and go on an overnight hike each week, if the weather permits. Last Wednesday night, July 15, Earl Oldham's cabin and Chuck Husted's cabin embarked on one of these excursions to Mt. McSaubia. Everything went fine until midnight, when it began to rain like the proverbial cats and dogs. The campers got thoroughly soaked, and were preparing for a very damp sojourn the rest of the night when Mr. Reiman and Counsellor Jack Hogan arrived with the camp truck. Leaving Speed Steensma and Chuck Husted to watch the equipment until morning, the rest went home. But a big surprise was awaiting the two left behind, for little George Hain had slept through the entire storm without getting one bit wet, and he woke up Chuck by asking what had become of all the others! Chuck said he never was so startled in his life as when he heard George's piping voice in the darkness.

Last Saturday night the seniors gave a minstrel show. John Reifel acted as interlocutor, with Justin Kline and Paul Steensma as end men. Considering that the boys had only two rehearsals the show didn't go off so badly.

Chick Hendry's little daughter, Beverly, aged four, is quite a camp favorite. She seems taken with Counsellor Johnny Olwin, and is often found fondling Fred Breer of cabin seven, in fact, the whole camp is fond of the youngster.

A new camper, Nathan Plant, has been added to the camp personnel. He is fifteen years old, hails from Cincinnati, Ohio, and will be in Pete Morris' cabin.

A baseball game between Algonquin and Charlevoix has been carded. It will be for boys under fifteen and will be played at Camp Algonquin Thursday afternoon, July 23rd.

A few more visitors found their way to the camp on Saturday and Sunday. The following were present: Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Riel, LaGrange, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Branson, Midland; Mr. and Mrs. Beutel, Midland;

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Taylor, Huntington, Ind.; Mrs. Flora N. Brown, Ann Arbor; Mrs. Blanch Greenman, Charlevoix; Mrs. Ethel Bebb, New York City.

HISTORY OF LOWELL READS LIKE ROMANCE

Town Dates to Days of Fur Traders and French Voyageurs

On August 6, 7 and 8 of this year the village of Lowell, Mich., will observe the one hundredth anniversary of its founding by staging a celebration that would do credit to a town far more pretentious in size.

Lowell has a wonderful background of romantic history and Indian lore. Here in this beautiful Grand River valley, had dwelt for centuries the noble Red Man, following the pursuits of peace and war, happy in the life of the forest and stream with the abundant game afforded; here came the early fur traders and French voyageurs; followed by the white settlers and the gradual conquest of the forest and the making of homes. Later began the historic lumbering days when the streets of this pioneer town of Lowell were thronged with lumber jacks, gayly dressed in their mackinaws, colored sash and high-topped caulked boots—all came to this town in the valley "where the rivers meet."

This historical past with its romantic background will all be brought before the visitor to Lowell during this centennial celebration in a wonderful pageant in which more than 100 people will participate and which will be worth going many, many miles to see.

Other attractions will be so numerous and varied that space will not permit mention of all, but there will be one of the most magnificent parades of floats ever presented anywhere—and ball games and horse races and wonderful bands.

Lowell, (Mich.) invites the world to her doors on August 6, 7 and 8, 1931. Come and see one of the most unique and interesting celebrations ever staged. Come to Lowell, "the friendly town"—enjoy its beautiful lakes and streams and its real hospitality.

MICHIGAN RANKS FIRST IN ACRES REFORESTED

New York Second; National Program Shows Large Increase in 1930

Michigan again led all states in 1930 in the number of acres reforested, according to figures issued by the United States forest service.

This state planted 26,617 of the 138,970 acres planted in the entire United States. The total plantings in Michigan for the year included 8,452 acres planted by the United States forest service. The total area planted by the forest service in the entire country for the year was 21,478 acres, 19 per cent more than the preceding year.

New York ranked next to Michigan in the total area planted to new forests, reporting 24,250 acres. Pennsylvania was third with 18,048 acres to public and private forests. Plantings in other states included: Delaware, Maryland and New Jersey, 14,722 acres; Wisconsin, 6,086 acres; Ohio, 2,633 acres; Nebraska, 2,603 acres; Idaho, 2,270 acres; California, 1,079 acres; Washington, 4,065 acres.

Forest plantings in the entire country last year amounted to 138,970 acres; the forest service figures show a gain of 24 per cent over 1929. This brings the total of all lands reforested to date in the United States to 1,798,048 acres. Agencies other than federal and state made large plantings.

Michigan alone planted more than half as many acres as were planted by all other states. State forestry department plantings for the country were 41,038 acres. Plantings by municipalities aggregated 9,214 acres, industrial organizations 30,230 acres, and organizations of other types, 2,518 acres.

REGION'S OLDEST RESIDENT DIED LAST FRIDAY

Potosky and northern Michigan Friday lost in death their oldest white resident, Marshal Swenor, age 103 years, who had been in failing health for some months at the home of his son, Benjamin Swenor in Little Traverse township. Death came at 3 o'clock Friday morning to bring to an end a long life of endeavor, which had taken Mr. Swenor from Quebec, where he was born, to Chicago in the days when the great city was a small lake port.

When the great Civil war broke out he served his country and saw much fighting throughout that conflict. At the close of the war, during which years he was known as John Brown in order that his mother might not know he had become a soldier, he returned to civilian life in Chicago. Soon he moved to Northport, Michigan.

What How Why ? PLYMOUTH FLOATING POWER

THE WHOLE NATION WANTS TO KNOW MORE ABOUT IT

The revolutionary character of the New Plymouth has created a great flood of interest. Even the hardest of skeptics are so amazed at this new four that performs like an eight that they ask eagerly for the facts behind this tremendous accomplishment.

What is Floating Power? Floating Power is a term applied to the new and revolutionary principle of mounting the engine in the car frame, developed by Chrysler Motors engineers for the New Plymouth.

Just how is the engine mounted?

On two live-rubber mountings nearly an inch thick. These mountings are so placed that a line drawn through them passes through the center of gravity of the engine. Thus the engine is suspended in perfect balance.

What does Floating Power do? The live-rubber mountings allow the engine to rock upon its natural axis as if in a cushioned cradle. Vibration is thus entirely eliminated from the car.

Why does Floating Power succeed when all other methods fail?

Because Chrysler Motors engineers have not tried merely to dampen vibration; they have achieved an entirely new principle which dissipates the motor impulses so that they never reach the body and frame.

Why and How is Power Increased?

Because the elimination of vibration allows higher compression, which gives greater horsepower without increasing cylinder size. Floating Power makes possible 56 brake-test horsepower and actual stop-watch speeds of 65 and 70 miles an hour, and pick-up from 0 to 40 miles in 9.7 seconds.

What else does Plymouth offer?

A score of things! Plymouth's Free Wheeling combines the advantages of its various types now in use. As a result, it permits Free Wheeling in all forward speeds, and it also may be completely locked out. The Easy-Shift transmission which enables you to shift, without clashing, from second into high and back into second, if you wish, at speeds up to 50 miles an hour. The new, double-drop frame for greater safety and roadability. New, eye-compelling beauty. Internal hydraulic brakes. Safety-Steel body.

You must see and drive the car to appreciate the phenomenal performance and value made possible by one of the greatest engineering developments the industry has ever seen.

NEW BOAT LAW EFFECTIVE NOW

Muffler or Underwater Exhaust Compulsory During Speed Tests

Under an act given immediate effect by the 1931 legislature, conservation officers and all other officers authorized to make arrests are given liberal powers in regulating motor boats.

The new law, which applies to motor boats operating on all inland waters and connecting waters of the Great Lakes and within a quarter of a mile of shore on the Great Lakes makes reckless driving with a motor boat a misdemeanor, for which a severe penalty is attached.

Bans Reckless Driving

The law provides that no motor boat shall be operated "in a reckless manner or at an excessive rate of speed so as to endanger the life or property of any person in or on said waters, having due regard to the presence of other boats, bathers, persons engaged in fishing, or objects in or on such waters and of any other conditions then existing, and no person shall operate such motor boat on said waters at a rate of speed greater than will permit him to bring it to a stop within the assured clear distance ahead."

All motor boats operated on these waters during the period from one hour after sunset to one hour before sunrise shall be equipped with a light on the bow which can be plainly distinguished at a distance of 500 feet.

A satisfactory muffler or underwater exhaust must be part of the equipment of all motor boats and the muffler or underwater exhaust must remain closed and in proper working order at all times when the motor is operating. The only exception to this provision is when the boat is engaged in a supervised motor boat race, regatta or speed trial.

Penalties Listed

A fine of $10 or 10 days in jail is provided for the first offense; a fine of $20 or 20 days in jail for the second offense; a fine not exceeding $100 and costs or 90 days in jail or both for the third offense.

The conservation department has asked the attorney general's opinion as to whether this motor boat law would restrict boating—over fish spawning beds.

"Take a squint at this Ball and Bottle Test

—you can SEE that New Iso-Vis stands up"

The more body an oil has, the slower the ball drops. Note that used New Iso-Vis (Tube 2) has practically the same body as the fresh oil (Tube 1), while used "x" oil (Tube 3) has thinned out decidedly.

If you want the low down on a motor oil, these little steel balls certainly give it to you. Maybe they'll hand you a jolt like they did me.

Put in a fill of New Iso-Vis. When it's time to drain, go into any Standard Oil Service Station or dealer and use this oil from your own car in the Ball and Bottle Test.

This proof will convince you!

RESULTS of Indianapolis Speedway Tests, Certified by A. A. A.

1 Iso-Vis Motor Oil did not thin out from dilution.

2 During the entire test of 9,000 miles, the engines and chassis of all cars were lubricated effectively.

3 Oil Added: only 63/100 of a quart—average for all cars—of Iso-Vis 50 (Heavy) in 1,000 mile test at 30 miles per hour.

A MICHIGAN EXPERIMENT

Here is a story sent in by mail from a source personally known by the music department, and tending to show that all the idealists of music do not live around cities and music centers. Sometimes they are found in unexpected places. It is one of the exceedingly hopeful signs of musical life, not that there are not plenty of others if one happens to know where to look for them. Anyway, here is this one:

George Block, a farmer living near Charlevoix, Mich., some five years ago conceived the idea that a band of farmers' children would be of interest to the children themselves, and, perhaps, of pleasure to the parents, not to speak of being able to provide music for various country events and celebrations. He therefore began calling on neighboring children and parents.

He found few, if any, children with even the slightest knowledge of music, but wherever he was able to strike a spark of interest with the idea of a country band he told about the various instruments of a band and thus ascertained which instrument appealed most to the child's imagination. The next move was to send such instrument to the child for an experiment. If at the end of a week the child was still interested in trying to produce a tone, or even a noise, he took the child in hand and taught him or her how to play. He, by the way, would seem to be something of an all around musician to be able to do this.

New Recruits from Farms

The result is that he now has a band of some thirty-five or forty children. As they become of high school age, they leave his band and join their own high school organization. Thus it would seem that he is forever obliged to recruit from the farms. He picks up instruments where he can; they are mostly second hand, and for that reason he buys them for small sums. He then sells them to the children for what he thinks they can afford to pay, never, however, exceeding what he has paid for them, and the children pay him as they are able, 50 cents, a dollar at a time.

He also has been able to devise a uniform for his players, on the order of a sailor's suit in white. Public performances are given at Fourth of July celebrations, and the like. Here he furnished the band free of charge in exchange for the refreshment stand privilege, and the profits from this are used for the purchase of music.

At this distance, Mr. Block's plan sounds like a rather fine and far-seeing idealism.—Chicago Tribune.

PIONEER RESIDENT CALLED BY DEATH

Mrs. Frank Noble Victim of Heart Attack Last Thursday

Charlevoix lost a highly respected and beloved pioneer resident last Thursday in the death of Mrs. Frank Noble, who succumbed suddenly from heart attack at her home on South Bridge street.

Jennie Blanche was born March 22, 1859, at Louisville, Ky., and was 72 years of age at her death. She came to Charlevoix over fifty years ago and had been a resident here since that time.

Surviving besides her husband are a daughter and two sons, Mrs. Cora Hammond, East Jordan; Guy L. Smith, Traverse City; Swain Smith, Charlevoix; a brother and sister, Swain D. Payton of this city, and Mrs. Lula P. Landers, Chicago; also six grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the residence on South Bridge street. Rev. W. H. Rauch, pastor of the Baptist church, of which Mrs. Noble was a member, officiated.

LEGION PREPARES FOR COMING CIRCUS

Famous Hagenbeck-Wallace Show Coming Here Next Sunday

At a meeting Tuesday evening, members of Leslie T. Shapton Post, No. 226, American Legion, completed plans for their tasks in connection with the Hagenbeck-Wallace circus, which shows here Sunday under auspices of the Legion.

No little stir of interest has been caused by presentation of this world-famous circus at Charlevoix. It is the first time one of the larger shows has played here in many years. The show has been augmented by many new acts heretofore not shown and a bigger and better show is in prospect.

Many will be on hand to see the huge circus equipment and animals unloaded at the P. M. siding south of the city Saturday afternoon. This operation proves an interesting one to watch for those who have never seen the task accomplished before.

FIVE INJURED WHEN AUTO STRIKES TREE

Two Treated in Local Hospital; Alvin Durance, This City, Passenger

When their automobile collided with a tree while making the turn in front of the Wolverine hotel at Boyne City early last Friday morning, five young people were injured. Margaret Velise of Manelona, suffered a broken collar bone and other injuries. Basil Gilmore of Lake Orion, is being treated for cuts on his arm and head at Charlevoix hospital. Miss Velise has returned to her home.

Others in the car were Mary Meadows, Manelona; Kenneth Sultner, the driver, Lake Orion; and Alvin Durance of this city, all of whom were bruised and cut.

CHICAGO DAILY NEWS HAS PLANE DELIVERY

Afternoon Edition Available Here Four Hours After Publication

An innovation in newspaper service to northern Michigan resorts is being provided this summer by the airplane delivery of the Chicago Daily News.

Their afternoon Blue Streak edition, off the press at approximately 2:30 o'clock, is being delivered to Charlevoix and other northern Michigan resort cities by plane, leaving Chicago at 3:30 and arriving here at 6:30, about four hours from the time it is printed.

By this means, patrons are given almost the same service they would have at home. Closing market reports are carried in the edition along with the latest news of the world.

EAGLEROCK PLANES HERE FOR EXHIBIT

Will Give Parachute Jump Thursday Evening—Carry Passengers

On page four in this issue will be found an advertisement announcing airplane rides Wednesday evening and Thursday, and a parachute jump for Thursday evening.

Those who visit the field for flights or to see the exhibition will recognize the ships as the two flaming red planes which circled the city several times Wednesday noon with sirens screeching. They were in search of the city airport, which, by the way, has no marking for landing, thus all the fuss.

The two ships, sent here by the Kysor Eaglerock Co., school of aviation at Niles, Mich., distributors of Alexander Aircraft for Michigan, Ohio and Indiana, are in charge of Pilots Eugene Cernahan and Willis E. Kysor. With them is Fay Wilcox, 20-year-old parachute jumper, who will give an exhibition Thursday evening. Wilcox, despite his youth, has 120 jumps to his credit.

Providing there is sufficient business to warrant their stay, the planes may remain here over the week end.

FOUR DETROITERS ARRESTED SUNDAY

Jailed by Sheriff Vaughan for Theft at Walloon Lake

Manley Wiser, Leo Puglise, Russell Seaman and Jack Pipe, who gave their ages as seventeen and homes at Detroit, were arrested Sunday at Walloon lake by Sheriff Dave Vaughan.

They are in jail here awaiting arraignment on a charge of stealing a quantity of gasoline, tools, garments and paints at Walloon lake, where they were camping out.

Daily Task of Carting Loads Keeps Bull Tame

A bull pays for his board and lodging, and at the same time keeps physically fit by pulling an ox cart at the United States Department of Agriculture's dairy experiment farm at Beltsville, Md.

Oxford May's Int. Owl, a Jersey bull, was broken to harness as a youngster and now is used daily for general hauling about the farm. By working off his surplus energy, "Ox" is kept gentle, not only when between the shafts but also when handled at breeding time. The chief advantage of working this blue-blooded aristocrat, however, is that the exercise maintains his virility and makes him a certain breeder the year round.

"Ox" earned his nickname, not only from the name appearing on his registration papers but because of his excellent performance at his daily task of carting loads. He obeys orders, recognizing "gee," "haw," and "when back" as well as any ox.

Cane Fruit Growing Is Important Business

The growing of cane fruits, while in no way approaching the growing of tree fruits in importance, is still an important business with many fruit growers. Blackberries and raspberries, of course, the fruits chiefly grown.

After a good, rich, well drained piece of land has been selected for the patch the question of planting distance comes up. Old experienced growers have noticed where rows are too close together, that the outside rows far outbear the inside rows. For this reason they give every row the advantage of an outside row by planting the rows far apart. Seven or eight feet is a good distance. Not only does this planting distance increase production but it also makes the care of the canes easier.

Card of Thanks

We wish to express our deepest appreciation to all our friends and neighbors, singers, Rev. Parker, also Mr. See, for their kindness and assistance during our late bereavement; also for the beautiful flowers, Mr. and Mrs. V. L. Woodworth, R. Vern Woodworth.—Adv. 2911.

Three Things You Demand

There are three things you demand from your bank. First, it must offer a place of unquestioned safety for the money you entrust to its care.

Secondly, it must lend its funds not only with the security of the investment in mind but with the good of the community and its proper development always under consideration.

Thirdly, you demand that your bank shall be friendly, pleasant, and helpful in all its dealings with you.

We believe these demands of yours are reasonable and we aim to meet them in every respect. We invite your business upon this basis.

All members should be present. Next Tuesday night is annual election of officers and a full turnout is required in order that the will of the post may be completely expressed in its choice of officers for the coming year. The Ladies' Auxiliary will meet Friday evening at the Legion quarters. Any mother, wife, daughter or sister of a Legionnaire is eligible to membership and can become a charter member of this organization any time between now and August 15, 1931.

THIEVES TAKE SILKS FROM PARKED AUTO

Michael Akkoul, Petoskey Merchant, Reported Theft to Police

Local officers have been unable to locate thieves who last Thursday evening stole two bundles of silk undergarments and lace from a car owned by Michael Akkoul, Grand Rapids importer, who runs a summer store at Petoskey.

Mr. Akkoul parked his car on Bridge street while visiting a friend, Harry Corey, who operates a store here. He was gone about thirty minutes and upon returning found the bundles, valued at $700, had been taken.

EAST JORDAN MAN AND SON DROWNED

Stepped Over Channel Bank in Lake Charlevoix Sunday Afternoon

Roy Hammond, 40, and his son, Jack, 7, residing three miles east of East Jordan, were drowned in Lake Charlevoix at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon when, while bathing and swimming in shallow water, they stepped off a ledge into water 20 feet deep.

A number of persons who were nearby are said to have witnessed the tragedy, but were unable to save father and son, as they sank almost immediately in the deep water.

Coastguardsmen Kelderhouse and Looze from the Charlevoix station recovered the body of the son at 6 o'clock and that of the father at 8 o'clock.

Several members of the immediate family survive.

"Mary," the 80-year-old debutante with the Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus, believes in keeping the waist line at the right measurement, 144 inches. So early morning visitors to the circus lot can always see this proud old female elephant going through her daily dozen. And for exhibit A we show Mary doing a head-stand, but we would not recommend this to our readers to be included in their daily calisthenics.

"Mary" has been tramping up and down the continent for many years and is one of the highly talented "bulls" with the Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus. When circus day comes around on Sunday, July 26, at American Legion grounds, East Garfield avenue, you will see this old elephant with young ideas participating in dancing contests, as well as playing the leading role in the jungle barber shop.

Vast changes have been made in the Hagenbeck-Wallace program since the show last appeared here. Among the outstanding features, will be "The Great Wilno," actually shot with violent velocity from the mouth of a huge cannon. This act is one of the sensations of the present day. "The Golden Orient," a bewitching spectacle of old Japan, will serve as the opening presentation.

PARK PROPOSES STRAITS BRIDGE

Former Railroad Executive Will Seek Building Permit of State

Construction of a bridge across the Straits of Mackinac will be financed by William Lee Park, retired railroad official, providing he can get approval by the Michigan government, according to the Cheboygan Daily Tribune.

Mr. Park, who was formerly general manager of the Union Pacific railroad and vice president of the Michigan Central system, lives on his Clara Acre estate between Harrison and Chino in northern Michigan.

Tourist Attraction
Belief that a bridge across the straits would be a logical continuance of US-27, was expressed by Mr. Park. It is an attraction that would draw tourists from all over the United States, he said.

Recently returning from the East, Mr. Park said that he would have little difficulty in raising the necessary capital for the structure.

Under Mr. Park's plan, the financiers who build the bridge would require a franchise for about 50 years. A toll would be charged until the revenue paid the cost of construction. Then the bridge would be turned over to the state. It is expected that work on a preliminary survey will be started soon, if conferences with Governor Wilber M. Brucker and the state highway department are consummated.

Possible Routes
Several possible routes for a straits bridge have been proposed. One is from near Mackinaw City to near St. Ignace. Another is from Point Nipigon to Bois Blanc Island to Round Island, to Mackinac Island, and from there to the upper peninsula.

sula mainland. A third route would also utilize the chain of islands, but would start at Lighthouse point.

Either of the island routes would mean opening of Mackinac Island to automobiles. For many years the use of autos have been forbidden on this island. It is pointed out, however, that the motor traffic could be restricted to a single road covering only a small part of the island, and furthermore that the island would benefit from the increased number of visitors.

AT THE MOVIES

Trinity of Cameras Needed to Illuminate Modern Talkies Set Lighting a motion picture set such as used for First National's "Big Business Girl," the First National picture which comes to the Palace theatre Thursday next, starring Lorena Young, has become a problem in higher mathematics. William A. Seiter directed "Big Business Girl," while the supporting cast includes Frank Albertson, Frank Darion, Dorothy Christy, Mickey Bennett, Nancy Dover, Oscar Apfel and Virginia Sale.

Even in this day of easy divorce, the old adage "marry in haste, repent in leisure" still holds its own. Mary Roberts Rinehart's actionful love story, on which "I Take This Woman," the Palace theatre attraction for Friday of this week, brings the old adage up to date and proves that divorce is not always an easy out for headless marriage ties.

Gary Cooper and Carole Lombard, the blonde beauty whose rapid rise to screen fame is one of Hollywood's current wonders, carry the leading roles in "I Take This Woman." The story originally appeared in novel form under the title "Lost Ecstasy" and attained outstanding success.

Despite the fact that "Daddy Long Legs," the Fox production, which shows Sunday and Monday at the Palace theatre is a wistful, heart-stirring drama, Warner Bros., who plays the title role, opposite Janet Gaynor received more bruises during its filming than he did in any of his most thrilling Westerns. It all happened when Baxter attempted to teach the orphans the finer points of football. Twenty youngsters tackled him at once.

Two College Men in Feature Cast for Co-Ed Movie

Phillips Holmes, picked off the campus of Princeton university less than three years ago for a meteoric career in motion pictures, and Norman Foster, alumnus of Carnegie Institute of Technology, play the leading male roles in the first authentic pictures of American college life to come to the screen, "Confessions of a Co-Ed." Palace theatre attraction next Tuesday and Wednesday.

Featured with these young college men is Sylvia Sydney, in the leading woman role. Miss Sydney, who made an instantaneous hit in her first moving picture, "City Streets," plays her second important screen role in "Confessions of a Co-Ed." She was winning fame as the star of the Broadway production "Bad Girl" when the movies "discovered" her.

DRONES SHOULD BE WEEDED OUT

Right now would be a good time to make a check-up on this community, to ascertain the identity of those who are making no effort to provide for themselves for the coming winter. It is practically certain that the charitable organizations will have many calls for help this winter, and it would be a fine thing if the professional deadbeats could be culled out, and the available funds distributed among the worthy unfortunates. The amount available for charitable purposes is seldom sufficient to meet the needs, and whatever amount is doled out to professional deadbeats is just that much taken away from those who deserve help.

HELPING TO BEAUTIFY CHARLEVOIX

All too few people in this region see and appreciate the many beauties which exist all around us. Certainly one of the outstanding of these is to be found in the Charlevoix County Nursery which maintains within only six miles of Charlevoix a collection of the finest evergreens, ornamental trees, and flowering shrubs. One who visits this display of dozens of varieties of hardy trees and sees the perennial flowers which are also used in planting the gardens of northern Michigan can understand why the nursery has for its appropriate motto, "Builders of Beauty."

No matter at what time of the season one goes to this place he is sure to be rewarded with a sight well worth his while. From the early months of summer with their bloom of iris, columbine, and spirea until the autumn when the mountain ash and the late hydrangea are at their best there is a succession of color and rich foliage to be found. At the entrance of the nursery are two demonstration plantings which employ to good advantage the stone wall along which are growing hollyhocks. This wall leads to the perennial garden, and beyond are seed beds where the young flowers and evergreens are propagated. Other demonstration plantings show how various groups of trees and shrubs may be used in beautifying the grounds of a home.

PURPOSEFUL MOTORING

We are now exhorted to "ride with a purpose." Somebody has thought it over and decided that Americans do too much aimless touring. They set out in their automobiles without any special destination and take an occasional turning without any more reason than a pleasant whim. This, of course, is wasting time, not to mention gas and rubber.

Fredrick Keppel, president of the Carnegie Corporation, urges "purposeful motoring." The idea is to pick out some particular subject for observation and then to make every trip count out a region where it may be seen. With such a goal, motorists have a lot of ground to cover. They can study history between trips and then devote all their vacation or week end driving to becoming familiar with famous places.

There may be other choices. To some of us "collecting" waterfalls, or covered bridges or houses of a particular era, seems more attractive than collecting sites of battles. There's no harm and considerable worth in this idea of purposeful motoring, so long as it isn't carried too far, in characteristic American fashion. But there is still a field for doing a few things without a purpose, even to taking an exploratory drive that is full of surprises and has no educational importance.

WHY HE WENT CRAZY

This story, with various modifications, has been doing duty for a good while, but for the benefit of those who have not chanced to run across it we tell it again.

It concerns an inmate of a lunatic asylum, who on being asked by a visitor how he got that way, replied: "It all started when I married a widow with a grown-up daughter. Then my father, being a widower, married the daughter. That made my step-daughter my step-mother, and my father became my step-son; my wife also becoming the mother-in-law of her father-in-law."

"Then my step-mother had a son, who was my brother, being a father's son; but as the boy was the grandson of my wife, he was also my grandson."

"Then my wife and I had a son. My father's wife is my son's half sister and also his grandmother. Now it is easy to see that my father became my step-son by marrying my step-daughter. Therefore, being my father's father, I am my own grandfather."

The visitor stopped the lunatic at this point, thoroughly satisfied as to why he went crazy. — The Ionia County News.

FORTUNE TELLING

Victims of a wave of superstition such as the world has not seen since the Middle Ages, the people of the United States are paying $125,000,000 a year to an army of 100,000 fortune tellers. These present-day dealers in fake prophecies make the hoarded, cone-hatted diviners of medieval times seem like a lot of bungling amateurs.

One woman astrologer, doing a thriving business in New York, charges her clients according to a sliding scale of fees ranging from $25 to $100 for a "reading." Her income from mail orders alone is $10,000 a month. A Chicago star gazer has 100 customers, all of them substantial business men, who pay him $1,000 a year each for a monthly business horoscope. Men as well as women in all classes of society are found among the devotees of the soothsayer's art.

Selling knowledge that they do not possess, fortune tellers swindle the public out of millions. But even this is not the worst phase of their racket. The real danger lies in the fact that, more often than not, the advice they give is unwise and destructive.

ROUGH ROAD FETCHES DAIRY NEWSPAPER'S IRE

One short stretch of rough, dusty road can spoil a whole vacation. So far as state highways are concerned such annoyances are not as common as they used to be. But up in the western Michigan play country is a mile and a half of dirty, dangerous highway for the condition of which seemingly no excuse exists. This piece of road is at the south end of Torch lake and is a part of what is known as Crystal Beach road. For some time maintenance of the road has been neglected. Kalkaska county says the job should be done by Antrim. Antrim doesn't say much and doesn't do a thing. Highway trucks from Kalkaska drive over this road with their scrapers lifted. Tourists from Indiana, Ohio, Illinois, etc., ride into the cloud of dust and are bounced off the seats of their cars. They go home bruised and disgusted, while two western Michigan counties, whose chief source of income is provided by summer visitors, squabble over keeping up a mile and a half of road. — Grand Rapids Herald.

THE OLD GREY MARE

That halloo that disparagingly announces that the elderly lady equine of a grey coloration is no longer in the pristine vigor of youth, or in simpler words, that the old grey mare she ain't what she used to be, must be revised in the light of recent happenings at Pottstown, Pa. In that 100 per cent American city it seems that a large motor truck collided with an old grey mare who was attached to a milk wagon. When the smoke lifted, behold the incapacitated truck being hauled away to a garage for repairs, while the old grey mare, after shaking herself vigorously, resumed the even tenor of her way. The last line of the song is now officially, "The old grey mare, she's still like she usta be!"

It is hard to tell whether fishermen enjoy catching fish or lying about them.

STATE TO INSPECT YULE TREES SOON

Blanks May Be Obtained from State Department or County Agent

Anyone expecting to ship Christmas trees or boughs this winter should make application at once to the Bureau of Orchard and Nursery Inspection, Michigan State Department of Agriculture, Lansing. Word has just been received from E. C. Mandenberg, in charge of this bureau, that the first inspection of Christmas tree swamps and evergreen bough swamps will be made immediately after August 1.

Application blanks have been sent direct to all receiving inspection last year. Anyone else wanting such forms may obtain them by applying at A. R. Schubert's office.

It should be remembered that no one is permitted to cut Christmas trees or boughs unless the premises have been inspected and certified, and if the premises are not owned by the party cutting, written permission must be obtained from the owner of the property.

The county agricultural agent will make no inspection of Christmas trees or evergreen boughs this fall. No inspection will be made after December 1, so requests for inspection should be sent to the state department at Lansing now.

TRAVERSE MUST QUIT POLLUTING BOARDMAN

Judge Lamb's Decision Means City
Loses Case to State

Traverse City has lost its case against the state stream control commission and has been given a definite time in which to stop emptying sewage into the Boardman river, which flows into the west arm of Grand Traverse bay.

The order was issued Thursday by Judge Fred S. Lamb of Cadillac, who heard the petition of the control commission in Traverse City several weeks ago. The action was brought to force Traverse City to stop the pollution of the Boardman river and the bay, which had resulted in closing several bathing beaches, adjacent to the city.

Judge Lamb's opinion makes no mention of a sewage disposal plant. His order says only that the city must stop dumping sewage into the river. What other disposition is made of the sewage is no official concern of the court, he indicates.

The judge's opinion is in effect a tentative injunction, withheld until May 1, 1932, when if no satisfactory evidence of compliance with his order is given, the injunction will become effective. The date given for Traverse City to comply fully with the terms of the order is May 1, 1933.

TELL TIME TO APPLY CODLING MOTH SPRAY

College Entomologists Have Observing Stations to Watch for Insect

Reports of the emergence of the second brood of the codling moth at the 30 observing stations maintained in the state by the entomology department of Michigan State college furnish the data upon which are based the warnings now being sent to apply sprays to protect apples from this insect.

from north to south and the influence of the Great Lakes combine to make life miserable for the scientists who have to compute the proper times to apply protective sprays. Some of these sprays must be applied at exactly the right time or they are of little value.

The second brood of codling moth spray must be used at the time the larvae are trying to pierce the skin of the apple to gain entrance to the fruit. After the worm has worked through the skin of the fruit, any attempts to avoid injury are worthless. The entomologists know how long a period of time intervenes between day of the laying of eggs by the moth and the hatching of the larvae which immediately seek the protection and food afforded by the interior of apples.

When the moths emerge in the observing cages, the college entomologists calculate the latest date it will be possible to apply a protective spray and then sends the warning to orchard owners. Sometimes, the date applies to several counties and, occasionally, to only one. The counties affected are named in each warning.

County agricultural agents have the complete directions for mixing the spray and orchard owners who are not familiar with the mixture can obtain this information from the agents who also know the spray dates for their counties.

FORM NEW COMPANY TO PROTECT INTERESTS

Holders of Guaranty Trust Bonds to Be Alike Looked After

A Guaranty Trust Company Bondholders Protective committee has been formed to procure united action and protect the interests of the holders of Guaranty Trust (Detroit) bonds.

The personnel of the committee consists of: Carl F. Spaeth, executive vice president, First National bank, Flint, Mich.; L. F. Mikesell, president Peoples Savings bank, Traverse City; Horace Conklin, manager bond department, Old Merchants National bank, Battle Creek; Harold Sage, manager Hotel Tuller, Detroit; Stockholder, Guaranty Trust company; Frank W. Kanter, director, Guaranty Trust company, Detroit; Edgar P. Teague, secretary Guaranty Trust company, Stockholders Protective committee, Detroit; C. C. Peck, president, United Savings bank, Port Huron, Michigan.

The Fidelity Bank and Trust company, Detroit, has been designated depository for the bonds.

The attorneys for the committee are John N. Anhalt and Chester L. Schwartz, Penobscot building, Detroit.

A stockholders' protective committee of which E. P. Teague, 404 Penobscot building, Detroit, is secretary, is vitally interested in saving the entire investment for the bondholders, thereby eliminating a possible further loss on the part of the stockholders.

Vigorous cooperation on the part of all bondholders is essential for the complete success of the committee.

TROUT SEASON EXTENDED TO SEPTEMBER 7TH

Michigan Anglers May Enjoy Sport Until After Labor Day

The extension of the trout fishing season through to Labor day gives the fisherman a good break, especially this year, for Labor day falls on September 7th. This means seven extra days of fishing which is something in the trout fisherman's life. It is doubtful, however, if this extra week's fishing will placate the angler for the boost in license fee he suffered at the hands of the last legislature.

Upper peninsula fishermen are doing most of the kicking for they see little justification in making trout fishermen pay $1.75 a year to fish while the resident bass fishermen pay nothing.

However, the trout fisherman must not lose sight of the fact that where one dollar is spent on rearing bass and bluegills for planting in lakes and streams $10 is put into trout culture. Millions of trout have been reared and planted of late years where only thousands of pan fish have been produced. The increase will not break anyone and it is doubtful if the legislature would have changed the price if the trout fishermen had not been so persistent in attempting to push through a general rod license.

Chickens come home to roost.

NEW HUNTING LAWS ARE MORE UNIFORM

MOST SMALL GAME MAY BE TAKEN OCTOBER 1ST

Rabbit Season Opens October 15—
Deer Season November 15,
Lasting for Two Weeks

Michigan nimrods this fall will hunt under equally stringent but less confusing conservation laws than they have for the past two years as a result of action taken by the 1931 legislature.

Foremost among the changes to be made is the uniform opening of nearly all seasons on small game. Other changes are the increase in both small game and deer licenses and the shortening of the open seasons on geese, duck and other waterfowl.

Laws governing the hunting of waterfowl received most amendment, the season being shortened considerably. Under the 1931 legislative provisions ducks, geese and others of their species may be shot between Oct. 1 and Dec. 15. Previously the season had opened on Sept. 16 and remained open until Dec. 31. The coot and jacksnipe season will conform with the waterfowl dates.

Open season on rabbits, fox squirrels, woodcock, pheasants and partridges begins Oct. 15 in the lower peninsula but the closing dates vary. Florida gullinules may be hunted between Oct. 1 and Nov. 30. October 24 has been set as the closing date for the fox squirrel season and it will be illegal to hunt woodcock, partridge and pheasant after Oct. 26.

Opening and closing dates on deer and bear remain the same, Nov. 15 to 30. The conservation commission has been authorized to establish dates for the open season on prairie chicken.

Among animals and birds which are protected under the new laws are killdeer, woodcock, swan, black-bellied and golden plover, quail, spruce partridge, yellow legs, sand pipers, black and gray squirrels and Hungarian partridge.

The fee for small game licenses was advanced from $1.25 to $1.75 and deer licenses will cost $3.50 this year instead of $2.50 as in the past two years. The new provisions also forbid any person who has shot another person in the past five years or who has been convicted of a violation of the deer laws obtaining a deer license. These restrictions do not apply to small game licenses, however.

Sixteen counties of Michigan now have laws either governing or prohibiting Sunday hunting, according to the state conservation department.

"Life" was the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Christian Science churches on Sunday, July 19.

Among the citations which comprised the lesson-sermon was the following from the Bible: "The Spirit of God hath made me, and the breath of the Almighty hath given me life." (Job 33:4).

The lesson-sermon also included the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Let us feel the divine energy of Spirit, bringing us into newness of life and recognizing no mortal nor material power as able to destroy. Let us rejoice that we are subject to the divine powers that be." (p. 249).

OBITUARY

Our community has been greatly saddened by the severe accident and subsequent death, which came recently to our fellow townsman and friend, Samuel R. Woodworth. Mr. Woodworth came to Ironton with his parents December 4, 1909, to found their home. Here he had resided until November 19, 1930. Going to Wisconsin for the winter, he returned here in June to resume his former occupation of carpenter. He was born in the valley of the Lodi river, Wisconsin, May 20, 1883. Raised by a Christian mother, he has always stood for what was honorable, upright and true. He has spent most of his life in Michigan and here we lay him to rest in the Brookside cemetery at Charlevoix.

Alfalfa Is Superior in Dairy Feed Tests

Protein and Lime Are Needed in Liberal Amounts.

Alfalfa hay contains about three times as much protein and about six times as much lime as timothy hay, according to chemical analyses, says Edward H. Meigs, of the bureau of dairying, United States Department of Agriculture. Both of these substances are needed in liberal amounts by growing and milk-producing cattle.

Alfalfa hay, says the department dairy specialist, is far superior to timothy hay for dairy animals. Dairy cattle in several experiments have been fed for several years with an other feed than alfalfa pasture and alfalfa hay, and have grown well and given fair yields of milk.

Other experiments have shown that the life and usefulness of dairy cattle is not more than a year when fed on grain and concentrates and poor roughage such as straw, or upon grain and concentrates alone; but dairy cattle have thrived long periods on rations of grain and concentrates combined with alfalfa or timothy hay of fairly good quality.

These trials raised the question: Will dairy cows do as well on rations of grain and timothy as on rations of alfalfa and grain, provided the timothy is fed with a grain mixture high in protein and supplemented with a calcium salt? Further trials to answer this question proved that cows give 35 to 40 per cent more milk and fat on rations containing alfalfa than on rations containing timothy hay.

Mulch Is Valuable to Winter Strawberries

Strawberries with a winter mulch yielded 711 quarts per acre more than berries not mulched in an experiment conducted at the Michigan state college. It was observed that the mulch conserved moisture, kept the berries clean, smothered weeds during the harvest season, and protected the plants against winter injury. In general conditions with respect to these factors raised the yield from 2,275 quarts per acre on the test plot, to 2,988 quarts per acre on the mulched plot. The difference in yield was 713 quarts per acre.

This experiment was conducted on a strawberry patch grown in well-matted rows. The mulch was left on the plants until the close of the following harvest season. The mulch was put on thickly enough so that it was three or four inches deep in the spring. Of course it was opened over the rows to permit the plants to grow through.

Corn Root Rot Fungus Control Measures Vary

Fall plowing of corn land where all stalks and sheaves are turned under, longer rotations and lower soil temperatures are important factors that influence the root rot fungus, according to R. E. Vaughn, University of Wisconsin. Farmers in the main corn belt who grow corn closer together in the rotation, plant it in the spring when temperature is higher and leave the cornstalks exposed to act as shelter for the root rot fungus, which farmers farther north handle differently.

Vaughn recommended the kiln drying of seed corn, but where this was impossible a dry attic gave good results. Rapid drying is important, as the sooner dried, the less disease next year.

Farm Hints

Much stage is likely to spoil if the top is not properly sealed.

The dairyman who is after high grade cream in the winter will pay attention to the cleanliness of his cows.

Alfalfa, one of the best hay crops for late seedling, should be planted only on those fields known to be adapted to its production.

Experiments at Wisconsin university show that running the silo filler faster than manufacturers direct not only is dangerous but that much power is wasted.

If the stand is to be kept over for hay or pasture the second year, alskae makes an excellent mixture with sweet clover by keeping the latter from getting too rank.

For summer pasture, oats seeded with sweet clover, orchardgrass and timothy, will make very favorable growth and provide a palatable pasture of heavy carrying capacity.

The great object in plowing under green crops is to increase the amount of vegetable matter in the soil. The actual plant food these crops furnish is not very great, except in the case of clovers.

There is a lot of argument as to which kind of clover is best. On soil that is limed, sweet clover will add more plant food in a hurry than red clover. If your soil is not so very rich in lime you should use red clover.

Silage cutter tests show that the latter elevates the cut corn by throwing rather than by blowing. It was found that elevating fans with a low air pressure were the most efficient and require the least power to operate.

It seldom pays any individual to put too much trust in anybody.

OPEN TENNIS TOURNAMENT PLAY STARTED

MATCHES IN JUNIOR SINGLES GOT UNDER WAY TUESDAY

Men's Singles Start Today; Women's Singles Thursday; Girls' and Boys' Divisions Open Next Monday

Play in the 6th annual Charlevoix open tennis tournament got under way at the municipal courts on the school grounds Tuesday afternoon.

The event this year has drawn one of the largest entries on record. Sixteen are competing in the junior singles division, eighteen in men's singles and fourteen in women's singles, making an entry of nearly fifty exclusive of the boys' and girls' divisions.

First round matches of junior singles opened Tuesday afternoon. Play in men's singles starts Wednesday morning and women's singles Thursday morning. Due to the fact that many from the nearby camps are away on camping trips this week, the boys' division will not be opened until Monday of next week and at that time an entry as large or larger than posted in other divisions is expected. Play in girls' singles will be started at the same time, and, due to a large number of requests for men's doubles, this division will probably get under way also.

At least three of last year's champions will defend their titles. Miss Ellen Squires of Austin, Tex., who last year won in women's singles, is entered, also Richard Sidden of Detroit, 1930 boys' champion, and Jas. Bryan of Oak Park, Ill., junior champion. Following are the entries:

Junior Singles

Men's Singles

Women's Singles

Ellen Squires, Austin, Tex.; Ann Rickard, Nancy Joseph, Chicago; Hermine Sumner, Mrs. V. T. Mudke, Ann Kathuling, Sally Bailey Boyd, Eleanor Frank, Gertrude Hoffman, Mary E. Philson, Mrs. Allen Steinert, Mrie Frank.

COTTAGES NEAR BOYNE CITY BURN

Three Are Destroyed As Oil Cook Stove Exploded Last Wednesday

An oil stove explosion, caused the destruction of three cottages at Gaza Beach, southwest of Boyne City, on the south shore of Lake Charlevoix last Wednesday night. The Boyne City, East Jordan, and state fire departments responded. A strong wind spread the flames and efforts had to be directed to saving adjoining buildings and the nearby woods.

The first cottage was occupied by Vernon Fritz, and family, all of Cincinnati, who lost all their personal belongings. Eight cottages in the group are owned by George W. Jamieson, a former Detroit and property owner, who resided in a pretty bungalow on the beach property. Insurance was carried on the building but none on the furniture.

The second cottage was occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Walter McGowan and family, Cincinnati, friends of the Fritz family. All of them came together to Boyne City for their summer time visit. Their belongings and some of the furniture was saved. The third cottage was occupied by Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Rice and family of Grand Rapids. They had time to get out their clothing and neighbors at the resort assisted in saving a part of the furniture.

This is the first serious fire had in a long time at any of the Boyne City resorts.

The ladies of the Church of God will hold a baked goods sale at Staley Bros. hardware on Saturday, August 1st.—Adv. 301t.

THREE LIQUOR LAW VIOLATORS TAKEN

Sheriff Vaughan and State Troopers Conducted Raids Saturday

Another series of week end liquor raids, conducted by Sheriff Dave Vaughan and State Troopers Barton and McGuire of Cheboygan, resulted in the arrest of three alleged violators.

The Robert Struthers farm home in Hayes township yielded 20 cases of home brew and sufficient mash for a similar amount. Alfred Allison, another Hayes township farmer, was taken for sale of liquor, and a still and quantity of moonshine, found near the Joe Gelski farm at Boyne Falls, resulted in his arrest.

The three men waived examination before Justice Robert Withers Monday afternoon, and were bound over to circuit court. Struthers furnished bond of $1,000 for his release. Allison and Gelski are attempting to raise bonds of $500 and $1,000, respectively.

During the Saturday raid, officers visited the home of Mrs. Anna Saganek and son, Charles, in Marion township. They found a quantity of beer and wine. The Saganeks, arraigned Wednesday morning, were bound over to circuit court.

THE INN PATIO IS PROVING POPULAR

MANY DELIGHTFUL AFFAIRS THERE DURING PAST WEEK

Entertainment Features Offered By Hotel Management Attract Many Guests and Cottagers

The afternoon tea dances at The Inn Patio have proven very popular with the young smart set. The gaily colored chiffon gowns and large picture hats add to the beautiful tropical setting of the gardens.

The opening Thursday, July 23rd, was well attended by guests of the hotel and many of the cottagers. Entertaining one of the large parties Saturday, July 25th, was the attractive sub-debutante, Miss Sylvia Rhinehold of Chicago. Her guests were the Misses Nancy Joseph, Joanne Disette, Jane Wallis, Lenore Goldman, Marie Frank, Eleanor Hamilton, Jane Mayer, and Messrs. Robert Wineman, James Flexner, Julius Lesser, Joseph Meyer, Dick Strause and Philip Glazer.

A regular entertainment calendar has been prepared by the hotel management. Tea dances are held each Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday afternoons, weather permitting, also dancing Monday, Tuesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings.

On Wednesday evenings at 8:30, contract bridge and lecture by Rita R. Friedman, popular social hostess and bridge instructor, are delightful features. Last Wednesday evening prizes were won by Mrs. D. M. Sider, Detroit, and Mrs. Meyer Frank, Los Angeles, Calif. Last week's lecture given by Mrs. Friedman was "Card Reading, Averages and Distribution." This week's subject will be "Contract Ethics and Etiquette."

Special entertainment features are provided Sunday evenings. Also, dinner dancing in the hotel dining room, a distinctly new feature at the hotel this season, has become very popular. Ralph Davis of Chicago, a guest of the hotel, entertained Tuesday evening with a dinner dance. Among the guests were Mrs. Irving Klein, Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. John Koch, Dr. and Mrs. W. W. Mitchell, Mrs. Arthur Friedman, Glen L. Adams, Miami, Fla., and Mrs. Barry, Toronto, Canada.

VISITORS' DAY AT BIOLOGICAL STATION

The public is invited to attend the annual visitors' day of the Biological station of the University of Michigan, Sunday, August 2, from 2 to 5 p. m., Eastern Standard Time. There will be educational exhibits of the plants and animals of the region as well as exhibits of class work and investigations in progress on various biological problems. Everything is free.

The biological station is located on the southeast shore of Douglas lake on the old Cheboygan-Petoskey state road. The roads from Cheboygan, Topinabee, Brutus, and Pellston are well posted. Follow the arrows. There will be plenty of room to park, help in parking, and free guide service to all places of interest.

PLANS ARE BEING MADE FOR REGATTA

EVENT WILL BE HELD THIS YEAR SUNDAY, AUGUST 9

Old Officers Re-elected at Annual Meeting Last Thursday—Plans for Event Being Perfected

Preliminary plans for Charlevoix's 6th annual regatta, a popular event on the city's summer entertainment program, were arranged at the annual meeting of the Charlevoix Boat Club, held last Thursday morning.

Julius Gilbert, Detroit, was unanimously re-elected commodore of the Club. Other officers chosen were: vice-commodores, Val Scroggie, Detroit; George Shaw Jr., Nashville, Tenn.; Charles Fox Jr., St. Louis, Mo.; secretary, Vane Smith, Charlevoix; treasurer, Robert Bridge, Charlevoix; chairman membership committee, Hamilton Moses, Chicago.

Program for the 6th annual regatta, which will be held Sunday, August 9th, under sanction of the Mississippi Valley Power Boat association, has been changed considerably from previous years. It was the consensus of opinion among officers of the Club to make the affair largely a local feature, dispensing with a long list of outboard races which in previous years have occasioned much delay in running off the event.

With this view in mind, a program of races for runabouts from this and surrounding resorts has been arranged. In this division there will be five classes: 50 h. p., 100 h. p., 150 h. p., 225 h. p., and unlimited class. Runabouts of Charlevoix summer residents, as well as those owned at Harbor Pointe, Waukegoning, Traverse City and other surrounding resorts will be entered.

In addition plans are being made for aquaplane contests during intermissions, and the committee is working on several special features of entertainment. Negotiations are now under way to bring several Century Thunderbolts, a small craft capable of making better than 50 miles per hour, here for an exhibition race. If this plan does not work out successfully, a race for larger type outboards, with a cash prize, will be arranged. The program, does not, however, include a long list of outboard races.

The event this year will be free to the public. There will be no charge whatever for witnessing the events. Another feature which will add public interest in the races is the issuance of a program giving the events and time, number of boat and name of owner and driver. Programs will be issued the day of the races.

MACKINAW CITY IS SCENE OF SLAYING

Negro Cook Is Held for Murder of Fisherman There

Charged with killing Herbert Plaut, 40, in an argument over a bottle of liquor, Harry Collins, a negro cook, is held in the county jail at Cheboygan. Plaut's body was found at a lonely spot near the Mackinaw City railroad roundhouse. The bottle of liquor over which the fight allegedly started was beside him.

Police said Collins, a resort hotel employee, had admitted shooting Plaut. The latter was a fisherman at Mackinaw City. His widow and four children survive.

ROGERS SAYS ROAD BILL OUTSTANDING

BEST HIGHWAY LEGISLATION IN RECENT YEARS

Bringing Township Road System Under County Control Will Be a Great Benefit

Frank F. Rogers, formerly state highway commissioner, has the following to say about the new township road law properly known as the Holbeck bill:

"The so-called township road relief bill, House Enrolled Act No. 197, officially known as the McNitt-Holbeck-Smith bill, is in my opinion one of the same six or seven of the most outstanding pieces of highway legislation enacted during the last 40 years. Among them I would name the county road law, the state reward road law, the trunk line law, the Covert act, the state federal act following the United States federal law of 1916, the Aldrich act following the $50,000,000 road bond issue and the act of 1925 placing the entire cost of construction and maintenance of trunk line roads on the state.

"Among the essential features of the Holbeck bill are the following: "The state highway commissioner shall determine the exact township road mileage in the state on or before Sept. 1, 1931.

"The county road commissioners shall take over and constitute as county roads, 20 per cent of the township road mileage in 1932 and 20 per cent each year thereafter until all of the township roads shall have become county roads.

"In taking over these roads preference shall be given to post roads but all roads taken over shall be continuous and shall connect with the state trunk line system, the county road systems or the main street of cities and villages, giving preference so far as possible to roads of heaviest travel.

"The state highway department shall give to the several counties of the state, $2,000,000 in the calendar year of 1932, $2,500,000 in the calendar year of 1933, $3,000,000 in the calendar year of 1934, $3,500,000 in the calendar year of 1935 and $4,000,000 in the calendar year of 1936 and $4,000,000 each year thereafter.

"This money shall be apportioned among the different counties of the state pro rata to their township road mileage and shall be used, first for the maintenance of roads so taken over and none of this money shall be used for the improvement of these roads until they have been properly maintained after which the remainder may be used for improvement. This improvement money may be supplemented by monies appropriated by the boards of supervisors and the townships on a ratio of participation which shall be fixed by the board of supervisors. However, no township money can be made available for this purpose until it shall have been directly voted at the spring election preceding its use.

"Beginning with the April election of 1932, the maximum amount of township road taxes both for repair and improvement that can be levied in any township will be limited to five mills; in 1933 four mills, in 1934 three mills and only three mills each year thereafter. This amends the present township road law which permits a maximum levy of 10 mills, five mills in the repair and five mills in the improvement fund. Hence it is a definite curtailment from the beginning, of township road taxes and is justly called the Township Road Relief Bill, for the money distributed to the counties by the state is all derived from the users of motor vehicles and not from a property tax.

"The township roads taken over by the county road commissioners must meet the approval of the state highway commissioner and thereafter the boards of county road commissioners must annually report to the state highway commissioner upon such forms and in such manner as he shall prescribe, all moneys made available for the maintenance and improvement of roads under the provisions of this act."

HOSPITAL DRIVE SET FOR AUGUST 8

DIRECTORS SET TAG DAY AT THEIR ANNUAL MEETING

Lake Charlevoix Dramatic Camp to Present "The Intimate Stranger" Aug. 11 for Hospital Benefit

Harry A. Craig, George W. Weaver and P. D. Campbell, members whose terms had expired, were re-elected to the Charlevoix hospital board of directors at the annual meeting held last Wednesday evening.

Following the election of directors, the following officers were unanimously re-elected for another year: President, Harry A. Craig; vice-president, George W. Weaver; secretary, P. D. Campbell; treasurer, A. J. Usher.

One of the many important matters of business taken up was that of making plans for the annual hospital tag day, held to raise funds necessary to keep the hospital in operation. As in former years, the tag drive will be in charge of the Hospital Auxiliary. Saturday, August 8, has been set as the day, and as in the past, the whole-hearted cooperation of Charlevoix local and summer residents is being asked to make the event the success it has always been.

The drive will follow along lines similar to former years. A corps of tag-sellers will be asked to volunteer for the day, and liberal prizes will be awarded those turning in the greatest amount from sales. Further and more complete announcements will be available next week.

Through the splendid generosity of G. D'Amico and members of the staff of the Lake Charlevoix Dramatic Camp, Tarkington's "The Intimate Stranger" will be presented at the high school gymnasium the evening of Tuesday, August 11th, for the benefit of the hospital. All proceeds from the performance will be turned over to the hospital.

There has never been a time when both Charlevoix local and summer residents have not contributed liberally to the hospital, and this year will be no exception. All recognize the value of such an institution, and this recognition has kept the hospital one of this city's most valuable assets.

PLEASANT BIRTHDAY PARTY GIVEN MONDAY

Mrs. Ada Shockley Feted on Anniversary at State Street Home

Monday was a memorable day for Mrs. Ada M. Shockley, it being her birthday anniversary.

A surprise one o'clock luncheon, planned by her two daughters, Mrs. Grace Brock and Mrs. Mildred Ochs, was a most enjoyable affair.

Nine ladies, charter members of Sequanota resort, drove up to participate in the festivities. As all were ready to be seated, the Sequanota birthday song was sung, while a shower of beautiful handkerchiefs floated over the tables.

After luncheon the ladies repaired to the lawn, where some time was spent in story telling, reminiscences of the early days of Sequanota and Charlevoix in general.—Contributed.

PERCH AND BASS LIMITS REMOVED

FIFTY PERCH MAY BE TAKEN FROM LAKE CHARLEVOIX

Spearing Through Ice to Be Allowed Only During Months of January and February

There is now no legal limit on the size of perch, calico bass, strawberry bass, ruck bass and crappies that may be taken.

The trout season will remain open to include Labor day, which this year comes on September 7th.

Pike may not be speared during the next spring spearing season.

These are among the important changes contained in the 1931-32 inland fishing law passed by the last session of the legislature. The law was given immediate effect and is now in force.

Lift Perch Ban

The former size limit of seven inches on perch has been removed so that now perch of any length may be caught and kept. One of the principal reasons for removing the size limit, was that in many lakes, perch, because of food and other conditions, rarely had reached a legal size. This automatically prohibited perch fishing in these lakes.

The new law limits the number of perch that may be taken with hook and line in certain parts of Les Cheneaux channels, in northern Lake Huron, to 25 a day. Perch, pike-perch and pike taken with hook and line in these waters may not be sold.

The daily limit of perch was raised to 50 in Lake Charlevoix, Charlevoix county. In other inland waters of the state the creel limit is 25 in the aggregate of perch, bluegills, sunfish, calico bass, warmouth bass, rock bass, white bass and crappies, provided that any person may take or have in possession an unlimited number of perch taken from the Great Lakes or from the connecting waters.

The legislature declared the trout season open through Labor day instead of closing September 1 as formerly. With Labor day coming September 7th this year, it means an extra six days of fishing.

Numerous changes were made in the various spearing laws. Instead of being permitted to spear during the entire period when the lakes are frozen over, as was permissible last year, during the coming winter spearing will be permitted through the ice on all inland waters only during January and February. The fish that may be speared during that period are: carp, suckers, mullet, redhorse, sheepshead, lake trout, smelt, pike, muskellunge, whitefish, ciscoes, pilotfish, dogfish and gar-pike.

Change of Spearing Rules

The spring spearing season was also changed by the legislature. In the lower peninsula spearing on non-trout rivers and streams will be permitted. (Continued on page 8)

RULES LAID DOWN TO LICENSE APPLICANTS

Must Have Proper Amount of Money and Necessary Credentials

Charles Jefferies, Charlevoix chief of police, wishes to notify the public that, hereafter, applicants must present money orders for the correct amount of the license fee and any credentials necessary to be attached to their application before any application for operator or chauffeur license will be signed by him or filled out and notarized at the branch office of the Department of State in the Information Bureau.

Applicants may call for and receive the proper blanks at the license office, but no work will be done on them until the money is received in the form of a money order, certified check, cashier's check or bank draft. Personal checks are not acceptable. In the case of a chauffeur license, a picture of the applicant, one and one-half by two inches in dimension and signed across its face by the applicant must be presented with the license fee, and — in the case of chauffeur driving a taxi or bus — the required medical certificate or copy thereof. A charge of two cents for postage is also required.

In the case of those applicants who are taking out a license for the first time, a temporary permit is issued — good for twenty days from date of issuance or until the receipt of their permanent license from Lansing. It will be necessary for the applicant to look up the chief of police for himself and have the aforesaid permit signed.

LIVE STOCK

REGISTERED RAM WILL PAY HIGH

Wool and Meat Produced Are Always Profitable.

If you have not as yet secured a flock ram, it is high time that you did so, says a writer in an exchange. Of course you would not use anything but a registered ram, and it is even more necessary in a time like this that you have a good ram. Good pure-bred rams are much more profitable than scrubs, and in the days of off color prices we need all the profit possible. This is a good time to weed out the scrubs and keep the good ones. A good sheep will not eat any more than a scrub, yet the wool and lamb produced are more valuable by far. Always build up the flock by using a ram that is superior to your ewes. Feed the best ewes to the best ram. If more than one is used, and instead of getting a long-legged ram for small ewes and a short-legged ram for the big ewes, get a thick, square ram of ideal breed type for all the ewes, because if a ram comes from a first-class breeder he will be potent enough to stamp his individuality on most all of his lambs from any kind of a ewe. And right now you should grasp the importance of getting a ram with something back of him via good ancestors. A lot of people don't stress that point strong enough. Because some one prices you a ram cheap, and he happens to be a pure bred, you think you are saving money by getting him $10 or $15 cheaper than a good one. Nothing is further from the truth. Don't forget that in sheep as in automobiles you get what you pay for. The really good rams cost more to breed and are worth more.

Cattle Require Shelter for Profitable Results

More shelter for fattening cattle against winter's cold is urged by W. H. Peters, chief of the division of animal husbandry of the University of Minnesota.

Many Minnesota farmers who fatten cattle on grain through the winter months feed silage and grain in bunks and hay in racks out in the open in all kinds of weather. Sufficient shelter in many cases is provided only when the cattle are not feeding.

Mr. Peters believes that the lower gains than usual reported by many feeders the past winter are to be attributed to the practice of feeding outdoors, especially in times of severe cold that characterized January, February, and early March of the present year.

"A check-up on a few feeders leads to the conclusion," he says, "that those who fed under shelter obtained better gains than did those who fed out in the open. This is a matter that is well worth consideration on the part of the cattle feeder. It is highly probable that a little money spent in the summer for arranging sheds for indoor feeding in the future will pay a worthwhile profit."

Live Stock Facts

Every farmer should produce at least meat for his home use.

Use the purchased feeds and save the home-grown grains for later use.

Hogs need a lot of water and will show their appreciation through increased gains.

Home-grown feeds are usually the most economical and should furnish the basis of the ration.

Plenty of salt, wood ashes, tankage and alfalfa or clover hay, in addition to the regular corn feed, is a mighty good layout to insure a good crop of strong, healthy pigs.

The nut-like flavor developed in cooked soy beans not only appeals to the palate of particular porkers but increased nutritive value is reflected in faster growth and cleaner gains.

Human beings like to drink ice water, but live stock prefer warm water. Dairy cattle and poultry will maintain normal production if provided with water of the correct temperature.

Exercise is of great importance to both work horses and growing stock. A few hours in a paddock or small pasture with protection from bad weather, is worth many pounds of feed in the growth and cure of horses.

Too high a percentage of corn or barley and too low a percentage of protein feeds are common errors in feeding.

Size and quality of the pig crop next fall will depend in large measure upon the care and feed given brood-sows this winter.

A thing worth bearing in mind is the trend of market demand is for the highly finished "lightweight" "baby beef" of the yearling class, weighing from 600 to 1,000 pounds "finished."

WEEKLY CAMP CHARLEVOIX NEWS COLUMN

—Edited by—
VINCENT ARNOLD

As taps sounded on Saturday, July 25, Camp Charlevoix's most successful Dad's day passed into history. Beginning with morning clean-up, the forty odd fathers who found their way to the camp, followed their sons through the day's activities, routine and otherwise. In the afternoon each section played its respective dads, and the boys found the men worthy opponents. In fact, the seniors bowed before the mighty attack of their fathers to the tune of 9 to 4.

An excellent banquet was served in the evening, and there were several speeches. "Oky" Oldham acted as toastmaster; Mr. Reiman, Mrs. Reiman and Chick Hendry were called upon; Bob Beuhler spoke for the lads, Mr. Thompson for the dads, and Johnny Olwin for the staff. Group singing and a few selections by the camp quartet rounded out the program.

At about 9 o'clock a ceremony at the council ring was performed. Spud Steensma and Justin Kline presented a dance depicting the courtships of two eagles. Several campers and counsellors gave Hiawatha's Death dance. Then the dads, in a very solemn and ceremonial manner, were admitted into the tribe.

With the blowing of taps, Camp Charlevoix's 1931 Dad's day came to a fitting close.

The following were at the camp over the week-end: Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Adams of Kalamazoo; Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Ashman, Midland; Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Barry, Detroit; Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Barstow, Midland; Mr. and Mrs. Harrison, Midland; Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Beutel, Midland; Mr. and Mrs. Carl A. Brauns, Midland; Carl Breer, Detroit; Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Brown, Battle Creek; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur L. Brownell, Kalamazoo; Mr. and Mrs. T. P. Chase, Royal Oak; Mr. and Mrs. N. Raymond Clarke, LaGrange; Dr. and Mrs. N. E. Clarke, Detroit; Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Clayton, Detroit; Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Bradley, Midland; Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo G. Evans, Grand Rapids; Mr. and Mrs. Elmer C. Evans, Grand Rapids; Mr. B. F. Everett, Detroit; Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Friedlander, Milwaukee; Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Fayram, Jackson; Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Harlow, Midland; Mr. and Mrs. Hugh W. Hitchcock, Birmingham; Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Hund, Detroit; Mr. Hutcheson, Cairo, Ill.; Charles B. Johnson, Grosse Pointe; F. J. LaPointe, Ann Arbor; Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Leuher, Birmingham; Mr. Howard L. McGregor, Detroit; Mr. and Mrs. H. Gray Muzzy, Birmingham; Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Owen, Grosse Pointe; Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Patton, Detroit; Mr. and Mrs. Mark E. Putnam, Midland; Mr. and Mrs. Max A. Ramm, Detroit; Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Reifel, Detroit; Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Riel, LaGrange; Mr. and Mrs. Clarence E. Seebaldt, Detroit; Mr. and Mrs. C. George Shepherd; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur H. Simonton; Mr. Paul M. Taylor, Huntington, Ind.; Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Thomson, Battle Creek; Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Todd, Kalamazoo; Mr. and Mrs. C. Theron VanDusen, Birmingham; Mr. and Mrs. J. Wallbillic, Dearborn; Mr. A. J. Reed, Jackson; Mr. and Mrs. John B. Woodfield, Jackson; Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Zeder, Detroit.

The camp is quite deserted this week because of the various trips being made. The Canadian trip has claimed about 22 of the boys, while the Jordan river trip takes the remaining intermediates and seniors. The juniors are to make a couple of short excursions, each of which will occupy two days.

Each Sunday morning at 11 o'clock chapel is held on the porch. Chuck Husted, who is a minister in Pennsylvania, takes charge of the services. So far this season the speakers have been Mr. Reiman, Chuck and Johnny Olwin. One of the boys is always delegated to read the scripture lesson, and it is also customary to have a camper give some sort of solo. Justin Kline and Speed Steensma have sang in chapel, and Walt Barry, on last Sunday, played a cornet solo.

The camp has decided to use the collection money by giving it to the Fresh Air camp.

Counsellor Johnny Olwin pulled the trick of a famous English nobleman the other day when his horse, Black Witch, stumbled and threw him. Johnny suffered a sprained shoulder, and he will be limited to the use of one arm for about two weeks.

The big Indian tipi was finished in time for Dad's day by an extra spurt of work on the part of Oky's cabin and Chick Hendry. The tipi is a very excellent piece of work, and the art work on it is especially noteworthy. Wendell Gates has depicted on the canvas the sweat lodge procession in bright and striking colors; in fact, the whole thing is a riot of color, with blues, reds, yellows, and blacks scattered here and there.

Harry Bingham's cabin completed another fine piece of work in the form of a model camp site. It contains a lean-to, a tent, several types of fireplaces, and even a home-made sun-dial. The idea back of this was to give the dads some inkling of how the campers live while they are on their trips, and the consensus of opinion is that Harry's cabin certainly succeeded. Counsellors Jack Hogan and Bill Bellman helped on the project.

CAMP DIRECTOR MAN OF WIDE EXPERIENCE

Prof. Fleischman's Dramatic Career Started in College Days

The Shakespeare Memorial players are being directed by a man who has had a world of experience in the theatre both in the professional and amateur circles. Dr. Earl E. Fleischman was born in Silverton, Oregon, in 1895, and was graduated from the University of Oregon with the highest honors in general scholarship. During his college course he was vice president of Mask and Buskin chapter of National Collegiate Players. During his connection with Mask and Buskin he played the title role in "Strongheart" and "Taming of the Shrew," as well as directed plays written by student members of the organization. Here his career as a director and actor really began.

Upon graduation from high school Dr. Fleischman played one season with the Comus Players for the Ellison-White chautauquas on the Pacific coast. During this season he did Orlando in "As You Like It." The war then interrupted his career for a year while he was serving in the U. S. Marine corps as a cadet pilot at Miami, Florida. At the termination of the war he taught in the Oregon high schools until 1922 where he was in charge of dramatics. He moved to Kentucky at the invitation of the University of Kentucky in 1922 to direct the department of dramatics. This position he held for one year. In 1923 he accepted a position with the University of Michigan as director of dramatics there.

Aside from his connection with the University of Michigan Dr. Fleischman has had considerable professional experience. He stage managed for Florence Reed-Woods production of "The Legacy." He also played "Macbeth" with the Gordon Craig-Tyler production. In the Shakespearean festivals held in Flint in 1925-26-27, Dr. Fleischman played "Hamlet," "Shylock," and "Macbeth."

Dr. Fleischman, after coming to the University of Michigan, furthered his training in the drama as he directed and played by study. He received his Master's degree in 1924 and then began research in the field of the literature of the theatre. He received his Ph. D. in 1930 after the completion of an original treatise on the interpretation of lines in Shakespeare.

The plan for a Shakespeare Memorial Camp is the outcome of years of study and research. Dr. Fleischman recognized the need for greater opportunity for the amateur if interest is to continue. He saw that the theatre-goer must be assured that new talent will develop and a means offered for the best teachers and students to assemble for an exchange of ideas and further development. Thus he conceived an embryo, the Shakespeare Memorial Camp.

BLAME LAZY BEETLE FOR HOPPER PLAGUE

Use Poison Bait Until Parasites Decrease in Numbers

The clouds of grasshoppers which ate up the crops of the ancients were supposed to be a signal that the gods were offended, but the swarms which are working in some Michigan counties this year are known to be due to the laziness of the blister beetles which are supposed to keep the grasshoppers in check, according to the entomology department of Michigan State college.

The larvae of some of the blister beetles feed almost exclusively on the eggs of grasshoppers and as long as there is a plentiful supply of these eggs the larvae grow fat and the beetles increase rapidly in numbers. When they have eaten so many eggs that the grasshopper crop is reduced, the larvae starve, and the beetle population is cut down to a point where it ceases to be a check upon the hoppers.

Right now the hoppers have the upper hand and man must use some poison bait to kill them, or suffer the damages they will do to his crop. This bait can be prepared at little cost, especially if a large quantity is mixed for all the farmers of a community, and it effectively stops the grasshoppers.

The bait is no good unless it is properly mixed with the correct ingredients and farmers in the infested areas can be sure that their bait is prepared correctly if they will ask the county agricultural agent to give them the detailed directions. Both time and money will be saved if groups of farmers prepare the amount they require at the same time.

MRS. JOHN WARD, PIONEER RESIDENT, DIED

Succumbed Last Friday Following An Extended Illness

Charlevoix lost another from its rapidly diminishing pioneer ranks last Friday morning in the death of Mrs. John Ward, one of the early settlers of Marion township.

Mrs. Ward's death occurred at the State street home of her daughter, Mrs. Robert Mitchell, with whom she had been residing for many years. She had been in ill health for a long period.

Lydia A. Nowland was born September 6, 1845, at Flat Rock, Wayne county. She came with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Nowland, to a homestead in Marion township in 1865. In 1867, she was united in marriage to John Ward, now deceased.

Nine children were born to this union, two of whom survive, viz: Mrs. Robert Mitchell and Mrs. E. L. Crandall, both of Charlevoix. Other surviving relatives are a sister, Mrs. Charles Root, Portland, Ore., two brothers, Thomas and Abe Nowland of Charlevoix, four grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were held at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon from the State street residence. Rev. John E. Lockyer, pastor of the First Methodist church, of which Mrs. Ward was a member, officiated. Interment was at Brookside.

GRAND RAPIDS CAMPERS ON SECOND WEEK

Ball Games and Other Contests On Program—New Campers Arrive

The summer camp sponsored by the Grand Rapids League of Young Men's Societies, of the Christian Reformed churches, has completed one week of its program at the Tyrrell Vacation Camp, of Atwood. This is the fourth year that the League has arranged an outing for its members, and the third at the present location.

Several of the young men who were present last week are staying for the remainder of the period, including, in addition to the director,

E. R. Post, the cook, Fred Ophof, and the life guard, Wallace Waalkes, the following: Peter Huizenga of Chicago; Jay Pylman, Edsko, Edward, and Edgar Hickman of Grand Rapids.

Up to Monday evening, the new arrivals were: James LaGrand, Clarence Koster, Julius Vande Koppfe, Harold Van Stee, Ed. and Fred Van Houten, John Straayer, Jay and Wm. Vanden Berg, Neal Spanninga, John Vanden Berg, Anthony Hoekema, Herbert Dayerman, all of Grand Rapids; Marvin Schans of Redlands, Calif.; John VandeVelde, Nick Tamming, Julius and Harry Tenne, of Chicago.

The camp baseball team met the Ellsworth aggregation last Friday evening, and was defeated by the narrow margin of 12 to 13. On Tuesday afternoon the boys met the Ellsworth team for a game of indoor. On Friday evening another baseball game is scheduled to be played at Atwood, against the town team. A horse-shoe tournament is being played off this week to determine the camp champion. Volley-ball, swimming, golf, and tennis, are also included in the sports program.

On Monday evening the camp fire meeting was addressed by Dr. H. H. Meeter, professor of Bible at Calvin college, Grand Rapids. The meeting was open to the public, and it is estimated 200 Ellsworth and Atwood folks attended. The Thursday camp fire will be for the young men only, and it is to be addressed by Dr. C. J. Geenen, of Grand Rapids.

Announcement
 Having taken over the dress-making business formerly carried on by Mrs. Etta Siminow, I solicit the patronage of her old customers as well as new. Dress-making, altering and sewing of all kinds. Mrs. Hazel Geer Allers, 205 Alice street.—Adv. 3011.

KAMP KAIRPHREE

This week has again seen the breaking of the camp routine by two trips—a canoe trip down the Jordan and a trip to Mackinac Island—but taken this time by different groups. The younger senior group went on the river trip. The junior group will go in the near future. Another event of great importance to campers was the exciting baseball game between the two opposing teams in camp, the Blues and Whites. A crushing victory was won by the Whites, but the Blues promise revenge in the next game.

On Saturday, the 25th, Kamp Kairphree held its annual Mother's day. The regular schedule of classes was followed, so that the mothers who came to visit the camp could see the ordinary activities and events of a camper's day. Mothers and daughters went to classes together, rested together during rest hour, spent the day together in the usual camp routine of work and play. A banquet in the lodge was the climax to a happy day. Speeches were given by an old camper, Jean Frances Woodruff, a new camper, Betty Schneider, a counsellor, Winifred Benseley, and a mother, Mrs. Neal. Mrs. Swain acted as toastmistress. After the banquet the mothers were entertained by an operetta given by the campers. The mothers who were the guests of the camp were: Mrs. Swinton, Mrs. Putnam, Mrs. Woodruff, Mrs. Crane, Mrs. Salomon and her guest, Mrs. Myron; Mrs. Bradley, Mrs. Sprau and Mrs. Wood.

METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH

On Sunday morning at 10:30 we are to have the privilege of hearing Prof. W. W. Whitehouse of Albion college, who is giving a series of lectures at Bay View assembly. Dean Whitehouse is a competent student of sociological conditions and is a very able speaker also. He will have an up-to-date message to give.

Church school at 12 noon. Evening worship in charge of the pastor at 7:45. You will find a cool place in the evening hours in our church basement. Last Sunday evening it was 16 degrees cooler than the rooms above street level. Come and be comfortable.

Miss Vera Belding will lead the Epworth League at 8:30. Topic is, "Growing Friendships." All young people visiting the city are invited. Official board meeting this Friday at 8 p. m., in the church basement. Very important.

Next Tuesday at 8 p. m., in the Methodist church, hear a famous baritone in concert recital—Basilios Andrea Kyros.

CANNERS WILL HAVE PLENTY OF PEACHES

Prices of Fruit and Sugar Should Urge Housewives to Fill Cupboard

Prospects of a good peach crop, both in Michigan and the rest of the peach growing states, lead the department of horticulture at Michigan State college to advise housewives to prepare to add a large supply of this fruit to the families winter stores.

Peaches will be on the market in quantities from July 15 until late September and it is impossible to tell just when they will be cheapest. The Michigan crop usually starts on the market the middle of August and this state will have three times the number of peaches it had last year.

Locally grown, tree-ripened fruit usually has the best flavor and makes the best canned product. The price of sugar is low this year so housekeepers have an excellent opportunity to preserve a year around supply of peaches.

Varieties recommended for home canning are Rochester, South Haven, Kalamazoo, Engle, J. H. Hale, Gold Drop, and Elberta. Many home canners will be surprised to find that several varieties of peaches have better qualities for the pantry shelves than Elbertas, but any of the varieties named can be used with the assurance that they will be satisfactory.

LOCAL LEGION POST ELECT NEW OFFICERS

Lee C. Allard Re-elected Commander at Meeting Tuesday Night

Leslie T. Shapton Post No. 226, American Legion, held its regular meeting and annual election of officers Tuesday evening, the election being prescribed by the by-laws of the Legion to be held at a date not later than thirty days following the state convention.

Lee C. Allard and Simon B. Carey were unanimously re-elected to the offices of post-commander and post-commander, respectively. Fred V. Tyler was elected post-adjutant, Charles Martini, finance officer; A. J. Rehfs, sergeant-at-arms; Oscar P. North, chaplain; Clarence Meggison, welfare officer, and Robert Bridge, rehabilitation officer.

CHARLEVOIX LOST TEN INNING GAME

Alden Victors Sunday by 4 to 3 Count—East Jordan Here Next

Poor fielding support cost Charlevoix's independent baseball team a victory against the Alden Resorters at Alden Sunday afternoon. The Antrim county aggregation won 4 to 3 after the game had gone to 10 innings.

Although Colby struck out 14 men to 7 for Day, the Alden hurler, Day's fielding support helped him through a lot of bad places to win the contest. The score was knotted at 3-all at the end of the ninth inning, and in their half Alden scored a run which Charlevoix was unable to duplicate.

Charlevoix opens a series of seven straight home games here next Sunday. East Jordan will furnish the initial opposition.

THREE EVENTS INTEREST COUNTY GRANGERS

Meet July 31 at Bear Creek With Emmet County Pomona Grange

Three important events are in store for Grangers of Charlevoix county during the next two weeks.

Emmet county Pomona Grange has extended an invitation to the Charlevoix county organization to meet with them at Bear Creek Grange located two miles southeast of Petoskey, July 31st. A program, in which most of the Charlevoix county Granges will be represented, is being prepared. There will be a pot-luck supper at 6:30 standard time.

On Saturday, August 8th, Charlevoix county Pomona Grange will meet at Maple Grove. There will be a pot-luck supper at 7 o'clock. No afternoon program is planned.

The big Grange rally of the year will be held at Wolverine August 14, with State Master Roxburgh, and James Farmer, national Grange lecturer, as speakers. Pot-luck dinner at noon and afternoon program.

This Week Only
 For Canning Season—18 pounds pure Cane Sugar for $1.00. Berry crates. Remember, we open at "Cock Crow" in the morning and close 9 o'clock week nights and 10 o'clock Saturday nights. Louis S. Orlovski.—Adv. 3011.

REGIONAL BOY SCOUT ROUND-UP ANNOUNCED

Annual County-Wide Event at Petoskey to Attract Several Hundred

Plans are virtually completed for the first annual regional Boy Scout round-up in Petoskey, Wednesday, August 5, Quinton Stone, Petoskey scoutmaster, announces.

Troops from Emmet, Cheboygan, Grand Traverse, Charlevoix and Otsego counties will attend the event, which is expected to be made an annual affair. The Petoskey Chamber of Commerce is assisting in the arrangements.

The afternoon will be devoted to competitive games and exhibitions of Scout craft. During the evening it is planned to hold a campfire program at Menomona beach. Both events will be open to the public. More than 200 Scouts are expected to be present, including the troop from Harbor Springs.

Committee members of the Petoskey troop are John Foley, chairman, Chester Gibson, Dr. G. A. Parmenter, and Mr. Stone.

Three Things You Demand

There are three things you demand from your bank. First, it must offer a place of unquestioned safety for the money you entrust to its care. Secondly, it must lend its funds not only with the security of the investment in mind but with the good of the community and its proper development always under consideration.

Thirdly, you demand that your bank shall be friendly, pleasant, and helpful in all its dealings with you.

We believe these demands of yours are reasonable and we aim to meet them in every respect. We invite your business upon this basis.

BUGS NOT WORRIED ABOUT DEPRESSION

Conditions Seem to Be Perfect for Insect Enemies of Michigan

These times are not acclaimed as any paradise for Michigan farmers, but this year could qualify as a heavenly period for insects and the latest to join the buzzing choir is the chinch-bug which has been reported to the entomology department of Michigan State college as damaging crops in several southern Michigan counties.

The chinch-bug has been feeding on wheat and is now moving into the corn fields. If it once becomes established in the corn, it can not be eradicated, but it can be stopped before it gets into the field or when it is working only on the rows along the fences.

The chinch-bug does not fly in its travels to new feeding grounds and its march can be stopped by preparing dust barriers or barriers made by plowing two furrows.

EDITORIALS

CONSIDER YE THE ED!

Behold ye the editor. He weareth purple and fine linen. His abode is amongst the mansions of the rich. His wife hath her limousine and her first born sporteth a racing chariot that canst hit her up at $0 flat.

Lo! All the people breaketh their necks to hand him money!

A child is born unto the wife of a merchant in the bazaar. The physician getteth about seventy-five gold plunks for being present on the occasion. The editor writeth a stick and a half and telleth the multitude that the child tippeth the beam at nine pounds. Yea, he lieth even as a centurion. And the proud father giveth him a Cremona.

Behold, the young one groweth up and graduateth. And the editor putteth into his paper a swell notice. Yea, a peach of a notice. He telleth of the wisdom of the young woman and of her exceeding comeliness. Like unto the roses of Sharon is she, and her gown is played up to heat the band. And the dressmaker getteth two score and four iron men for her labors. And the editor getteth a note of thanks from the sweet girl graduate—maybe.

The daughter goeth on a journey. And the editor throweth himself on the chronicle of the farewell party. It runneth a column solid. And the fair one remembereth him from afar with a picture postal that costeth six for a jiney.

Behold, she returneth and the youth of the city fall down and worship. She picketh one from amongst the multitude, and lo, she picketh a lemon. But the editor calleth him one of our promising young men, and getteth away with it. And they send unto him a bid to the wedding feast and behold the bids are fashioned by a mail order printer in a far city.

Flowery and long is the wedding notice, which the editor printeth. The minister getteth ten bones. The groom standeth the editor off for a twelve months' subscription.

All flesh is grass, and in time the wife is gathereth unto the soil.

The minister getteth his bit. The undertaker getteth his bit. The florist getteth his bit. But the editor getteth hit. He printeth a death notice, two columns of obituary, three lodge notices, a cubit of poetry and a card of thanks. And he forgetteth to read proof on the head, and the curstest thing cometh out "Gone to Her Last Roosting Place."

And all that are akin to the deceased jumpeth on the editor with exceeding great jumps. And they pulleth out their ads and cancelleth their subscriptions, and they swiag the hammer unto the third and fourth generations.

ADVERTISING MICHIGAN

The Michigan legislature appropriated $100,000 to advertise the scenic attractions of the state.

The money is being divided among four tourist and resort associations of the state.

The idea is not a new one. The state spent a similar hundred thousand dollars last year, and with good results.

It was not difficult to see the beneficial results in a large tourist and resort business at a time when a very considerable decrease might well have been expected.

The four associations which are administering this publicity for Michigan were able to "show" the legislators, or the money certainly would not have been appropriated again, at a time when economy seems very much to be desired.

The expenditure of money for advertising of this sort, however, has come to be recognized as good business.

It is not a contribution to somebody, or a dole. It is a straight business investment.

No business or industry would tempt to "carry on" in these days without advertising, if it had anything to sell.

Michigan has some wonderful scenic and other attractions to "sell" the world, and this really very moderate advertising appropriation is simply the business-like way of going about to reach the people who want what we have to offer.

This does not by any means represent all Michigan will spend in 1931 in this sort of publicity.

Innumerable private individuals and agencies are constantly telling the people of America about the attractions of Michigan and its wonderful waters.

And because it is good business we will keep right on doing it year after year.—Cadillac Evening News.

THE EVIL OF SIGN BOARDS

Although the bill introduced in the Michigan state legislature last winter to abolish or regulate sign boards along the highways, was not passed, there is still a concerted effort being made to correct the evil. At present it is illegal to place sign boards on the road right-of-way but private property throughout the state is cluttered with these unsightly instruments of advertising. The harmful effect of these billboards is obvious, particularly in Northern Michigan, where in many places the prettiest scenery is shut off from passing automobile tourists.

The cartoon on page six pictures the artist's conception of automobile touring in Michigan, in another decade or two. If the present trend of crowding billboards on every available site along the highway continues to gain in popularity as it has during the past 10 years, it is not so far beyond the realm of probability that the practice suggested in the cartoon will be put into use.

American people have been repeatedly accused of seeking to commercialize on every possible phase of life, forgetting the things that have aesthetic appeal. That is the case of sign boards.

We hope that some regulatory statute will be enacted before the cartoonist's dream comes true.

FOR ALL THE PEOPLE

Persons of limited means are the greatest beneficiaries of life insurance.

A survey has produced the fact that more than 60 per cent of outstanding life insurance is upon the lives of persons earning less than $3,000 a year. Life insurance is not a rich man's luxury.

An important change has taken place within the industry in the last generation. Formerly, insurance was offered only to those in good physical condition—the less fortunate were refused policies. But now, for a slight extra cost those ailing in body can obtain protection for their dependents. Excepting those who are suffering from the most serious diseases and maladies, insurance goes to all who want it.

The influence of life insurance, with its more than $100,000,000,000 of coverage in force in this country, on the lives and futures of the people is incalculable.

"MORE BABIES" DRIVE IN ITALY

Where Premier Benito Mussolini will find black shirts to clothe his rapidly increasing army of young Fascists, may be more of a problem than he suspects. For Italy has scored a nine per cent growth in the birth-rate during the past 22 months, spurred on by Mussolini's "More babies" campaign. Italy now has the densest population of any country in Europe with the exception of Germany.

In addressing a group of women at the start of the campaign, Mussolini is reported to have said in part: "Ladies, Italy to count for anything, should enter the second half of this century with a population not less than 60,000,000. That many Italians will make felt the force of their strength in world history."

There are probably a lot of birth control reformists in the United States spending sleepless nights worrying about Italy's plight.

PLANS FOR ELECTION

The Department of State is making plans a year in advance for the general reregistration of all voters before the presidential election in 1932. Under the changes in the election laws adopted by the 1931 legislature, the Department of State has greatly added powers in regard to elections.

Already the department, in conjunction with the election commission, have approved forms for the next registration, which is mandatory on all counties of over 5,000, and these forms will be available for local election officials within a short time.

FREEDOM OF PRESS MAINTAINED

Setting aside the famous Minnesota newspaper "gag" law by the United States Supreme court, may be one of the most important decisions ever handed down.

Chief Justice Hughes stressed the need for freedom of the press—holding that need to be greater than ever before. The law, in its intention, may have been good—to outlaw indecent and seditious sheets. But in its wording, it put newspapers at the mercy of political corruption or dictation. There is no place in America for suppression of honest comment or criticism.

What we would like to know is who has time to read all the scandal that the big newspapers print.

PLANS TO BEAT UNEMPLOYMENT

By ROME C. STEPHENSON

President American Bankers Association

R. C. STEPHENSON

SOME look upon unemployment as a social or political problem. For them the remedy is compulsory accumulation of reserve funds on the part of the insurance principle through contributions from the government, the employer, the employee, or all three. That will not meet the present emergency, since these reserve funds have not been built up and it would take years to do so. At best this plan could only become effective at some indefinite time in the future as against the return of another catastrophe of general unemployment. Others look upon unemployment as purely an economic problem, holding that the only fundamental preventive is in business stability. It may well be asked whether either of these courses—namely, the creation of unemployment insurance funds on the one hand or the maintenance of everlasting business stability on the other—do not present in themselves bigger problems than the problems they seek to cure. However, I am inclined to the belief that the more practical approach to the solution of such problems and the prevention of such situations as general unemployment presents is along the latter lines of economic foresight rather than along lines of social legislation.

National Foresight

Economic foresight is conceivable not only for the individual but for business as a whole. Millions of individuals and virtually all lines of industry failed to practice it during the last stages of the recent prosperity.

The public welfare of the United States demands that industry as a whole vigorously and sincerely devote itself to the development of plans of economic foresight, aimed to prevent repetitions of the present unemployment situation. The general outlines for such plans are clearly definable. They demand that industry adopt a long range viewpoint and lay out its production and distribution plans with the thought that it is far better to have a long period of good sound business activity than a short period of frantically over-competitive endeavor. This would tend to lessen over-production in various lines, to prevent over-expansion of plant capacity, to avoid over-stimulation of public buying and above all to avoid periods of slumps and stagnation following periods of over-stimulation with their disasters of unemployment.

For business, too, there is a part in such a conception of economic foresight. It should aim to cooperate with industry in its endeavor to avoid reckless over-production, over-stocking and over-selling the public.

In this picture of national economic prudence, banking and finance, too, have their place. Their effort should be to influence the use of credit and other financial facilities into channels of sound public economy consistent with the attitude I have already sketched for industry and trade. All finance, whether current commercial banking or industrial investment banking, should seek by their influence in granting or withholding credit to stimulate and build up a balanced economic situation.

The Individual Must Help

Finally, the individual too has a place in any such plan of a sounder economic future for the United States. It is the duty of the individual to make every effort to take care of himself and provide for himself. Neither government nor industry can do that for him. They can give him the opportunity to succeed but they can't succeed for him. He must out of his own initiative and effort earn and create his own means and defenses against the requirements and contingencies of life.

Individual determination to provide against sickness, accident and death by insurance before indulgences in extra comforts and luxuries are given place in the family budget, and individual responsibility to guard against the contingency of unemployment by means of a sound program of thrift and savings are to my mind the true foundation of economic stability for the United States as a whole.

A limestone spreader, owned by a bank in Illinois is rented out to farmers for ten cents a ton, and also, a phosphate spreader at five cents a ton. The "limestone project" was the principal contribution of the bank to banker-farmer work, during 1930, and was carried on in cooperation with the Farm Bureau. A man trained in the testing of soil, and in the making of soil maps was employed by the bank. The unit maps used covered forty acres, on which 23 surface tests were made at mathematical points. At five other points three tests were made—surface, subsurface, and subsoil. The completed map showed, by varying shades of red, the points which needed limestone. Arrangements were also made by the bank to have limestone shipped in by car lots for sale to farmers in any quantities needed.

Anyhow, the pedestrian has the right of way.

NOTED CONCERT ARTIST COMING HERE

BASSILIOS ANDREA KYROS TO GIVE RECITAL AUGUST 4

Program at Methodist Church Under Auspices of Literary Society; Mlle. Cassandra Will Give Lecture

Bassilios Andria Kyros, eminent bass-baritone, master singer, teacher and composer, will appear in a costume recital at the First Methodist church Tuesday evening, August 4, under auspices of the M. E. Literary and Sewing Club.

He will be assisted by Mlle. Cassandra of Grand Rapids, Mich., who will give a descriptive lecture on Jerusalem.

Mr. Kyros is widely known throughout Europe and America as an interpretive artist of premier rank. After graduating from the National Conservatory at Athens he won a scholarship to study in Italy and become a pupil of Vincenzo Vanini of Florence, where he made his operatic debut. Mr. Kyros has toured the principal cities of Europe.

Tuesday evening the artist will sing the "Cassative" from "La Juive," in which he made his debut in Paris. Both artists will appear in costume.

Mlle. Cassandra, who is a resident of Grand Rapids, is a member of the State Authors' association, and the Academy of Science, Arts and Letters, University of Michigan.

Following are typical press notices concerning performances given by Mr. Kyros:

"Bassilios Andria Kyros, Grecian bass-baritone, sang last night in a voice of perhaps richer quality than any of the others, and almost more power when he chose to release it than the dimensions of the hall could well support. Some excellent songs were given a striking performance." —Edward Moore, in the Chicago Tribune.

"Bassilios Andria Kyros, Grecian bass-baritone, sang before an enthusiastic audience last evening, showing temperamental feeling, a good sense of vocal finish and interpretative gifts." —Maurice Rosenfeld, in the Chicago Daily News.

NEED NO LICENSE TO SELL NON-GAME FISH

Fish Taken from Inland Lakes Included in This Ruling

No license is now required to sell non-game fish taken from inland waters of the state.

The provision requiring a license was eliminated from the inland fish law by the 1931 legislature. The new law does not change the provisions necessitating a commercial fishing license for selling fish taken from the Great Lakes.

Persons taking fish to sell from any of the inland waters must comply with all of the regulations for taking of non-game fish.

Perch and pike-perch, which may be sold by persons licensed for commercial fishing, when taken from the Great Lakes, are classed as game fish in inland waters and may not be sold when taken from the inland waters.

Smelt taken through the ice or from the smelt runs next spring and which may be taken in unlimited quantities, may be sold without a license.

The list of non-game fish which may be taken and sold from inland waters without a license are:

Grass pike, calico bass, strawberry bass, rock bass, crappies, bullheads, carp, catfish, ciscoes, dogfish, garfish, mullet, pilotfish (Menominee whitefish), whitefish, redhorse, sheepshead, smelt, suckers and lake trout.

A Correction

The Courier wishes to offer an apology to Frank Kane of Hayes township. In an article in last week's issue it was stated Mr. Kane pleaded guilty in circuit court to violation of the liquor law. The Courier erred in using the name of Frank Kane, which should have read Robert Kane.

The best way to answer the so-called Red menace is by attending to our own business.

PLANS ARE READY FOR BOXING SHOW

DATE CHANGED FROM FRIDAY TO THURSDAY EVENING

Johnny Bangert, Bay City, and Marty Simmons, Flint, Head Bill Featuring 30 Rounds

Everything is in readiness for the first summer boxing show under auspices of Leslie T. Shapton Post, American Legion.

One important change has been made. The date of Friday evening, July 31st, as originally announced by Promoter Leo Powers, has been changed to Thursday evening, July 30th. The show will be held in the high school gymnasium.

Thirty rounds of boxing are scheduled. Heading the bill is a ten-round go between Johnny Bangert of Bay City, former Michigan welter-weight champion, and Marty Simmons of Flint. This bout promises to be a good one. Bangert is the only Michigan welter holding a decision over Simmons, and the Flint lad is out to even matters up.

The semi-final bout will feature Walter Blanks of St. Louis, Mo., and Ted Ray of Grand Rapids. Blanks has appeared in former shows at Charlevoix and is popular with fight fans. Blanks and Ray will fight six rounds or less.

The other six-round scrap brings together Frank Winnick, well known local boy, and Harry Hopkins of Peotuskey. These two lads are evenly matched and the scrap should be an interesting one.

Two other four-round matches are scheduled. Bill Woods, local coast guard, takes on Harold Lannon of Traverse City, and Budly Dugan of Sault Ste. Marie, and Eddie Edinburg of Traverse City, clash in the other.

All the out-of-town fighters will arrive here Wednesday to work out for the show.

As yet the referee has not been selected, this matter being in the hands of the state boxing commission. Judging from advance ticket sales, a good crowd will see the program Thursday evening.

mitted from March 1 to April 30 and in the upper peninsula streams and rivers spawning will be permitted from March 1 to May 15. The following species may be speared in rivers and streams: carp, suckers, redhorse, mullet, dogfish and gar-pike. Pike were taken from the list of species that may be speared in streams.

Under the new spearing law, fish may not be speared with the use of an artificial light.

The conservation commission is given power to designate certain quasi-trout streams open to hook and line fishing for other species at all seasons of the year when open seasons permit. The commission was also authorized to designate certain lakes as trout lakes anywhere in the state instead of the upper peninsula only as heretofore.

A license is now required of all persons who take minnows for commercial purposes regardless of age or how taken, but no license is required for resale of minnows taken by licensed persons or imported from outside the state.

The season for the use of dip nets in non-trout streams is changed from April and May to from March 1 to April 30, and in addition to suckers, carp, dogfish and gar-pike may be taken.

"THE DOVER ROAD" IS NEXT CAMP PRODUCTION

Presentation Adds Decided Change in Characterization

"The Dover Road" is to be the next presentation offered by the Shakespearean Players.

It is an English comedy which centers its attention around a runaway couple, in fact two run-away couples. The relationship of the four people is brought out very well during the course of the second act and a new relationship is built up which comes to an unusual ending—indeed—one which is not suspected by the audience.

This comedy offers a change in characterization not to mention the new situations. "The Impossible Mr. Latimer" as played by Martin Palmer and Dominic as portrayed by Dr. Fleishman, add rare touches to "The Dover Road," which have thus far not been equalled in the camp program.

FAIR STOCK

MANY PARASITES REMAIN MYSTERY

Life History of Most of Them Little Known.

Many hundreds of kinds of parasites infest America's live stock, and yet the life histories of most of them are still little understood by the veterinary profession, says Dr. Maurice C. Hall, zoologist at the United States Department of Agriculture. He believes there are many more life histories that are not yet known than have already been ascertained.

Of all the tapeworms in the world, life histories of perhaps not more than 1 per cent are known to the profession, he says, and little more is known of the parasitic roundworms and dukes. Until much of the information now lacking is supplied it will be difficult, this scientist believes, to separate major offenders from minor offenders.

Parasitic diseases are about as important as bacterial diseases, but it is more difficult to see the damage caused by them because most of them are present throughout the year. It is much easier to see the loss from bacterial diseases, which strike suddenly and cause severe losses at the time, than to detect the steady drain from parasites which manifests itself in animals that are in poor condition, unthrifty, and less capable of producing meat, wool, milk eggs or other things for which these animals are raised.

Before the live stock industry can be relieved of many of the losses now suffered because of parasites it will be necessary to make extensive surveys to discover what parasites are present in this country and where they are prevalent, to work out their life histories, to learn their habits, to develop effective treatments, and to devise satisfactory prophylactic measures that will prevent future losses.

Give Brood Sows Right Care to Insure Porkers

This is the time of year when brood sows need some special care, and the time when the farmer can give it to them. It will depend almost entirely upon what they get to eat, as to what the spring pig crop will be. Sows that are to raise spring litters are unable at this time of the year, no matter how large the pasture may be, to get all the requirements of their systems from the regular feeds and forage they have access to. If the ground is frozen, it is impossible for them to get their mineral requirements, which are more than ordinarily heavy at this season. In fact no sows respecting hog should be allowed to dig their own minerals any time of the year. It takes a lot of energy which might be otherwise turned into pork for a sow to stand on her hind legs and dig a well out in the middle of the pasture while digging for mineral. Besides this it is mighty hard on the pasture also. Commercial minerals are not expensive when compared to the trouble the hog must experience in digging his own, even if as the old Auk-sawyer said, "A haw's time isn't worth nothing."

Soft Pork Products Are Very Difficult to Sell

A soft or oily condition of pork products makes them difficult to sell. Lard from soft hogs is a sloppy, semi-liquid mass which does not harden at ordinary temperatures. Because of the softness of the fat they carry, the loins become slimy and unattractive in appearance when they are placed on the counter or in the showcase. The bacon is soft and flabby, has a disagreeable appearance and is difficult to slice even with a machine. Hams are also affected, but probably to a less extent than are the other cuts. These undesirable characteristics not only reduce the demand for soft pork but for pork products in general. A decrease in pork products consumption hampers corn-belt farmers who produce such a large percentage of our annual crop of hogs.

Cholera Symptoms

Hog cholera is characterized by complete loss of appetite, extremely high temperature, constipation usually followed by diarrhea, chills, depression, burrowing in litter, ears and tail drooping, and sometimes cough. Red spots or blotches appear on the skin of the belly, inner side of the hams, and on the ears. In advanced stages there is a staggering gait, and a gummy discharge from the eyelids often glues the eyes shut.

Best Veal Calves

Market topping veal calves generally are produced only by allowing the calves to nurse the cow until they are seven to ten weeks old. To make the very best quality of veal, calves should have no other feed. There would be no objection to weaning the calves and feeding milk from a bucket, though it would hardly be a paying proposition to go to the trouble of milking the cow and feeding the whole milk to the calf, if the calf is intended for veal.

OPEN TENNIS TITLE WON BY DETROITER

C. W. GRANZOW DEFEATED BOB MILES IN FINAL TUESDAY

Hermine Summer, Columbus, O., Women's Champ—Bill Novak Won Junior Title

Play in men's singles, women's singles and junior singles of the 6th annual Charlevoix open tennis tournament closed at the school municipal courts Tuesday.

Although extending over a longer period than originally planned because of interruptions by rain Friday and Saturday, the tournament was one of the most successful from a standpoint of entertainment for summer visitors than any previous held.

C. W. Granzow, former Detroit Northwestern high school star, took the men's singles title by defeating Robert Miles of Charlevoix, former member of the Western State Normal college team of Kalamazoo.

After advancing to the finals with the loss of but six games, the Detroit found the going rather rough against Miles. He ran out the first two games of the final match with comparative ease 6-0, 6-0, but lost the third 6-6 when Miles, who had been playing little tournament tennis of late, found his stride. The final and deciding set went to Granzow after sixteen hard games by a score of 9-7. Paired with Meredith Bixby, Granzow won the Michigan interscholastic doubles championship in 1927 for Northwestern high school.

Miss Hermine Summer, a summer resident, is the new women's singles title holder. In the finals Monday afternoon she defeated Miss Marie Frank of Chicago, in straight sets by scores of 6-4, 6-4. The match was brilliantly played and closer than the scores indicate.

In a hard-fought match Tuesday afternoon, Bill Novak, local high school star athlete, defeated Jack Turney, St. Louis, Mo., in straight sets to win the junior singles title. Novak annexed the first two sets by scores of 6-0, 6-4, but in the third trailed 1 game to 3 before rallying to win out 8-6.

Play in the boys' singles and doubles opens to day (Wednesday).

Results of play:

Have Been Arranged

With prospects pointing to one of the best events in history, plans for the 6th annual regatta of the Charlevoix Boat club are being rapidly completed by officers of the club.

This annual water attraction, which is held under sanction of the Mississippi Valley Power Boat association, with which the local organization is affiliated, is one of the outstanding entertainment features provided for summer residents. In no other event is interest of resorters quite so keen.

The regatta this year will be a one-day event, with all races Sunday afternoon, August 9th. The program as outlined by those in charge will begin promptly at 1:15, standard time. Each race will be run off on scheduled time, and the program is arranged so as to eliminate unnecessary and tire-some delays.

In addition to five classes of runabouts, several interesting special features have been scheduled. The runabouts will race 2 heats of 2 laps each, a total distance of 10 miles for both races. The divisions are 50 h. p., 125 h. p., 150 h. p., 225 h. p., and unlimited class.

First of the special features is a race between a fleet of five or six Century Thunderbolts, a small inboard-outboard craft capable of making better than 50 miles per hour. This should prove a thrilling feature. Cash prizes are posted for winners of first three places in this event.

Another attraction which should prove popular with spectators is a series of aquaplane contests. These races will be over the regular marked course, with the rider completing the circuit without mishap being declared the winner.

The final feature is a Bang-and-Go-Back race for any motor powered boat. It has been many years since such a race was conducted here and renewal of the feature should prove very popular with spectators.

A program, giving name of boat, driver, etc., will be issued for distribution among spectators. There will be no charge for the event this year. Entries must be in the hands of Vane Smith, secretary of the Charlevoix Boat club, not later than noon Saturday, August 8th. All boats entered in races must report at the Charlevoix club dock on Lake Charlevoix at 12:30 p. m. Sunday, for instructions and must stay tied at dock until time for their event. No outboard races will be run other than in the Bang-and-Go-Back race.

The usual number of local runabouts will be entered in addition to others from Harbor Point, Hessel, Burt Lake, Traverse City and other surrounding resorts.

Richard J. Davis, C. S., will give a free lecture on Christian Science, Sunday, August 9, at 3:00 p. m., C. S. T., at Palace theatre. The public is cordially invited.—Adv 3111

HOSPITAL BENEFIT PLAY TUESDAY NITE

SHAKESPEARE PLAYERS GIVE
"THE INTIMATE STRANGERS"

Production in School Gymnasium
Being Given for Benefit of Charlevoix Hospital Drive

The Shakespearean Players are giving on August 11th an additional performance of "The Intimate Strangers" as a benefit for the Charlevoix hospital. The hospital board conceived the idea of a benefit to be given at the high school gymnasium and when Mr. D'Amico, the owner of the camp at Ironton, was asked he willingly assented. The hospital board is directing the sale of the tickets and they may be obtained at any of the leading stores or by seeing one of the board.

"The Intimate Strangers" was given once at the camp at Ironton and proved such a success that all parties concerned thought it advisable to produce it again. It is a light comedy which concerns the life and affairs of two people who are stranded in an out-of-the-way railroad station in New York. The scene is laid in the winter and the discomfort of the parties while they are waiting for their train which is some twenty hours late affords many a hearty laugh. But don't feel that when the train finally arrives that the curtain is down. It is not. Fortunately, or maybe unfortunately, the couple waiting for their train are rescued from the horrors of a railway station.

A cousin of the lady comes to the rescue and invites both strangers to her home. Upon arrival at the home a series of incidents happen which are extremely amusing and afford pleasure even to the most stubborn. Tarkington has done one of his best plays in "The Intimate Strangers," and he has allowed his keen wit full sway. His characterization of the out-of-the-way station agent lends a humorous charm which cannot be duplicated without an understanding of the character which comes only with long experience and observation.

The two leading roles as they are portrayed by Lillian Martin and Martin Palmer lend the unusual situations. Mr. Palmer, through his short acquaintance with Miss Martin in the railway station, becomes infatuated with her and what happens to them after they move to the home of Martin's cousin cannot be told—it must be seen to be appreciated. The juvenile Lewis Stevens plays the part will win the hardest heart and one cannot avoid feeling sympathetically toward him and his adventures.

Mrs. Dowd of Charlevoix, plays the role of Aunt Ellen and people who have seen her do other characterizations say that she is at her best in Tarkington's maiden aunt looking after, in her own way, the destinies of a niece and a prospective nephew. Miss Wilson, who plays opposite Stevens, does the modern girl as only a modern girl could. She has an understanding of the character which has grown from shrewd observation. After seeing her in "The Intimate Strangers" one cannot but feel that she wants to help Stevens win her.

Mr. D'Amico is anxious to serve the community in any way that it is possible for him to do so and if the benefit proves a success he is willing to make it a part of the camp program every summer.

PURSE OF MAIN GO HELD UP FOR LACK OF ACTION

Frank Winnick Won Semi-Final by Knock-Out—Woods Given Decision—Blank Kayeod Ray

Only a fair crowd of fans were out to witness what was generally termed a mediocre boxing show staged by Promoter Leo Powers under auspices of the American Legion at the gymnasium last Thursday evening.

The main ten-round bout between Johnny Bangert of Bay City, and Marty Simmons of Saginaw, was nothing to brag about insofar as action was concerned. In fact, it was so tame that after calling the match a draw, Referee Charles C. Sullivan of Flint, ordered the fighters' purse held up and this matter has gone to the state boxing commission to be ironed out. Sullivan declared they were not putting forth their best efforts Thursday night. In that belief, many fans will agree.

The two six-round semi-finals ended in knock-outs. In the first Frankie Winnick, local lad, just threw too many gloves for Harry Hopkins of Petoskey. Hopkins was on the canvas twice before the first round had hardly begun. He might have continued after the second flop, but in taking advantage of the count, stayed down just a little too long and was counted out. It is just as well that he did.

In the other semi-final, Walter Blank, a colored boy from St. Louis, Mo., flattened Ted Ray of Grand Rapids, colored fighter, in about a minute's time. Ray went down for the full count from a right to the jaw and was still wondering what it was all about several minutes afterwards.

Bill Woods, local coast guardsman, and Harold Lannon of Traverse City, opened the show with a good four-round bout. Woods was too good for the Traverse City lad and rightfully received Sullivan's decision. The local lad showed a great improvement in form over previous matches.

Golden Edenburn of Traverse City, showed far too much class for Buddy Dugan of Sault Ste. Marie, and was awarded the referee's decision in the other four-rounder. Edenburn evaded the fight to Dugan in every round and showed himself far superior. Dugan took considerable punishment and would have received a lot more had he not hung on most of the time.

TO MAKE 1933 PLATES FROM NATIVE COPPER

Michigan's 1933 automobile license plates may be of copper.

The department of state feels that Michigan's copper mining industry might be benefitted if automobile plates could be made of state-mined copper. This matter will be given careful study and consideration in connection with the 1933 plates, which will be ordered early in 1932. The cost of using copper as compared with 24 gauge steel now in use will have a direct bearing on the final decision.

The 1932 plates now being manufactured will carry a color combination of a dark blue background with white block numerals.

BELVEDERE CLUB HAD ANNUAL MEET

Directors and Officers Re-Elected at Session Tuesday Morning

Members of the Belvedere club, Charlevoix's largest summer colony, gathered for their annual meeting at the Belvedere casino Tuesday morning.

James B. Balch of Kalamazoo, R. Vernon Clark of St. Louis, Mo., and Logan Thomson of Cincinnati, Ohio, were re-elected directors for another three-year term. Other directors are Charles B. Fox, W. N. Bemis and J. W. Fristoe, St. Louis, Mo.; George D. Webb and Homer D. Jones, Oak Park, Ill., and Emerson W. Price, Charlevoix.

The directors elected the following officers for the coming year: President, R. Vernon Clark; vice-presidents, J. W. Fristoe and Charles B. Fox; treasurer, Logan Thomson; secretary, Emerson W. Price.

Reports of the various committee heads, the club warden and hotel management were heard and favorably received, and a review of the many splendid improvements made given. The meeting was a very harmonious affair.

BOY SCOUTS TO HAVE JAMBOREE

FIRST ANNUAL EVENT FOR NORTHERN MICHIGAN

Robert Weir, Scout Executive, Is Coming to Take Charge—Will Be At Menomqua Beach

The first annual Northern Michigan Boy Scout Jamboree has been announced for Wednesday, August 5th, on the great broad beaches at Menomqua beach, at the head of Little Traverse bay with Robert L. Weir, scout executive, Pere Marquette council, with headquarters at Ludington, as Michigan executive in charge, John Foley, veteran scout master and Quinton Stone, Petoskey, are in charge of arrangements. Others assisting are Dr. G. A. Parmenter and Chester Gibson, Petoskey.

Patrols will be formed at the beach for the full afternoon and evening program. Prizes will go to individual and patrol winners and a grand prize for the high point scout. Featuring the contests will be a frog jumping competition with real northern Michigan jumping frogs. Each boy must bring his own team of frogs captured by himself. The big ones do not always jump the farthest.

The barbecue supper in charge of a committee headed by John Foley and Alfred Johnson will be served at 5:30. Then will come the treasure hunt in the sand hills and woods of the shore. Dr. G. A. Parmenter and Lewis Sumner are in charge. Quinton Stone and George Shier are in charge of the camp fire program which will include a story hour by some famous story-teller, the talk to the boys, songs, stunts, etc.

Cities already in on the program include Harbor Springs, Charlevoix, East Jordan, Cheshogan, Petoskey, Boyne City, as well as the larger cities from which come the visiting scouts, including Grand Rapids, Detroit, Chicago, Indianapolis, Benton Harbor, South Bend, Kalamazoo, Cincinnati, Louisville and St. Louis.

The sport events include frog jumping, dressing, winter boiling, three-legged race, crab and monkey race, knot tying, first aid, 100 yard dash, swimming and diving contests, distance plunging, and closing with a life saving demonstration by a coast guard-man.

WAR DANCES AUGUST 9 AT CROSS VILLAGE

Ottawa and Chippewa Tribes in Full Native Dress Giving Program

Ottawa and Chippewa Indians in full native dress will present the annual war dances and program at Cross Village, Sunday, August 9.

Hundreds of persons attend the celebration each summer to witness the revival of real Indian war dances. Colorful in genuine tribal costumes, the Indians will entertain the visitors with their traditional ritual.

Leading the Ottawas will be chief Frank Nemashkode, Center Plains, while Chief White Cloud will direct his Chippewa brothers in their celebrations.

A picnic luncheon and games will be included in the day's program, which is open to the public.

SUMMER SAILING RACES UNDER WAY

SERIES FOR SIX METER FLEET STARTED SATURDAY

Race Wednesday and Saturday Afternoons to September 5—Meteor
Won First Race of Season

Attention of yachting enthusiasts at the northern Michigan resort centers, more especially those at Charlevoix and Harbor Point, is now centered on the annual regatta of the Charlevoix Yacht club, which opened its summer series Saturday, August 1st, on Lake Charlevoix.

Races will be held each Saturday and Wednesday afternoons throughout the balance of the season, with the final on Saturday, September 5th. In addition there are two special races, the first for the J. B. Lord trophy, a perpetual prize, and the Labor day race for the Conover trophy. Winners are decided on a point basis, one point being allowed for each boat beaten, one point for finishing and one-fourth point for first place.

The Charlevoix Yacht club, originally known as the Pine Lake Yacht club, was chartered in 1911. The present officers are: Commodore, J. H. King; vice-commodore, Frederick H. Scott; secretary-treasurer, Wm. B. Melville, all of Chicago.

Within the past few years the club's fleet of six meter boats has been increased to 11, the largest on fresh water. All have made history in the racing world and many have represented the United States in the international races of former years.

Bradford Whiting's "Noreg," was built for the Crown Prince of Norway. In 1927, the Noreg won the championship of the Scandinavian country. The same fall in the United States it won the Seawanhaka cup for Norway and was runner-up in the Scandinavian Gold cup race.

Oscar W. Johnson's "Meteor," the 1930 fleet champion, was a new-comer a year ago. This boat finished second at the Seawanhaka Yacht club races last spring. It was designed by Olin J. Stephens of New York, as was also the "Comet" owned by J. P. Wilson, Jr., another recent addition to the fleet.

Dr. Eugene S. Talbot's "Question" was the Long Island champion in 1924, and the Dauphin, owned by Albert Keep and Langdon Hubbard, the latter of Detroit, is considered the best all-weather 6 meter boat ever built in the United States.

The "Grebe," owned by John Stuart, was built in 1921. She was the first boat picked for the American team that year, raced in England and was high point winner. She raced again in 1923 and 24 and is rated the best hard weather boat in the country.

Another famous boat is Frederick H. Scott's "Oslo." She was designed and built in 1923 for the crown prince of Sweden. She won the Scandinavian gold cup in 1924 and was considered the fastest boat on the team representing that country.

"The Betty," owned by John and Francis Titus of Cincinnati, Ohio, is equally famous. She was on the English team racing in this country in 1924 and was a consistent high (Continued on page 2.)

LOCAL BALL TEAM TRIM EAST JORDAN

Won Sunday Game by 9 to 5 Score—
Gaylord Here Next Sunday

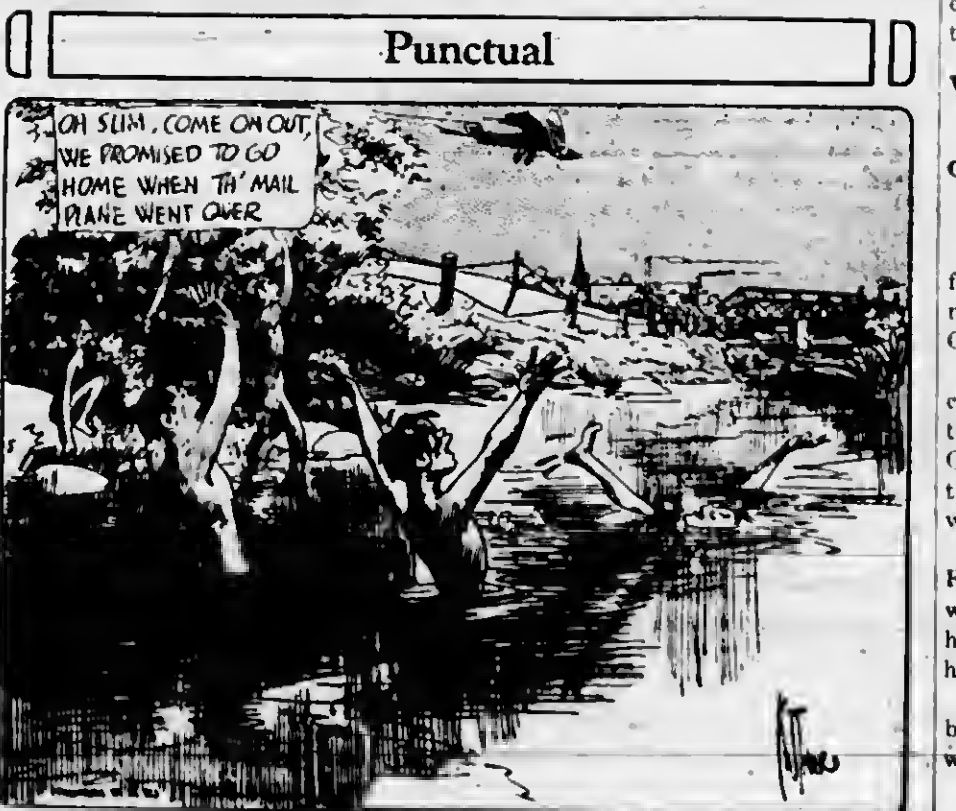

Charlevoix's independent baseball team kept their home record clean by decisively trouncing East Jordan at the local ball park last Sunday 9 to 5.

Wilkins, formerly with the Postum Cereals of Battle Creek, pitched for the Jordanites, but his offerings were hit freely. Colby, on the mound for Charlevoix, also had the best of the duel, being credited with 12 strikeouts to Wilkins' 7.

East Jordan scored four runs in the first two innings, mostly by walks, but during the next seven were confined to a single score. Charlevoix bunched their many hits to score in nearly every inning.

Charlevoix takes on a rough aggregation when they meet Gaylord here next Sunday. They will attempt to keep their home record clean and a good game is in prospect.

RACES UNDER WAY

scorer. The "Firefly," owned by J. H. King and sailed by his son, Jack, has no outstanding early performances to her credit, but has been a consistent winner since being added to the Charlevoix fleet. The Whiting's "Sandpiper," which will not race this summer, is considered the fastest drifter of the fleet and held that distinction on the Sound.

A new-comer in the regatta this year is the "Sprig," owned by L. A. Steadman of St. Louis, Mo., a summer resident at Wequetonising resort. This boat was built last year by Nevins from designs by Clinton H. Crane, New York. The boat did very well on the Sound last year and, inasmuch as the owner is trying out a new high gaff rig, a novelty here, the boat is somewhat a "dark horse" and its performance will be watched with interest.

In addition to its 6 meter fleet, the club has three Manchester 17's which race throughout the series. The "Binx" is sailed by Miss Cynthia Wilson, "Bubbles" by William B. McIlvaine, and "Kumalong" by Miss Alice Babst of New York City.

Saturday's race, the series opener, was sailed under ideal conditions over course No. 6, a distance of 10 1/2 miles. A 20-mile easterly wind sent the trim craft the distance in near-record time. Starting time was 3:45.15 and the boats finishing in the following order: Noreg, 4:32.51; Sprig, 4:34.5; Meteor, 4:35.4; Firefly, 4:35.10; Comet, 4:35.15; Oslo, 4:36; Betty, 4:36.1; Grebe, 4:38.5; Question, 4:38.7; Dauphin, 4:38.30.

OLD-FASHIONED CAL

Things ought to settle down to normal now that Rudy Vallee has presented his new wife to the public.

This ceremony, democratic in its stark simplicity, required only the services of twenty cameramen, six sound film cameramen, a battalion of reporters and interviewers, an interlocutor, ten officials of the National Broadcasting company and a posse of N. B. C. pages in uniforms who preceded the newly-married radio singer in every step of the ceremony.

Presenting Mrs. Vallee, the former Fay Webb of the films, her proud husband pointed out that she was just an old-fashioned home girl, who loved to sew and cook and was very domestic indeed. The old-fashioned home girl was heavily made up, wore white fox furs over an elaborate black and white costume, carried about fifty dollars worth of old-fashioned orchids and was decorated with a three-carat diamond ring, a platinum wedding ring, a brooch set with four pearls and showing through a sheer silk stocking, an old-fashioned platinum slave bracelet on her left ankle. In other words, just the costume that any old-fashioned girl would expect to wear.

However, the bright spot of the proceedings (for us, at least) occurred earlier. The couple were married by Herbert Lightipe, recorder of the police court of West Orange, N. J. As Mr. Lightipe performed the ceremony with no apparent excitement, a reporter inquired if he knew that the groom was Rudy Vallee?

"And who," inquired Mr. Lightipe, genuinely puzzled, "is Rudy Vallee?"—Grand Rapids Chronicle.

We heard an amusing story the other day, but we regret that we cannot tell it here.

Drivers of sixes never want less because it takes six cylinders to give the smooth, silent power that makes driving really enjoyable

Drivers of sixes are spoiled for anything less. Drivers of sixes are sold on multiple cylinders. They would no more think of giving up "six" performance than any other real advancement of motoring. For them, the whole cylinder question has been settled. Slip behind the wheel of a Chevrolet Six, and you'll know why these drivers feel as they do. Step on the starter, let the motor idle—and notice its silence. Throw in the clutch, shift into "low"—and feel that smoothness. Change into "second," hit a faster and faster clip, slip into "high," sweep along at top speed—then throttle down to barely a crawl. The smoothness and flexibility you always get are six-cylinder smoothness, six-cylinder flexibility. Annoying vibration is gone!

Over two million owners have tested and proved this six-cylinder Chevrolet engine. They have found that it costs less for gas and oil than any other. They have found that it actually reduces upkeep costs, by holding vibration to a minimum. They know a six is better in every way—and they would never be satisfied with less!

WEEKLY CAMP CHARLEVOIX NEWS COLUMN

—Edited by—
VINCENT ARNOLD

On Saturday night, August 1, Camp Charlevoix was the scene of a regular family reunion. The Canadian trippers and the boys who had been up the Jordan river, came together after having been widely separated for a week.

The Jordan group was divided into two parties. One came home in canoes, and the other used the horses. Perhaps it might be more authentic to say that the first party attempted to come home in canoes, for the lake became so rough that one of the smaller craft turned over and the whole crowd was forced to land and finish the journey by truck. Nothing serious resulted from the capsizing, except that Bob Utter lost a wind-breaker.

The horse group reached camp about 6:30 after a very wet ride.

The fellows from Canada had some tire trouble and didn't arrive until 8 o'clock, but when they finally did get to camp the rafters rang with greetings, stories, and all the rest of it.

Chick Hendry gave a very excellent talk in chapel last Sunday, which seemed to strike at the heart of camping. He discussed the task of making friends and keeping them, emphasizing the value of friendship in all walks of life. He mentioned the boy in the summer camp with the inferiority complex, who feels that he is not wanted by other lads, and showed by many examples that such a state of mind can be overcome.

On Monday, August 3, the juniors of the camp had a real football game. The section divided into the Lions and Tigers, and clad in riding breeches for football pants, the rival teams went at it. After a hard struggle the Lions emerged on the long end of a 150 score.

The camp sailboat has developed the habit of breaking loose every so often. Last week it turned the trick twice, thus forcing Bob Allen and Col. Gillespie to "hang their clothes on a hickory limb" and plunge in after the bobbing ship. No one about camp appears at all surprised when a couple of counselors rush out of mess at the whisper "the sailboat's loose!" Now the occurrence is taken as a matter of course.

Next Friday is to be campers' day at Camp Charlevoix. On this day the boys replace the leaders in the various departments. Even Mr. Reiman will be deposed for 12 hours. The offices are decided by nomination and election by the entire camp. At the present time it looks as though Bill Schiller and Bob Allen, the business managers, have the most popular positions, chiefly because they have charge of the candy and food!

Another pillow fight was staged last Monday night in the club house.

By a series of elimination contests the champion of each section was decided. Dick Barstow emerged victorious in the junior group, Bill Brownell in the intermediates, and Jim Hendricksen in the senior.

Mr. Reiman and Doctor Rittershoffer put on a real battle, with the latter finally winning through his ability to balance himself on the swinging pole better than his worthy opponent.

This week the boys are being permitted to choose the instruction group in which they are most interested. Next week more trips are on the program, but more news concerning them will be forthcoming at that time.

Feminine Terror Rules Wild West

A powerful and relentless woman stalking out of hidden places in the history of the old wild west, comes to the screen as "Calamity," dance hall owner, in Paramount's picture, "Caught," starring Richard Arlen, with Louise Dresser and Frances Dee featured.

Readers of western stories have been accustomed to find an unbroken diet of had-men, sheriffs, cattle rustlers and gamblers, with women entering into the picture as the hardy and virtuous pioneers or the light and wicked dance hall ladies.

"Calamity," played by Louise Dresser, holds equal rank with the men of the motley crew of the frontier, by command of the code that was enforced by nerve and bullets.

It comes to the Palace theatre Friday, August 7th.

Jeanette MacDonald Has Penchant for Marrying Rough Men in Pictures

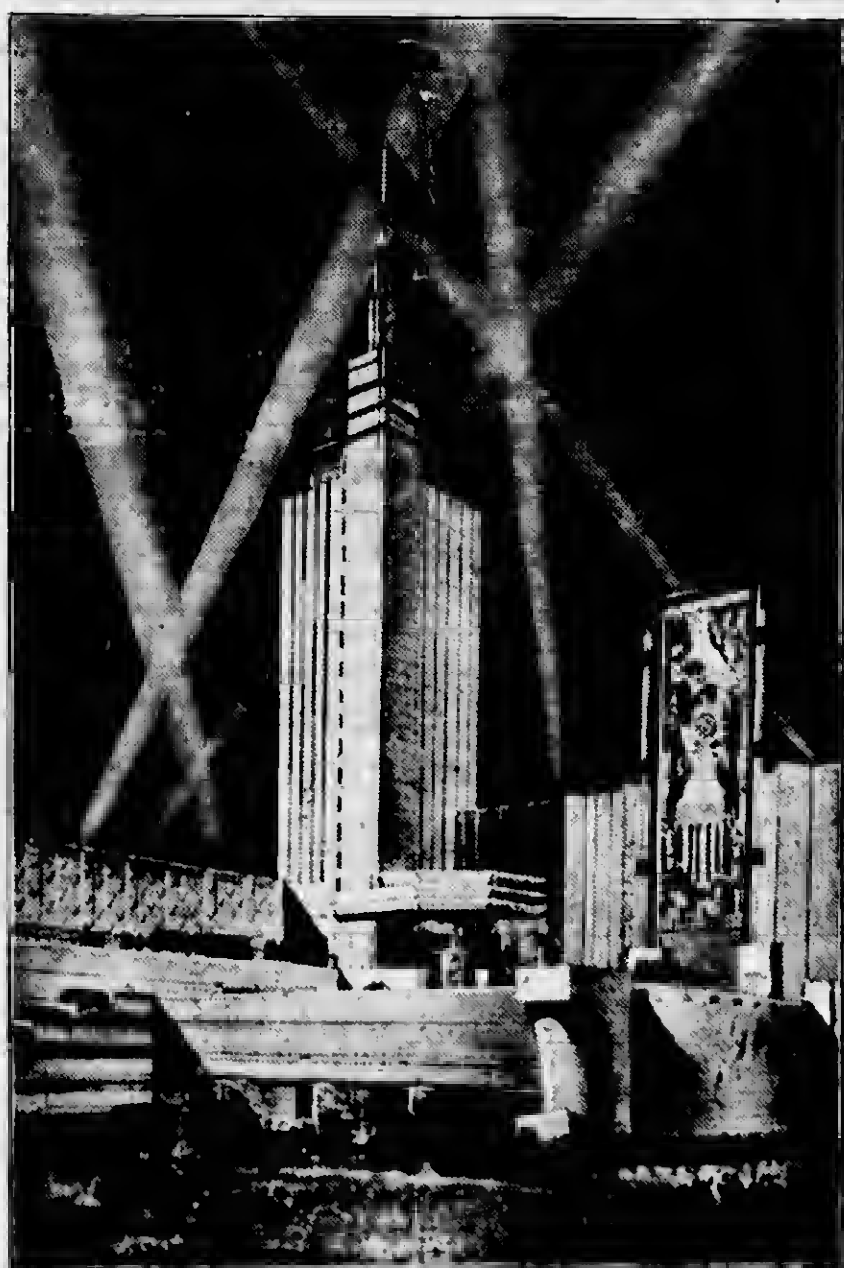

Jeanette MacDonald, in pictures, has a penchant for marrying rough men. In "Oh, For A Man," she wed a burglar and in "Annabelle's Affairs," the Fox comedy coming next Saturday, August 8th, to the Palace theatre, she becomes the wife of a massive, uncouth and bearded western miner, a veritable cave man.

Victor McLaglen, big he-man of the films, portrays the role of the miner who holds his bride captive until she makes her escape. The girl wife becomes a sophisticated butterfly in Eastern society, living on the liberal allowance sent her at regular periods by her cave man, who becomes immensely wealthy and takes on a degree of refinement and education in addition to shaving off his unsightly beard.

Seeks the Megaphone, Gets Character Parts

Irving Pichel went to Hollywood to become a motion picture director. He remained to become, instead, one of the film city's most promising character players.

"Love" was the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Christian Science churches on Sunday, August 2.

Among the citations which comprised the lesson-sermon was the following from the Bible: "Touching the Almighty, we cannot find him out: he is excellent in power, and in judgment, and in plenty of justice: he will not afflict." (Job 37:23).

The lesson-sermon also included the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Trials are proofs of God's care. Spiritual development germinates not from seed sown in the soil of material hopes, but when these decay. Love propagates anew the higher joys of Spirit, which have no taint of earth." (p. 69).

Dairy Facts

Clover hay is two-and-a-half and alfalfa three-and-a-half times as rich in digestible protein as is timothy.

Heavy losses in butterfat occur whenever separators are poorly adjusted or not properly cleaned.

Milk production also carries responsibilities. When carelessly produced and improperly handled milk may be the means of spreading disease.

Every owner of a separator should have the skim milk tested at regular intervals to detect any loss of butterfat. Most creamery operators are glad to do this for their patrons.

Wheat is about equal to corn, pound for pound, as a food for dairy cows. Because of its stickiness, it should be mixed with other grains and should not exceed one-third of the grain mixture.

Many bulls are confined to box stalls, which sometimes makes them hard to handle, offers no chance for exercise and is dangerous for farmers in handling the animals. The lack of exercise may get them out of condition.

Pedigrees must be something more than mere records of the names and numbers of the ancestors of animals offered. If buyers are to be persuaded to pay prices very much above the commercial milk producing value of such animals.

Planting Trees

When planting a fruit tree, dig the hole wide enough so the roots will not have to be bent to fit into the hole, and deep enough so the tree will stand about one inch deeper than it stood in the nursery. Cut off all bruised or broken portions of the roots, hold the tree in the hole, and slowly fill the hole half full of rich top-soil, forcing it between the roots. Tramp this down thoroughly. Then fill the hole to the top and tramp down again. Do not put manure or other coarse material in the bottom of the hole, because it may heat, and kill the tree.

RIISING COMMODITY PRICES

Cheering to many thousands of Americans was the advance in commodity prices during June. Well informed economists believe that commodity prices hold the key to recovery from depression and that recovery will not be assured until the downward trend of prices is reversed.

In the United States the farm board holds 200,000,000 bushels of wheat which it bought at prices far above the present level.

In the Malay states the British government has burned its fingers in an unsuccessful plan to stabilize the price of rubber.

The fall of the price of silver in the last 12 months in China has crippled the purchasing power of 300,000,000 people.

Germany has been forced to sell her raw materials in a rapidly declining market, helping to shape the situation which led to President Hoover's proposal for a moratorium on debts and reparations.

Interest in commodity prices crosses international boundaries. The same broad sweep of prices downward has frayed the nerves of the small investor in securities on the stock exchange and destroyed the profits of the Kansas farmer with millions of bushels of wheat stored in the open.

Buying power which could not be forced into action a year ago in the United States is beginning to assert itself with renewed vigor. As the buying moves upward, so will demand, bringing a rise in commodity prices.

As long as purchasing power of the masses is restricted to a low average, it is quite clear that over-production, an evil in virtually every country today, will continue to be a problem. Certainly, larger markets cannot be supported by the few consumers who at present draw the bulk of the country's income.

What is not appreciated in the present depression is that not only have many workers suffered wage cuts but that a large number of them, through having to pay off installment debts, have had this further reduction in purchasing power. The country witnessed what might be accomplished ed through an improvement in purchasing power when installment selling expanded, but somehow or other the lesson was not driven home.

A survey of low wage industries is urgently required, it would seem, along with the necessary steps to see if their rates cannot be lifted.

QUALIFICATION OF JURORS

Examination of the mental qualifications of Charlevoix county jurors would be a sane step in the direction of better law enforcement.

Particularly is this true in cases where trials are complicated by more or less technical testimony that is above the head of the ordinary layman. Each side brings expert witnesses who testify that this thing and that thing is true, contradicting each other and finally leaving the decision up to a jury composed of men and women who probably know little or nothing about which of the experts is right.

Too often, also, are juries, swayed by pleas of attorneys who play upon their sympathies in such a way that the real facts of the case are lost sight of in an emotional verdict based, not upon the testimony given, but upon personal feelings.

Every citizen of Charlevoix should buy and sell everything possible in Charlevoix. Cooperation in trading works profitable for buyer, seller and the home town.

LAKE FISHERMEN GO TO SUMMER SESSION

Annual Meeting of Association at Traverse City This Afternoon

Northern Michigan commercial fishermen will convene in Traverse City this afternoon to be addressed by officers of their state association on problems of their trade, particularly legislative proposals.

The state officers, headed by Richard Piepkorn of Alpena, president of the association, will set up headquarters at the Park Place hotel, while the afternoon meeting will be held at the Eagles home.

Probably more than 50 commercial fishermen, some from ports some distance away, will attend.

Officers of the state association expected, according to word at the hotel, are Mr. Piepkorn, Arthur Pomery, of St. Ignace, vice-president, and John Girvin of Manistique, W. P. Kavanaugh of Bay City, A. D. Shaul of Cheboygan and J. August Anderson of Marquette, directors.

CITY MENDS BROKEN CHANNEL WATER MAIN

Will Install New Pumps at Station and Lay Upper Channel Main Soon

Water users on the north side of the city may rest assured that from now on there will be no trouble from lack of pressure.

Work of mending a broken joint in the main running beneath the channel between Round lake and Lake Michigan has been completed. A large metal sleeve, built especially for the job, was placed over the broken joint by George Wyers, diver employed by the city, thus relieving a situation which has caused city officials considerable worry for some time.

To further facilitate water service, the city council has ordered a new pump, with a capacity of 1500 gals. per minute to replace the old equipment now in use. Later in the fall, the new water main under the upper channel connecting the Belvedere and Chicago club resorts will be put down, forming a complete circuit.

METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH

Divine worship is at 10:30 in charge of the pastor or some outstanding visiting preacher. The city's guests are welcome.

Church school is at 9:30 throughout August.

An evensong at 7:45 is in charge of the pastor.

The Epworth League meets at 8:30 to give our visiting youth opportunity to attend. The topic is "How to Cultivate Friendships."

The Epworthians invite visiting young people to a beach party on Park avenue on Thursday. Meet at the church at 8:30 or come when you can.

NON-RESIDENT LICENSE NECESSARY TO ROW BOAT

A non-resident who rows or paddles a boat for a person engaged in fishing, must also have a non-resident fishing license, in the opinion of the attorney general. The opinion was given in reply to a question asked by the conservation department.

If a person is fishing while another rows the boat, the person rowing the boat "is equally taking an active part in the catching or attempting to catch, take or kill fish and under such circumstances would be required to have a license to do so if a non-resident," the opinion states.

PLANS COMPLETE FOR HOSPITAL TAG DRIVE

Solicitors Will Canvass City in Annual Effort Saturday, August 8

Committees in charge of the annual Charlevoix hospital tag drive are rapidly completing their plans for handling the event, which will be held Saturday, August 8.

Foremost among organizations behind the affair is the Hospital Auxiliary, of which Mrs. Albert Cook, president, and Mrs. F. F. McMillan, vice-president, are active. Assisting them is Miss Caroline Geiken of Boyne City, who is chairman of the drive again this year.

Groups of tag-sellers are being organized among the children of the city, both local and summer residents. Prizes for both girls and boys, now on display at Levinson's store, will be awarded the seven turning in the greatest amount from tag sales. Girls' prizes are: 1st, pencil and pen, donated by Fessenden; 2nd, $2.50 gold piece, County bank; 3rd, lamp, S. M. See & Sons; 4th, box, Parker Gift Shop; 5th, hose, Campbell; 6th, hose, Levinson; 7th, scissors, Wood Bros. Prizes for boys: 1st, kodak and films, Central Drug; 2nd, $2.50 gold piece, State bank; 3rd, hatchet, Staley Bros.; 4th, flashlight, Charlevoix Hardware; 5th and 6th, hose, Bergeon; 7th, knife, Wood Bros.

Candy for all tag-sellers has been donated by Milton Block, McCann's bakery, Korth, A. & P. Jacobs, Martin Block, Glados and VanAlsburg. Those in charge make the usual appeal to Charlevoix local and summer residents to give to the extent of their ability.

Richard J. Davis, C. S., will give a free lecture on Christian Science, Sunday, August 9, at 3:00 p. m., C. S. T., at Palace theatre. The public is cordially invited.—Adv 3111

DETROIT ARTISTS TO GIVE CONCERT

Evelyn Livingston and Hester Holmes to Appear at The Inn Patio

The charm and grace of artistic dancing is to be exemplified in a concert to be given at 9 o'clock E. S. T., Tuesday evening, August 11th, at The Inn Patio by Evelyn Livingston and Hester Holmes, noted Detroit artists and instructors.

The program will range from the popular tap, through a wide variety of numbers including modern, ballet, toe, interpretive, dramatic and eccentric.

The talented young artists individually and in duet will present versatile performance, appropriately costumed, which should provide exceptional entertainment.

Both Miss Livingston and Miss Holmes, have studied with America's leading exponents of the different branches of the dance and have won distinction for their individual performance and as juvenile dancing instructors.

There will be no additional charge for the entertainment other than the usual 50c cover charge which includes dancing.

Benefit — St. Mary Church — Ice cream social and lawn party, Thursday, August 6, afternoon and evening, at 304 State street.—Adv. 3111.

LARGE ENTRY SEEN FOR RIVIERA MEET

Event at Inn Courts Will Draw Country's Outstanding Tennis Talent

Present indications are that the usual brilliant field of stars will participate in the annual Michigan Riviera tennis championships, one of the outstanding events in Charlevoix's summer entertainment program.

The event will be held August 17th to 23rd, inclusive, at The Inn courts. The courts were this spring re-surfaced with a heavy layer of clay, putting them in the best condition they have been in years.

Events in the Riviera tournament include men's singles and doubles, women's singles and junior singles. Many entries are already in the hands of Paul C. Bobbitt, tournament secretary, who is tennis pro at The Inn this year.

Walter T. Hynes of Chicago, an officer of the Western Lawn Tennis association, will be the tournament referee again this year.

CHURCH OF GOD

I. T. Mark, Pastor

Our camp meeting will begin Friday, August 7th. Rev. H. Harp of Detroit will be the evangelist.

Rev. Harp is the double of Rev. Richardson, who recently conducted our revival. One of these men is often mistaken for the other.

Rev. O. L. Yerty of Belding, will have charge of divine healing service. Hundreds have regained health through his prayer of faith.

FORREST SHEARER'S SUDDEN DEATH SHOCK

Died Monday, July 27, at Detroit. From Ruptured Appendix

Forrest Shearer, 30, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Shearer of Hayes township, died late Monday afternoon, July 27th, at Grace hospital, Detroit, from ruptured appendix.

His sudden death was a severe shock to members of his family and his many friends. After an illness of several days, he was taken to the Detroit hospital for examination. Several specialists failed to diagnose his ailment and the operation, performed Sunday, was too late to save him. It was the belief that the appendix had been broken several days and the case was an unusual one in medical annals.

Forrest was born in Hayes township in 1901, and made his home there with his parents until about seven years ago when he moved to Detroit.

Surviving besides his parents are three sisters, Mrs. Hazel Haggerty, Hayes township; Mrs. Ethel Potter and Mrs. Verda Block, Charlevoix; also two brothers, Raymond and George, both of this city.

Funeral services were held last Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Block, 220 W. Garfield avenue. Rev. G. R. Parker of the Congregational church officiated.

GOVERNOR BRUCKER TO PAY VISIT HERE

Will Address Meeting Saturday, Aug. 15—Banquet at Belvedere Hotel

For the first time in many years—in fact in the memory of this writer—Charlevoix county will be host to Michigan's highest executive on an occasion other than political or a "passing through" visit.

Through the efforts of Leslie T. Shapton Post No. 226, American Legion, and the County Republican committee, who have been working through Senator Calvin Campbell of Indian River, Governor Wilbur M. Brucker and Mrs. Brucker will pay Charlevoix a visit on Saturday, August 15th.

Tentative plans call for the gubernatorial party to arrive here at noon on Saturday. Arrangements are being made for a boat ride on Lake Charlevoix and Lake Michigan on one of the large private yachts summering here. In the evening, at 7 o'clock standard time, a banquet, which the governor's party will attend, will be held at the Belvedere hotel. At 8 o'clock Governor Brucker will address a public meeting at the high school gymnasium.

Governor Brucker's visit here has no political significance whatever. It is just merely compliance to urgent requests of local friends for the executive to pay a call to our city.

ALEXANDER SHEARER DIED LAST THURSDAY

Death Came Following Extended Period of Ill Health

Following within a few weeks of the death of his wife, Alexander Shearer, a resident of Charlevoix forty-four years, died at 1:15 last Thursday morning at his home on East Huron avenue. He had been in ill health over a period of many years.

Mr. Shearer was born at Mt. Forrest, Canada, May 3, 1859. He came to Michigan as a young lad and about forty-four years ago moved to Charlevoix, where he had since made his home.

Surviving are three daughters, Miss Rita Shearer and Mrs. George Wade, Charlevoix; Mrs. Rachel LeMaster, Bellingham, Wash.; two sons, Archie and Emmett of Milwaukee, Wis.

Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon from the residence under auspices of the Odd Fellow lodge, of which Mr. Shearer was a life member. Rev. G. R. Parker of the Congregational church officiated.

MARION RESIDENT DIED AT ANN ARBOR

Funeral Services for Jasper D. Hubel Held at Home Monday

Funeral services were held from the Marion township farm home Monday afternoon for Jasper D. Hubel, a resident of that district for many years.

Mr. Hubel died Thursday, July 30th, at University hospital, Ann Arbor, where he was taken several months ago for treatment.

Deceased was born January 14, 1871, at Almont, Lapeer county. Surviving besides his wife are three daughters, Mrs. Virgil LaGrave and Mrs. Clifton Graydon of Flint, Mrs. Emil Bloomquest of Kalkaska; also a son, R. D. Hubel of Camp Custer, and a sister, Mrs. C. R. Munyon of Charlevoix.

Rev. G. R. Parker of the Congregational church officiated at the services and interment was at Brookside cemetery.

CHANCERY NOTICE
State of Michigan—The Circuit Court for the County of Charlevoix, in Chancery.
John O. Plank, plaintiff, vs. Hugh Connaglin, Mabel Cull, Mary V. McDonough, Ella MacDonald, Nellie Rosshorn, Thomas Gallagher, William Gallagher, Marie Gallagher, Earl Mackey, Florence Dugan, Anna Cleary, Daniel Mackey, Mary Pryor, Nellie Forberg, Philip Malloy, Mary Malloy, Anna Malloy, Patrick Malloy, Briget Malloy, Daniel Malloy, Helen Malloy, Betty Malloy, James Malloy, Thomas Malloy, Philip Malloy, Fern Malloy, Delia Hays, Frances Fork, Mary Gallagher, Margaret Malloy, Henry Conahan and his unknown heirs, devisees, legatees and assigns, defendants.
At a session of court held at the court house in the City of Charlevoix, in said county, on the 23rd day of May, 1931.
Present, the Hon. Parm C. Gilbert, Circuit Judge.

Order of Publication
In this cause, it appearing by affidavit on file that the defendants, Thomas Gallagher, William Gallagher, Marie Gallagher, Mary Gallagher, Earl Mackey, Florence Dugan, Anna Cleary, Daniel Mackey, Mary Pryor, Nellie Forberg, Philip Malloy, Mary Malloy, Anna Malloy, Patrick Malloy, Briget Malloy, Daniel Malloy, Helen Malloy, Betty Malloy, James Malloy, Thomas Malloy, Philip Malloy, Fern Malloy, Delia Hays, Frances Fork, Mary Gallagher, Margaret Malloy, Henry Conahan and his unknown heirs, devisees, legatees and assigns, are not residents of the State of Michigan, but reside in the State of Illinois, and that it is not known whether the said Henry Conahan is living or dead, and if living where he may reside and if dead where any representatives of his may reside.

On motion of Thomas D. McGeeison, attorney for plaintiff, it is ordered that the appearance of the said defendants last above named be entered in this cause within three months from the date of this order; that in case of the appearance of them or either of them they cause their respective answers to the bill of complaint to be filed and a copy thereof served upon attorney for plaintiff within fifteen days after service upon them or any of them, or upon their attorney at least, of a copy of said bill; that in default thereof that said bill be taken as confessedly said defendants or either of them.

It is further ORDERED that plaintiff cause this Order to be published in the Charlevoix Courier, a newspaper printed, circulating and published in said county, and that such publication be commenced within forty days from the date of this Order and be continued therein once in each week for six weeks in succession, or that said plaintiff cause a copy of this Order to be personally served at least twenty days before the time above described for their appearance upon each of the defendants last above named.

Parm C. Gilbert, Circuit Judge.

The above suit is brought to quiet title in John O. Plank to the lands described as follows: Government with a novel method of seeding in small-grain stubble. At harvest time he hooks a double disk, a grain drill with sweet clover seed in the grass-seeder attachment, and a smoothing harrow behind the binder and draws the whole outfit with a tractor. This outfit harvests the grain and sows the sweet clover at one operation.

If the canary does not molt at the right season (usually late in summer), the owner can sometimes cause molting by covering the cage with a dark cloth and putting it in a warm protected place where the bird will not be disturbed. The canary needs no special care during molting, though it is well to add egg food or moistened bread to the ration once or twice a week. A little sulphur added to the egg food, or weak saffron tea instead of drinking water, helps birds that are maling. A little linseed in the seed supply gives a gloss and sheen to the new feathers.

To obtain good tomato seed, select one or more plants which have a high proportion of good fruits, taking into account size, smoothness, solidity, and freedom from cracking in the fruit, and vigor, productiveness, and freedom from disease in the plant. The whole seed crop from a plant with uniformly good fruit will be better than that from a superlative fruit from a plant with some uneven or inferior fruits. Tag the selected plants and let the fruit remain on them until thoroughly ripe but not decayed. Tomatoes intercross only slightly and it is fairly safe to save seed from more than one variety in the garden.

Uncle Sam Says—
Forest planting in the United States up to 1931 aggregated 1,798,000 acres.

Texas and Oklahoma have new laws that permit farmers to rent county road machinery to construct terraces on their farms.

In 1920 there were only 51 pumps in Nebraska used for pumping irrigation water. In 1930 there were more than 600.

This country makes about 370,000,000 pounds of Cheddar cheese a year, using as much milk as would fill a vat a mile long, 500 feet wide, and 22 feet deep.

Cold Drinks for Hot Days

In warm weather keep materials on hand for quickly mixing up refreshing cold drinks. Make a jar or bottle of sugar sirup for sweetening. This is better than using granulated sugar, which dissolves slowly in cold liquids. Boil together one cup of sugar and one cup of water for about five minutes. Cool and bottle. Liquids from canned or stewed fruits are also useful in fruit drinks and add to the sweetness. Cold strong tea may be added to any fruit punch. Cold coffee, poured promptly off the grounds while still fresh, makes a delicious cold drink for adults. Ginger ale and other carbonated waters may be mixed with fruit juices to give zip and sparkle to them. Oranges and lemons always form the basis of good refreshing summer drinks—also the juice of red raspberries. The juice of canned pineapple is an addition to any fruit beverage. Do not try to keep lemon or orange juice on hand, however. Keep the whole fruit, and squeeze it as needed.

In case anybody is interested, it is our idea that a mother who locks a small child in a dark room, as a punishment, ought to be paddled.

One financial rule that is worth knowing: It is easier to make debts than to pay them.

MILK INQUIRY IS REAL EFFORT

BRUCKER'S COMMISSION DETERMINED TO LEARN FACTS

Farmers Are to Be Called In For First Information—Later Story Of Distributor to Be Heard

With signs of internal dissension already evident, Gov. Wilbur M. Brucker's special commission which is to make an investigation into the price element of milk production in Michigan, is prepared to begin its labors.

Indication that the "farm" element on the commission will at least hold its own during the inquiry was given Friday when the group, at the insistence of Herbert E. Powell, commissioner of agriculture, refused to accept as evidence privately audited cost records of a dozen big Detroit companies.

Powell said that the figures on which the audits were based probably were not complete and that, in any case, they were not given on oath.

"I would not sign my name to any report which used these audits as their base," Powell said. "If we are to conduct a proper investigation we must obtain all original evidence and testimony. In this position he was supported by Judge Ira W. Jayne who asserted that the audits

"do not rise to the dignity of evidence."

The commission had been asked by Harvey Campbell, secretary of the Detroit Board of Commerce, to accept the reports. It was the second attempt Campbell had made to have the figures included in an official survey of milk production or prices. Last week he urged Auditor General O. B. Fuller to assign auditors to examine the figures and approve them. Fuller refused to do this because, he said, the figures were originally compiled by private auditors and that he could not certify to their correctness.

"I will not place my name over an audit without being able to know that the original figures are correct," he said.

Powell during the session of the commission Friday stated that it will be his position that the milk producer must first realize a profit and that then the problems of the dairies will be taken into consideration. To this end the investigation will be started Wednesday with farmers the first to be called. Later the commission will move to Detroit to take testimony and examine the records of distributors.

"This investigation must start with the producer," Powell said, "and the same yardstick will be applied to their profits as are applied to big business. I have never seen the same rules applied to agriculture as are applied to business."

Richard J. Davis, C. S., will give a free lecture on Christian Science, Sunday, August 9, at 3:00 p. m., C. S. T., at Palace theatre. The public is cordially invited.—Adv 311

Club Leader Visits County

G. A. Thorpe, assistant state club leader, spent Thursday, July 30, in Charlevoix county in meeting with the crop clubs that have been organized this summer.

The first meeting was held at the home of Leonard and Barbara Evers, together with the members of the Walloon Lake bean club. Most of the time was devoted to instruction in crop judging. Two different classes of beans and wheat were judged.

In the afternoon the members of the East Jordan community crop club were met. The same classes were judged here and with great accuracy. Many of the members have been in club work for three years, and as the result are real judges. Plans are being rapidly made for the club camp to be held at Gaylord next week.

While it is too early to definitely know, we expect between thirty and thirty-five of our club members to attend the club encampment. Upon careful inspection we find that over 140 of our boys and girls are eligible to attend this camp.

This week considerable attention will be devoted to the various demonstration teams that will no doubt be demonstrating at Gaylord. Many clubs are actively engaged in judging work in preparation for the contest to be held. Let us hope that when the smoke of battle has disappeared, that several of our club members will win the trips to the Michigan state fair.

Guernsey Show and Picnic Goes Over Big

The 4th annual Guernsey summer show and picnic, held in East Jordan last Wednesday, attracted a highly interesting audience of dairymen from all sections of the county. The crowd sat down to a real picnic dinner at noon, in the beautiful tourist park that East Jordan can well be proud of, and did they eat—you know?

This year we did not have any outside speakers as has been the case in previous years, but a very attractive program was put on using local talent. A. M. Murphy, president of the Guernsey breeders association, in a few well-chosen remarks cordially welcomed the group, and discussed somewhat briefly the dairy program that has taken place in the county.

The next feature was the awarding of diplomas to some five dairymen who have had herds averaging over 300 pounds of butterfat as shown by the cow testing association records. B. C. Mellencamp, county agricultural agent, performed this pleasant task, and spoke of factors relating to dairy progress.

Mr. Otto, secretary of the Petoskey fair, was the next speaker. He spoke of his great interest in the dairy development in this section, and congratulated the boys and girls in their 4-H club program. Mr. Otto was secured as judge of the exhibit and it was a pleasure to have him with us.

Boys' and girls' club work came in for its share of attention when Carleton Smith and Adolph Ecklund, both of Charlevoix, gave a demonstration on "How to Select a Dairy Cow." They discussed the good points to consider in selecting a good dairy animal, gave the points of difference between the dairy breeds, and in other ways indicated a real knowledge of dairy type.

The show itself was the best yet held in quality and correct Guernsey type. Every year the display indicates that real progress is being made by the Guernsey breeders of Charlevoix county. Stright down through the various classes there was keener competition between the animals, all of which made a very attractive display. The show was judged by Mr. Otto in a very splendid manner and attracted a large crowd around the ring. Ribbons were furnished the winners in the various classes, and the coffee, sugar, and equipment was kindly donated by the East Jordan lumber company store. This donation is deeply appreciated by the members of the Guernsey breeders association.

Following were the winners of the various classes:

Junior Calves—1st, Murphy Bros., East Jordan; 2nd, Carleton Smith, Charlevoix; 3rd, Carl Stevens, Walloon Lake.

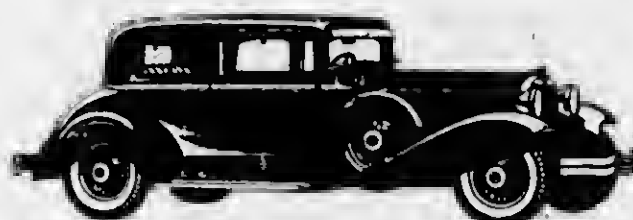

Senior Calves—1st, Charles Murphy, East Jordan; 2nd, Ray Loomis, East Jordan; 3rd, Bert Lumley, Boyne City.

Junior Yearling—1st, Carl Stevens, Walloon Lake; 2nd, Murphy Bros., East Jordan; 3rd, James Niece, East Jordan; 4th, R. V. Liskum, East Jordan.

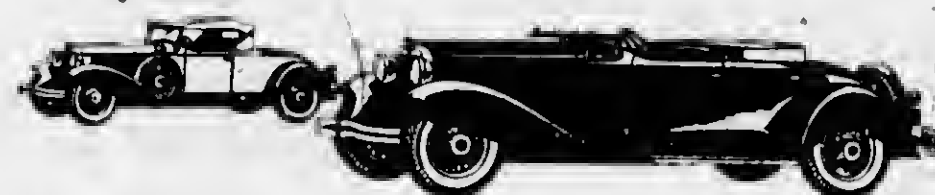

Senior Yearling—1st, Carl Grutseh, East Jordan; 2nd, James Isamen, East Jordan; 3rd, Irving Crawford, East Jordan; 4th, Milan Hardy, East Jordan.

Two Year Olds—1st, Clyde Clute, Boyne City; 2nd, R. V. Liskum, East

DODGE NOW INTRODUCES

A new five-passenger coupe

.. Two dashing new roadsters

DODGE PRESENTS a new five-passenger Coupe on the Dodge Eight chassis... by a wide margin the roomiest, most comfortable, luxurious and distinguished coupe at or near its price.

Body lines have a long, low sweep. The rear seat is generously roomy for three. Front seats have easy-chair softness and comfort. The driver's seat is adjustable. Upholstery is rich mohair or finely woven Bedford cord.

Dodge also presents two dashing new roadsters—a Six and an Eight. Both alive with the spirit of youth and vigorous action... easily capable of seventy miles an hour or more. They get away like a flash with their Positive, Easy-Shift transmission. Windshields fold flat. Upholstery is hand-buffed leather. Every detail is trimly smart.

Like the other Dodge Six and Eight models, these new cars are de luxe cars in every sense of the word—splendid, modern examples of traditional Dodge Dependability. See them and drive them.

MYSTERY PLAY IS NEXT CAMP OFFER

"HAUNTED HOUSE" BY OWEN
DAVIS ON PROGRAM

Several New Players Appear in Roles of Coming Production at Shakespeare Camp Theatre

The long waited for mystery play is to be a feature of the Shakespeare Memorial camp for this week. Owen Davis' "Haunted House" provides the element of suspense, the hushed moments, the weird sounds, the frights, the complicated situations and all the other necessary effects which make a mystery play.

The scene opens in an old house which has been closed for years. The daughter opens the house and decides that she is going to live in it no matter what may happen to her. The dust which has collected on the furniture throughout the years that the house has been closed provides many helpful clues to the problem which faces the occupants. Apparently someone has been murdered; the whole neighborhood is upset; every one turns to the solution of the mystery which is eventually solved. It is not the ordinary solution that could have been brought about sooner. It takes the full three acts for the village detective and Dan, the New York detective, to unravel the various circumstances which have been so cleverly woven into the plot. Furthermore the play is unusual in that there is a farcical element, similar to that which is provided by Mulligan and Garrity in the "Gorilla" and many a hearty laugh is provided as the threads are unfolded. Owen Davis, the author of the "Haunted House" will be remembered for his "Icebound," which was a Pulitzer prize play. While "The Haunted House" is not a tragedy, Davis has not relinquished any of his delightful style in creating this new masterpiece.

Many new faces are to be seen at the camp theatre this week. Franklin Cornwell of St. Louis, is playing the part of Thomas and helps considerably in tangling the mystery. Mr. Cornwell has considerably experience in dramatics and is tremendously interested in the theatre. He was president of the dramatics group in John Burroughs' school, a private school in St. Louis. Next year he is entering Dartmouth and intends to continue his dramatics work while he pursues a literary course.

Isabel is being portrayed by Margaret Adams of Oak Park, Ill. Isabel is a much-known woman—even the milkman knows Isabel—everyone who knows anything, in fact, knows Isabel. She lost her man and comes to the haunted house to find him. Whether she does or not cannot be told until the final curtain. Miss Adams played leading roles during her schooling at Wayland academy. She continued her dramatic work at Lake Forest college where she is still in attendance. During the last year at Lake Forest she played the leading role in "Skidding," "Lightning," "Children of the Moon," and "Mrs. Bumstead, Leigh."

Collaborating with Ezra, the hick detective, is Dan, a marvelous detective from New York. Dan knows all of the tricks of detecting crime and with the able assistance of James Dahl, who portrays Ezra, is able to keep the audience in an uproar. Palmer Bellinger of Pleasant Ridge, is playing the New York detective. Mr. Bellinger was graduated from the University of Michigan. His chief interest while in attendance at college was dramatics. He played leads in several well known plays, among which was "The White Headed Boy," which was directed by the author, Lennox Robinson. He also played the "Show-Off" and "The Fool" during the last semester of last year.

CHECK FORGER HOOKS LOCAL BUSINESS MEN

Signs Name C. C. Criss and Claims to Own Cherry Orchard at Eastport

Local police officers and at least a couple of merchants are looking for a fellow who signed as C. C. Criss, and purports to be owner of a cherry farm near Eastport and also treasurer of the Mutual Benefit Health and Accident association of Omaha, Nebraska.

Criss bought a gallon of paint for $3.50 recently at a local hardware store, giving a $10 check on the Omaha National bank. The check has since come back marked a forgery, and the hardware merchant is out his paint and $6.50 change. It is said the same fellow passed other checks locally.

Other merchants are on the lookout for the crook, so in case he shows up, it might be said the gentleman in question is heavy-set, weighs around 180 pounds, is smooth shaven and wears a grey suit and leggings. He hasn't any cherry orchard near Eastport and is just a plain crook.

MANY COUNTY YOUTHS ATTEND GAYLORD CAMP

Busy Making Plans for Outing There
August 10 to 14

Charlevoix county expects to be represented by from 35 to 50 young people at the annual northern Michigan 4-H club camp, Camp Gay-Gug-Lun, at Gaylord, according to advance information from County Agent Mellencamp. Registration blanks are just beginning to come back to his office from the eligible club boys and girls of the county who are making plans for the four day stay in camp, August 10 to 14. Boys and girls will be there from seventeen other counties of northern Michigan.

Games and other recreational activities are planned for the enjoyment of the club members during the day. Judging and demonstration contests in the dairy, poultry, crops, clothing, canning and handicraft projects; the group singing contest, and the health contest, are conducted throughout the camp week. Interesting evening programs will include the Welcome Camp Fire program, stunt night, and banquet night at which all contest winners are announced. The winning teams in the contests and the boy and girl health champion are awarded free trips to the state fair at Detroit. At the fair they will compete with the winning teams from the other two sectional 4-H camps in Michigan for state honors.

Camp Gay-Gug-Lun boasts the finest set of 4-H club camp buildings in the Middle West. It is supervised by the state club department and the local county agents, and has splendid facilities for caring for those in attendance. Club members eligible to attend are the winter club champions, and the summer club members 12 years of age and over who are doing satisfactory work in their project.

KAMP KAIRPHREE

The campers at Kairphree have enjoyed two extra trips this week, one an overnight hike to the beach of Lake Michigan, by the juniors; and one an afternoon picnic at Youngs state park, by the whole camp. The juniors all declared their overnight trip to be grand fun, even if the unexpected rain in the night did no damage and only made sleeping out all the more exciting, since all were amply protected by ponchos and tarpaulins. The picnic at Youngs state park took place Thursday afternoon. Most of the campers hiked at least part way. After a swim in the lake everyone ate a delicious picnic supper and came home a group of tired but happy campers.

Aside from these two trips, the regular camp schedule has continued. The progress made in the dancing classes was shown in a clever and entertaining dancing stunt presented by the senior group of girls. The work of the dramatics classes was represented by an amusing burlesque mystery drama, "The Blood-Stained Bread Knife," presented the same evening. The most advanced of the swimmers, the white cap group, are now working hard to earn their Red Cross life-saving badges, under the capable direction of Miss Jeanette Brauns, the athletic director.

Old campers were delighted to welcome back this week end, Miss McCormack, Dean of Women at the University of Michigan during the summer, who held the position of head counselor here last summer. "Miss Mac," as she is known affectionately to all the campers, enjoyed her brief stay as much as the camp enjoyed having her. She addressed the group on Sunday during the camp church service, and left immediately afterwards to return to Ann Arbor.

The end of the month saw the reluctant departure of five campers, Dorothy Ann Bradley, Frances Lucille Martin, Dorothy Sprau, Jape Cheney, and Nelda Byrum. The camp also suffered a great loss when Miss Winifred Benseley, assistant swimming counselor, was forced to return home because of illness in the family. But the loss was compensated for by the return of three old campers to stay the second month: Rose Mary Neal, Betty Neal, and Mary Lita Stoddard.

Visitors during the week were Mr. and Mrs. Cheney and son Fred, of Webster Groves, Mo., and Mr. and Mrs. Conde of Flint.

New Government Building
Four teams have commenced work on the basement of the new post office building at Boyne City. The basement floor which is to be of cement construction will be started as soon as suitable washed gravel can be had. Samples of the local gravel have been submitted to the superintendent of construction representing the government for his approval. If nothing can be found near here it will have to be hauled from some out side point.

LIVE STOCK

KILLING LICE ON STOCK IN WINTER

Great Problem Presented to Many Stockmen.

Lice on cattle in the winter present a great problem to many farmers, as the customary dipping of the summer months cannot be carried out without grave danger of pneumonia and coids. Prof. H. A. Hopper, Cornell university, recommends the use of powders or ointments.

Before applying these ointments hair should be clipped where the lice are most abundant, along the back, head, ears, neck and inside the flanks. Most dusting powders on the market are suitable to keep down lice infestation, but they are hardly able to eradicate the lice entirely. Applications of any of the lice killers should be made 16 days apart to get all the lice that hatch after the first application.

Arsenical dips are commonly used when dipping the cattle or an ordinar spray may be used in applying the poison when the herd is small. Any of the common dips may be used if thoroughly applied. For hand applications the United States department recommends kerosene and kerosene, equal parts; kerosene and lard mixed, one-half pint kerosene to a pound of lard; crude petroleum or any of the dips recommended for lice.

Some have had good results in using crankcase oil, by applying it lightly. There is danger in the use of oil if cattle are exposed to direct sunlight or chilling weather or rain. The oil should be lightly applied with a brush or cloth.

Trench Silo Is Easily
Built and Economical

(By WALTER G. WARD, Extension Architect, Kansas State Agricultural college.)

Cattle feeders who have a bank or steep slope available for the location of a below-ground silo will find the trench type economical to construct and convenient to use.

The trench silo is especially adapted for emergency use and is popular with tenant farmers who desire to feed silage where the farm lacks a silo. A few days' work with team and scraper will excavate a trench sufficiently large to handle the amount of silage needed. No materials need be purchased if it is to be used only temporarily.

Some farmers have found the trench silo satisfactory enough to justify lining with concrete. The sides are left sloping and require only a thin lining. The sloping sides make possible the loading of the silage with horses or cattle and the settling leaves no air pockets next to the walls.

The top of the silage may be covered with several inches of finely cut straw wetted down. A few inches of additional straw is then added and covered over with earth to avoid spoilage.

With one end of the trench trenching the bank or slope the silage may be easily removed by backing a wagon into the trench.

Pay Careful Attention to Proper Pig Feeding

The farmer who wants to make a success of his fall pigs must pay careful attention to proper feedings and handling. Corn is a favorite high energy food.

During the growing and fattening periods the concentrates fed should have high energy value with some protein supplements. Although corn is probably best, ground barley or ground rye may be substituted for corn. In using these feeds, farmers should remember that they are high in energy but low in protein, and that they must be balanced with high protein foods in order to get the best results. Skim milk or buttermilk, both of which are high in protein and mineral matter are good to balance grains.

Most Satisfactory Feed Outlined for Fall Pigs

In a feeding experiment conducted at Purdue university, a ration of corn and soy beans did not prove adequate for fall pigs that had to be grown in a dry lot. The addition of other types of protein, such as fish meal, tankage or alfalfa meal, gave good results when mineral was also fed. The most satisfactory ration for fall pigs was one of corn, tankage, alfalfa meal and linseed oilmeal. The work with soy beans in swine rations is being carried further to learn as much as possible about their feeding value.

Fattening Steers

Fattening steers fed during the winter on a ration of legume hay and corn or barley are in special need of water to go with these dry feeds. In summer and early fall a lot of moisture is supplied through pasture and green forage, but in late fall and winter on dry feeds this is not the case. It will be found that the steers will not only do better but will get along on less high priced hay and grain if supplied with water heated enough to prevent ice forming.

CENTRAL LAKE

Nice rain again Saturday.

Canning factory is working on beans this week.

Marion Davis and wife of Flint are now residents here.

Ruth Ward spent the week-end with relatives at Bay View.

O. R. Morse is home from a business trip to Cadillac and intermediate points.

Jay Mudge and family of Detroit are spending the summer with relatives here and at Torch Lake.

Jasper Dawson and family returned to their home at Pontiac Friday after a brief visit with friends and relatives here.

Torch Lake and Kearney schools will transport again this year. Several schools are having school at their own school houses this year.

Mr. Ziegler and William Sommerville are improved a little in health this week. Mr. Sipler is able to walk out on the streets again after several months' illness.

Orrie Sisson is busy arranging concessions for the big home-coming to be held here next week. Many distant old-timers are expected to be here at that time.

Several people are planning on attending the big home-coming event at Elk Rapids this week. It seems to be quite the style for the north Michigan towns this year.

Miss Kate Wilson, former County Commissioner, took a load of the young folks over to the big Antrim County Sunday School picnic at Twin Bridges last week Wednesday.

Bay View had 30 present at Sunday school last Sunday, and Norwood 29. There were 19 in the Young People's class at Norwood and 17 at Bay View. Norwood is preparing to paint its church. Misses Catherine and Marjorie Richardson were absent Friday evening. The former on account of having whooping cough.

There was a good attendance at fourth M. E. quarterly meeting at Atwood last Thursday afternoon. A very harmonious meeting, presided over by Elder E. O. Randall, was held. Atwood is not only head of the alphabet, but ahead with her finances. A very good financial report was given from all the appointments of the Central

Four Arts Ball Reproduced in Constance Bennett Film

Hollywood has out-Paris'd Paris. And this in the most typically Parisian event of them all—the holly-toy Quatre-Arts Ball, the grand affair adores artistes of the French Capital's year.

For the background of the ball scenes in the "Common Law," RKO Pathe's new Constance Bennett production, coming to the Palace Theater Friday and Saturday, August 14 and 15, is one of the largest sets ever constructed for a motion picture, rivalling the real thing in magnitude and splendor.

"The Common Law" is the story of an artist's model and the men who pursued her, based on the novel by Robert W. Chambers. Joel McCrea, who supported Constance Bennett in "Born to Love," is again her leading man. Paul L. Stein directed from John Farrow's screen adaptation.

Won Her Popularity in Unromantic Roles

She never was a star—she never played a romantic role or a leading one—but she is far more popular on the screen than many of its featured heroines.

ZaSu Pitts is the lady in question. Her unusual comedy talents, which have something of Chaplin's wistfulness, have won her an enviable place in the affections of the great picture public—and have won her roles with every producing company in Hollywood.

Her latest appearance is as the romantic spinster in "Their Mad Moment," Fox drama coming to the Palace Theater next Thursday, with Warner Baxter and Dorothy Mackaill in the leading parts. Her suppressed cravings for the romance which has always eluded her but which she vicariously enjoys through Miss Mackaill, add much to the delightful humanness of the film.

World Entertainment Idol Delight In New Love Play

The screen's most unique stellar personality, loved the world over for himself, his songs, his vivacity, comes to the Palace Theater Sunday and Monday, August 16 and 17, next in his new starring picture, "The Smiling Lieutenant," directed by Ernst Lubitsch, maker of "The Love Parade" and "The Patriot." He is Maurice Chevalier, the smiling French entertainer whose love-making and love-singing have made him the idol of two continents.

American Films Have Own Technique

Gesture acting is doomed! Greta Nisen, beautiful Norwegian blonde actress who has a featured role in "Transatlantic," William K. Howard Fox film drama coming next Tuesday and Wednesday to the Palace Theater, believes that the windmill school of acting has been struck by its final death blow by the refinement of talking pictures.

MARION

A large crowd is attending the annual ten days Camp Meeting at the Camp Ground.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wilson of Petoskey spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Newman.

Miss Catherine Kercheck returned to Chicago after several days visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Kercheck.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lemp and sons, Robert and Donald of Detroit, are spending several days with Mr. and Mrs. Tom Jensen.

The Misses Inez Critchlow and Mary Beattie called on the former's sister, Mrs. Robert Wilson of Petoskey, Friday evening.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SOCIETY

Sunday service, 10:45 a. m.

Subject, "Soul."

Wednesday evening at 7:45.

Reading room Tuesday and Saturday, 3:00 to 5:00 p. m.

The public is cordially invited to all services.

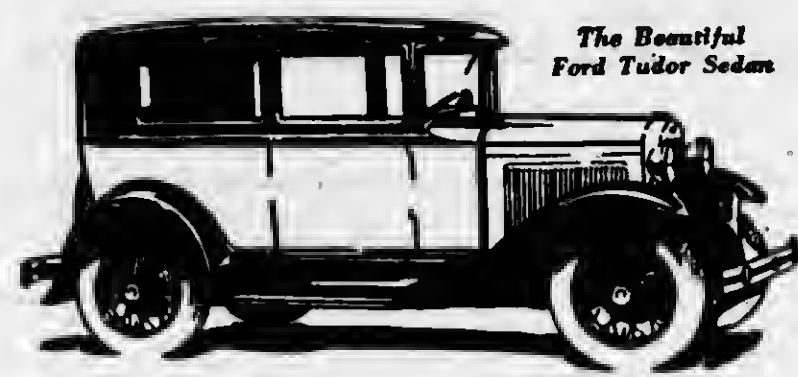

"Spirit" was the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Christian Science churches on Sunday, August 9.

Among the citations which comprised the lesson-sermon was the following from the Bible: "And these signs shall follow them that believe; In my name shall they cast out devils; they shall speak with new tongues." (Mark 16:17).

The lesson-sermon also included the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "The prophet of today beholds in the mental horizon the signs of these times, the reappearance of the Christianity which heals the sick and destroys error, and no other sign shall be given." (p. 98).

The difference between a business man and a failure is that the business man has the money with which to pay his debts and the failure has good excuses for not paying.

THE GREATEST VALUE EVER BUILT INTO A FORD CAR

$490

(F. O. B. Detroit, plus freight and delivery. Bumpers and spare tire extra at low cost.)

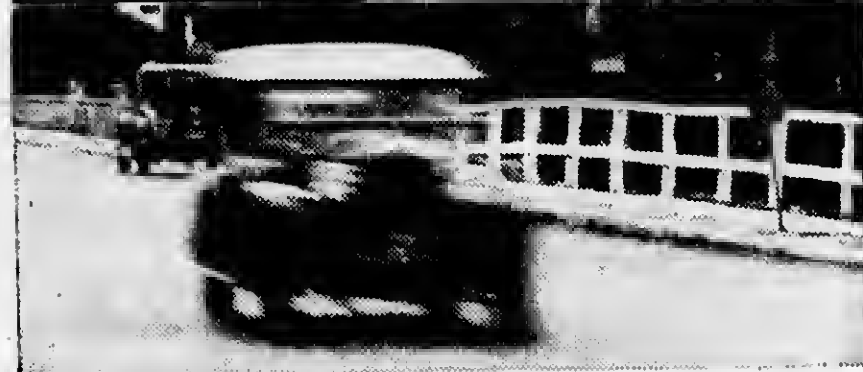

WHEN you buy a Ford car today, you buy what is unquestionably the greatest value in the history of the Ford Motor Company. Never before has so much beauty, comfort, safety and performance been offered at such a low price.

The low price of the Ford is something to think about because it means an immediate saving of many dollars — always an important consideration. But far more significant than price alone is what you get for that price. When high quality is combined with low price, you may justly take pride in having found a most satisfactory purchase.

See the Ford — ride in it — learn something about the value that is built into every part. The more you know about it, the more certain you will be that it is the car for you. It is literally true that when you "get the facts you will get a Ford."

A LECTURE on CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

Entitled Christian Science: Its Influence on Health and Character

by Richard J. Davis, C. S. of Chicago, Illinois

Member of the Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

Mr. Richard J. Davis, C. S., of Chicago, Illinois, a member of the Christian Science Board of Lectureship, delivered a lecture entitled
"Christian Science: Its Healing Influence on Health and Character," on Sunday afternoon, August 9, under the auspices of Christian Science Society of Charlevoix, in Palace theatre.

The lecturer was introduced by Mrs. Cassie Hart, First Reader, who said:

"Friends: In behalf of Christian Science Society of Charlevoix, I welcome you here this afternoon. In the year 1892 I was led to investigate Christian Science, not for the physical healing, but for its religious appeal. Although a member of an orthodox church, I felt no assurance of my Christianity. After reading the textbook "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, for less than a week, I found myself healed of a very distressing physical condition which had been with me twelve years. I also found God, and a love for Him which has remained with me throughout the years.

"I have the pleasure to introduce to you Mr. Richard J. Davis, of Chicago, Illinois, a member of the Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts, who will address us on the subject of
"Christian Science: Its Healing Influence on Health and Character."

The world as a whole, or at least the civilized part of it, is becoming increasingly acquainted with the fact that the teachings of Christian Science are healing the physically sick. In lifting up the diseased and heavy-laden, the truth of its teaching is being widely demonstrated. But it is important to emphasize this fact:
Christian Science is not merely a healing cult, a system of therapeutics to make men's bodies well and thereby enable them to go along in the same old material way. The fundamental purpose of Christian Science is the entire spiritual regeneration of human consciousness. It shows that there is an inseparable connection between physical healing and the regeneration of character; the two are absolutely conjoined. Mrs. Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, says in her sermon entitled
"The People's Idea of God" (p. 7):
"Scientific discovery and the inspiration of Truth have taught me that the health and character of man become more or less perfect as his mind-models are more or less spiritual." In other words, it is to spiritual thinking and true character building that we must look if we are to have true health and happiness.
And, therefore, I am going to speak to you on the subject of Christian Science: Its Influence on Health and Character.

GOD

David said, "I shall be satisfied, when I awake, with thy likeness."
Logically, then, in order to wake in that likeness and be satisfied, we must first of all find out the true nature and character of God.

In discussing God, the standpoint of Christian Science, it may be well to state here that Mary Baker Eddy was from girlhood a deep and consecrated student of the Bible. Her early associates included some of the most spiritually-minded and noble men of her period, with philosophers and thinkers. She herself had been trained to ponder and meditate deeply on the things of God. She was a logical thinker, and the world today is admitting more and more that her teaching regarding God is logical and based on pure, spiritual reasoning.

First of all, let us ask ourselves:
Is there a universe? Yes, we must admit one infinite, immeasurable universe of creation, so great and wonderful that our human sense of things can but faintly grasp or compass it. Has it a cause, or numeration? Obviously, no. The universe, even as we conceive it, indicates an unlimited, intelligent cause which we, in Christian Science, reverently understand to be Mind, or God, the infinite Mind and Creator of the universe.

The mistake of the ages has been the assumption that creation consisted of two diverse and wholly antagonistic elements, namely, mind and matter. And yet any clear thinker must acknowledge that like produces like, that if cause be mental, so is effect. In other words, infinite Mind, or God, cannot produce its opposite, unintelligent matter. The product of Mind is thought, or ideas, and Christian Science declares logically that the product of divine Mind is a thought universe, an infinite universe of ideas. Clearly, then, Christian Science affirms that all, absolutely all, is Mind, that there is truly nothing but Mind and its infinite ideas or manifestation.

The character of infinite Mind cannot be circumscribed in any personal or bodily sense, and the logic of Christian Science recognizes no bodily or corporeal God. On the contrary, it declares that the nature of infinite Mind is clearly incorporeal, not bodily, in accord with the Scriptural declaration, "Do not I fill heaven and earth?" saith the Lord.
This one infinite all-inclusive presence is the eternal I AM, or infinite of Being, and so the declaration to Israel still stands, "Thou shalt have no other gods before me." Thou shalt have no other power before me, the one infinite all-power. Thou shalt have no other Mind before me, the one infinite all-inclusive Mind. Thou shalt have no other Life before me, the one infinite and omnipresent Life.

The one I AM, or infinity, must obviously be not only immeasurable
Mind, but also infinite omnipresent
Spirit, the Soul of all being, divine Principle or law, Life or the one self-existence, Truth or reality, infinite Love. All these terms which describe the character and nature of God are synonymous and coincide, one with the other. Taken together, they express the wholeness and oneness of Deity.

The nature of immeasurable Mind or Love may not be easily comprehended, but we do know that infinite Love indicates that the character of God, as understood in Christian Science, is tender and gentle. Love must inevitably love its own offspring, or creation. The prophet Isaiah thus describes God: "I will mention the loving-kindness of the Lord, and the praises of the Lord, according to all that the Lord hath bestowed on us, and the great goodness toward the house of Israel, which he hath bestowed on them according to his mercies, and according to the multitude of his lovingkindness." In the consciousness of God as Love, he gain the highest and most exalted idea of Deity.

MAN

If, then, God is Mind, Life, Truth, and Love, what must be the character of His creation, man? The Scriptures declare that God created man exactly like Himself, like Mind. The Icelandic translation of Genesis states it in just that way: "And God said, Let us make man after our mind and our likeness; and God shaped man after His mind; after God's mind shaped He him; and He shaped them male and female." In other words, Christian Science declares that if God is Mind, man must be the divinely mental image of that Mind; if God is Life, man must be the very exemplification and manifestation of Life; if God is Love, man can image forth, and manifest, only Love.

Mrs. Eddy took a radical stand when she proclaimed that the only man there is is spiritual; right now, but she based her statement on the declaration regarding man in the first chapter of Genesis, a perfectly logical conclusion, for in the light of pure reason, can the exact image of Mind be material, a matter man? Can Spirit evolve its opposite, matter?
My friends, the first, and a most important step in salvation, may be said to be taken when you discern and are willing to declare, "Since God, who is certainly Spirit, created man, in His own likeness, I am spiritual." In the light of present-day experience, with its suffering, disease, and death, even though the fact of man's spirituality be but faintly discerned and demonstrated, of what avail can it be to cling and hold on with determination to a supposition that man is material? Will conditions be bettered thereby? The fact is that if all is Mind and its infinite manifestation, and that Mind is the Life and action of all being, then man, being wholly spiritual, lives as the reflection of divine Mind—never as matter or material personality.

What then is the character of man? Is it physical? Is it a man's corporeal body that reveals his true nature? The dictionary defines character as that which a person really is, the mental and moral qualities belonging to an individual. Character, then, is thought, or thinking, made up wholly of mental qualities, and the true character of man is revealed in his thoughts. "As a man thinketh, so is he" (Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures, p. 166); and the Bible clearly indicates the connection between health and character building, where it says, "To be earnally minded is death; but to be spiritually minded is life and peace."
Taking men as a whole, they all appear to be more or less alike, in physical appearance. But with a little thought, or ideas, they would all be non-entities. When thought is revealed, however, the distinctive individuality or character of each man shines forth.

The teachings of Christian Science, therefore, render the world an inestimable service in bringing to light the true spiritual and mental nature of man as the image or idea of divine Mind. At once, the emphasis is taken away from physicality and placed where it belongs, in the realm of thought. And it is in the realm of thought that man finds his true likeness to God. We declare, therefore, that man is a spiritual being, reflecting or imaging forth ideas, or thoughts that can have their origin only in God, the divine Mind.

CHARACTER OF JESUS CHRIST

The character of one man, Jesus the Christ, has stood out before men down through the ages as the ideal of what a truly should be. He has been called the great Exemplar, the Way-shower. It was to the life and character of this man that Mary
Baker Eddy turned in the search which resulted in the discovery of Christian Science. She studied his character, his thoughts and works, and discerned that his words, if properly and scientifically understood, were, as he himself declared, Spirit
and Life to all mankind.

Jesus was the Way; that is, he showed us the way in which every man's character can be regenerated through spiritual and scientific thinking. But this does not in any sense imply that he walked the way for us, and that there is nothing for us to do. It is only as men adopt his spiritual standard of living and thinking that they approximate the true character of Christ Jesus. Obviously, it was not his physical body or personal appearance that made Jesus the Christ; it was what he thought. He thought divinely, and Christian Science declares that it is what we think that naturally registers our true spirituality.

Perhaps no quality in Jesus' character has been more commented upon than his tenderness and compassion for the sinner. His motives and acts in that respect were constantly mis-judged and criticized. They called him "a friend of publicans and sinners." And this he truly was, in the highest spiritual sense. Not that he fraternized with their evil thoughts and deeds, but rather, that his heart went out to them in a loving desire to set the sinner free from bondage to his false beliefs. Jesus always separated the evil from the person. He never made a reality of sin or disease. On the contrary, he saw them as delusions, as erroneous conceptions of life which the spiritual understanding of God and man could dissipate. The Mind that was in Christ Jesus knew only a perfect God and a perfect creation. His healings, both of disease and sin, were based on his scientific knowledge that nothing can emanate from God but that which is immaculately pure and good.

He understood fully the influence of carnal or material thinking on men, health and morals, and declared that as wrong thinking was abandoned, the health and character of men would correspondingly be improved and elevated.

When the Saviour healed the sick and raised the dead, it is recorded that he spoke as one having authority. No man speaks with authority unless he knows that he has behind him certain law and force which give him power and dominion. A mathe-matician expounds mathematical laws and speaks with authority because he knows that behind his statements lies the force and power of mathematical truth. Christ Jesus spoke with the authority and power of Almighty
God. He recognized no other law or Principle as operative in the entire universe. He healed with assurance and confidence. His expectation was based upon the scientific knowledge that since disease is not a divine reality, it can be cast out and utterly destroyed. He was called the Master.
Why? Because through spiritual understanding he had gained the mastery over sin, the mastery over disease, the mastery over death, and most of all, he had gained a mastery over a material sense of self.

May we not legitimately assume the same attitude of spiritual authority as did Jesus? He knew he was the Son of God, endowed with rightful dominion, and it is our great privilege to know the same truth for ourselves. The apostle John declared that divine authority and dominion of every man when he wrote, "Beloved, now are we the sons of God, and it doth not yet appear what we shall be; but we know that, when he shall appear, we shall be like him; for we shall see him as he is."

There are times that come to all of us when we are confronted with difficulties, when there is much that perplexes and possibly confuses. Maybe we are disturbed and unhappy over the unkind or unjust statements of a friend or relative. We may not see just where to turn, or how to think about it; but, my friends, there is one infallible test. Just stop a moment and say to yourself, How would Christ Jesus think about this?
What would be his mental attitude in this situation? How would he handle it? Immediately you will find yourself adopting the Christ standard of thinking. If there has been anger or resentment before, there will be now the great Exemplar, the Way-shower. It was to the life and character of this man that Mary
Baker Eddy turned in the search which resulted in the discovery of Christian Science. She studied his character, his thoughts and works,
and discerned that his words, if properly and scientifically understood,
were, as he himself declared, Spirit
and Life to all mankind.

Jesus was the Way; that is, he showed us the way in which every man's character can be regenerated
through spiritual and scientific thinking. But this does not in any sense imply that he walked the way for us,

LIMITING NARCOTICS

After a long and weary period of negotiations the delegates to the opium conference of the League of Nations have completed their treaty for the limitation of the manufacture of narcotic drugs. It has been signed by 28 nations, and while the United States is not yet included among them, its delegation is only awaiting official word from Washington upon certain technical reservations before falling into line. The treaty does not in some respects go so far as had been hoped, but it is generally characterized as valuable.

Its provisions for the limitation of manufacturing mark a genuine advance over previous agreements. One particularly encouraging feature of the treaty is the inclusion of codein among the drugs, subject to international control.

Furthermore, the convention calls for a complete accounting of narcotic production to aid the signatory governments in fighting the drug traffic, recommends that states which have not already done so set up central narcotic authorities, advises a tightening of the penalties in previous conventions and recommends that in view of the highly dangerous character of heroin the various governments look into the question of either its abolition or close restriction.

The conclusion of this convention in no way marks the end of the fight against the drug traffic or even a let-up in this important struggle. Rather it is a first step in a program which will not be wholly successful until the manufacture of narcotics is so closely regulated that the supply will in no case exceed the legitimate medical demand. This is a distant dream, but every advance toward its realization deserves universal support.

Drugs are a menace to society which can be fought only by international action and however slow and halting this action may seem, as with disarmament, we should applaud small victories as steps in the right direction.

COST OF STATE GOVERNMENT

Taxpayers of Michigan would be money in pocket, according to Prof. Thomas H. Reed, of the department of political science at the University of Michigan, if townships and small school districts were abolished and the number of counties in the state cut in two. The same conclusion has been reached by other persons. A number of state politicians, alarmed by the cost of financing the less populous counties, suggested county consolidation some years ago.

Any thinking taxpayer must realize that it is poor business to contribute to the cost of unnecessary public offices. When the state clings to an archaic administrative system imported into this country three centuries ago, it reveals a strange lack of efficiency in public business which Americans display in private business. When Michigan's counties were established travel was slow, and it was necessary to make judicial and administrative processes within reasonable distance of the people, as measured by the speed of horses and buggies. Steam and electricity have since enlarged the radius of easy movement about the state. Counties could be doubled in size today and still leave their population nearer the county seat than it was 100 years ago.

Although Professor Reed's statement is not new, it will bear repeating in hope that eventually something will be done about it. A reform of this sort, which will abolish hundreds of offices will have to be initiated and put through by the people. One cannot expect the general run of politicians to inaugurate and support a movement that would cost so many of them a chance to live off the taxpayers. Clinging to an administrative system that the state has outgrown is an expensive example of the slowness which changes in the form of government are effected. The same people who would not drive last season's model, are content to muddle along in a vehicle of government 300 years old.

COST OF LIVING DOWN

Statistics show that the cost of living in the United States has been reduced 6.5 per cent in the last six months and more than 9 per cent during the past year. While the cost of living has been going down in recent years it is still higher than before the war. A government statistician, using as a basis at 100 the 1913 prices of food in 51 cities, and of clothing, rent, fuel, light, furniture, and other items in 32 cities, and placing them all in accordance with their importance in the family budget, puts the cost of living index for June at 150.3.

The rising value of the dollar does not mean that Americans as a whole are living better than they were three or four years ago. They are earning fewer dollars than they did before the stock market crash, for wages have come down with commodity prices. Because of unemployment, the average scale of living is not as high as it was in 1928. It is probable that the cost of living will approximate the pre-war level, and then, with the increase of employment the nation will return to about the same scale of living that existed before the slump started.

As a rule Americans do not lower their standard of living until they are driven by necessity. Simple economies, however, will help bridge the gap in the present economic crisis, without lowering the general high standards which our people have set for themselves.

ROGER BABSON SAYS IT IS TIME TO ADVERTISE

If there was ever a time when the newspapers could perform a real service for the United States, it is today—furthermore, this applies to all groups of people, bankers, manufacturers, merchants and wage earners. You need only to tell the people the simple truth. Statistics now indicate business has seen its worst, even though the recovery will be slow.

Irrespective of what happens to the stock market in the next year, I am willing to stake my reputation, based on 30 years' experience (1) that business has seen its worst; (2) that, although the change will be slow it will be in the right direction; and (3) that within a reasonable time this country will again enter a period of marked prosperity. In short, statistics today point to another period of prosperity, the same as they three years ago pointed to the present period of depression—as you go back home tell your merchants that now is the time to advertise.—Roger Babson, business economist, to members of Advertising Federation of America.

ACCIDENT PREVENTION

During 1930, according to the National Safety Council, America's accidental death toll reached a total of 99,000 lives—the highest annual figure on record.

The motor vehicle toll—33,000 lives—was highest, closely followed by 30,000 deaths in homes. It is said that three billion dollars is a modest estimate of the direct cost of accidents for the year.

The United States has the highest accident toll of any country in the world—principally due to automobiles. Carelessness and ignorance are genuine menaces to the health and happiness of the nation.

Only in the case of school children has any definite accident reduction been made. Safety education in schools has not only prevented current accidents, but it instills a safety message that is carried through life. During a period when accidental deaths to persons of all ages increased 28 per cent, deaths among children under 15 dropped 2.3 per cent.

Every person has the power to prevent accidents—and unless he uses that power, nothing in the world can stop the toll from rising.

THE COST OF ILLNESS

There is another thing that is as sure as death and taxes—sickness. The average American man is ill once a year; the average American woman nearly twice as often; the child of school age twice as often. These are figures taken from a study made by the committee on the Costa of Medical Care, which is coming to the end of a five year study of the economic aspects of the prevention of disease and the care of the sick. These illnesses total about 130,000,000 every year. This direct cost in money is computed by the committee at $3,105,000,000.

This is a huge cost, reckoned either in terms of time lost or of money expended. The cost would be huge even if we could foresee just when we will fall ill, just how serious the illness will be, or just how long it will last. None of those things, however, can be foreseen, and to all the other burdens that illness imposes upon us must be added uncertainty. Uncertainty exists not only as to appearance and character of illness, it is even more a factor with relation to cost. No problem enters into the daily lives of Americans that is more serious than this.

Medical facilities in the United States are adequate in the aggregate perhaps. The committee has found that 1,500,000 people devote their full time to medical care. There is one physician to every 126 inhabitants. Over 7,000 hospitals have 900,000 beds, which would give every man, woman and child one and one-half days occupancy a year. But neither physicians nor hospitals are evenly distributed; there are places that have too many, and many more that have too few.—The Ionia County News.

TOWN IS JUDGED BY ITS NEWS- PAPER AND MERCHANTS

The outsider judges the character of a town by the character of its newspaper. He estimates its activity in a business way by the advertising it carries. If he sees a paper full of snappy advertising, he says, "There is a wide-awake town."

Make your advertising 100 per cent efficient. Keep it up to date. Make it snappy, interesting, seasonable. And keep this in mind: Just as a town is judged by its newspaper, so is a business house judged by its advertising. If you need proof of that, look over a newspaper from another town, study the advertising it carries and note your impressions of the various firms represented.

Advertising nowadays is news. And in these days of readjustment it is news in which the public is intensely interested. The people want to read your ads, and will read them if you make them attractive and interesting. All feel the urge of necessities, the desire for luxuries, and are ready to jump at the chance to get them at prices they can afford to pay.

TEMPERANCE UNION WILL HAVE PICNIC

Regular August Meeting to Be Held Friday at City Park

The August Women's Christian Temperance Union meeting will be held Friday in the city park at the west end of Mason street.

Members are invited to come for a co-operative picnic dinner at 1:00 o'clock, which will be followed by the usual order of business and program.

Topic: Anna Adams Gordon (Memorial service); leader, Mrs. Saltonstall; picnic committee, Mesdames Hart, Usher and Saunders.

CHANGE DATE OF MISSIONARY MEETING

Congregational Group to Meet August 18th at City Park

The regular monthly meeting of the Missionary Society of the First Congregational church, has been changed from August 19th, the regular date, to August 18th.

This change was made because of the annual dinner and bazaar at the Ironton church August 19th.

The Missionary Society will meet in the city park with picnic dinner at noon.

War is a funny affair. First, we lend the Allied nations vast sums to beat Germany, and when they begin to pay we cut the debt down to a fraction. Then, along about this time, we are asked to help Germany get over the financial difficulties caused by the licking that she got. We are not diplomats, and we can't understand it.

SPORTS ATTRACTIONS LISTED AT BELVEDERE

Annual Golf and Tennis Tournaments Events of Coming Week

Two sports events are planned for the coming week for members of the Belvedere club and their guests.

Starting Monday, August 17th, and continuing through Friday, August 22nd, is the Belvedere Golf club annual handicap tournament.

Qualifying rounds will be played Monday and Tuesday, with the best eight qualifying for the Belvedere cup. Others qualify for subsequent flights of eight. Match play will be held Wednesday and Thursday and finals Friday.

The committee in charge is composed of J. W. Ferguson, C. B. Fox, George D. Webb and R. V. Clark, Jr. The annual Belvedere tennis tournament gets under way Thursday, August 20th, and will continue through the 24th. Events listed are men's, women's, boys' and girls' singles, men's doubles and mixed doubles. C. D. Fox, R. V. Clark, Jr., Charles Fox, Jr., and Apstin Leland are the committee.

Cherries Placed in Rooms

An example for Michigan's cherry growing communities has been set by the Park Place hotel at Traverse City, which places a half-pound carton of fancy sweet cherries in every room each day with the morning paper. Cherry growers find that hotel guests are quick to buy larger boxes to send home.

In Memoriam

Margaret L. Washburn
A Faith so perfect that it oft inspired
A reverential awe leading as she desired.

Its poignant recognition of His will
His thought for her she must fulfill,
Surrender exquisite, though trials
Rent the way.

His hand was gentle to her touch
His path to Him for others she has Made.

So pleasant none could be afraid,
In sympathy and help she has endowed.

Many a convert, but to none allowed
The sacrifices that her bounty meant,
Her Master knew and she was quite Content.

Within His arms she now finds rest,
His tenderness she knew, at last expressed.

Eternal Peace and Everlasting Light Make glorious the shadows of the passing night.—Mary Sandberg.

ROMANCE AND REALITY

SOMETIMES, when you turn the pages of a book, your mind is seeking romance. You long to leave a too-familiar world . . . to travel with the speed of thought to far-off purple lands . . . to bathe in tepid, lotus-scented surf.

But your weekly paper finds you in a more practical mood. . . Interested in real people, in the facts of the day. Looking for news of things that you may buy and enjoy—HERE AND NOW.

You may find in the advertisement just what you want in the way of a better breakfast food, or a new radio, or an improved face powder. If the thing fits into your living, is practical and possible and promising—you are vitally interested. Because you are reading about yourself!

Today, a great many things that were romantic dreams only ten years ago are common realities. Life has more color, more charm, more adventure. And the things that give it all these may be found in the advertising columns.

Advertising discusses realities—romantic ones often enough—but actual articles YOU can have for your own, new joys for YOUR family, stepping stone to YOUR happiness.

The advertisements in this paper are written for you.
They are real. They are reliable.

A LECTURE ON

forth by nothing, but by prayer and fasting." According to ritualistic custom this has been interpreted to mean that the devil, or evil, might be cast out by imploring God to heal, or by a process of denying oneself food or other material things. But Jesus did not implore or beg God to set aside the ordinary course of things in order to work a miracle. He once said, "I knew that thou hearest me always." He recognized that health is the only legitimate result of faith, and that disease is wholly unnatural, and not at all according to God's law. The prayer of Jesus was a prayer of affirmation—affirmation of that which is eternally true about God and man—and his fasting was firm and courageous mental action, that which the physical senses implied was true. Christian Scientists are grateful for this spiritual teaching regarding prayer and fasting. No matter where one may chance to be, in the home, in the street car, or in the office, it is always possible to "pray without ceasing," to affirm God's almighty, His ever-present and His omnipotence, and also to fast, daily and hourly, in our denial of all that is unlike God in ourselves and others.

No one makes any claim to have as yet demonstrated mental action, it is something to have made a practical beginning in the attainment of spiritual dominion. There may come moments when the human sense of things would try to make you believe that you are making no progress, either in character or growth, but that overcoming of sin or disease, but my friends, keep on in this noble task of working out your salvation, knowing that "it is God which worketh in you both to will and to do of his good pleasure." If discouragement rears its head and you are tempted to give up, it with patience, and be not dismayed. Patience is a wonderful quality and we all need more of it in our characters. Some years ago I read a definition of patience which, from the standpoint of Christian Science, was most helpful. It said: "Patience is a quality of divine Mind which enables one to look beyond the sense testimony and see the completed demonstration,"—not to see with the material eyes, but with that divine sense which knows the spiritual facts of existence.

CHARACTER BUILDING

Human beings seem to be a mixture of both good and evil qualities which they are said to have acquired either by heredity or environment. They are possessed with dispositions, either good or bad, according to the character of the predominant influences. Christian Science drives home the fact that if man's true being is mental, it is in the realm of thought that correction must take place. This realization that all is not well within, and that there is something to be remedied, is a certain courage, a willingness to look what seems to be one's character squarely in the face and enter upon an earnest, prayerful process of self-examination. Mrs. Eddy expresses this in a very remarkable way in Science and Health (p. 452): "Anatomy, when conceived of spiritually, is the dissection of thoughts to discover their quality, quantity, and origin. Are thoughts divine or human? That is the important question. This branch of study is indispensable to the excision of error."

If you were going to build or rebuild a house, what kind of materials would you select for its construction? Would you not provide a strong, firm foundation? Would you not demand that your timber be of the best quality and able to stand the strain of your bricks—what kind of bricks would you have? Clean, firm, well-made ones. No broken or crumbling bricks would do. And so, my friends, we learn in Christian Science how to build or rebuild our human character with spiritual qualities. We consciously select the best thoughts—character-bricks, if you like, to replace those that break and will not stand the strain. What are some spiritual character-bricks which we, by reflection, may incorporate in our spiritual structure? Love, joy, humility, purity, moral courage, and these are many others—and so with these we may rear that "house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens."

In Christian Science, it is important in character building, but to look with longing and regret at the old bricks which are being cast aside, but rather, to look with anticipation and joy at the new. When one gives up some erroneous thought, it is because one has found something better to put in its place. But if we look about us, how far most human beings are from the attainment of that real joy to which they are entitled as the sons of God! Pursuit of material pleasure seems to consume a large part of their thinking. Many people believe that if they have a lot of money, houses, clothes, and automobiles, then they will be happy, that then their cup of joy will be filled to the brim, that then they will be satisfied and contented. But is this so? Will they be satisfied? Does materiality bring peace of mind? Not at all. Many of us know that some of the most wretched and miserable people on earth are among those who are what the world calls rich. What is the trouble? What they still lack is the one needful thing—a knowledge of God. Jesus said: "Seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things (the needs of human life) shall be added unto you." Why did Jesus tell the rich young man to sell all that he had and give to the poor? Did he not see that it was materiality (material thinking) that was hating the young man's entrance into the kingdom of heaven? Why, dear friends, many of us have had experiences that show it is not being rich in matter that gives happiness, but being rich in good thoughts. And when we are rich in good thoughts we have that peace that passeth all understanding—that feeling which means contentment and satisfaction. Christian Scientists have discovered that this peace of mind is found by obtaining a better understanding of God.

IMPROVING ONE'S DISPOSITION

As thought has progressed, the civilized world has abandoned its beliefs in physical evils, in evil spirits, and the concept that Satan is a kind of wicked man who has to be placated or feared, but there are still many remnants of superstitious thinking trailing along, right in this modern life of ours. One of these is the characteristic of despondency, the tendency to look on what is called "the dark side" of life. This is a number of the unwholesome offspring, or children of fear, sometimes called worry. Did you ever have the worry habit? Or have you got it now? No man is happy, or pleasant company, when he worries. Worry is an unkind artist that puts wrinkles in us, physically and mentally. Worry puts dark glasses on our mental outlook on life. Through worry's dark glasses everything becomes disturbed and upset. We anticipate and realize only disaster and trouble. Worry has been termed the "do-not-trust-God" disease. "What chance of success is there for one who gazes through these glasses?" Disarmed by discouragement and fear, he is deprived of that fine quality, poise, the sign of courage and confidence. Consider "poise" a moment. He who has it manifests that fine mental balance that inspires confidence and faith, while the man who stands with worry's wrinkled brows fills those he meets with thoughts of foreboding and anxiety.

But someone may say: It is all very well to tell me to have a confident outlook, to smile and not worry, but I am confronted with many difficulties, and life is a very serious matter with me. Besides, I have always worried; it is natural to me—my disposition. Christian Science says: Then change your disposition. You do not have to keep unpleasant and hampering character-istics unless you want them. By establishing your identity as the image of divine Mind, Christian Science declares that worry, the "do-not-trust-God" disease, is actually based on faith in the power of evil instead of good. It declares that worry has no basis in God, and being no part of God, naturally is no part of man, God's exact likeness. In his true being man possesses and reflects courage, confidence, and cheerful-ness. Understanding that a man's true selfhood as the son of God lifts him above the atmosphere of freedom where every restricting and fettering fear falls away—worry, for which there is no real cause; fear of lack, when God is the infinite supply of the universe; fear of disease and death, when his loving promise is eternal life.

I am told that the Western cowboys and ranchmen, when they ride into town, do not always hitch their horses to a post but merely throw the reins over the post's neck and let them drag on the ground. The horse, under the impression that he is tied, stands perfectly quiet and never moves from the spot where his master leaves him. He is held only by his belief, so with us, all that needs changing is the thought that we are fettered, for we are already free.

Now, if life is God, it has certainly no dark side, but only joy and anticipation of good. If analyzed, is not the disposition to have foreboding and fearful expectancy based on the belief that evil is real? And yet, if God is one, and infinitely good, there is no logical basis for the expectancy of evil? What can come to us from a good God but good? What shall we expect to-day? Good. What to-morrow? Good. Next week, next month, next year? Good, more good; we meet the man who got out of bed the wrong way and said, "Well, I wonder what this day will bring forth." Not a very joyful anticipation. Now Christian Science declares that the only day there is, is the day of Mind's unfolding. This day can come nothing that maketh or worketh a lie. "This is the day which the Lord hath made; we will rejoice and be glad in it," said the Psalmist. Into this day can come only that which God has sent, more of peace, health, and happiness. This day can bring forth only divine opportunity, prosperity, and success, a greater unfoldment of the true Christ character in consciousness.

Few people realize their dreams and ambitions for success. This is due sometimes, of course, to the fact that their ideals are not based upon Principle or righteousness, but often it is brought about by some form of incapacity or inability. Providing his ideals are correct and his life and character noble and fine, there is no legitimate reason for any man, or woman, to fail. God does not fail, and he will not fail the real man. To be given a position, an opportunity to work, is one thing; to demonstrate the ability and capacity to fill it, is quite another. But this, Christian Science declares, we may do. It makes no difference whether he be a housewife, a farmer, a teacher, or a business worker, the process of demonstration is exactly the same. What are some of the qualities of thinking that make for efficiency? Alertness, perseverance, orderliness, promptness, obedience, and many others. Every right attribute of capacity, capability, and success is inherently man's by reason of the fact that he is the reflection of divine Mind. God has endowed every one of His children with many talents, but like those mentioned in the Bible, they are buried when we say, "I am inefficient. I have no ability. I am not talented." All this is an unbelief, a denial of that which is ours by divine right. Christian Science demands that we cast off self-depreciation, with its limiting and depressing effects, and that we have respect for ourselves and everyone else as the sons of God.

Christ Jesus was meek and humble, but he certainly knew his true greatness as a Son of God. It is that realization of our true identity as children of the Most High which enables us to walk the earth with courage and confidence, to take up our tasks with assurance, born of spiritual understanding, and then to complete them successfully.

In the Greek legend the story ran that the heavens and earth rested on the shoulders of Atlas, a Titan, a wicked bent nearly double with the weight. Have any of you ever suffered from the belief that you were Atlas? Personal responsibility, responsibility for our homes and our children, fearful responsibilities for our bodies and our business, and all this while the Bible declares, "The government shall be upon his shoulder." As we progress in our study of Christian Science we learn to place the responsibility for maintaining and sustaining the universe upon our shoulders, with divine Mind, which governs all, according to the unvarying and unerring law. The divine plan and order of being is already established and goes on uninterrupted, even though personal sense would make us believe we have a responsibility in the matter.

Some years ago the following incident was related in a well-known credit magazine. For about eight years a man had owned a concern in the neighborhood of five hundred dollars. Not hearing from him, they had a total loss. One day a clerk called from the man with a letter saying that he had become interested in Christian Science and had decided to pay all his debts. This information was submitted to the magazine by a prominent credit man, without comment. But the story is eloquent. Through his study of Christian Science this man had awakened to the fact that there was something in his character which needed rectifying. He was rebuilding, and in place of dishonesty, thoughtlessness, and selfishness, there was demonstration of integrity, thoughtfulness, and consideration for others.

CHARACTER AND HEALING

But someone may say: yes, I am sure my thinking could be improved and my character made much better than it is; but what has that to do with my body? I am not in good health and what I need is physical healing. Now there is a delicate relationship between our thoughts and what seem to be our bodies. A man may say, "But my stomach is upset and out of order." Not at all. Your material stomach is not intelligent. It does not think. It does not know anything about the situation. You have got to think for it. It is some kind of thought that is disordered and mirrored forth on the body. Therefore it is disordered thought that must be corrected.

It is also important for those who would be healed in Christian Science that attention be turned away from material body and material symptoms and from the idea that physical healing is the end.

Notice is hereby given that default has occurred in the conditions of that certain mortgage, dated the 2nd day of September, 1926, executed by John Priebe and Amelia Priebe, as his wife and in her own right, as mortgagors, to The Federal Land Bank of Saint Paul, a body corporate, of the City of St. Paul, County of Ramsey, State of Minnesota, as mortgagee, filed for record in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for Charlevoix county, Michigan, on the 7th day of September, A. D. 1926, at 11:00 o'clock a. m., recorded in Liber 62 of mortgages on page 343 thereof, in that partial installment amounting to sixty-five and no/100ths Dollars ($65.00), principal and interest due September 2, 1930, remains unpaid; and further that the taxes were not paid by the mortgagors and were permitted to become delinquent; that on the failure of said mortgagors to pay such taxes, The Federal Land Bank of Saint Paul did elect to pay the same, and on June 9th, 1931, paid the sum of Three Hundred Fifty-six and 42/100ths Dollars ($356.42) as taxes for the years 1929 and 1930. And further that the insurance premium was not paid by the mortgagors and was permitted to become delinquent; that on the failure of said mortgagors to pay such insurance, The Federal Land Bank of Saint Paul did elect to pay the same, and on February 17, 1931, did pay the sum of Four and 95/100ths Dollars ($4.95) as insurance, the sum of Twenty-nine Hundred Twenty-two and 63/100ths Dollars ($2,922.63); and that no action or proceeding at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover said debt or any part thereof, that, by virtue of a power of sale therein contained, said mortgage will be foreclosed and the land and premises therein described lying and being in the County of Charlevoix and State of Michigan, as follows, to-wit:

The Northwest Quarter (NW 1/4) Section Twenty-nine (29) Township Thirty-four (34)

North, Range Six (6) West, containing One Hundred Fifty-nine (159) acres, more or less, according to the Government survey thereof, excepting therefrom One (1) acre in the Northeast corner thereof, Ten (10) rods North and South and Sixteen (16) rods East and West.

will be sold at public auction to the highest bidder for cash by the Sheriff of Charlevoix county, at the front door of the court house, in the City of Charlevoix, in said county and state, on Tuesday, September 29, 1931, at 10:00 o'clock in the forenoon, to pay and satisfy the debt secured by said mortgage and the costs and disbursements allowed by law upon said foreclosure sale.

Dated this 27th day of June, 1931. The Federal Land Bank of Saint Paul, mortgagee.

Last week Camp Charlevoix was the scene of a heated political campaign. The reason for this contest was the establishment of Campers' Day on Friday, Aug. 7. Every important staff position was to be filled on that day by the boys, and to make the election more interesting and natural two political factions were formed—the Pro-Jumpers party and the Dum-Publican party. Each party chose its own candidates for the 21 offices, and each presented in fiery speech its platform. (Chuck Kuster led one group and Pete Morris the other, and those two rared and ranted for three days on the merits of their respective parties. The final election took place on Thursday night with everyone in camp having a vote. Dick Woodfield won Mr. Reiman's place and Spud Steensma performed Chick Hendry's duties very capably. There is not space enough to mention the other 19 places taken by the boys; suffice to say that all conducted themselves in a fitting manner and made Campers' Day of 1931 a success.

On Wednesday afternoon, Aug. 5, a Campers' Day was held. Contests in the various phases of campcraft such as fire-building, water-balling, tent-pitching, wood-chopping, etc., were run off by sections.

Last Saturday night the camp held its usual stunt night. A feature of the festivities were several old-fashioned numbers rendered by the camp gardeners, Mr. Hall, on his fiddle. He also played the bones for the enjoyment of his listeners. The campers presented a short play written by counselor Chuck Husted.

Chapel service on Sunday, Aug. 9, was conducted for the most part by the campers. Three boys from the senior section gave short talks. Justin Kline, Walt Barry and Bill Wygant were the ones chosen to represent the boys, and each presented some excellent ideas.

Tuesday night, Aug. 4, the camp was privileged to see some moving pictures. Curtis Seebold's father loaned his projector and four or five short films were run off, including views in the Detroit zoo and a couple of comedies.

A swimming meet was held last Friday including such events as 25-yard free style, 25-yard side-stroke, diving, and relay races. Cahin 4 won out in the junior section, cabin 9 in the intermediate and cabin 12 in the senior. Dick Woodfield of cabin 9 was high point man with 13½ points. He also came in first in the lake hon-or swim on Saturday which had about seven contestants.

The big carnival is set for Saturday, Aug. 15. The camp is hard at work preparing for the annual show, and assures everyone he will enjoy himself to the fullest by attending the festivities. Each attraction, which will cost only a nickel, will be managed by two cabins.

A LECTURE ON

ing is the one thing to be desired. What the world needs—what we all need—is spiritual regeneration, a complete change in our thinking and attitude toward life, even if it takes some time to accomplish it. But he assured that just as certainly as consciousness embodies thoughts of love, tenderness, forgiveness, and generosity, and eliminates fear, hate, dishonesty, and resentment, the human body will reflect the good thought that is governing it.

When Christian Science, declares that disease is unreal, some people are inclined to be resentful and not a little angry; and that, certainly, will not help the healing. Let me ask you in all seriousness: Do you want to be told that you have a real disease, that you are suffering and may shortly die? Do you want the case made real to you, fastened upon you? Why do you go to a doctor? To have disease removed, made unreal, and destroyed.

Christian Science declares that disease is unreal and bases its declaration on the scientific knowledge that sin and disease can have no place in an infinitely good God and a perfect creation. It asks you to turn away from sense testimony and physical symptoms to that which you can spiritually perceive—to throw the weight of your thinking into the scale of Truth. Try doing this and see. Begin right now to declare for yourself and the whole race: There is no disease, no law of disease, no law of suffering. Disease is unreal because it is not part of God, and therefore no part of man. "The Lord God omnipotent reigneth," and governs man and the universe in perfect harmony. Do you not believe that this is a healthier state of thinking than to keep thought riveted on disease or a so-called problem?

And that word "problem." People have too many problems. The very word itself may become an obstacle in healing because it builds up in the thought the notion that one has many evil things to face. And if we think of a situation as difficult, at once we have the fear that it may not be solved; thought becomes heavy and anxious in contemplation of it and we are disarmed in our struggle. At such a time, Christian Science shows us how we may avail ourselves of one of God's most glorious characteristics—the quality of joy. If joy is one of the attributes of divine Mind, then, by reflection, it is an inherent quality in man's true character. If joy is present in thought, you have a quality that makes for healing in any situation.

HUMAN WILL.

In the last fifteen or twenty years, various systems and books have appeared purporting to develop man's hidden powers, to give him personality and the ability to control or dominate situations in which he might happen to be interested. But Christian Science has nothing in common with any teaching emphasizing the development of the human will. No more forceful character ever lived than Jesus the Christ; no one ever made a more indelible impression on the life and thinking of the human race, and yet he said: "I came . . . not to do mine own will, but the will of him that sent me." And at another time, "Not my will, but thine, be done." Could anyone conceive of the Master teaching men and women how to develop their personality and will in order to achieve success? On the contrary, he entreated men to put personal ambition and self-interest aside in order to serve others. Christian Science teaches us how to recognize the subtle activity of the human will in one's character, how to analyze our strong desires for some particular thing or to achieve some special goal, and how to set aside cherished human hopes in order that the will of God may operate unhindered. It shows us how to let the will of God be done in our lives. It demands that we cease the endless material planning, wishing, and hoping, which never lend to the realization of God's purposes for us. It declares that God alone is master of our destiny and brings us only good. If we will not aside self-interest and let the will of God be done, there is no difficulty that may not be happily and properly solved.

As one of our hymns so beautifully puts it (Christian Science Hymnal, No. 133):

Lord, my times are in Thy hand;
All my sanguine hopes have planned,
To Thy wisdom I resign,
And would mould my will to Thine.

Thou my daily task shalt give;
Day by day to Thee I live;
So shall added years fulfill
Not my own, my Father's will.

The impulse to dominate and run other people's affairs is the offspring of the human will. In fact, the disposition to tell others what to do, what they ought to do, or what they must do, crops out in the family life of nearly everyone. Why is it that someone always wants to be the head of the house, instead of letting God be the head? Why is it that the man or woman who starts out to put the whole house in order usually succeeds in setting the whole family in disorder? We have all heard the expression, "Oh, he has a will and a mind of his own." That is exactly the trouble. What is needed is the will and mind of God. Christian Science frees men from the desire to interfere obtrusively in the lives of others. It destroys the impulse to manipulate, either consciously or unconsciously, and impels men to let the will of God govern in the lives of everyone.

CHARACTER OF MRS. EDDY.

No person of modern times has suffered greater persecution, and misrepresentation of her life and motives, than Mrs. Eddy. Her character has been misjudged and misunderstood, but the fact remains that no woman has ever lived who has brought more joy, happiness, and spiritual freedom into the lives of men than Mary Baker Eddy. The lesson of her spiritual teaching is making itself felt in every city of the endeavor. She has given the world the Science of Christianity, wonderful in itself, but more wonderful still, she proved the Principle of this Science in practical demonstration and provided definite rules and instruction, spiritual teaching, which, if properly followed, will enable every man, woman, and child to enjoy the unlimited blessings of this Truth. It was important to have the spiritual facts of Being, but more important that we know how to use them.

Those who knew the Leader of the Christian Science movement, personally, will tell you of her energy, her alertness, her patience, and her wise discernment. But would you like to know what was the outstanding characteristic of this great woman? It was Love—a great, tender, compassionate love of the race. She loved humanity, all of it; appreciated and comprehended its need, and was therefore willing to stand undisturbed and undismayed in the face of slander, hatred, and persecution. If she was standing, she could not be heavy burdened, and . . . let the oppressed go free." Love for God and man was the dominant note of Mrs. Eddy's character, and this, she says, must be the motive back of all healing, both physical and mental, in Christian Science.

There are authenticated records of healings accomplished by Mrs. Eddy which all indicate and prove that this spiritual work was brought about through her understanding of God as Love, and her love for God and the race. May we not well stop and consider to what extent that same love for mankind which Mrs. Eddy manifested is entering our own thinking? Are we thinking of helping mankind as a whole, and does that impulse reflect itself in our daily lives? In her teaching she makes it very clear that true healing can be accomplished only through unselfed love. She indicates that there must be in the thought of those who heal, or who would be healed, tenderness and compassion, patience, and other Christ-like qualities. On page 365 of Science and Health she writes: "If the Scientist reaches his patient through divine Love, the healing work will be accomplished at one visit, and the disease will vanish into its native nothingness like dew before the morning sun." If the Scientist has enough Christly affection to win his own pardon, and such commendation as the Magdalen gained from Jesus, then he is Christian enough to practice scientifically and deal with his patients compassionately; and the result will correspond with the spiritual intent.

Would you like to be happy? Would you like to heal the sick—yourself and others? Then there must be love, an ever-expanding love for God, of good, a deep and tender love for mankind—not for one man or a few, but for everyone. Let your love reach out and circle the globe. Let your loving thought take in tender consideration all the sick, the sinning, and sorrowing of mankind. The great and noble characters of all time have been those who held in thought an unselfed purpose of service to the race. Christian Science teaches that every man and woman may attain the ideal of Christ manhood or character, in proportion as they demonstrate in their lives "that the real man is the reflection of divine Love."

"Thou must be true thyself, If thou the truth wouldst teach; Thy soul must overflow, if thou Another's soul wouldst reach; It needs the overflow of heart, To give the lips full speech."

"Think truly, and thy thoughts Shall be the world's famine feed; Speak truly, and each word of thine Shall be a fruitful seed; Live truly, and thy life shall be A great and noble creed."

TWELVE LOWER COUNTIES
TIES OPEN FOR DEER

Charlevoix, Emmet, Antrim, Closed for Two-Year Period

Twelve lower peninsula counties will be open to deer hunting during the coming November. These counties are all in the northeast section of the peninsula. They are: Cheboygan, Presque Isle, Otsego, Montmorency, Alpena, Kalkaska, Crawford, Oscoda, Alcona, Roscommon, Ogemaw and Isoc.

The conservation commission at its August meeting voted to close Emmet, Benzie, Leelanau, Charlevoix, and Antrim for another two years together with all counties south of the north line of townline 20, except those closed by the last legislature. Manistee, Wexford, Missaukee, Clare, Lake, Newaygo and Mason counties were closed for five years by the 1931 legislature.

The five counties ordered closed for two years longer by the commission would have automatically opened next November through the expiration of former closing orders.

The closing order for deer hunting in Grand Traverse county also expires in November 1933. In two years the commission will again consider the advisability of continuing the closing of the northern counties of the lower peninsula but the commission has no authority to open the counties closed by legislative act.

In a memorandum to the commission, the game division of the conservation department expressed an opinion that Benzie and Leelanau counties "have very few deer and it is not likely that they will become important deer hunting counties. Oceana and Mecosta have some deer but they are isolated from the other open counties."

STRANGE ANIMALS
BAFFLE EVERYONE

Found at Eastport in Bunch of Bananas—Finder Was Bitten

Amateur nature experts, or professionals for that matter, are invited by the village of Eastport to look in the window of H. E. Kauffman's general store there.

Reposing in a nest of straw are five small animals which made an unsolicited appearance a few days ago in a bunch of bananas, and, by way of greeting, bit Kauffman on the hand.

The animals are the size of mice and leap perpendicularly like kangaroos. Their tails are rat-like and twice as long as their bodies. Their ears resemble those of bats. The mother and four young, for such is the family relationship, emit shrill squeaks when disturbed and are experts at climbing. The young cling to their parents like opossums, their claws resembling the hands of a skeleton.

Mr. Kauffman, who believes the arrivals a variety of Central American mouse or squirrel, is feeding them cheese, walnuts and bananas until someone solves their identity. Dozens of resorters and townspeople have consulted their encyclopedias and dictionaries in the meantime without success.

"For the present I'm calling 'em whatizits," Kauffman said. "If no one can tell me what they are, I'll send them to the University of Michigan, or a museum."

SECOND APPLE SPRAY
IS NECESSARY NOW

State Urges All Orchards Be Treated by August 14th

The spray for the second generation of codling moth should be completed, on standard winter varieties of apples in Charlevoix county by the 14th of August. It is now too late to use arsenicals on summer and early fall varieties.

In case the fruit is to be marketed without washing with chemicals, a thorough drenching spray, using two pounds of arsenate of lead in 100 gallons of water, with or without dilute sulphur, should be applied and this should be the final arsenical spray of the season. If, on the other hand, the fruit is to go through a washer, three pounds of arsenate of lead may be used in 100 gallons of water, with or without dilute lime sulphur, and this spray may be followed by two or more similar cover sprays at intervals of two weeks.

CARDS LISTING GAME
LAW CHANGES ISSUED

A card listing all changes in the inland fishing laws as adopted by the 1931 legislature, will be issued by the fish division of the department of conservation within the next week. A supply of the cards will be sent to all conservation officers and the cards will be inserted in all fish law digests distributed in the future.

The cards will be used to familiarize the public with the new laws until next winter when a fish law digest covering the biennial period 1931-32 will be issued.

CHARACTER OF MRS. EDDY

No person of modern times has suffered greater persecution, and misrepresentation of her life and motives, than Mrs. Eddy. Her character has been misjudged and maligned, but the fact follows that no woman has ever lived who has brought more joy, happiness, and spiritual freedom into the lives of men than Mary Baker Eddy. The lesson of her spiritual teaching is making itself felt in every activity of human endeavor. She has given the world the Science of Christianity,—wonderful in itself,—but more wonderful still, she proved the Principle of this Science in practical demonstration and provided definite rules and instruction, spiritual teaching, which, if properly followed, will enable every man, woman, and child to enjoy the unlimited blessings of this Truth. It was important to have the spiritual facts of Being, but more important that we know how to use them.

Those who knew the Leader of the Christian Science movement, personally, will tell you of her energy, her alertness, her patience, and her wise discernment. But would you like to know what was the outstanding characteristic of this great woman? It was Love—a great, tender, compassionate love of the race. She loved humanity, all of it; appreciated and comprehended its need, and was therefore willing to stand undisturbed and undismayed in the face of slander, hatred, and persecution, if by standing she could "undo the heavy burdens," and "let the oppressed go free." Love for God and man was the dominant note of Mrs. Eddy's character, and this, she says, must be the motive back of all healing, both physical and mental, in Christian Science.

The authenticated records of healings accomplished by Mrs. Eddy which all indicate and prove that this spiritual work was brought about through her understanding of God as Love, and her love for God and the race.

May we not well stop and consider to what extent that same love for mankind which Mrs. Eddy manifested is entering our own thinking? Are we thinking of helping mankind as a whole, and does that impulse reflect itself in our daily lives? In her textbook she makes it very plain that healing can be accomplished only through unselfed love. She indicates that there must be in the thought of those who heal, or who would be healed, tenderness and compassion, patience, and other Christ-like qualities. On page 365 of Science and Health she writes: "If the Scientist reaches his patient through divine Love, the healing work will be accomplished at one visit, and the disease will vanish into its native nothingness like dew before the morning sunshine. If the Scientist has enough Christly affection to win his own pardon, and such commendation as the Magdalen gained from Jesus, then he is Christlike enough to practice scientifically and deal with his patients compassionately; and the result will correspond with the spiritual intent."

Would you like to be happy? Would you like to heal the sick,—yourself and others? Then there must be love, an ever-expanding love of God, of good, a deep and tender love for mankind—not for one man, or a few, but for everyone. Let your love reach out and girdle the globe. Let your loving thought take in tender consideration all the sick, the sinning, and sorrowing of mankind. The great and noble characters of all times have been those who held in thought an unselfed purpose of service to the race. Christian Science teaches that every man and woman may attain the ideal of Christ manhood or character, in proportion as they demonstrate in their lives that the real man is the reflection of divine Love.

"Thou must be true thyself.
If thou the truth wouldst teach;
Thy soul must overflow, if thou
Another's soul wouldst reach;
It needs the overflow of heart,
To give the lips full speech."

"Think truly, and thy thoughts
Shall build a world of fame;
Speak truly, and a word of thine
Shall be a fruitful seed;
Live truly, and thy life shall be
A great and noble deed."

TWELVE LOWER COUNTIES
TIES OPEN FOR DEER

Charlevoix, Emmet, Antrim, Closed for Two-Year Period

Twelve lower peninsula counties will be open to deer hunting during the coming November. These counties are all in the northeast section of the peninsula. They are: Cheboygan, Presque Isle, Otsego, Montmorency, Alpena, Kalkaska, Crawford, Oscoda, Alcona, Roscommon, Ogemaw and Isoco.

The conservation commission at its August meeting voted to close Emmet, Benzie, Leelanau, Charlevoix, and Antrim for another two years together with all counties south of the north line of townline 20, except those closed by the last legislature. Manistee, Wexford, Missaukee, Clare, Lake, Newaygo and Mason counties were closed for five years by the 1931 legislature.

The five counties ordered closed for two years longer by the commission would have automatically opened next November through the expiration of former closing orders.

The closing order for deer hunting in Grand Traverse county also expires in November 1933. In two years the commission will again consider the advisability of continuing the closing of the northern counties of the lower peninsula but the commission has no authority to open the counties closed by legislative act.

In a memorandum to the commission, the game division of the conservation department expressed an opinion that Benzie and Leelanau counties "have very few deer and it is not likely that they will become important deer hunting counties. Oceana and Mecosta have some deer but they are isolated from the other open counties."

STRANGE ANIMALS
BAFFLE EVERYONE

Found at Eastport in Bunch of Bananas—Finder Was Bitten

Amateur nature experts, or professionals for that matter, are invited by the village of Eastport to look in the window of H. E. Kauffman's general store there.

Reposing in a nest of straw are five small animals which made an unsolicited appearance a few days ago in a bunch of bananas, and, by way of greeting, bit Kauffman on the hand.

The animals are the size of mice and leap perpendicularly like kangaroos. Their tails are rat-like and twice as long as their bodies. Their ears resemble those of bats. The mother and four young, for such is the family relationship, emit shrill squeals when disturbed and are experts at climbing. The young cling to their parents like opossums, their claws resembling the hands of a skeleton.

Mr. Kauffman, who believes the arrivals a variety of Central American mouse or squirrel, is feeding them cheese, walnuts and bananas until someone solves their identity. Dozens of resorters and townspeople have consulted their encyclopedias and dictionaries in the meantime without success.

"For the present I'm calling 'em whittizits," Kauffman said. "If no one can tell me what they are, I'll send them to the University of Michigan, or a museum."

SECOND APPLE SPRAY
IS NECESSARY NOW

State Urges All Orchards Be Treated by August 14th

The spray for the second generation of codling moth should be completed, on standard winter varieties of apples in Charlevoix county by the 14th of August. It is now too late to use arsenicals on summer and early fall varieties.

In case the fruit is to be marketed without washing with chemicals, a thorough drenching spray, using two pounds of arsenate of lead in 100 gallons of water, with or without dilute sulphur, should be applied and this should be the final arsenical spray of the season. If, on the other hand, the fruit is to go through a washer, three pounds of arsenate of lead may be used in 100 gallons of water, with or without dilute lime sulphur, and this spray may be followed by two or more similar cover sprays at intervals of two weeks.

CARDS LISTING GAME
LAW CHANGES ISSUED

A card listing all changes in the inland fishing laws as adopted by the 1931 legislature, will be issued by the fish division of the department of conservation within the next week. A supply of the cards will be sent to all conservation officers and the cards will be inserted in all fish law digests distributed in the future.

The cards will be used to familiarize the public with the new laws until next winter when a fish-law digest covering the biennial period 1931-32 will be issued.

Second round—Dick Sidder def. Win Todd, 6-0, 6-0; James Bragaw won by default; Paul Winder def. John O'Neil, 6-3, 6-2; Bill Talman def. Noel Pope, 6-1, 6-4. Semi-finals—James Bragaw def. Dick Sidder, 6-1, 6-3; Bill Talman def. Paul Winder, 6-0, 6-1.

KAMP KAIRPHREE

The week at Kamp Kairphree has passed without excitement. A third Muckinac trip was taken by those who were unable to go on either of the first two, and was pronounced by all to be the best one yet. The senior group of girls went on an overnight trip to the beach of Lake Michigan. Some hiked part way, some were taken in the camp truck. All went in swimming upon arriving, and enjoyed the fun of a wavy day. The swimming hour over, supper was eaten on the sand, blankets spread, a campfire lighted, and soon all were settled to spend a moonlight night sleeping out. The group returned to camp the next morning after a breakfast on the beach.

The camp experienced the thrill of a speed boat ride one evening when Mr. Miller of Charlevoix, came and took the girls out for half-hour rides, in groups of ten, in his Chris-Craft. The juniors especially ecstatically enjoyed the racing across the lake, the sharp banked turns, and the roller-coaster effect gained when the boat rode its own waves.

The class work has continued as usual. Miss Brauns, the athletic director, expects to have her class of White Caps, the advanced swimmers, ready to take their Red Cross lifesaving tests next week. Gratifying progress has been made in the swimming classes. Where at the beginning of the summer the camp was divided rather evenly into the three groups of Red Caps—Beginners, Blue Caps, and White Caps, the majority are now White Caps, and only one little camper remains in the Red Cap class.

The evening assembly programs have been much enjoyed this week. A song contest was held between the opposing camp factions of Blues and Whites. The result was a verdict in favor of the Blues because of their pep and their extensive repertoire of songs, but it was conceded that the quality of the Whites' singing was better. An athletic contest was held another evening, and Blues and Whites vied with each other in acrobatic stunts—somesaults, etc. This time the Whites carried off the honors.

For the second time this season the camp suffered a great loss to its counsellor staff when Miss Florence Boycheff, dramatics and music counsellor, was forced to return to Ann Arbor for an operation. It is hoped, however, that she will be able to return for post-season.

Among the visitors for this week was Miss Morgana of Camp Chippewa Trail on Elk lake, accompanied by her dietitian, Miss Hartman, and four of the campers. Parents who came to visit their children were Mr. and Mrs. Putnam of Midland, and Mr. and Mrs. Salomon of Rogers City. Mrs. Bowen, the mother of Mrs. Margery Bowen Swain, the art counsellor, also spent a week end with her daughter.

The annual bazaar and chicken dinner will be held at the Congregational church, Ironton, Wednesday, August 19. Price: Adults 50 cents, children 25 cents.—Adv. 321.

CIRCUIT COURT NOW IN AUGUST SESSION

Five Violators Plead Guilty to Liquor Charges—Sentence Friday

Probation, chancery and other cases have been disposed of at the August term of circuit court for Charlevoix county, which opened Monday with Judge Parm C. Gilbert of Traverse City, presiding.

Five liquor law violators entered pleas of guilty when arraigned. They were Floyd Edison, Joe Geloski and Joe Skop, Boyne Falls, and Alfred Allison and Robert Struthers of Hayes township. Sentence will be passed Friday morning. Delos Ostrum, Charles Belha and Floyd Morgan, previously arraigned and released under bond, were also ordered to appear Friday for sentence.

Anna Saganek and son, Charles Saganek, pleaded not guilty to a liquor law charge and will stand jury trial.

Frank O'Donnell, charged with breaking and entering, Earl Boyle and Martin McDonough, charged with perjury, pleaded not guilty. The O'Donnell case is being tried before a jury at the present time. Elmer LaDuke pleaded guilty to statutory rape and will be sentenced Friday.

CAREY FAMILY REUNION WAS HELD SUNDAY

Fifteen Adults and Seventeen Grand-Children at Parental Home

The Carey family had an enjoyable reunion Sunday, August 9th. Seven years ago the family picture showed nine grand-children and fifteen adults. On Sunday, all were at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Carey except two, and the complete picture, if it had been taken, would have shown fifteen adults and seventeen grand-children.

Those present included Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Carey and Betty, Detroit; Simon B. Carey; Mr. and Mrs. Lafayette Carey and Bobby, Ellen Ann, Elda Allen and Jimmie, Washington, D. C.; Mr. and Mrs. George Papi-neau, Charles, Billy and Helen, Dearborn; Mrs. Ned Durance, Emma Lou and Marion Jane, Flint; Mr. and Mrs. Leo Carey, Marjorie Jean, Charles, Keith, Tom and twins, Billy and Bobby, Charlevoix; Miss Erma Carey and Guy Weller, Flint, who no doubt will be in the next family picture.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Carey will celebrate their fiftieth anniversary in December 1933.

Lafayette Carey and family started on their way home Monday, and Mrs. Ned Durance and children returned to Flint with Mr. Weller. The other members are staying a few days longer.

LOCAL BALL CLUB WIN FROM GAYLORD

Routed Otsego County Team Here Sunday by 16 to 3 Score

Charlevoix's baseball team kept their home record unblemished by pouncing out a 16 to 3 victory over the highly-touted Gaylord team at North Side ball park Sunday afternoon.

While Gaylord was unable to solve the offerings of Colby, local hurler, Charlevoix found little trouble in hitting Sullivan, Gaylord pitcher, who was removed early in the game.

The Otsego county team played in hard luck throughout the contest, and it might be said Charlevoix received all the "breaks" there were.

The local team takes on a tough opponent here next Sunday when they meet Conway. The Emmet county team handed Charlevoix a defeat on their home field and are conceded to be about the strongest baseball organization in this region. Charlevoix is out to even the score.

PLANS UNDER WAY FOR HORSESHOE CONTESTS

Will Be Held Last Week in August at Charlevoix Tourist Camp

Something new in the way of summer sports entertainment will be held in Charlevoix the last week in August.

At the Charlevoix auto camp, four horseshoe courts are now being constructed under supervision of Caretaker Hugh Brady. They will be regulation size, etc.

Under sponsorship of the Charlevoix Association of Commerce, the 1st annual Charlevoix Horseshoe Championships will be held. Tentative dates have been set for August 28, 29 and 30. Entries may be made up to that time with F. V. Tyler, secretary, Charlevoix Association of Commerce.

BRIDGE PARTIES AT THE INN ARE POPULAR

Coming Event of Unusual Interest is Style Show at Hotel Gardens

The regular Wednesday evening bridge parties at The Inn continue to be popular with hotel guests and summer cottagers.

Prize winners at the party last Wednesday evening were: M. Schradzki, Peoria, Ill.; Mrs. Harry Leack, Saginaw; Mrs. Herman Pnanna, Chicago, and Mr. Goldberg, New York.

The subject of the contract lecture to be given Wednesday evening, August 12th, by Mrs. Rita Friedman is "Shim Bidding."

Plans are being completed for a style show to be held at The Inn gardens. Details will be announced in next week's issue.

THOUSANDS TO ATTEND PETOSKEY CELEBRATION

Arrangements Are Completed for Indian Pageant and Marathon

Plans are completed for the huge Indian pageant and other festivities to be sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce in Petoskey, Thursday and Friday, Aug. 13 and 14. W. J. McDonald, secretary stated.

A feature of the festival will be the ceremonies connected with making Governor Wilbur M. Brucker an honorary chief of the Ottawas. The governor will come to Emmet county Friday and remain to Tuesday. He will speak at the Bay View auditorium Monday evening.

With a cast of nearly 100 Indians the pageant will be given both Thursday and Friday evenings at the high school stadium east of the city. More than 10,000 persons are expected to attend the celebrations.

As part of the program, the Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring a 10-mile marathon run at 2 p. m. Friday. The race is sanctioned by the Michigan Association of the A. A. U. It is open to all amateur runners in the state.

Concerts will be given evenings by Petoskey's 35-piece municipal band at the stadium.

MICHIGAN OPEN IS WON BY DETROITER

Chuck Kocis, Winner of Amateur Title Here, New Champ

The open golf crown of Michigan now rests firmly on the youthful but worthy head of Charles (Chuck) Kocis, Detroit's 18-year-old amateur sensation, who last week defeated Tommy Armour, British open champion, in an 18-hole play-off for the honor.

Young Kocis won from Armour by playing steadily golf at all times, which the "Black Scot," one of the world's best linksmen, slipped slightly on two occasions. Those two slips were enough, and Kocis came home a winner by one stroke. He had a 73, one over par, for the eighteen holes, while the Detroit pro took 74.

Golf titles are not new to the Detroit youngster, however, for he was last year's state amateur titlist, and previous to that had been high school champion of the state, when he played with the Redford, Detroit, high school team. He won the Great Lakes amateur title in 1928, and this year, after losing in the state amateur tournament at Charlevoix, came back to lead the field in qualifying for the national amateur tournament.

CHICAGO YOUTH DIED FROM HEART ATTACK

Eugene Gould Stricken While Bathing at Menomona Beach

Eugene Gould, Jr., 20, of Chicago, died last Wednesday afternoon while in bathing off Menomona beach, at the head of Little Traverse bay.

The youth is reported to have gone into the water shortly after having lunch. Friends swimming with him saw him throw up his hands, seemingly in great pain, and sink beneath the water. They rushed to his assistance and lifted the body to the diving raft, immediately. Doctors were summoned, Petoskey fire department's first aid squad responded, boy scout first aid experts assisted and the pulmotor was brought, but he failed to respond to treatment. He was given up for dead at about 4 o'clock.

The parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Gould, 6121 Kenmore avenue, Chicago, were notified, and the father, who was in Cleveland, came Thursday morning for the body and accompanied the remains home.

The youth had come to Belvedere resort to visit Mr. and Mrs. George A. Shauh. Wednesday he drove to Wetsquonung to visit at the cottage of Mrs. Otto H. Lindenberg and from there drove to Menomona beach for a swim.

BRUCKER PLEADS MORE CONFIDENCE

IN AMERICAN BUSINESS, STATE AND FEDERAL GOVERNMENTS

Also Urges Awakening in War on Crime in Speech Before Crowd at Bay View Assembly

Speaking before a cross-section of American business mind, with cosmopolitan Bay View, where men and women gather from the Atlantic and Pacific and from the Canadian border to the Rio Grande, as his audience, Gov. Brucker Monday night pleaded for a return of confidence in American business life and in government.

He also urged a great manifestation of support for President Hoover and American politics, at home and abroad, and an awakening in the war on crime, that Michigan and America might be rid of the gangster, the liquor traffic, dope and all their companionate evils.

Calls for Leaders

He urged that the capitalist or merchant who is able to inspire confidence step boldly to the front in leading America back to the firm business foundation it is so capable of maintaining and should have, but he said he did not want this to bring a return to the drunken orgy of gambling which, he believes, was in part, at least, responsible for the current depression.

The governor declared he was returning to Lansing Tuesday to take the lead in one of the most determined drives on crime the state has had in a long time, and he called on local officials and citizens everywhere to rally to the standard of Michigan's campaign. He urged a moral awakening in Michigan which will drive criminals forever from their fields of endeavor. He favored, he said, not driving criminals to some other state, but the ridding of the state of them through hard, determined and relentless warfare which will bring quick capture and punishment. He promised to continue his program of no pardons and no paroles for the gangster, who must pay his debt to society.

New Highway Group

Michigan is this week starting off its first group of 40 highway patrolmen, which will be the initial unit of a large group of men backed by state authority who will see that courtesy and unselfishness return to Michigan highways. They also will serve as aides to local authorities in handling local crime situations.

On the question of taxation the governor declared that real estate and business must forever bear its just burden of taxation because of the support and protection government gives it. But, he added, it is time that the burden was equalized and that other means be found to raise government funds. For economy in government he urged that action begin at home, where 90 per cent of the tax burden is spent.

He took time to tell his audience of nearly two thousand summer visitors and home folk about Michigan and the wonders it offers the tourist, and welcomed the tourist to Michigan.

NEGRO KILLED IN PETOSKEY BRAWL SUNDAY

Stabbed by Clyde Spencer, Former Colored Cook in Local Hotel

A fight between two negroes, presumably over a gambling debt, brought death to one at Petoskey Sunday. The other, Clyde Spencer, former cook at the Charlevoix Beach hotel, was returned to Petoskey Monday from Bear Lake, where he was captured late Sunday by state police.

The victim is Charles Johnson, stabbed over the heart. He was dead when removed to Petoskey hospital. A deep wound was made and he died from loss of blood.

The trouble occurred Sunday afternoon at about 2 o'clock in front of the Johnson home on Washington street. A witness, said to be a Mr. Welford, and the victim were out in front of the house when Spencer drove up. It is claimed that a knife was used during the trouble and that it belonged to Spencer. The latter will claim self-defense, when brought to trial, according to local officers.

Harvest Dinner

Sunday, August 23rd

STYLE SHOW WILL BE A BRILLIANT AFFAIR

Exclusive Northern Michigan Shops to Display at The Inn Gardens

The style show, to be held Saturday, August 22nd, at The Inn Gardens, promises to be the smartest social event of the summer season at Charlevoix. Showings of late summer and early fall styles will be displayed by northern Michigan most exclusive shops.

The attractive young debutante, Miss Mary Louis Becht of Cincinnati, Ohio, will gracefully model some of the representative styles for Mrs. Eugene Gray Shop of Harbor Springs, and the charming young matron, Mrs. J. C. Callanan of Louisville, Ky., will also be a special mannequin.

Polly Kay Shop of Charlevoix, who are displaying attractive sport and beach attire, will have as their mannequins three pretty young sub-debutantes, the Misses Betty Sloman, Louise Frank and Joann Disette, and the wee little tots, Marjorie Wood and Louis Straus will display children's beach attire.

Peck & Pegk of Petoskey, will have the attractive and petite Miss Katherine McManus as their special mannequin.

The style show will start at 4:00 p. m., and the regular tea dance will continue after the show.

CHARLEVOIX WILL DISCUSS CLOCKS

AUGUST 28TH EASTERN STAND-ARD BECOMES LEGAL TIME

Matter, However, Optional With Communities and Will Be Thrown Open for Discussion

With a new state law becoming effective Friday, August 28th, establishing eastern standard time as the legal and official time for the State of Michigan, Charlevoix will soon begin figuring what it will do.

At Monday night's meeting of the city council, the matter will probably be brought before Mayor Arthur Bergeson and members of the council for an expression of their sentiment on the matter.

It is quite probable there will be a gallery, and, in fact, one is invited. Lines have been drawn over a period of years here in Charlevoix and some very definite ideas have been expressed regarding the system of city's time, central standard and eastern standard time, in effect in most Michigan communities.

It is quite probable that spectators, as well as councilmen, will be invited to express themselves Monday night. What effect, if any, the discussions will have on the future selection of time for Charlevoix, is problematical.

While the State of Michigan has legally adopted eastern standard time for the state, adoption by various communities is a matter of local option. After August 28th, eastern standard time will apply to legal documents, courts, state and federal departments located in the state. Each community, as heretofore, will be privileged to select the method of time most popular in the local districts.

Many local people have expressed themselves as favoring eastern standard time, but on the other hand, the proposition has been voted down repeatedly in the past. Some surrounding cities use what is termed fast time, but in resort towns such as Charlevoix, the present method has been found more popular for various reasons.

LOCAL ENTRANTS WIN AT HARBOR REGATTA

Julius Gilbert, Charles Fox and John Knight Place in Races

Entries of Charlevoix summer residents walked away with several runabout races at the big Harbor Springs regatta held Sunday.

In the 50 h. p. class for runabouts, Julius Gilbert's entry took second place, according to a report in the Petoskey Evening News. Two local boats placed first and second in the 225 h. p. class. "Marion," owned and driven by Charles Fox, St. Louis, Mo., winner at the Charlevoix regatta last Sunday, was first, and John Knight's "Barbary Nights" was second.

Vane Smith, secretary of the Charlevoix boat club, assisted the Harbor Springs officials as chief timer, an office assigned by the Mississippi Valley Power Boat association.

MICHIGAN RIVIERA TENNIS TOURNAMENT ON AT INN COURTS

JOHN HENNESSEY, INDIANAPOLIS, IND., AND HARRIS
M. COGGESHALL, DES MOINES, IOWA, HEAD FIELD

Entries in Women's Singles and Junior Divisions Strong—Early Rounds in All Divisions Well Under Way — Semi-Finals
Will Be Played Saturday Afternoon and Finals Sunday

Play in the 6th annual Michigan Riviera tennis championships, held at The Inn clay courts under auspices of the Charlevoix Tennis club and sanction of the Western Lawn Tennis association, got under way Monday morning.

While the entry is somewhat lighter than previous years, it equals the 1930 field and as far as quality is concerned, Charlevoix has never entertained a more outstanding aggregation of tennis talent.

Heading the list of eight seeded players is John Hennessey of Indianapolis, Ind., five times champion. Hennessey twice won the Western Michigan title here, and the Riviera crown three successive years. Seeded second to the Houston star is Harris M. Coggeshall, Des Moines, Ia., Western association champion and a nationally ranking player. Others in their order are: Jack Harris, Chicago; William Erwin, Grand Rapids; Walter Hayes, Muir Rogers, W. E. Parkhill and Sol H. Gould, all Chicagoans.

Topping the upper bracket of forty entrants is Hennessey, along with Erwin, Parkhill and Rogers. Coggeshall heads the lower bracket and other seeded players are Jack Harris, Walter T. Hayes and Sol H. Gould.

Outstanding among the entries in women's singles are Miss Catherine Wolf, Indianapolis, Ind., who holds the Indiana and Illinois state titles, and Miss Lucy Haggerty, Chicago, the defending champion. Others in the field of twenty include Sarah Hinde, Lake Forest, Ill., Mrs. Wm. B. McIlwaine, Chicago, and Mrs. Dan Caulkins, Detroit.

A full bracket of sixteen have entered junior singles, and around twenty teams in men's doubles. Play in all divisions was in progress today.

MANISTEE BOAT RACES PLANNED

Central Divisional Outboard Event
Set for August 21, 22 and 23

The second most important outboard racing event of the year will be held in Manistee, Aug. 21, 22 and 23, bringing together drivers from 28 states to compete in the Central Divisional Outboard Championship races.

There will be both amateur and professional races in classes A, B, C, D, E, and F, and 150 or more drivers will be brought together. Mile trials will be held on the 21st, and if necessary, on the 24th, while the 22nd and 23rd will be given over to competition racing.

It is expected that some of the races will bring together 40 or more drivers—the largest field in the history of outboard racing.

Races will be held over a measured course on Lake Manistee and every foot of the course can be viewed from the stands which will be erected on the shore. Arrangements are being made to conveniently park all cars and take care of any size crowd.

Regatta officials are E. A. Doty, sales manager of Century Boat Co., general chairman; O. R. Bramble, secretary; C. E. Foy, Manistee County Savings Bank, treasurer. Reservations can be made through Henry Nelson, Manistee.

BELVEDERE GOLF TOURNAMENT STARTED

THREE ST. LOUISANS POST LOW MEDAL QUALIFYING SCORES

Match Play in All Flights Wednesday and Thursday With Finals Friday—Tennis Tournery Next

John Ferguson, R. Vernon Clark Jr., and C. B. Fox Jr., St. Louis, Mo., matched strokes at 81 on the 72 par Belvedere course to post low qualifying scores in the annual Belvedere handicap tournament now under way.

Entering the championship flight along with the low medal scorers were Jack Curby, William Connett, J. W. Ferguson of St. Louis, Mo., John Knight, Grand Rapids, and C. S. Boucher, Chicago.

Handicaps are based on two-thirds the difference between par and their qualifying scores.

Others in the field of thirty contestants will compete in flights of eight, arranged in accordance with their qualifying score, as follows:

Class A—W. B. Kinnard, Indianapolis, Russell Lortz, Palmer Clarkson, Joe Ferguson, C. S. Fox, E. C. Lathrop, St. Louis, Mo.

Class B—J. W. Fristoe, J. M. Travis, E. A. Morse, J. J. Schaffley, J. M. Barick, J. F. Hickey, F. A. Leeland, St. Louis, Mo., Chas. Roemer, Indianapolis, Ind.

Class C—Joe Muckerman, Jr., Chas. Ferguson, J. E. Muckerman, A. D. Leland, R. Vernon Clark, Thos. Poleman, St. Louis, Mo., Forsythe Tramel, J. R. Buck, Chicago.

The following women qualified for match play: Mrs. J. R. Ingham, Miss Lucille Barden, Virginia Pratt, Mrs. W. B. Kinnard, Mrs. C. E. Lathrop, Mrs. Hodge, Mrs. John Owen.

Match play started Wednesday morning and will continue Thursday. Finals in all flights will be played Friday.

Up to the present time eighteen entrants have been received in the annual Belvedere Club tennis tournament which opens Thursday, August 20th. Entries are still open and many more will probably sign up before the tournament starts.

MIAMI MAN MAKES RECORD BASS CATCH

Limit of Ten Small Mouth Taken
Monday from Lake Charlevoix

A record catch of small mouth bass were taken from the waters of Lake Charlevoix early Monday morning by George S. Duncann of Miami Beach, Fla., clerk at The Inn.

Duncann and a friend brought in the limit of ten, ranging between three and five pounds in weight.

Deep trolling for mackinaw trout, a sport which has made Elk Rapids famous, is also being tried out with success in Lake Charlevoix. Either a heavily weighted or a copper line is being used to troll deep. The favorite grounds seem to be from a distance off Hemingway Point east on a line towards Boyne City, in a locality known to be the deepest part of the lake.

BRUCKER HONORED AT BANQUET HERE

GUEST OF LEGION AND COUNTY REPUBLICAN COMMITTEE

Enjoyed Boat Trip—Reception and Banquet at Belvedere — Gave Fine Address at School Gym

Charlevoix was host to Governor Wilbur M. Brucker last Saturday on his first official visit to this county. The executive came on invitation of American Legion posts, and the county Republican committee after repeated urgent requests.

Arriving at the McMillan residence on Park avenue Saturday afternoon in the governor's party were Mrs. Brucker, Sen. and Mrs. Calvin Campbell and their son and daughter-in-law from Indian River, and Rep. and Mrs. Louis Anderson of Northport.

Led by the Legion drum and bugle corps, the executive party marched down Park avenue and Bridge street to the city dock, where they boarded the yacht "Sylvia-Gee," owned by Mr. and Mrs. S. T. Gilbert, Detroit, Charlevoix summer residents.

The visiting guests saw local coast guardsmen drill in the Lake Michigan channel and later enjoyed a pleasure trip down the north and south arms of Lake Charlevoix. Legion members made the trip also aboard George Smith's yacht.

A large crowd was on hand for the reception held at the Belvedere casino, and the banquet at the Belvedere hotel was attended by 150 county citizens and others from surrounding points. Dr. F. E. McMillan acted as toastmaster, introducing the governor, members of his party and other distinguished visiting guests.

Speaking before a large audience at the school gymnasium later in the evening, Governor Brucker gave what everyone termed a wonderful address. He lauded the northern Michigan region and the entire state for its enterprise in promoting the resort industry, now ranked as one of the state's largest. Various entertainment events, designed to furnish activity for summer visitors and advertise Michigan to the country were enumerated and praised. Governor Brucker outlined Michigan's vast resources, its many attractions, etc., and prophesied a great increase in tourist trade during the next decade. To substantiate his statement, the governor cited the great increase in attendance at state parks, which has increased over three thousand per cent in the past few years.

Referring to Michigan's crime situation, Governor Brucker pleaded for more respect of state laws. He deplored what he termed a slackening of moral support on the part of Michigan citizens in justice. "The only way to stop crime," the governor stated, "is to let the criminal know that he will be punished to the fullest extent of the law if apprehended, and that there is no escape from the hand of justice." He said that during his term of office no prisoner had been paroled from a state penal institution, and declared he will continue that policy as long as he is in office. He lauded the state police for their influence in increasing respect for the law and stated the personnel of the organization was to be increased.

Governor Brucker was introduced by Dr. B. J. Beuker of East Jordan, who was in the governor's division, the 32nd, during the World War. The executive paid a glowing tribute to Lee C. Allard, blind commander of the Charlevoix American Legion, through whose efforts much of the program was planned.

PLANS PROGRESSING FOR HORSESHOE MEET

First Annual Open Championships to Be Held Here August 28-30

Plans are going forward for the first annual Charlevoix Open Horseshoe championships to be held at the tourist camp on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, August 28, 29 and 30.

A battery of four new horseshoe courts are now under construction there to handle this and future tournaments, and furnish entertainment for visiting campers.

According to present plans, qualifying rounds will be held Friday and Saturday, with finals Sunday.

Entries may be made at any time prior to the opening date with F. V. Tyler, secretary, Charlevoix Association of Commerce.

MARL BEDS CONTAIN LIME FOR ACID SOIL

Michigan Has Plentiful Supply of This Element Needed for Alfalfa

Michigan has many thousands of acres of soil which need lime before they will successfully grow alfalfa but the state also has an inexhaustible supply of marl which will correct the acidity of these soils, according to the agricultural engineering department of Michigan State college.

Some of the marl deposits are so shallow and so thickly covered with muck that it is impractical to remove the marl, but many beds have been located where it is possible to remove the marl at low cost. Almost every county in the state has at least one marl bed which will supply this soil builder.

THE MACHINE AGE APPLIED TO CRIME

Methods Employed by Criminals Demand New Police Methods, Bankers Association Official Declares.

USE by criminals of modern technological developments such as automobiles, machine guns and airplanes have given them advantages which old-fashioned local and disconnected police systems are powerless to combat and the situation demands the broader modern protection of State police systems, James E. Baum, deputy manager American Bankers Association in charge of its crime investigating department, declares in the protective section of the American Bankers Association Journal.

"The Association's Protective Committee has repeatedly urged the advantages of extending state police systems beyond the nine eastern States which have enjoyed this protection for many years," Mr. Baum says. "The time has passed when we can safely rely upon the disconnected and often-times ineffective methods of local and county police. The advent of automobiles and better roads, to say nothing of machine guns and airplanes, demands the same wide latitude in authority and field of operation be given the police no less than the criminal."

Statewide Police Plans Best He quotes a Kansas judge as saying that "our system of sheriffs and constables was not designed to meet present-day conditions. As a system of law enforcement, it is as out of date as old common-law pleading, both evolved about the same time. The semi-military, highly trained State police officer owing allegiance only to State laws, is the most effective agency for order yet brought forth."

"Every year the robbery experience of banks in the nine States having State police proves the merits and urgent need of State-wide police protection," says Mr. Baum. "Last year, for example, there were 38 bank holdups in Connecticut, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island and West Virginia where State police forces are organized," he continues. "Although this total is exceptionally high due to an unprecedented number of robberies in New Jersey and Pennsylvania, it is little more than half the number of daylight bank robberies suffered in 1930 in Illinois alone. Furthermore, this total of 38 robberies in the nine eastern States was exceeded in California, where there were 42 bank holdups, and in Ohio where banks suffered 40 similar attacks."

Holdups Fewer Under New Plan "If we extend the comparison of the robbery experience in these States enjoying State-wide police protection to the record in eight central and four western States, we find a total of 304 bank holdups in the latter group. The odds, therefore, continue to be not less than 8 to 1 against the banks in these western States, where they are denied the speedy, coordinated action of State police and their modern means of transportation and communication. The same comparison holds true of the farmers' losses through robberies of livestock, poultry, produce, etc."

"Moreover, these State police forces invariably yield no operating profit in the amount of fines collected and the value of stolen property recovered. Bankers interested in cutting down the cost of robbery insurance might well consider this job of extending State police systems as a timely co-operative service to be undertaken alongside the farmers."

BANK EMPLOYEES SENT TO SCHOOL

Modern Scientific Financial and Management Methods Taught Throughout Country.

THE American Institute of Banking Section of the American Bankers Association conducts 223 chapters, or local banking schools in as many cities throughout the country. One large city chapter has almost 6,000 students, who are combining formal theoretical and practical banking studies with their daily working experience and other places have these schools with a thousand to two thousand students. In addition there are fifty study groups in small communities with some 6,000 enrollments. All told over 42,000 bank people are taking these courses—not only clerks, but junior officers and even senior officers in some of the more advanced work.

The work of the Institute has been declared to be "a dynamic economic force, pouring into banking a broadening, deepening stream of better qualified bankers than could be developed merely by the daily workings of banking itself." and it has been suggested that every bank worker should be compelled to combine Institute courses with his work. A good many banks now make it a part of the contract of employment that no employee shall undertake to render himself proficient and trustworthy in banking by taking Institute work and others make successful progress in this educational promotion. Plans are being developed to make the benefits of banking education through this organization more generally available in the rural districts.

Improvement is usually the last resort.

TIRE VALUES versus TIRE DEFINITIONS

WE KNOW that car owners are interested in real TIRE VALUES, but are not particularly interested in tire definitions which manufacturers and distributors of special mail-order tires had the National Better Business Bureau adopt that they could use to their advantage in their advertising.

When the National Better Business Bureau realized that the public was being misled—and an attempt was being made to keep the truth about real tire values from car owners, they issued a bulletin July 10th which in substance retracted their sponsorship of tire definitions.

Firestone extra values are the result of great savings in buying—great savings in efficient and economical manufacturing and distributing, plus the patented process of Gum-Dipping—the patented two extra cord plies under the tread—and a more efficient non-skid tread, which makes them safer than any other tire.

We have sections cut from Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires and Special-Brand Mail-Order Tires, and invite you to come in and judge for yourself the extra values we give you—values that you can see and understand instead of "definitions." Then we know you too will buy Firestone Tires as thousands of other car owners have done to the extent that during May, June and July they bought more Firestone Tires than during any like period in history—Drive in today!

AUTO DRIVERS SLOW TO RENEW LICENSES

Over Half Million Must Make Application in Few Weeks

Over a half million Michigan automobile drivers will be unable to drive after Nov. 1 unless there is a great increase in the number of applications for licenses within the next few weeks.

With about ten weeks remaining before Nov. 1, automobile drivers are apparently planning to wait until the "last minute" before applying for the new license. Every driver whose old license was issued before Jan. 1, 1925 must obtain a new one by Nov. 1, and Department of State records indicate that 500,000 is a conservative estimate of the number who may be prevented from driving, if applications continue to be made at the present rate.

President Hoover's praise of advertising funds unanimous agreement among the newspaper editors, even hard-bolled Democrats admitting he is right.

TWO GREAT SKY SPECTACLES AT MICHIGAN FAIR

POST AND GATTY, HEROES OF GLOBE FLIGHT, SIGNED WITH FAMOUS PLANE

Autogiro Race Also Scheduled For The Closing Day's Program At Detroit

Two big air events for which arrangements have been concluded have intensified interest in the enlarged Michigan State Fair and Exposition to such a degree that record crowds are well in sight.

Not only is a great turnout from the metropolitan Detroit section and many other Michigan points assured, but sizeable delegations are in prospect from neighboring states, according to Fair Secretary John L. McNamara.

For the opening day, Sunday, Sept. 6, leading city and state dignitaries and some of the foremost aeronautical figures in the country will be on hand to welcome Wiley Post and Harold Gatty, globe-circling heroes, who will fly their famous plane, Winnie Mae, to the fair grounds.

An impressive air escort is planned for this occasion with Edward F. Schlee, himself an aviator of world-wide renown, in charge of the reception ceremonies.

Saturday, Sept. 12, will see a thrilling autogiro contest with five to 10 planes of this type taking part. The infield of the race track at the fair grounds is rapidly being put in shape for these events and greatly augmented parking facilities provided to handle the crowds.

With championship field and track events also scheduled for the opening day under the joint auspices of the fair, Michigan Amateur Athletic Union and Detroit Department of Recreation, a sacred concert in the grove during the afternoon and at night in the Coliseum by the full Detroit Symphony Orchestra, which has been engaged for the entire week, and outstanding entertainment features, attention of the public is focused on the fair.

CHAIN, GROUP AND BRANCH BANKING

Bankers' Commission Describes Differences Among Various Kinds of Multi-Office Banks.

THE Economic Policy Commission of the American Bankers Association has made the following statement on various types of banking systems operating through more than one office:

"We find that there are recognized in the banking world three types of multiple banking organizations, namely, chain bank systems, group bank systems and branch bank systems. They are alike solely in respect to the fact that each embraces under some form of common control or influence two or more banking places, but here the similarity stops since there are essential differences in organization and administration, especially as between branch banking and the chain and group forms.

"Chain banking is recognized as probably the simplest definite form of multiple banking organization. Generally speaking, this term refers to merely a string of individual separately chartered banks owned or controlled through stock holdings by one or more common individuals, sometimes without public knowledge of the common ownership. Frequently the controlled banks are not administered as a coherent whole under the guidance of a central, publicly known head office, but rather each bank is run as a separate unit bank in accord with the wishes of the dominant interest. In some cases, however, there is a central, publicly known control with a head office that formally supervises the operations of all the banks controlled, and this is perhaps the more desirable arrangement. It lacks, however, the definite legal responsibility that a corporate head organization would have. Each bank in a chain system operates under its own capital and there is ordinarily no binding relation among members of the string.

Group Responsibility

"Group banking, on the other hand, is a system in which, while the member banks are separately chartered and operate as individual units with their own capital, control is exercised through a publicly known corporate organization under the direction of a responsible head office. It openly holds stock control of the member banks and is morally and legally responsible as the chief stockholder for their administration and the statutory share of their liabilities. An essential feature is the fact that an organization of this kind is publicly known, which creates a large degree of responsibility to public opinion. This is true because anything of an undesirable nature developing in one member of the group would create public distrust of the whole group. Therefore its sense of self-preservation as a group, if nothing else, tends to make it enforce standards of conduct throughout the members of the group and to assume responsibilities for them beyond what mere legal responsibilities would bring about.

"Branch banking is completely distinct from the two foregoing forms of multiple organization in that it does not consist of a string, chain or group of independent banks, for there is only one chartered bank in a branch organization and the extensions from it are all in the form of sub-offices without separate capital or corporate existence. For everything that is done through these offices the bank itself is just as responsible legally and in every other sense of the word as though it were done over its own counters in its head office."

Bankers' Help

In a report on banker-farmer work, H. Lane Young, Chairman Agricultural Commission, American Bankers Association, shows that during the past year there were 499 meetings reported in 38 states, with a total attendance of 38,578. County key bankers numbering 2,541 were appointed in 39 states. Thirty-four states reported an expenditure by banks of $105,926 for developing better agricultural practices.

Special banker-farmer activities engaged in by banks in 27 states numbered 8,493, while 7,140 projects or farm programs were carried on by rural people through the influence of bankers.

For three years the Agricultural Commission has given special recognition to the state reporting the highest record of accomplishments and this year Georgia achieved first place with its banker-farmer agricultural program. Representatives of the Georgia State College and officials of the Georgia Bankers' Association developed the methods and policies which made it possible for Georgia to carry out an effective program which emphasized "directed credit from banks for producing crops on the live-at-home basis."

SOME DEPRESSIONS WORSE THAN THIS

By ROME C. STEPHENSON
President American Bankers Association

ONE of the most significant aspects of the present business period is that, while we had a speculative panic and while we have had a general economic breakdown yet we have not had any semblance of a financial panic, such as occurred in 1907, and in other years when the credit and monetary machinery broke down and we had money panics, suspension of specie payments and kindred disasters.

None of these elements of a true financial panic has been present in this depression of the 1930's. At no time was the banking structure as a whole shaken, despite the unprecedented rate of small bank failures that it had to absorb. At no time was the banking and credit machinery unable to extend support to the panic-stricken and broken stock markets and cooperation to all kinds of business and manufacturing. Anyone would have been a wise prophet who could have foretold that our banking and credit structure would stand up so well under conditions so bad.

Finance Taking Cues

And banking and corporate finance in this period of depression are undeniably taking their portions of short rations and enforced self-denial that the nation's need for readjustment demands. Interest rates on money, yields on securities and dividends on corporate investment have all dropped to levels that constitute drastic reductions in the compensation of capital. These are but part of the necessary economic readjustments that all phases of the country's working life must go through before a general revival of business activity can start.

It is my belief—indeed it is my hope—that the tempo of the next cycle of prosperity will be somewhat more moderate than the mad whirl of jazz that brought the last one to a close. I think it will be agreed that the worst aspect of the collapse of that period of false prosperity is the condition of insecurity for employment which it caused. Unemployment is our greatest public problem today.

Unemployment is the worst wage cut that the worker can suffer. It is the worst cause of stagnation that business has to strive against. The sooner we can get our masses of workers back into jobs on almost any terms the better it will be both for capital and labor.

TRUST BANKING SPREADING FAST

Government Official Shows That This Type of Financial Service Is Enlarging Its Field

SPECTACULAR growth of trust service in the banking field is reflected in the national banking system, Aubrey B. Carter, in charge of Trust department supervision in the office of Comptroller of the Currency, Washington, D. C., brings out in an article in the American Bankers Association Journal.

"At the close of the 1930 fiscal year there were 2,473 national banks with trust powers," he says. "Their banking resources aggregated $23,529,100,000, which represented 34 per cent of the number of banks and 80 per cent of the total banking resources of the 7,252 national banks. Trust departments had been established by 1,329 of those banks which were administering 79,900 individual trusts with trust assets aggregating $4,473,000,000, and in addition were administering 11,500 corporate trusts and acting as trustees for outstanding note and bond issues aggregating $11,802,700,000.

"These figures represent an increase during a four-year period of 416, or 22 per cent, in the number of national banks authorized to exercise trust powers; an increase of 725, or 66 per cent, in the number of banks actively administering trusts; an increase of 65,370, or 250 per cent, in the number of trusts being administered; an increase of $3,500,000,000, or 385 per cent, in the volume of individual trust assets under administration, and an increase of $9,340,000,000, or 379 per cent, in the volume of bond issues outstanding for which these institutions were acting as trustees."

These facts, he concludes are "a striking testimonial of the growing public recognition of the desirability of the corporate fiduciary in the settlement of estates and the administration of trusts."

STATE FAIR TO OFFER TRIBUTE TO WOMANHOOD

STYLE SALON, HOME-MAKING EXHIBITS WILL ATTRACT INTEREST

A fitting tribute to womanhood will be paid by the Michigan State Fair and Exposition in its portrayal of progress Sept. 6 to 12 at Detroit.

In developing the general scheme for a fair this year that will more faithfully reflect the state's preeminence in certain major lines by welcoming industry into the family of exhibits the governor's advisory committee has devoted considerable thought to women's interests.

Advancement in the art of home-making will be typified by a wealth of exhibits. The most up-to-date equipment for lightening the burden of housekeeping, to whose manufacture Michigan is in the forefront, should prove of special attraction to the feminine visitors at the fair and exposition.

A Style Salon embodying striking effects and ranking with the finest ever staged in the country is now in the process of development. Plans for this outstanding feature call for a novel setting to display the latest modes with a nationally known director in charge.

PURSES ATTRACT HARNESS ENTRIES

INTEREST IS KEEN IN EARLY CLOSING EVENTS

Interest in the harness racing program at the enlarged 1931 Michigan State Fair and Exposition, now the official title of the annual Wolverine exhibition, will be just as keen as ever, if the imposing list of entries for the early closing events is any criterion.

Starting Labor Day, September 7, with a 2:23 trot for the Manager's Trophy and a purse of $1,000, there will be five days of attractive racing

Ram Truck Will Visit Charlevoix

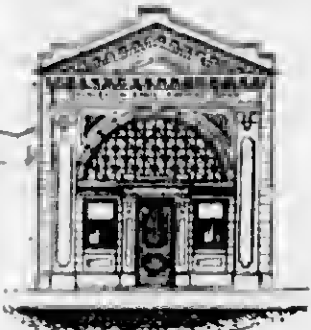

All sheep owners will be interested in the announcement that the "ram truck" will again visit the county within the next three or four weeks with a load of splendid quality pure bred rams. This truck is sponsored by the different breed associations cooperating with the Michigan State college.

Any person interested in buying a ram is cordially invited to inform County Agent Mellenkamp at Bayne City, so that a ram can be secured to meet the request in quality and price. These rams are personally selected by a representative of Michigan State college, and are guaranteed in every particular.

This year the rams are somewhat cheaper in price, being all the way from $20 up to $35 or $40. They can be obtained cheaper, from the truck than by personal orders as the overhead is cut down to a minimum. This will give you a splendid opportunity to get the greatest value for your money, so please inform your county agent at once if you wish further particulars, or wish to have this outlined more in detail for you.

FINAL CONCERTS AT INTERLOCHEN BOWL

National Band to Bid Adieu at Afternoon Performance

Audiences next Sunday will have their last opportunity of the 1931 season to hear the music of the masters played for them by these twin organizations, the National High School orchestra and the band, beside the twin lakes in the famous Interlochen bowl.

These two concerts will offer the finest programs of the highly successful season of music, coming as they do at the culmination of eight weeks of intensive study under the finest symphonic teachers and coaches and under the leadership of outstanding conductors.

Farewell Concerts

In the afternoon the National High School band, conducted by Albert Austin Harding, director of bands of the University of Illinois, will play their farewell concert. Their numbers will include marches, two excerpts from Wagner, the Ballet Music from "Faust" (Gounod). A descriptive number by Ketelbey, with two additional numbers by the combined orchestra and band of the camp, a striking feature which will be heard this time only during the entire summer, conclude this excellent performance.

When the orchestra makes its final bow at the evening concert under the direction of Dr. Joseph E. Maddy, it will have a soloist and assisting artist, Vladimir Bakaleinikoff, who, in addition to being a famous conductor, also bears an international reputation as a marvelous violinist. He will play the Handel concerto for viola and orchestra. The appealing Symphony No. 4 (Tchaikowsky) will open the program, with the Spanish Caprice (Rimsky-Korsakow) and the Liszt "Preludes" concluding the evening and (to the sorrow of music lovers far and near) the 1931 season.

Willys-Knight Automobile Won by Neil Pritchard, Detroit

The carnival dance sponsored by the local post of the American Legion, which was held at the Moonlight Gardens, last Monday night, proved a complete success.

The lucky number that won the Willys Six was held by Neil Pritchard, 307 Mason street, an employee of the Colonial club. Mr. Pritchard was not present at the dance, but was notified shortly afterwards, of his good fortune.

There was an excellent attendance at the dance and a lot of fun was enjoyed. While the returns from the sale of tickets were not quite up to expectations, members of the post are well satisfied with the results of the venture.

CHARLEVOIX WINS
FROM CONWAY NINE

Even Count With Visitors Sunday by Copping 8 to 5 Verdict

The Charlevoix Indians added another to their string of home victories Sunday afternoon by defeating the fast Conway nine 8 to 5 in a good game before the largest crowd of the season.

Conway took the lead early in the game when Wolgast hit a home run into right field in the second inning. Charlevoix scored two in the fifth, but Conway led again when they counted three runs in the sixth and another in the seventh. Charlevoix forged ahead with four runs in their half of the seventh and were never again headed. They added two more in the eighth inning.

Conway collected nine hits off Colby, who struck out ten men. Keith Miller, who Sunday lost his first game with Conway, allowed only seven hits and struck out nine.

The Charlevoix team takes on the Ellsworth Packers at North Side park in their next home game Sunday.

Hudson Special Sedan

The Hudson Motor Car Company announces the addition of the Hudson Special Sedan to its complete line of models. The new model is a three-window, long wheelbase sedan providing extra roominess and comfort and including many special features in the list price. Selective Free Wheeling is offered as optional equipment.

Special features include six wire wheels fitted with snap-on stainless steel spoke covers, six white side tires and two chromium plated metal tire covers. Two front fender wells are fitted with chromium plated locking arm bolts. Special spare tire locks are fitted into the wheels.

The windshield is of shatterproof glass and the windshield frame and hinge and two windshield cleaner arms are chromium plated.

Chromium plated brackets on each rear fender support the tail lamp and stop light with a chromium plated license plate bracket mounted on the front bumper. Bonnet locks, handles and bonnet hinges are chromium plated. Special de luxe type trimming is provided throughout the interior.

The walnut finish instrument panel is matched by walnut finished shifter and free wheeling lever balls when free wheeling is specified; the steering gear bracket is nickel plated.

Two inside visors and foot pedal pads are standard equipment.

Cigar lighter, ash receivers, foot and arm rests, robe rail, assist straps and other interior details have been specially treated to harmonize artistically with the decorative scheme.

The body coloring is a light ocean gray with white striping set off by dark gray fenders and body belt. Headlamp brackets are painted to match fenders.

Designed to combine the functions of a luxurious touring and town sedan, the Special Sedan is the fifteenth Hudson body model to be offered to the public.

STATE SPUD CROP NEEDS MORE RAIN

VERNE CHURCH REPORTS THAT
WHEAT AND RYE ARE FINE

Other Crops Have Suffered from Dry Weather—Production More Than Last Season

Michigan will have a record crop of wheat and rye, but lack of rainfall has seriously impaired yields of corn, beans and potatoes, Verne H. Church, state and federal agricultural statistician, reported.

"Aside from record-breaking yields of wheat and rye and slightly better than average prospects for corn, the outlook for Michigan field crops leaves much to be desired," Church asserts in his August report. "The state's rainfall for the past 17 months has been below normal in every month but three, causing a deficiency of about 12 inches up to August 1st.

"This unusual dryness, together with extreme heat on numerous days, has lowered the prospective yields of corn, oats and barley and has caused irreparable damage in many sections to buckwheat, beans and potatoes."

The report continues to say that the recent rainfall has been unevenly distributed and that while some communities have received enough for their current needs, others have received only small amounts.

The state's wheat crop this year will be 18,073,000 bushels which is 1,600,000 bushels greater than that harvested last year. Production is averaging 26.5 bushels per acre which has not been equaled since 1924 nor exceeded since 1902.

Of the other crops Church says:

Corn—Exceptional progress up to July 15. . . . Deficient rainfall and hot weather has caused some damage since. . . . Indications are for a crop of 47,040,000 bushels, which is larger than in 1929 and 1930 and nearly equal to that of 1928.

Oats and Barley—Lighter yields than growers expected.

Beans — Suffered severely from weather conditions. . . . Blight is prevalent in certain localities. . . . The condition is reported as 75 per cent of normal which is six points below the 10-year average but four points higher than a year ago. . . . Estimated production is 7,578,000 compared with 4,692,000 a year ago.

Potatoes—Have held up well as to tops, but with very dry soil conditions over much of the state it is anticipated that considerable acreage has been damaged beyond recovery even if rainfall for the remainder of the season should be ample. . . . Production is estimated at 22,500,000 bushels compared with 13,855,000 a year ago.

WEEKLY CAMP CHARLEVOIX NEWS COLUMN

—Edited by—
VINCENT ARNOLD

The big carnival held last Saturday went over with the well known "bang." In spite of the threatening weather, a good sized crowd found its way to the camp and seemed to enjoy themselves to the fullest. Every one of the side shows was patronized satisfactorily. The house of fun reported 347 tickets, and the "Hit the Mermaid" concession counted 273, while the refreshment stand totaled nearly 1000! These figures tell only in part of the success of the project. The real pride of the camp is that this year, with 75 boys, its show was better received than in 1930, when 90 boys were enrolled, and the weather was perfect.

The speaker in chapel last Sunday morning was Prof. Nelson, the man who in past years has directed the Hiawatha pageant. He discussed the spiritual influence behind all boyhood experiences, especially camping experiences, which the boy perhaps has not realized before was present, and which nature brings clearly into relief.

Prof. Nelson has maintained a great interest in the camp, and is regarded by the camp itself as one of its permanent friends.

The usual flow of guests was on hand over the week end, and included Dr. and Mrs. H. S. Adams, Kalamazoo; Mrs. Flora N. Brown, Ann Arbor; Harry W. Brown, Battle Creek; Mrs. Arthur L. Brownell, Kalamazoo; Mr. and Mrs. N. Raymond Clark, La Grange, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Friendlander, Milwaukee; Mr. and Mrs. A. R. McAndrew, Ypsilanti; Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Patton, Detroit; Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Owen, Grosse Pointe; Mr. and Mrs. Paul M. Taylor, Huntington, Ind.; Prof. and Mrs. A. E. White, Ann Arbor.

Three separate groups left Monday morning. Nine boys went by truck to Cheboygan, where they will make a canoe journey. Another group, on horseback, left for Walloon Lake, while a third headed for Cross Village by truck. All three will return Wednesday afternoon or night.

Camp breaks on Saturday night, Aug. 22, with the final banquet as the crowning feature of the 1931 season. Mr. Reiman states that the year has been most successful, chiefly because of the splendid cooperation of both campers and staff. Already several have signed up for 1932, which is a fine testimonial of the camp's wonderful organization.

Next year a new plan is to be started. The first fifteen boys over fifteen years of age who sign up will go on a three-weeks' trip to Canada. They will stay in camp the first four weeks, and then they will go to Canada, returning to camp for the last seven days. From the base in Canada the boys will make canoe trips of several days' duration for the purpose of fishing, exploring, etc.

A WIDER SCOUTING PROGRAM

Persons who witnessed the Boy Scout jamboree program at Menominee last Wednesday were inspired by the picture of more than 100 young Americans participating in organized play and putting into practice the principles of Scout craft. Community leaders were fired with the ambition to spread the word of Scouting and to encourage the formation of new troops in Emmet county and throughout the Northern Michigan district that was represented.

The Boy Scout organization has experienced a somewhat discouraging past in this county, not from the type of work or progress made by the few troops in existence, but because of the small number of Scouts in proportion to the population. To be sure, there are a few native troops within the limits of the county, but the number and enrollment is far too small. The Harbor Springs troop has a live organization in years gone by. Now, however, the membership and program of activities both are at a low ebb. The same is true of other troops in the county. Petoskey has one of the strong troops in this area. Emmet county is not alone in its Boy Scout predicament, if it may be called such. Other northern counties need a revival campaign.

Some years ago there was a district Scout executive with headquarters at Petoskey, whose duties were to direct and promote Scouting. Financial and other difficulties caused this plan to be abandoned before it had been given a fair trial. There is talk now at the state Scout headquarters of resuming a similar procedure with a district Scout executive to supervise the work in four or five counties. Such a course should receive the hearty approval of all citizens.

There is no argument as to the benefits of Scouting. It teaches youth many of the practical things of life, that might not otherwise be learned. Scouts learn the fundamentals of healthful living, how to take care of themselves out in the woods or in the water; they learn to be courteous, kind and thoughtful of others. Their time, which probably would be spent in loafing, is turned into useful channels of building young manhood.

Emmet county, or any part of northern Michigan for that matter, afford excellent opportunities for carrying out the Scouting program, a major share of which is out-of-doors. Woodcraft, camping, water activities and opportunity to study wild life are all within easy reach of Boy Scouts in this county.

Much could be accomplished under the supervision of a capable Scout executive working with community leaders. The movement would be highly worth while.—Emmet County Graphic.

COURTESY—AN ANALOGY

In a certain city in Michigan a policeman stepped out from the curb. He raised his hand. Obediently, though grumbling, the man in the car slowed to a stop. He was a stranger in the city but perhaps he had broken some obscure motoring ordinance. His speed certainly was not too blame.

The policeman came to the side of the car, a smile on his face. "I see you're a stranger in the city. Your license plate says you are from out of the state. I'm Officer Johnson. Just to make you at home in our city and to offer you our hospitality, I'll pin this little blue tag on your car and you will be able to overstay your parking privilege. You can turn the wrong corners and we won't arrest you. We hope you like our town and that you come back again."

With a wave of his hand the policeman sauntered away, leaving a slightly bewildered driver. As a tourist he wasn't used to such treatment. Perhaps such a cordial invitation should be looked into; perhaps there was something in this town. And so he drove to the business district and parked near a fire hydrant, the clerks were polite and he bought more than he had intended to, and he spent more time in the city than he had originally planned.

That man grew to be a friend of that town. He liked the people; he liked their courtesy. That city he remembered as a pleasant interlude in his journey.

Almost any community could learn a lesson from this city in Michigan.

STATE FAIR ATTRACTIONS

For the first time in history, during the week of September 6 to 12, Michigan will introduce to the public in general, her whole range of products, industrial as well as agricultural and horticultural. Through the support of the advisory group of Detroit business and industrial leaders, working in cooperation with the fair board of managers, an ambitious program of industrial and commercial exhibits is being arranged. Larger livestock exhibits, as the result of valuable assistance by the various state associations; a nightly horse show in the Coliseum, with a pleasant musical background by the Detroit Symphony orchestra; a projected style salon, ranking with the finest ever staged in this country, excellent art collection; five days of harness racing; a great outdoor spectacle calling for 500 performers on a 300-foot stage—these are only the highlights of the 1931 fair and exposition.

Some notable national figures whose names alone are sufficient to crystallize in the fair, have been invited to share in the activities, so that there is much to promise delegations from Michigan as well as other states.

In working out all these plans Michigan is setting the pace for her sister states, and in doing so has won the approbation of exposition officials in many parts of the country.

The introduction of commercial and industrial exhibits should be a distinct asset, as long as the agricultural side of the fair is not crowded to the background. The state fair was founded to encourage agricultural interests of Michigan, and should continue to perform that function. While Michigan ranks among the greatest of industrial states in the country, agricultural pursuits still make up an important part of our wealth.

BACK TO SOIL MOVEMENT

A nation-wide back-to-the-farm movement is springing up in the United States spurred by economic conditions in cities. The trend is indicated in government records, which show that during 1930 a total of 1,392,000 persons left the towns and cities for the farms. This is the largest movement in this direction since the government first began assembling these statistics in 1922.

At the same time the movement from the farms to the cities has declined as consistently as its counter-movement has increased. In 1922 the exodus from the farms amounted to 1,120,000, the largest total of the period, while last year it aggregated only 151,000.

There are inducements at present for the back-to-soil quest. Farm land values now have reached a level attractive to purchasers, and money to finance such purchases is available. A normally regular food supply is generally assured to the agricultural classes, even though cash profits are small.

Just what the outcome of this action will be is difficult to determine. The Farm board is calling for smaller crops and the markets of the world are oversupplied with foodstuffs. A still greater surplus cannot be viewed with enthusiasm.

It is probable that the situation is only temporary, and with the improvement of industrial conditions in cities, the trend will again will be reversed. Certainly Kansas wheat farmers are not optimistic over their prospects and other classes are equally ready to quit an unprofitable business.

HOARDING GOLD

The stock of gold in the United States is now rising close to the equivalent of $5,000,000,000. The Federal government, the heads of the Federal Reserve System, bankers and economists in general view this phenomenon with something like actual alarm.

In France there is a similarly alarming hoard of gold and its tends steadily to grow larger. Meanwhile gold is being drained steadily out of England in the direction of French banks. That is, the British gold reserve is being depleted gradually through withdrawals of capital and credit by countries that formerly kept reserves in England. The result of this progress is a tendency of British currency to fall under its normal exchange value. British buyers in foreign markets are therefore left at a disadvantage.

These huge stores of idle gold represent in some calculations at least $20,000,000,000 of idle and stagnant credit. Gold is coming to the United States through payments of foreign interest or debts that are on a gold basis.

The American banking system has been trying without much success to turn its gold excesses into active and constructive credits. No one knows why France has been adopting a policy of deliberately accumulating gold. In some quarters it is held that the French are using this method to harass the British. Meanwhile the German Republic is in some danger of going under for want of a little of the idle credit that is a drag on the market in Paris and New York.

COUNTY CLUBS DO WELL AT GAYLORD

CHARLEVOIX COUNTY ATTENDANCE LARGEST IN REGION

Two Members Handicraft Team and Equal Number Canning Club Members Win State Fair Trip

Charlevoix county has reason to be proud of the fine record made by its representatives at the Gaylord 4-H camp which closed last Friday.

According to word early this week from County Agent B. C. Mellenkamp of Boyne City, Charlevoix county had nearly double the attendance of any other northern Michigan county at the camp. A total of 73 4-H club workers and leaders were present for various lengths of time. Second to Charlevoix was Alpena county with an attendance of thirty-nine.

afternoon, August 10th, and returned home Friday afternoon, August 14th, after having had the time of their lives. Fortunately, weather conditions were favorable throughout the week. Over three hundred club members were present from counties of the region in addition to many local leaders in county extension projects.

The week was filled with demonstrations, various contests, educational programs, athletic games and other features.

Various elimination contests were held throughout the week to decide what teams would represent northern Michigan at the Michigan state fair. Mr. Mellenkamp announced that Robert Tainter and Melvin Sommerville, both of Boyne City, won a trip in the handicraft demonstration contest, and the Misses Hazel Mosley and Beth Simpson of Boyne Falls, also won a trip through their work in the canning demonstration contest. There is still a strong possibility that one or two other county teams will win a trip to Detroit.

Emmet county teams won first place in the various contests with a total score of 702 points. Antrim county came second with a score of 672 and Charlevoix county was third with 636 points. Thirty-two of Charlevoix county's representation stayed at Gaylord throughout the entire week, and there were nineteen who stayed two days or more.

SHAKESPEARIAN PLAY THIS WEEK

"AS YOU LIKE IT" GIVEN IN OUTDOOR THEATRE

Many New Players, Including Local Characters, Will Appear in Cast of Shakespeare Play

The Shakespeare Memorial Players are at last living up to their name. In a cozy opening in the woods with pointed cedars forming a foyer and limiting the stage and the auditorium, these sunny afternoons, Jacques may be heard declaiming that "All the world's a stage and all the men and women merely players," while the boyish elfin, Rosalind, plays the knave with her love and Orlando hurries through the forest to carve on every tree "the fair, the chaste, the inexpressive she." "As You Like It," Shakespeare's delicately beautiful comedy, is in intense rehearsal in preparation for its matinee opening Friday afternoon.

The camp finds itself the possessor of a splendid outdoor theatre where audience and players, entirely out of sight of buildings and roads and anything modern, may easily think themselves in merry England in the Forest of Arden back in the days of one, Will Shakespeare. The costumes for the play which have been designed by the new director, James Dahl, and made by Mrs. Gaet D'Amico, are very colorful and will add much to the production. The lovely, graceful styles of Queen Elizabeth's court will prevail in the opening scenes of the play when the court of the usurping duke is met in brave finery to see the great wrestling match between the famous wrestler, Charles, played by Mr. David Nelson, and Orlando, played by Mr. Lewis Stevens. As the scenes of the play shift to the Forest of Arden, the colorful homespun of the shepherds and foresters dominate. There the various pairs of lovers from the Dresden shepherdess, Phoebe, and her youthful lover, Silvius, to the clownish wench, Audrey, and her red-headed swain William, weave plot and counter-plot until Hymen himself has to straighten out the pattern. And through it all, Rosalind, in vivid scarlet with little cocked hat with feather stuck through, plays the mischief with the hearts of the simple shepherdess and her own love, Orlando.

Mr. Dahl, who has directed at the Detroit Repertory theatre, has directed stock in Chicago; Bloomington, Ill.; Elyria, Ohio, and in Ann Arbor, and was the director of the Sandusky Civic Players, is producing "As You Like It." He is bringing to it a wealth of experience and a careful study of the comedy business of the play.

Miss Lillian Martin, leading lady with the players, adds another interesting characterization to her many roles of the summer in her impersonation of Shakespeare's most delightful heroine. Miss Martin has played in a number of Shakespearean plays in connection with the Boston Repertory Company and other eastern companies. It is interesting to note that Rosalind is the longest woman's part in Shakespeare.

Mr. Stevens, who plays Orlando, has been steadily adding to his prestige with the camp audiences by his amusing characterizations of the various juveniles which the modern plays so far produced at the camp offer. This week he has a harder role and he brings to it the youth and ardor which make Orlando one of the most sympathetic of Shakespeare's numerous lovers.

Pay A. Bradley of this city, is also taking part in "As You Like It." Mr. Bradley has gained an enviable reputation in the many parts which he has had in local productions. He will be seen as the old shepherd Corin, a part quite unlike any he has yet portrayed.

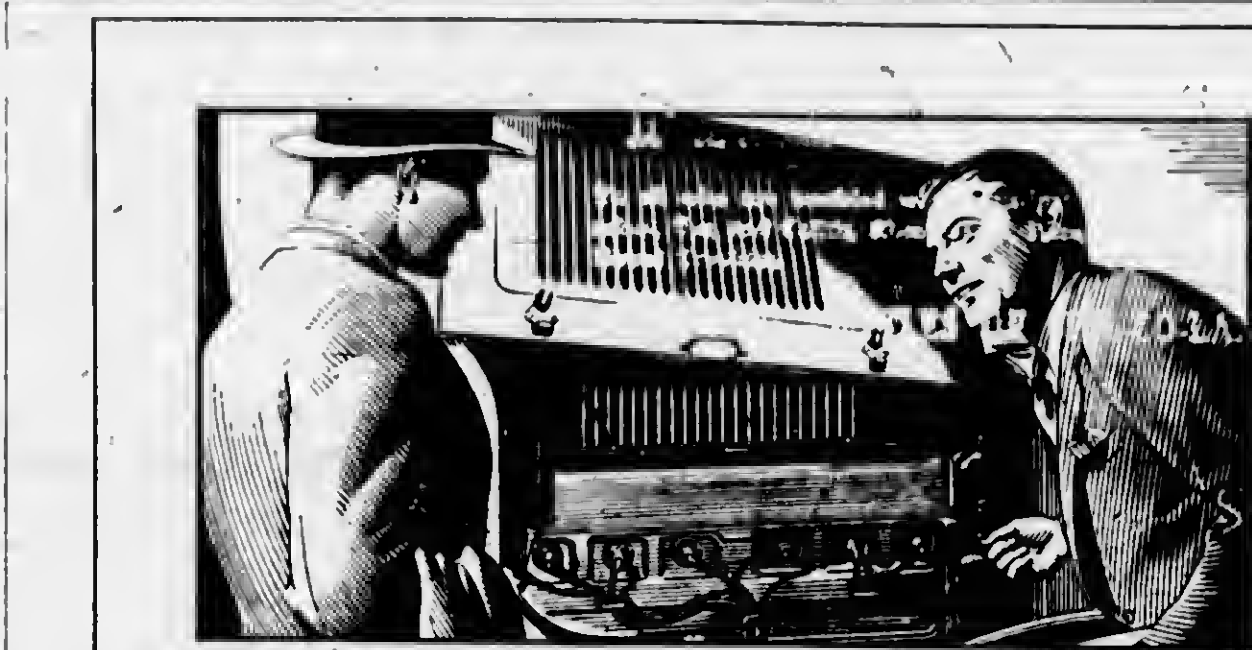

In the event of rain, the play will be presented in the camp theatre at the same hour.

The production will be given Friday, Saturday and Sunday afternoons at 3 o'clock. Next week the players plan to present Molnar's famous play, "The Guardsmen," at the camp theatre.

Learn what a difference six cylinders make

Step out of any other low-priced car into a Chevrolet, and learn the difference six cylinders make.

"Idle" the engine—and the whole car remains steady. Open the throttle—the power flows evenly. Accelerate—throttle down—go fifteen or fifty—and this smoothness stays with you whatever you do. It's actually built into the motor—and objectionable vibration never even starts!

Yet smoothness is only one of many six-cylinder advantages. There's greater quietness, because noisy vibration is gone. There's greater comfort, because built-in smoothness doesn't tire you out. There's greater flexibility, because the power-impulses of a six overlap. And a six is much easier to handle!

If you raise the hood of a Chevrolet and watch the engine running so smoothly, you'll realize that six cylinders also mean greater dependability.

And remember when you do—that no other car is so economical to operate as the Chevrolet Six.

MANITOU GROUNDED IN ST. MARY'S RIVER

Ran on Rocks in Fog Early Sunday—Efforts to Release Boat Failed

According to reports from O. E. Wilbur, local passenger agent for the Michigan Transit Corporation, efforts have so far failed to release the Str. Manitou, which grounded Sunday morning in a heavy fog.

The Manitou is fast near what is known as Johnston's point in lower St. Mary's river. She grounded at 4 o'clock Sunday morning in a heavy fog while enroute northbound on her regular Sault Ste. Marie excursion. Passengers had been removed. Two tugs were attempting to release the ship, and a third was enroute from St. Ignace. It was stated that it might be necessary to jack the boat up to get her off the rocks.

The Str. Puritan took over the Manitou's schedule, arriving here Wednesday morning.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS OPEN SEPT. 14TH

GERALD F. BUSH, SUPT., DIRECTING PREPARATIONS

Three New Departments Are Added This Year—Members of Teaching Staff Announced

Charlevoix public school will open Monday, September 14th for the 1931-32 term. This announcement was made Tuesday by Gerald F. Bush, Laasung, new superintendent, who is now in Charlevoix directing preparations for the opening.

A general teachers' meeting has been called for Saturday, September 12th.

Several changes have been made in the teaching staff, three new departments have been added to the curriculum, new policies adopted and many improvements made on the buildings.

Grades from the kindergarten to sixth, inclusive, will be housed in the new grade building. The junior high this year will be composed of the seventh, eighth and ninth grades, and high school the tenth, eleventh and twelfth grades. Through this new plan, the junior high becomes a separate and distinct unit, the same as high school. Harry Bingham will be principal, and other instructors are Albert Rider and Floranz Milner.

Manual arts and health education have been added to the curriculum.

The first named department will be in charge of Walter Weisenberg, Grand Rapids, who comes here highly recommended. Mr. Weisenberg taught manual arts two years at Woodland, Michigan, and last year put in a general shop at Stockbridge, Michigan. The plans he has submitted for a general shop for local schools have been termed by K. G. Smith, state superintendent of industrial education, as the best he had even seen, being in many ways superior to that previously recommended to Michigan schools. The plan will be used as a model for other schools.

Speaking of this new department, Supt. Bush stated the course would be open to 7th, 8th and 9th grade pupils, and that mechanical drawing will be offered to senior high students. The purpose of the general shop is not to develop craftsmen in any line, nor to prepare immediately for a trade, but to teach boys to use their hands and heads constructively and to offer exploratory or finding courses of a manual nature, give them a taste of a variety of occupations and provide occupational guidance.

Another new department is the ungraded room, which will be in charge of Miss Elizabeth Frago of Benton Harbor, who comes here with two years of experience at Benton Harbor and a similar period at Lapeer. This department will serve the needs of individual students from the first to ninth grade, who for any reason need special coaching in any subject. It should not be regarded as a room for dull pupils. Children of all ranges of mental capacity may at one time or another find the ungraded room a place where individual help may be secured. Miss Frago will also have charge of any testing programs that may be undertaken.

A. W. Rider of Bloomington, Ill., a graduate of Illinois Wesleyan University, will teach mathematics in the junior high school, and will have

FINE MUSICAL PROGRAM GIVEN SUNDAY

Madame Tagmose, Mezzo Soprano, Gave Recital at The Inn

Guests at The Inn and a large number of cottagers were given a rare musical treat last Sunday evening at the hotel.

Five groups of vocal numbers, sung in French, Italian, German and English, were given by Margaret Grover Tagmose, noted mezzo soprano. Madame Tagmose, who devotes her time to concert, radio and church work, showed remarkable ability and early training. Her notes were clear and fine. Every number was well received and greeted by hearty applause. Miss Dorothy Husted of Petoskey, was accompanist.

The features of the evening program were two songs, "Oh Promise Me," and "Love's Old Sweet Song." For these numbers Madame Tagmose was accompanied by Signor Rocco N. Luzzi, harpist, who showed wonderful ability and technique.

The program was highly successful and well received.

charge of instrumental music in the school in addition to directing the city band.

Miss Esther Mary Atkinson of Upland, Ind., will have charge of the music department. Miss Atkinson, who received her training at Taylor University, Northwestern University and University of Michigan, last year taught at Decatur, Ill., generally conceded one of the outstanding schools for musical attainment in the country. Its orchestra won the national high school championship last year. Miss Atkinson will have charge of vocal music in the grades and high school, and will offer music theory and appreciation to high school students. With so competent an instructor in charge, Supt. Bush has ambitions for wide attainment in musical circles for Charlevoix schools.

Miss Jeanne Dasef of Stanton, Michigan, a graduate of Battle Creek college, considered one of the outstanding health training institutions in the middle west, will have charge of health education, a new department. Health training will be offered to all grades.

Miss Vera Belding, for several years an instructor in public schools at Owosso, will have charge of the first grade.

Following is the complete school staff:

STATE REGISTERS HERE SEPT. 3-4

WILL HOLD 17TH ANNUAL CONVENTION AT CHARLEVOIX

Banquet at Camp Charlevoix, Boat Trip to Beaver Island Among Features of Program

Charlevoix will next week be host to the 17th annual convention of the Michigan Association of Registers of Deeds. The delegates will be guests of the city on Thursday and Friday, September 3 and 4, with headquarters at Hallett's Inn.

Frank F. Bird, register of deeds for Charlevoix county, assisted by local interests, has arranged an excellent program for entertainment of visiting delegates. Michigan has 83 registers of deeds, and it is expected a large majority of this number will take advantage of Charlevoix's attractions at the coming convention.

The convention delegates will register at 1 o'clock Thursday morning, and the first business session will be called to order at 10:30 by Mrs. Lena E. Spalding, vice-president, Van Buren county. At 11 o'clock, Dr. C. J. Winder, president of the Charlevoix Association of Commerce, will welcome the registers. Response will follow, also an address by Arthur L. Fitch.

At the afternoon session, addresses by Attorney Lisle Shaaahan and Dr. R. B. Armstrong, followed by coast guard drill at 3:30 o'clock.

The evening session will be featured by the annual banquet at Camp Charlevoix. Director Lewis C. Reimann will be the toastmaster and an address by Rev. C. J. Kruse, former chaplain at Ionia reformatory, is scheduled. Banquet will be followed by cards and dancing.

On Friday morning, the delegates go to Beaver Island on the Str. Marcell II. Aboard the boat, Prosecuting Attorney Roelle L. Lewis will give an address, also Edward Thompson, register of Chippewa county. A fish dinner at Hotel Beaver will be followed by a scenic automobile tour of the island, visiting historic spots of interest, etc.

The final business session, with election of officers, will be held on the return trip from the island.

INDIANA LEADS NON-RESIDENT FISHERMEN

Over Ten Thousand Licenses Sold to Tourists from That State

Of 17,183 Michigan non-resident anglers licenses sold outside the state last year, 10,378 were sold in Indiana; 4,950 in Ohio and 1,465 in Illinois. Wisconsin agents issued 390, according to a report issued by the department of conservation.

The bulk of licenses sold in Indiana were issued at Mishawaka, South Bend and Elkhart. Most of the licenses issued in Ohio were sold in Toledo and Chicago agents sold most of the licenses in Illinois.

Last year the department of conservation sold 55,490 non-resident anglers licenses of which 38,480 were issued by agents in Michigan.

STATE VALUATION FIGURE APPROVED

ONLY FEW CHANGES MADE FROM ORIGINAL SET-UP

Wayne County Fails To Win Its Plea for Great Slash in Valuation

The state board of equalization last week had approved, with slight exceptions, the tentative equalized valuations of taxable property in Michigan at $7,453,510,000.

The board, after an angry debate, refused Detroit's plea for a material slash in Wayne county's share of nearly 50 cents of each tax dollar. Slight decreases were allowed five counties, cutting only $400,000 off the total valuation, and making almost infinitesimal changes in the percentages of each county. Ionia, Iron and Marquette counties were allowed reductions of $100,000 each in their valuations, and Chippewa and Osceola were cut $50,000 each.

The final session of the equalization board was enlivened by a debate between members of the board and John C. Nagel, president of the Detroit city council. Nagel demanded that the Wayne county valuation be reduced by $696,000,000. He charged a concerted effort to make the state's metropolis pay an ever-increasing share of the cost of government.

"If Wayne county were separated from Michigan and made into a separate unit, the saving to its taxpayers would be about $1,000,000 a year," the Detroit councilman said. He pointed out that in 1930 Detroit paid $31,903,557 into the state tax funds, and received only $1,793,570 in return.

Real estate values have dropped so sharply in Detroit, Nagel said, that if the city assessors reduced their rolls to the true figure the city would go bankrupt through inability to sell bonds.

When Nagel had finished his statement, Melville B. McPherson, tax commissioner, replied to the board: "While Mr. Nagel has been asking us to cut Detroit's share of the taxes one of his colleagues (Senator Arthur E. Wood) is in the supreme court seeking to make Gov. Brucker spend a million dollars more each year than he wants to."

"The Detroit assessing system is so cumbersome as to be useless," said Harbert E. Powell, commissioner of agriculture, and member of the board. "There is no place in Michigan where there are so many tax exempt securities locked up as in Wayne county."

The board's decision to refuse Detroit's plea was made after ten minutes' deliberation.

MANY SMALL BLAZES RAISE FIRE LOSSES

Without spectacular blazes but with numerous small fires that are gradually raising Michigan's toll of burned over timber lands for the season, the division of field administration of the conservation department reports a total of 2,253 forest fires so far this season with an estimated 200,000 acres burned over.

The upper peninsula has reported 956 fires and the lower peninsula 1,297 fires so far this year.

August 11, 1930, the division reported 1,648 fires with 46,487 acres burned over.

Sheriff Dave Vaughan and Fred Coon returned Thursday from a business trip to Ionia.

ARRANGE PROGRAM OF COUNTY PICNIC

9TH ANNUAL AFFAIR LABOR DAY AT WHITING PARK

Various Sports, Ball Game and 4-H Club Exhibits and Demonstrations Are Features of Program

Great plans are being made for the 9th annual Charlevoix county Labor day picnic, to be held Monday, September 7th, at Whiting county park on Lake Charlevoix.

County Agent B. C. Mellencaamp has charge of the affair as in previous years. He promises a wonderful program of entertainment.

The county picnic has become a permanent and popular event of each summer. At this time rural and city interests meet for a day's outing. The picnic has never failed to produce a good time.

A feature of the day this year will be the summer achievement day for the members of Charlevoix county's boys' and girls' 4-H clubs. Inasmuch as there will be no county fair this fall, an opportunity is being afforded to various clubs to display their work. It is expected that in the canning club exhibits alone, there will be over five hundred quarts of vegetables and fruits displayed by approximately 70 girls from all sections of the county. In addition, there will be over twenty calves and some pigs shown by livestock club members. Another feature will be demonstrations to be given by two girls in the canning club project and two boys in the calf club work.

At one o'clock a program of running races and several new stunts will be featured. Later a ball game is scheduled. The opposing teams are yet to be announced. Music for the day will be furnished by the Barnard rural band. This organization has already made an enviable reputation in northern Michigan for their fine programs.

The usual big picnic dinner will be held at noon. All residents of this and surrounding counties are urged to plan attending. Wonderful water and a fine bathing beach are available to picnickers. A full day of entertainment is in store for all.

REFUSE LICENSES TO DEER LAW VIOLATORS

Will Hold Up Application of Previous Offenders This Year

Anyone who has violated a deer law within the past three years or who has wounded or killed another by shooting within the past five years cannot obtain a deer license from the department of conservation this year.

Affidavit forms to be filled out by all applicants for deer licenses have been prepared and will be distributed to all license agents with the deer licenses.

The 1931 legislature provided that no deer license should be issued to any person who has been convicted of violating the deer laws within the preceding three years, or who has during the preceding five years "accidentally shot or otherwise wounded or killed by shooting any human being."

The applicant for a deer license this year must fill out an affidavit and have it sworn to before a notary public before the agent will be permitted to issue a license.

Correct this sentence: "My boy, there is no use to work hard; the loafers make just as much money as the workers."

ELLSWORTH SMOTHERED IN SUNDAY GAME

Charlevoix Indians Won 20 to 5—Meet Indian River Next Winning their fourth consecutive home game, Charlevoix Indians smothered the Ellsworth Packers 20 to 5 at North Side hall park Sunday afternoon.

Colby, Charlevoix hurler, kept the visitors' hits well scattered and struck out seven men during the afternoon tilt, while his team-mates pounded three Ellsworth pitchers. Attempting to stem the battle, Ellsworth used Jack Peebles, Charles Edison and Heary Peebles on the mound. By their combined efforts they struck out seven Charlevoix batters.

In addition to pitching good ball, Colby accounted for a home run in the fifth inning, and later in the seventh, John Walker clouted out a homer.

Charlevoix meets Indian River for the second time this season next Sunday. The northern aggregation, made up largely of college stars and conceded to be one of the best in the region, defeated the locals in a ninth inning rally at Indian River earlier in the season. Manager Rose's team hopes to even the count next Sunday.

BELVEDERE TOURNA- MENTS CLOSED

GOLF AND TENNIS OCCUPIED MEMBERS THE PAST WEEK

St. Louis Summer Residents Carry Off Majority of Championships in Both Events

J. D. Ferguson, Jr., St. Louis, Mo., won the annual Belvedere Golf club handicap tournament at the Belvedere course last Friday afternoon.

In the finals of match play, Ferguson defeated John Knight of Grand Rapids, 5 and 4. Ferguson had the advantage of one stroke handicap. Winners in other flights were as follows:

Class A—Palmer Clarkson, St. Louis, Mo., who gave three strokes to E. C. Lathrop, Chicago, and defeated him 4 and 3 in 36 holes.

Class B—J. M. Travis, St. Louis, Mo., defeated J. J. Schaffley, St. Louis, 2 up.

Class C—Joseph E. Muckerman, St. Louis, Mo., defeated R. Vernon Clark, St. Louis, 1 up.

Mrs. John Owen of Detroit, is women's champion. In the finals she defeated Virginia Pratt, Kalamazoo, 4 and 3.

Beautiful trophies were awarded winner and runner-up in each flight. The annual Belvedere tennis tournament closed Tuesday afternoon.

James Carry, Chicago, Sequanota summer resident, repeated his last year's performance by taking the men's singles title from Austin Leland, St. Louis, Mo., 1930 finalist, by scores of 4-6, 6-3, 6-1.

Similarly in women's singles, last year's finalists fought it out again this year with the same result. Miss Jane Connitt, St. Louis, Mo., defended her title by winning from Helen Huntington, Providence, R. I., in three hard-fought sets, by scores of 6-4, 2-6, 8-6.

Charles Fox and Austin Leland, St. Louisans, defeated R. V. Clark and Jack Turney, fellow-townsmen, 6-6, 6-0, 6-2, to capture the men's doubles crown, while the boys' doubles title went to the team of John Wallis, Searsdale, N. Y., and Jack Turney, St. Louis, Mo., who triumphed over Gillies and Coleman by scores of 6-4, 6-3, 6-1.

BENZONIA YOUTH IS JAILED FOR STEALING

Must Pay Costs of $33.35 or Serve Sixty Days in County Jail

Henry Goorhouse, 17-year-old Benzon youth, is serving a 60-day sentence in Charlevoix county jail following sentence imposed by Justice Robert Withers.

Goorhouse was arrested at Benzon by Sheriff Dave Vaughan on complaint of Otho Weller, Horton Bay farmer, who claimed Goorhouse stole articles of wearing apparel, gasoline and other items after leaving his employ some time ago.

When apprehended, he was found wearing the shoes, and readily admitted his guilt before Justice Withers. His mother, who was present at the hearing, advanced part of the costs of $33.35, and if she furnishes the balance, Goorhouse will be released.

HENNESSEY AGAIN RIVIERA CHAMPION

WON 4TH CONSECUTIVE TITLE HERE SUNDAY AFTERNOON

Miss Catherine Wolf, Indianapolis, Ind., Women's Singles Winner—Other Champions Crowned

John Hennessey, Indianapolis, Ind., continued a habit acquired six years ago by winning the annual Michigan Riviera men's singles tennis championships at The Inn courts Sunday afternoon.

It was the sixth consecutive title won by the Hoosier here. In the years 1925-26 Hennessey carried off the Western Michigan crowns, and for four straight years he has topped the Michigan Riviera field.

In the final Sunday afternoon, Hennessey defeated Harris M. Coggeshall, Des Moines, Iowa, Western association champion and nationally ranked player, in straight sets, 7-5, 6-1, 6-0. At one time he trailed the Iowan 5-2 in the first set, but through his superior play, ran out 17 of 18 games to take the title.

Hennessey never appeared extended except during the opening games of the first set. Coggeshall was unable to handle Hennessey's spinning back-hand drives. The Hoosier had him out of position most of the time, passing him repeatedly for needed points. It was a wonderful tennis exhibition.

Miss Catherine Wolf, who hails from Hennessey's home town and holds the Indiana and Illinois state women's titles, added the Riviera crown to her collection Sunday. Displaying far superior play, she scored a straight set victory over Miss Lucy Haggerty, Chicago, defending champion, 6-0, 6-4. In a hard-fought semi-finals match Saturday, Miss Wolf entered the finals by defeating Mrs. Wm. B. McVaine, Chicago, while Miss Haggerty went to the finals by eliminating Mrs. Dan Caulkins, Detroit.

John Hennessey and Jack Harris, the latter of Chicago, captured another leg on the Michigan Riviera permanent doubles trophy Sunday afternoon by defeating Harris M. Coggeshall and Walter T. Hayes, Chicago, in four hard-fought sets, 7-5, 5-7, 6-3, 6-3.

Michigan retained one Riviera title when Don Sexton, Lansing, defeated Ralph Ellis, Chicago, in the finals Friday afternoon by scores of 10-8, 6-0, 3-6, 4-6, 6-2. The match went 55 games and took three hours to decide.

Bill Novak, Charlevoix, and Jack Turney, St. Louis, Mo., paired to defeat Mason Rose Jr., Sarasota, Fla., and Ralph Ellis, Chicago, for the junior doubles crown. The winners took the match by scores of 5-7, 6-2, 6-2.

Catherine Wolf, the women's singles champion, paired with Sarah Hinde, Lake Forest, Ill., defeated Mrs. Wm. B. McVaine, Jr., Detroit, and Mrs. Dan Caulkins, Detroit, to capture the women's doubles title. The winners dropped the first set without winning a game, 6-6, but subdued stubborn resistance to win the deciding games 7-5, 6-1.

With but very few exceptions, players in the Riviera tournament went to Harbor Springs for the Michigan state championships. Hennessey is the defending champion.

TOURISTS SEE WOLF STALK DEER IN WOOD

Unusual Sight Witnessed Recently on Tahquamenon River Trip

To witness a timber wolf stalking a deer is an unusual sight for even a woodsman. Recently an entire party of tourists taking a boat trip down the Tahquamenon river to the famous Big Falls saw such an incident.

The wolf, intent upon his prey, did not observe the nearby boat. He stalked the deer, jumped and ran after the animal through the woods. The play was staged in an open marsh and as the two animals raced away and disappeared into the woods the deer was still holding its own.

Arthur Noshimori, state hunter, who reported the incident found the trail and set traps. Four days later he found the wolf, which had walked into the trap, carrying a fawn in her mouth. The wolf weighed approximately one hundred pounds.

Most women suffer needlessly before their baby is born, due to constipation, gas and sour stomach and vomiting. Every expectant mother will be glad to know how Mrs. F. J. Fessenden, of 2732 Grand Ave., Detroit, Mich., overcame this trouble. Mrs. Fessenden writes as follows: "Before my baby was born I suffered greatly with constipation and stomach distress until I began taking Mul-Sol-Lax. It helped me wonderfully. In fact my physician told me I owed my easy time when my baby was born to its use. I found it pleasant to take, even when I felt sick to my stomach, and I am glad to recommend it to any woman."

Mul-Sol-Lax is the Super-Tonic, containing 19 different ingredients, good for the whole family. Take no substitute.

MUL-SOL-LAX is sold by F. J. FESSENDEN, Druggist.

Carl Haddock of Detroit, is visiting for a short time with his mother and other relatives here and at Lake View. His father, Dan Haddock, has returned to Detroit.

Harvey Essenberg, who is now principal of schools at Falmouth, Michigan, spent the week end with relatives here. He began teaching at Falmouth last week Monday.

Mrs. James Lennox of Seattle, Wash., and a former resident here, visited last week with friends at this place. She left Thursday for a visit with relatives in Traverse City.

Tom Edwards, famous football coach at Ann Arbor, with his wife, is stopping at the Edwards' residence at Bay View, as is also his brother, John Edwards, of the Detroit police force.

Mrs. Phillip Ohman and family returned Friday from Ludington, where they have spent the last two weeks visiting with her husband, who sails on the car ferry boat, No. 22, out of that place.

Ellsworth Canning company were so in need of help last week that they came here to get aid in snipping beans at the factory. A number of farmers in this vicinity have raised beans for them this year.

The free moving picture show closed here last week Wednesday evening. They have been attended by large crowds all summer. It is expected that they will be put on by the village again next year.

Andrew Miller and family came Sunday afternoon for a short visit at the Kendall parsonage, attending services at the M. E. church here in the evening. They returned to their home in Atwood the same evening.

Bay View, Norwood and Creswell young people of the Sunday school are having a social gathering at Bay View grange hall this week. Norwood Sunday school had an attendance of 34 last Friday evening. Creswell 34 Sunday, and Bay View 26.

Arthur Russell of Bay View, had the misfortune to get a piece of emery stone in his eye last week while grinding a cycle for his mowing machine. It was a rather painful affair until the piece of emery was removed by Dr. Duffie.

Rev. G. A. Weaver and wife of Petoskey, and Mrs. Weaver's sister of Dayton, Ohio, visited Bay View Sunday school and at Creswell Sunday school last Sunday afternoon. Rev. Weaver preached at Bay View, but was too late at Creswell, as they go on Eastern time.

Rev. J. C. Kendall, wife and son John, attended a delightful picnic party given at the home of Andrew Miller in Atwood last week. Guests at the event were Frank Brown and family of Atwood, Mrs. Carl Brown and family of Jordan River, and Sidney Thompson and family of Rockery. After a delightful repast the guests all retired to the lake where nearly all spent an hour or two in swimming.

Most of the teachers are returning this week to their respective schools. Miss Helen Walbrecht, who has been resorting on Torch lake; Gerald DeForest goes to junior high at East Jordan; Miss Kate Wilson to Flint; Bessie Lancaster to Pellston; Mr. Mathers to Atlanta; Mrs. Harry Clark to Detroit; and Mr. Henderson to Creswell. Mrs. Meda Byers Jones teaches at Cloverdale, east of town, next year.

The Eastport gleaner picnic, held last Thursday, was well attended this year by many of the old timers. The game in the forenoon stood, Ellsworth 7, and Central Lake 6. It really was the best of the series of games played. In the afternoon the Pleasant Valley boys ran up 12 scores and the Ellsworth team 13. The game at the home-coming Saturday was a one-sided affair. The East Jordan boys scored wny ahead of the Central Lake team.

Central Lake's home-coming was a very successful affair in a social way, whether financially we do not know. Anyway the people certainly enjoyed themselves. There were many old time settlers here that had not been back to our town for a long time. Mrs. Ella Lenox and Clifford Spence had not been back from the west coast for some twenty years. The business men of Central Lake had taken much pains to decorate the streets of the town and get means of entertainment for the people. The East Jordan band, of about 45 members, did fine in entertaining the public. Mr. Ter-Wee certainly has a remarkable gift for training the young people.

PUMPING SYSTEM GOOD FOR WATER

Windmill Utilizes Cheapest Source of Power.

Demand for greater quantities of water for dairy and live stock uses calls for a pumping system which requires but little attention and utilizes the cheapest source of power available. Although the windmill has been a common sight on farms for a good many years, an increasing number of farmers are finding it possible to extend its usefulness beyond the single stock tank in the barnyard.

Dairy farmers have found that by placing a storage tank in the mow of the barn, drinking cups may be installed which greatly add to the profit from their herds. If the barn is well constructed, the heat from the stock will keep the water from freezing, particularly if the precaution is taken to remove the flooring from below the tank.

The farmer does not worry about getting a good pack in his silo, even in the face of an early frost. A light breeze provides the windmill on this Iowa farm with sufficient power to pump water directly into the silo, while a large underground storage tank holds plenty of water in reserve for his live stock. For household use, a windmill may be installed in connection with an air pressure system, using a gasoline engine if necessary for supplementary power. This will provide running water for all conveniences in the house and may also be piped to the chicken house or to other outlying buildings if not too great a quantity is desired.

The adoption of anti-friction bearings, and automatic oiling systems which require less attention have greatly increased the amount of power available for useful work. With lessened resistance they begin pumping in lighter winds which make them useful over longer periods of time and increase the quantity of water that can be pumped.

The capacity of the windmill varies according to the velocity of the wind, the diameter of the pump cylinder, the diameter of the wheel, and the lift required. By doubling the diameter of the cylinder, the capacity of the pump is increased by four times. However, many make the mistake of using too large a cylinder which limits the usefulness of the mill to a strong wind.

Bacteria Can't Thrive in Cold Temperature

Milk is the most perishable of any of the common foods, because it is an ideal place for bacteria to grow.

The number of bacteria in the milk may vary from a few thousand to more than a million in a cubic centimeter, which is about 25 drops, and the more bacteria present the quicker the milk sours. Science has found three ways to stop this growth but only one is practical for farm use, and that is to cool the milk to a point where the growth takes place slowly.

As crop growth is best at warm temperatures, and may be retarded by cool weather, so bacteria that will multiply rapidly in milk at 70 degrees Fahrenheit slacken growth at 60 degrees and at 50 degrees the bacteria crop outlook is poor.

Professor Hammer of Iowa found that a high grade of milk with a low bacteria count soured in 53 hours when kept at 60 degrees, the same milk kept sweet 86 hours at 50 degrees, and at 32 degrees it took more than a month to sour.

Salt Quite Essential to Dairy Cows Daily

Salt is essential to dairy cows and they should have access to it daily. The average requirement is about three-fourths of an ounce daily per 1,000 pounds of live weight with an additional three-fourths of an ounce required for each 20 pounds of milk produced. Cows may be allowed free access to salt or it may be mixed with the grain feed. One of the most practical and satisfactory plans is to mix it with the grain in the proportion of one pound for each 100 pounds of the grain mixture.

CROSS-CONTINENT RECORD SHATTERED BY NEW PLYMOUTH

San Francisco to New York and return in 132 hours—

On this record-breaking trip a New Plymouth Sedan, standard in every detail, covered 6287 miles at an average speed of 47.52 miles per hour and more than 1140 miles a day.

This smashed the existing two-way transcontinental mark, set between Los Angeles and New York, by 9½ hours—the San Francisco-New York record by nearly 36 hours.

These marks were formerly held by cars costing several times the Plymouth price.

No greater example can be given of the astounding ruggedness, endurance and stamina of the New Plymouth. No finer proof can be offered of its performance, its power, its handling ease, its safety and its roadability.

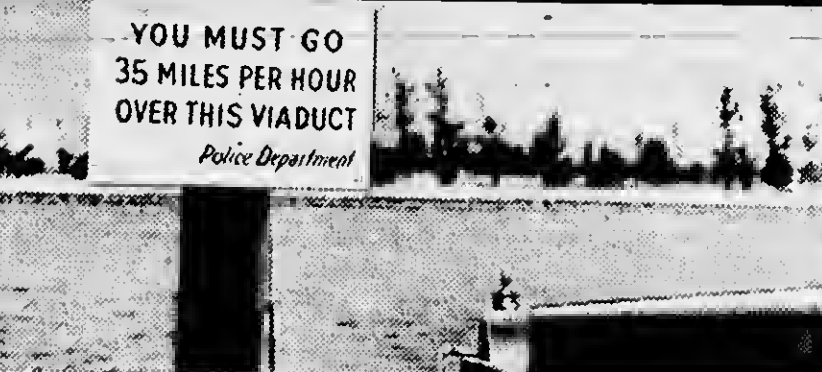

Take a ride in the New Plymouth. Experience for yourself the performance which made this phenomenal record possible.

HEART OF THE NORTH

BY WILLIAM BYRON MOWERY

William Byron Mowery.

The author of HEART OF THE NORTH, whose stories of the great wilderness are sweeping the country because of their authentic romance of the last great frontier, has known the forests since he was old enough to set a trap. As a boy in the Upper Peninsula of Michigan, and Ontario, he trapped, hunted, sometimes acted as a guide and tried several ventures in fur farming and training fox hounds andcoon dogs.

"My earliest memory," he says, "is of carrying me above his head while he broke the ice across a river to get an otter from a trap. I learned to shoot and trap before I could read and I shot a bear once when I had to prop up that heavy old arched wooden Winchester with a forked stick." But Mowery did learn to read and write—especially write. He acquired education so avidly and with such good effect that a few years ago he was drafted by one of the largest institutions of learning in the country—the University of Illinois—to be an instructor in English.

Every time he got a vacation he spent it in the North country, principally along the Mackenzie river from its headwaters clear down to the Arctic ocean. He became an authority on the forest and muskox wilderness. Finally the fascination of the land led him to drop everything else and devote himself to making literature of the region. His stories are thrilling in the highest degree and have the unique quality of combining great charm, authenticity and refreshing character studies with the thrills.

One of Mowery's latest achievements is in the very real, but none the less interesting, manner in which he depicts the police service known as the Northwest Mounted. The hero of HEART OF THE NORTH is a sergeant of that service; a man of today, truly drawn, but of a courage and chivalry that might grace the pages of knight-errantry.

CHAPTER I

The Killers

Father Claverly, leaning against the rail of the Midnight Sun, suddenly straightened up, stiff with shock; and stared incredulously at the six men. For moments he could not believe he actually was witnessing a robbery. Here, in this Canadian Northwest where outlaws were rare and furtive, here on the mighty Mackenzie where river boats came and again carried unguarded cargoes of half a million in furs and gold, a brazen daylight attack upon a big steamer was simply unthinkable.

A few minutes ago the six men in a pair of birch-bark canoes had skirted out of the tributary river, the Big Alouka, and hailed the steamer as though they were merely trappers or a trading party wanting passage up south. A loader was innocently let down for them, and they had come aboard, taking a despicable advantage of the friendly, accommodating spirit extended from man to man in this North country.

Now, under the leadership of a huge red-headed fellow, they stood on a pile of deck cargo amidships, watching each way. With repeating rifles alert in their hands, they loomed ugly and menacing over the crowd.

Father Claverly, quickly recovering from his shock, stared sharply at the six men, trying to identify them. One was a "breed"; the other five were nondescript whites. All of them were unknown to him.

While he was wondering what their next move would be, a girl among the passengers suddenly cried out:

"Bandits! They're bandits! Oh-oh!"

To half the people aboard the Midnight Sun the girl's cry was a first warning of the holdup. Whirling, the passengers stood transfixed, staring at the six vicious strangers who had them covered.

Fearful of bloodshed, Father Claverly glanced around at the crowd. Realizing that a fight would turn this deck into a shambles, he prayed that somehow, by quick thinking, he could avert a battle.

There were courageous men among those fifty on deck; but only one man had the quiet steady courage to draw a long belt-gun against six rifles.

—He was Jimmy Montgomery, mute of the steamer.

Crouched beside a bale of wolf-skins, Jimmy had been pointing out things ashore to his four-year-old daughter. At the cry he glanced up, saw the bandits, understood instantly, and his face hardened. He was mounted-trained, Jimmy was—seven years with the scarlet-and-gold Mounties of the Right. Showing his baby girl behind the wolf pelt, he whispered, "Lie down, sweet; keep down, down," and rose to his feet.

His first bullet, fired from the hip, sang between two bandits and whanged into the plies beyond. His second knocked the floppy steamer from a bander's head. His third was never fired. A Savage spoke out sharply. Jimmy grabbed at his breast, his revolver dropped to the boards, he swayed a moment, then sank down, shot cleanly through the heart.

Father Claverly heard a mutter arising among the crowd; heard the shuffling of feet, the half-hysterical sobbing of women, the snarling oaths of men. Out of the corner of his eye he saw men glancing at one another, waiting for one of their number to raise—the long yell—but he realized that this ominous, swelling mutter was the prelude of a concerted rush.

The bandits realized it, too. It was plain to Father Claverly that they had not bargained on a battle, and were covering at the prospect of rifle talk. But there was no retreating now; they would be forced to fight. In a flashing thought he visioned this deck as it would be a few moments hence: the criminals, rifle-armed, shooting from cover of the cargo piles; the blood-spattered promenade, with women and children caught in that swath of death.

In the next instant Father Claverly saw how he might stop the slaughter. Stepping forward from the rail, he uplifted his arm to draw the eyes and attention of the bandits. Obnoxious to personal danger, thinking only of the innocent lives he might save, Father Claverly walked up closer, closer, till the criminals could have touched him with their guns. Either his calm mien or his black robe and hat had power over those rifles, for the muzzles swerved aside from him.

"Don't shoot again," he bade quietly, as one with authority. "You have killed a man. You have murdered."

The dark-faced bandit who had fired the shot flinched before that steady unflinching gaze, and turned his eyes away from Father Claverly's.

"I was compelled to kill him. He should not have interfered with us," Father Claverly scorned so ill-mannered a justification of a brutal killing. Turning away from the bandits, he faced the crowd. Steady, clear, his voice rose:

"Men! Don't stir! Don't make a shambles of this deck. There's nothing aboard this boat so precious as the lives that would be lost. Let them take what they want and go peacefully."

His appeal fell on deaf ears. A slow vengeful wrath was gathering. . . . Jimmy Montgomery, known and loved all along the Mackenzie, lay murdered there on the deck. . . . Those killers were going to pay for that barbarous crime.

The snarling oaths rose again; the muttering swelled audibly; hands crept down and closed upon belt-gun butts. . . .

It was the bandit leader who stopped the rush, who stopped it dead short at one stroke. Swinging his gun at a young schoolmistress, Margaret Fournier, one of the passengers, he ordered her: "Step up here, sister; step up here."

Now, under the leadership of a huge red-headed fellow, they stood on a pile of deck cargo amidships, watching each way. With repeating rifles alert in their hands, they loomed ugly and menacing over the crowd.

Father Claverly, quickly recovering from his shock, stared sharply at the six men, trying to identify them. One was a "breed"; the other five were nondescript whites. All of them were unknown to him.

Coming up presently, they lowered their body into the two birch-bark canoes that bobbed against the side of the steamer.

As though every man aboard realized that the bandits held the whip-hand, that no one dared stir, that retaliation must come from elsewhere, a whisper started, spontaneously, from a dozen points at once:

"Baker! Alan Baker! Sergt. Alan Baker!"

This whisper went from neighbor to neighbor, from group to group; and men smiled grimly as they heard this more mention of a man's name:

"Baker! Sergt. Alan Baker—at Fort Endurance."

Another of the bandits, protected by that rifle pointing at Margaret Fournier's breast, walked boldly out among the passengers; and securing a fire ax, he went from boat to boat on deck, smashing their frail sides so that there could be no pursuit, no retaliation, if the two canoes could only get out of rifle range of the steamer.

Seeing now that the threat to Margaret Fournier's life had checked all thought of a rush, Father Claverly walked toward the stack of wolf-skins, crossing himself as he stepped over the dark stream of blood that trickled slowly toward a scupper. Bowing, he picked up the little Montgomery girl, who was looking with wide, uncomprehending eyes at the body of her father. Merely taking her away from there, he walked over to the rail, holding the little girl so that she could not look back.

The men beside him said in a low voice: "Look at that devil smashing the boats! They must have planned that 'equilibrium' beforehand, so we couldn't chase 'em. But don't that big red-haired devil know we'll be splintering their canoes afore they get ten rods gone? G—d!—what we'll do to them six!"

The whisper spread. . . . "Wait! Wait! they start away. . . ." Men folded their arms, and watched quietly, biding their moment of vengeance.

And then, when the canoes were loaded with their booty, the red-headed leader played his last and best card. Flipping his gun at Margaret Fournier, he ordered her:

"Get down into one of them canoes, sister. We're going to carry you a couple miles up this Big Alouka here and set you off on a bar, see? We ain't meaning to harm you at all. Just start anking over and climbing down into a boat. . . . That's right; that's a sensible girl. . . ."

He raised his voice so that every one could hear; he spoke to Margaret Fournier, but his words were intended for the men aboard:

"Some of these fellows is figuring to shoot h—l out of us afore we can get clean gone, see? But they'd better think twice about that. And I guess they will. First hunk of lead comes whistling our direction, you'll git a bullet square between them pretty eyes, sister!"

CHAPTER II

A Northern Man

At Fort Endurance, in his big three-room cabin overlooking the rest of the post, Alan Baker was changing uniform and making himself regimental again, after a four-day patrol to a camp of drunken Hares.

Just turned thirty, tall and lanky and powerful of body, Baker had shaken off the last vestige of an unhappy boyhood and his three harrowing years across. He was in the prime of a virile and hardened manhood. Coming here to Endurance as a corporal seven years ago, with Jimmy Montgomery and Curt Spaulding as his conscripts, he had speedily showed his worth as a "northern man" and a detachment leader able to cope with frontier problems. To him it was like coming into his own. In his boyhood he had daydreamed of hunting big game; and here, at this post just beneath the Arctic circle, these daydreams had been realized, though in a strange way. For here he had hunted the biggest of big game—human game that had intelligence to match against his; that carried a rifle in its hands, and wore a belt-gun, and must be captured alive, at risk of his own life.

During the years that he had been officer commanding here, he had built up an enviable reputation. With his gradually increasing pack of northern men he had successfully brought his big territories through Indian troubles and epidemics, and had smashed those lawless elements that came in with the oil-prospecting rushes farther south.

With a record like that and with Superintendent Williamson as his friend, Alan had expected to get his commission last fall when this post was raised to an inspectorate. No one in all the Three Rivers country doubted that Baker would be the chosen man. To them, to Alan, the blow came unexpectedly. A political appointee named Haskell, a newcomer to the Force, a worse than raw newcomer to the North, got the inspectorship and command of this coveted detachment.

In these last months, Alan had been very thoughtful about his future. Here, at thirty, he found himself in a blind alley, a non-com on meager pay, with no hope of promotion. He had turned down the opportunity of going into a big mining company that was prospecting by planes through the Athabasca country. He had refused half a dozen offers that held prospect of advancement and fine money. And then the Force that he had given such loyalty to had betrayed him. Worst of all, most stinging of all, he was forced to unguise this territory still, straightening out the mistakes and enduring the arrogance of the man who had got the place he himself had earned.

As he brushed his sandy hair and dressed quickly, Alan's glance strayed down the slope to Mrs. Drummond's flower garden. Elizabeth Spaulding, his fiancée, the sister of this dead partner, was there.

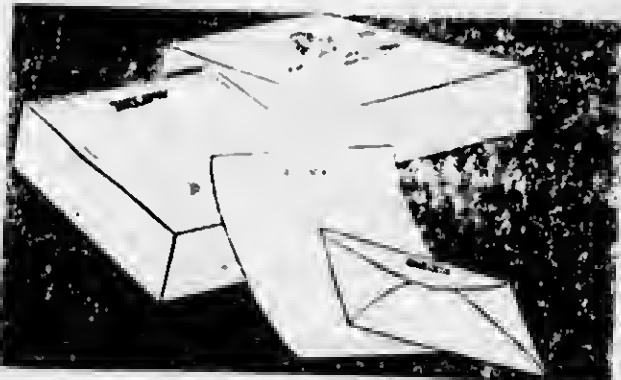

And Inspector Haskell was there with her. . . . that blue and gold of his uniform, through the shrubbery.

Alan wondered how many hours Haskell had spent with Elizabeth in these last four days.

GRANGES PLANNING BIG RALLY AT EMMET FAIR

Grangers of northern Michigan are making plans for Grange day, Friday, September 4, at the Emmet county fair. This grange rally is put on as an added attraction by the fair management, Roy V. Otto, secretary, and is sponsored by the Emmet granges.

The day's events start with a program at 10 o'clock a. m., standard time, at the grand stand. This includes music and short talks by J. C. McLin, chairman Emmet county fair board; Senator Campbell of Indian River, and Richard Paddock of Charlevoix. The main address will be given by Stanley M. Powell, overseer of the state grange, and a state representative.

Immediately after the program a picnic dinner will be held in the grove. Coffee, sugar and cream, will be furnished. Anyone ever attending a grange picnic knows the pleasure in store for them.

At one o'clock the parade forms. All granges are asked to have a banner. Three cash prizes are offered each division largest number from any grange outside Emmet, largest number from any county outside Emmet, and largest number from any grange in Emmet.

ROMANCE AND REALITY

SOMETIMES, when you turn the pages of a book, your mind is seeking romance. You long to leave a too-familiar world . . . to travel with the speed of thought to far-off purple lands . . . to bathe in tepid, lotus-scented surf.

But your weekly paper finds you in a more practical mood. . . Interested in real people, in the facts of the day. Looking for news of things that you may buy and enjoy—HERE AND NOW.

You may find in the advertisement just what you want in the way of a better breakfast food, or a new radio, or an improved face powder. If the thing fits into your living, is practical and possible and promising—you are vitally interested. Because you are reading about yourself!

Today, a great many things that were romantic dreams only ten years ago are common realities. Life has more color, more charm, more adventure. And the things that give it all these may be found in the advertising columns.

Advertising discusses realities—romantic ones often enough—but actual articles YOU can have for your own, new joys for YOUR family, stepping stone to YOUR happiness.

The advertisements in this paper are written for you. They are real. They are reliable.

GRANGERS ENJOY NORTHERN RALLY
Come From All Over This Part of State for Fun at Wolverine

Cheboygan county Grangers entertained two hundred grangers Tuesday at the fair grounds at Wolverine. Master and lecturer conference were held before noon. Delegations from Alpena, Charlevoix, Emmet, Otsego, Presque Isle and Cheboygan enjoyed the bountiful dinner; tables being set in one of the fair buildings.

Clair D. Scott, chairman, introduced state master, George F. Rozburgh, who took charge of the program. The Barnard grange band of Charlevoix played two delightful numbers.

James C. Farmer, Newberry, New Hampshire, national grange lecturer, gave the topic, "The Call of the Grange."

Mr. Rozburgh talked about taxation and grange influence urging economy and loyalty.

BURN CULL ONIONS TO CONTROL PESTS

Insect Enemy of This Crop Lives Over Winter in Remaining Refuse

Michigan onion growers can save trouble with their next year's crop if they destroy the culls from the present harvest and thus eliminate one of the principal hiding places of the pupae of the onion fly, according to the entomology department of Michigan State college.

Members of the department, through field observations made during the past three years, have found that the piles of cull onions left in the fields furnish an ideal winter home for this insect. When the new crop is planted the next year, adult flies emerge from the culls and lay eggs on the growing onions.

The culls should be destroyed immediately because some of the larvae of the onion maggot leave the culls and pupate in the ground beneath the piles. The next spring, the adult flies emerge from the pupae cases in the soil.

Burying deep in the soil or burning will destroy the onion maggots in the cull onions. The maggots are the larvae of a fly which is about the size of the ordinary house fly. Control of the insect after it becomes established in the growing crop is difficult and expensive.

MICHIGAN AUTO TITLE FORMS TO BE CHANGED

Offer Greater Security and Protection, State Department Says

The automobile title division of the Department of State, within a few weeks, is to change the form of automobile titles in order to give greater security to the purchaser and the holder of the mortgage.

The new titles are to be a dark buff in color while the present titles are green. In addition to the title, each application will have a perforated slip attached to the bottom. This slip will contain all facts relative to the mortgage and after the title has been approved by the department, this slip is to be detached and sent to the mortgagee. This will eliminate possibility of two or more liens being imposed on the same car.

On the back of the title, space is provided to allow a record to be made when a mortgage has been completely paid. Thus the new titles will be able to give the complete financial history of every automobile sold in the future. To protect the state in issuing yearly license plates, the weight of all pleasure cars is to be perforated in the upper left hand corners of all new titles.

Most any subscriber to this paper can spare a few dollars to pay for it; if all of them did so we could tell the difference.

The people who live in small cities, like Charlevoix, seldom realize the value of the neighborly spirit that exists.

THUMB LAKE PLACE MAKES TOURIST BID

Bass and Perch Fishing Famous at Charlevoix County Resort

Crescent beach, on Thumb lake, is one of the newest additions to the list of northern Michigan playground places. While Thumb lake has long been known to many fishermen as the finest inland lake for perch in northern Michigan, it is only this week that the management of the property about the lake has decided to really enter the business of attracting visitors.

Thumb lake is located on the Thumb lake road, leading east of Boyne Falls. The highway leaves M-131 just north of Boyne Falls and is plainly marked to the lake. Crescent beach is on the east end of the lake, where clean, well made boats are obtained at moderate prices. Bait also is furnished. Both bass and perch are found in the many deep waters of the lake. Fishing is usually had at a depth of about 60 feet, from waters fed by cold, clear, pure springs. The fish are solid and fine eating.

The place is in charge of Manager Lawrence, whose boat livery is known as the Lawrence boat livery.

WILL SHOW JOURNEY OF DAIRY PRODUCTS

Exhibit at Detroit Fair to Explain Care Needed for Good Milk

Milk producers and milk consumers will have a chance to see just how much work is involved in the production of milk, its care in handling, and in its distribution when they visit the exhibit which is being prepared for the state fair at Detroit by Michigan State college.

The exhibit will trace the journey made by this food product from the time it is drawn from the cow's udder until it is placed on the buyer's doorstep. A display of the operations which are needed to produce a wholesome product and to meet the requirements made by boards of health will explain to the consumers why good milk can not be cheap milk.

Visitors will be shown the feeds which must be supplied to maintain the production of milk, the kind of cows which must be kept to produce milk profitably, and the methods used to obtain clean milk. Another portion of the exhibit will show how the milk companies handle this food product after it reaches their plants from the farms.

The home economics department of the college will have a section of the exhibit to show the many ways in which milk and dairy products can be used on the family table. Ways to make milk products an attractive food for children will be a part of this exhibit.

TB CHRISTMAS SEALS OFFER NEW DESIGN

25th Annual Sale Will Begin Thanksgiving Day, Ends at Christmas

One of the first greetings of the 1931 Christmas season is being sent from the Michigan Tuberculosis association in the form of a sample of the Christmas seals which will be used in the twenty-fifth annual seal sale. The seal itself is a reminder of the sort of Christmas season which folks used to enjoy in the days of home-made plum puddings and when Santa Claus was satisfied with his reindeer and sleigh.

On the seal, which is printed in the traditional red and green of the season, are pictured a merry party of Christmas celebrants drawn by four prancing horses. Below the scene is the phrase "25th Annual Sale."

A note with the seal carries the information that the 1931 seal campaign will start on Thanksgiving day, Nov. 29, continuing up to Christmas day. Work on the distribution of the seals has already started in the offices of the Michigan Tuberculosis association and affiliated local societies.

AT THE MOVIES

Two Directors Used in New Film—One Handles Dialogue

It is not unusual for a picture to have two directors these days—one to direct the picture, and the other for the dialogue. In the case of "A Woman of Experience," the RKO Pathe picture coming Friday and Saturday of this week to the Palace theatre, much time was saved by having two directors. While Harry Joe Brown was at the megaphone during the shooting of a scene, Ralph Murphy rehearsed the rest of the cast with their dialogue. Therefore, when Mr. Brown was ready to rehearse the next scene, the players had already received coaching for the dialogue.

Helen Twelvetrees plays the starring role in "A Woman of Experience," with a splendid supporting cast of players. Among them are William Bakewell, Lew Cody, Zasu Pitts, H. B. Warner, Franklin Pangborn, Nance O'Neill and George Fawcett.

Brook Plays Masterful Role in Exciting Film Melodrama

Deep, elemental emotions underlay the plot of "Silence," the new Clive Brook-Marjorie Rambeau-Peggy Shannon melodrama, which comes to the Palace theatre Sunday for two days. It is a gripping story of a man's betrayal of the woman he loves, and his final awakening to a greater love when his daughter is imperiled by the misdeeds of his own past.

New Fashions Bring Back Feminine Touch

The new motif in fashion will help the modern woman to recapture feminine technique.

That is the edict of Ina Claire, the stage's foremost delineator of the modern woman, who brings her talents to the screen once more in the RKO Pathe version of "Rebound" coming next Tuesday and Wednesday to the Palace theatre.

Miss Claire's qualifications to discuss dress and the modern woman are attested by her reputation as the best dressed woman on the American stage.

Spencer Tracy will be seen in his fourth Fox production when "Goldie," boisterous comedy of roasting and romancing, opens at the Palace theatre Thursday. Warren Hymer, who was teamed with Tracy in "Up The River," is again co-starred as a dumb, girl-crazy sailor. Jean Harlow, the screen's most vivid platinum blonde, portrays the title role. Benjamin Stoloff directed.

PROBE FOREST
BLAZES NORTHCLAIM FIRES SET TO DRAW FIGHTERS' PAYState Police and Conservation Off-cers Dispatched to Whitefish Bay Region to Investigate

Unemployed persons are firing the Michigan north woods to collect the 30-cents-an-hour wage for aiding state rangers to fight the flames. George R. Hogarth, director of conservation, said Saturday.

State police and conservation officers were dispatched to the Whitefish Bay region, where 24 mysterious fires have started recently, all very near the camping grounds of a group of 3,000 berry pickers—mostly unemployed persons from the lower peninsula. The department has offered a reward of $25 for any information leading to arrest and conviction of a firebug.

"For the first time in years," Hogarth's statement said, "we have evidence of widespread incendiarism in the north woods. General unemployment, coupled with the driest period since 1912 is running up heavy fire losses. If the season continues dry and the fire-bugs are not headed in, the losses may be tremendous and almost anything may be burned out."

"If this thing continues, forests, game cover, resorts, cottages, and even towns may go in spite of all the regular fire fighting organizations can do."

Hogarth said the condition was most acute in the Whitefish Bay region where the forests are dry as tinder. The group of berry pickers living in camps and travelling by automobile, has practically finished the huckleberry picking—by which most of them are living, unable to get steady jobs.

No evidence to incriminate any members of the camp has so far been found, Hogarth admitted, but rumors are widespread that unscrupulous members of the group have deliberately set forest fires so they would be "impressed" to fight them at 30 cents an hour.

"A check of every automobile in the area will be made," he said, "and all persons found in berry tracts will be questioned. If we do find that any berry pickers are to blame, either through deliberate criminal intent or carelessness, we will move the entire group out of the forests."

Forest fires this year in Michigan total 4,500 to date, of which 1,500 were either carelessly or maliciously set, the conservation department estimated. Approximately 50 persons throughout the state have been prosecuted for setting blazes either through carelessness or intentionally.

Cost of Fighting
The state paid $350,000 for "impressed" fire fighters last year, and Hogarth estimated the cost this year, at the present rate, would be $400,000, at 30 cents an hour. The director introduced a bill in the last legislature to cut the wage to 20 cents an hour, but the bill was amended to set a maximum of 35 cents, and was later allowed to die in committee.

"The 30 cents an hour paid by the state to emergency fire fighters is evidently proving inducement enough to make outright criminals of a few vicious persons," Hogarth's statement continued. "We have hesitated to give publicity to such a situation, for fear that the suggestion might merely stimulate and increase the trouble. But the department hasn't and can't hope to have enough men to fight the regular run of fires, plus these incendiary blazes, and at the same time do enough detective work to catch these fire-bugs.

"Under these circumstances it seemed best to let the entire public know the facts and to enlist the help of every intelligent and right-minded citizen. Nothing less than this can cope with the menace."

CRISIS IN COAL MINING

The difficulties in the coal mining regions in the east and central west, which are apparent by the continuance of strikes, and the inability of even the union officials to control their own adherents, calls attention to the fact that the wheat farmers are not the only ones who are insisting on over-production expecting the market to respond with prices which will pay good returns to the producers.

To begin with, the demand for bituminous coal is being hit from various quarters. One of these was the production of electrical energy from water power. The second attack is from the economies in coal use which have been devised. It formerly required four pounds of coal per horsepower hour to produce energy. Today the figure in the most economical plants is nearer one pound.

Moreover other fuels are replacing coal, petroleum first and now natural gas. The basis of competition in price is per heat unit, which is the proper basis.

The results are that it goes farther than it used to go, and that less of it is needed comparatively speaking. Even the railroads are consuming less coal than in former years. This places no market for high-priced coal mining operations except at slaughter prices.

Coal production will have to be prorated and expensive mining of low grade coals stop before the mining situation is settled. Unless the miners act more quickly than did the wheat farmers, however, the situation is not at all promising.

ROADS AND TRAFFIC

Road building has increased only one-eighth as fast as motor vehicle production, according to Roger Babson quoted in a recent statement: "In large cities it now requires more time to go from one place to another than it did five years ago."

An idea of the increase in traffic on rural roads is given by W. F. Rosenwald of the Minnesota state highway department in a traffic count which showed that 37 automobiles and 51 horse rigs a day on a road in that state in 1912, as compared with 3,284 automobiles and three horse rigs on a Sunday on the same road in 1930.

Money spent for road improvement in northern Michigan is yielding good returns, most persons will agree.

SCRAPPING OLD CARS

Nearly three million motor vehicles were junked during 1930 and approximately the same number of new units were sold in the domestic market, according to "The Business Week," with registrations increasing only 22,000 over 1929. Manufacturers representing 87 per cent of total production are reported to have adopted a plan for scrapping old cars, which has accounted for junking about 350,000 units, whereby reserve funds established by the manufacturers are used to compensate dealers when cars are scrapped.

Commanding all the other buildings at Fort Endurance, Alan's cabin, which he and Curt Spaulding had built for themselves one summer, was light and airy, homelike with fireplace, bookshelves, radio, flower pots on the ledges; and comfortable with good furniture, which Jimmy Montgomery had turned over to him when Jimmy's young wife died. But in spite of its comforts after barracks life, the cabin was lonely to Alan. Eighteen months rolling by had not made him forget a dead partner. Every log and every nail in the building held some memory of Curt Spaulding; and Curt's picture, his chevrons, his empty gun, were poignant reminders of that fatal patrol a year ago last January.

When he finished dressing, Alan stepped over to a deep alcove, a sort of library and study—a tiny niche for a man so tall and lanky. Above the work table hung a shelf of dog-eared books and three pictures framed in carved walrus ivory. One was of Elizabeth Spaulding taken two years ago when she came down north to this Waterways country to live with Curt, her brother. Another was of Jimmy Montgomery in Jimmy's "walking-out" uniform, taken before Jimmy got his raw deal from headquarters and bought out of the Mounted.

The third was of Curt Spaulding. And that picture, flanked with the chevrons and the belt-gun, hung more prominently than even the other two, as though, while that face always in front of him, Alan felt less lonely for his dead partner and could imagine Curt here in this cabin still.

In Curt's death he had lost the best and truest friend he had ever had or ever would have; and he knew that through all the years of his life he would be lonely for that strong hand-clasp and a voice he once had known. From a little playmate between two logs—a secret mailbox for himself and his hard-working men—Alan pulled out a scrawled note from Corporal Bill Hardsack. He had to smile as he read, for the note was so like Bill.

"Somebody found an awfully dead Smokey on a mud bar down river this side the Big Alouksin, Alan. He probably got drowned in the break-up but I'm going down to see who he is so's he won't be drawing treaty money by proxy for the next 20 years."

Alan sat down to write out the report of his last patrol. But his thoughts strayed to Elizabeth in the garden; to Haskell, there with her. He knew that these trips he constantly was sent on, these trivial assignments that took him away for days at a time, were deliberate on Haskell's part, to get him out of the road. With anger at this gross abuse of authority, he thought: "If Haskell could come within a mile of managing this post himself, he'd frame some detail to keep me out in the bush altogether. Any person who'll wield his official power in a personal matter like this . . . They need to cut off a knight's spurs with an ax."

There was little passion in Alan's emotions toward Elizabeth, but there was a sturdy loyalty and a certain blind identification of her as a girl. In that fatal patrol he and she had suffered a mutual loss of partner, brother. During the eighteen months since then, he had been her only friend here at Endurance, for even Mrs. Drummond, with whom she was living, did not like her. To have a girl so dependent upon him, not only for friendship but for maintenance itself, aroused a very tender and protective attitude in Alan.

But at times, deep in his heart, he was troubled about his engagement to Elizabeth. At times the fear rose in him that their marriage was going to be a terrible mistake. Something lacked in their betrothal; they weren't the deep and intimate friends they should be.

It shocked him to realize he was going into marriage with a girl knowing he did not love her wholeheartedly. In brooding hours, when he thought of another girl in his life, of Joyce MacMillan and his comradely intimacy with her, the old longing for that deeper and richer relation surged through him. He grew bitter at the secret powerful circumstances which had separated him from Joyce; which he kept locked within himself, telling no one, neither Joyce nor Elizabeth.

To other folks at Endurance, Alan's engagement to Elizabeth Spaulding had come as a staggering surprise. Knowing nothing of the all powerful reason which had driven him to that engagement, they felt he had treated Joyce MacMillan rather badly; and not even their friendship for him would make them accept Elizabeth.

Father Claverly, alone, of all the people at Endurance, knew that there was something back of that engagement which Alan had kept to himself—some hidden reason, some unutterable fact, that would explain it. At first he had thought that the profound shock of a partner's death had caused Alan to turn to Elizabeth; but with the passing months he became convinced the reason was not that. It was something deeper and more lasting.

With infinite sorrow Father Claverly had seen Alan's fine comradeship with Joyce break up and had watched the engagement come about. He saw that Elizabeth was a wise, cool-headed girl, very clever at managing relationships for her own ends. In the good priest's opinion the marriage of this cool-headed, calculating girl to a man so sincere and warm-hearted, would be a sorry, sorry pass.

When Elizabeth came in the door, she merely nodded to Alan's warm greeting. In her precise tones she said:

"I want to talk to you, Alan, about something very important to us both. Unless you're too busy. . ."

Her rebuff hurt Alan. Her coldness, her lack of any passion, were always bewildering to him.

Waiting, painfully aware he could never answer her arguments, he glanced out the window at the river and shimmering blue hills. A mile down the broad Mackenzie a canoe, a small patrol craft with outboard motor, came whirling around a headland.

Alan thought: "That's Bill Hardsack coming. And coming wide open. Something's happened."

Elizabeth saw the craft, too. But she glanced only once at it, entirely uninterested. Police work—patrols, arrests, map surveys, treaty money, pellets to be stumped, bickering Indians—all this bored her, now that the novelty of it had worn off.

She loved Alan—with reservations. She admired his natural-born leadership over other men; admired his rugged honesty, especially in contrast to Haskell's lack of it. In their life together, Alan would always be loyal to her; she could always depend upon Alan Baker. And he could get her what she wanted of life. Much better than he himself did, she realized he had qualities that would take him far in any other profession; a good intellect, ambition, the ability to work hard, and—most valuable of all—a rare capacity for friendship.

All in all, Elizabeth felt that if only he did not choose to hurry himself here in this northern backwoods Alan Baker was by far the likeliest man, of the four or five she had known well, to lift her out of destitute poverty to a more agreeable plane of life.

She said, "You know what I want to talk about." She asked pointedly, "When your term is up next month, are you going to re-enlist or not?"

SHAKESPEARE CAMP FINAL PRODUCTION

PRESENT "TWELFTH NIGHT"
SATURDAY AND SUNDAY

Final Performance to be Given in Outdoor Theatre—Express Appreciation for Fine Support

The success of "As You Like It," which the Shakespeare Memorial Players presented last week in their open air theatre at the camp at Iron-ton, has prompted them to present one more of Shakespeare's rollicking comedies as the final performance of the season.

"Twelfth Night," which is perhaps one of Shakespeare's most amusing and laugh-provoking comedies, has been chosen to top off the 1931 season. It will be given in the open air theatre on Saturday and Sunday afternoons at three o'clock. It is expected there will be a large crowd to attend this farewell production by this season's company of players.

WOOD BROTHERS
CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

Several new members have been added to the company for the final production. Most of them have been with the Michigan Repertory Players at Ann Arbor this season.

Miss Nana Todd, who will play the flippant, scheming Maria, who intensifies the most comic situations in the play, has been assistant on the staff of the Michigan Repertory Players this summer and has played many important roles with that company. Her most outstanding success was in the part of Sylvia in Marivaux's "Love and Chance," which was produced at Ann Arbor this summer under the direction of Jean Mercier, the distinguished French director. Last season Miss Todd was leading woman with the Sandusky Civic Players. She is well known at Michigan University for her many characterizations there in her student work.

Another player from the Michigan Repertory Players is Richard Purser, who distinguished himself last week as the scintillating clown Touchstone in "As You Like It." Mr. Purser also played one of the leading roles in the Ann Arbor production of "Love and Chance" under director Mercier, and was a member of the Sandusky Civic Players last season. He has taken part in numerous university productions and has created some very interesting characterizations during the past year.

Franklin Comins, a graduate of Michigan University, will also be seen in "Twelfth Night" in the inimitable character of Sir Toby Belch, the drunken uncle to Olivia. He has played character parts with the Flint Theatre Guild, Comedy Club and the Michigan Repertory Players.

The players are happy to announce that Mrs. Ruth Ann Dowd of Charlevoix, will appear as Olivia.

In closing the season, the players feel deeply grateful to the people of Charlevoix for their cooperation both as audience and as a source of supply for properties and costumes so necessary to the good production of a play. The people of Iron-ton and members of the summer colony about the camp have been very kind in assisting in any way possible with the various camp shows. The players hope to make the 1932 season an even better and more distinguished season than this has been.

PROGRAM IS COMPLETE FOR EMMET FREE FAIR

Four-Day Event Scheduled for September 1-4—Many Attractions

Every plan and detail has been thoroughly worked out for the Emmet county free fair which is to be held in Petoskey at the fair grounds September 1, 2, 3, 4. Fair officials feel that this year they will have more to offer the general public than they ever had before and feel confident that the people who visit the fair will be more than pleased with the exhibits, entertainments, races, etc.

The purses for the horse races have been increased over what was offered last year and this promises to bring many more horses and faster races here. The races in the southern part of the state this year have been better, with faster horses and competition much keener than in former years and without a doubt these will be at the Petoskey fair this year.

The floral and art building are already overflowing with fine exhibits as well as the other exhibit buildings. There will be a horse show, which, according to officials, will be the largest which has been held at the Emmet county fair in a good many years. Entries of cattle and other farm animals have exceeded the building rooms for them and the management is faced with a problem as to know just what to do with some of them.

Concessions for the large midway have been fully taken and much is looked for in the way of amusement for the patrons this year. The large, elaborate public wedding is a certainty now according to the secretary, Mr. Otto, who states that the couple have been obtained for the legal ceremony which will be held.

Baseball games will also be staged again this year.

There will be a dance at Maple Grove grange hall every Saturday evening. Good music, good order. Everybody welcome.—Adv. 3411.

LEGION PLANS CARNIVAL DANCE AND FAIR

Event Will Be Held at Gymnasium Tuesday Evening, September 1

Leslie T. Shapton Post No. 226, American Legion, is planning a carnival dance and fair to be held at the high school gymnasium on Tuesday evening, September 1st, with Wex-staff's orchestra furnishing the music.

This dance will be at popular prices and will be a smashing good-time wind-up of the summer's activities. There will be dances both round and square and many valuable articles will be given away as well as foodstuffs. You may win a ham or a side of bacon or a blanket, or a set of dishes, or what have you.

Remember the good time you had at Jeff's the night the car was given away. This one to come will be even better.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

Reading room Tuesday and Saturday, 3:00 to 5:00 p. m.
The public is cordially invited to all services.

"Mind" was the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Christian Science churches on Sunday, August 23rd. Among the citations which comprised the lesson-sermon was the following from the Bible: "Happy is the man that findeth wisdom, and the man that getteth understanding." (Prov. 3:13).

The lesson-sermon also included the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Belief in a material basis, from which may be deduced all rationality, is slowly yielding the idea of a metaphysical basis, looking away from matter to Mind as the cause of every effect." (p. 268).

METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH

Morning worship at 10:30.
Church school at 9:30.
Evening service at 7:45.
On Friday evening at 8 o'clock Dr. Randall will conduct the final quarterly conference in the church parlors. This will be the last visit of the present superintendent, as he closes his term of office.

Ladies' Aid at the parsonage on Tuesday at 2:30, with the Epworth Ladies' Aid as guests.

Digest of Hunting Laws

The 1931-32 Digest of Hunting Laws will be issued by the department of conservation about September 1.

The new digest will list all of the hunting regulations as changed by the 1931 legislature. Supplies of the new digests will be sent to all conservation officers and to all license agents.

OF INTEREST TO FARMERS

By B. C. Mellencamp

Check Internal Parasites Now
This is the usual time of the year when sheep and more commonly, lambs, are found dead in the pasture. Many of these deaths are unaccountable, but it is thought that parasites are the chief cause.

Parasitic infestation may occur at any time of the year, but the trouble is usually noticed in young lambs about the middle of the summer. High temperatures and sufficient moisture are favorable to the spread of parasitic infestation. Less trouble can be expected from internal parasites during cool dry seasons than during a season of the kind we are experiencing this year.

Sheep affected by these parasites are unthrifty, usually show a loss of flesh, are dull and languid, have a pale, papery skin and move around with a slow, lazy gait, and the infested animal is most always nemic. The death losses are most common in the younger animals as they are weaker and more subject to the ravages of these parasites. This fact makes it necessary that the flock be regularly drenched.

The treatment most commonly used by successful sheep men in the state is a drench made up of a combination of copper sulphate and black leaf forty. To make the solution use one ounce of nicotine sulphate and one ounce of black leaf forty to three quarts of water, then from this solution give the ewes four ounces, gradually dropping off to about two ounces for the lambs.

It is advisable to drench the flock at least three times during the grazing season as a preventive measure. Have you drenched your flock yet? If not, it will be to your benefit to drench right away as it is quite necessary to drench your flock three or four times a year to prevent heavy losses from parasitic infestation.

Considering how critical the average woman is of her husband's friends, the husband is apt to wonder how he ever got by himself.

COUNTY PICNIC IS LABOR DAY EVENT

CITY AND RURAL INTERESTS TO

Club Exhibits and Demonstration, Ball Game and Sports Attractions Listed on Program

(By B. C. Mellencamp.)
All roads lead to Whiting county park on Labor day, Monday, September 7th, where the 9th annual Charlevoix county picnic will be held. Everyone cordially invited whether young or old. Something doing every minute of the day. Come early and stay late. Forget your troubles, meet your friends you haven't seen for some time, and enjoy the wonderful facilities that abound on all sides at Whiting park.

The big feature of the day will be the summer achievement day for the members of the boys' and girls' 4-H clubs held in connection with the picnic. You will be highly interested in seeing something like 500 quarts of fruits and vegetables, jellies, jams, canned meats, etc., displayed by at least 70 girls from all sections of the county. In addition there will be over 20 calves, and some six pigs shown by our livestock club members. These will be judged and special awards given to the winners.

Also you will have the opportunity of hearing two demonstration teams give demonstrations on "Steps in Canning," and "How to Select a Good Type Dairy Cow." Miss Hazel Mosley and Beth Simpson of Boyne Falls will give the canning demonstration, and Clayton Smith and Adolph Ecklund of Barnard will put on the dairy demonstration. Both teams have won trips to the Michigan state fair in recognition of their splendid demonstration work.

At one o'clock sports and running races will feature the program. There will be several new races that will be great fun.

Wonders will never cease! The farmers of the east side have challenged the farmers of the west side of the county for a red-hot ball game. The dividing line will be Ironston, so all farmers exulting in the great American past-time be on deck to "throw them past the batter." It is rumored that several hay-throwers handle a mean hat. The game will start around 2:30 o'clock. Surely no one will want to miss the big ball game.

Music for the day will be furnished by the Barnard rural band. They already enjoy a fine reputation and their ability as entertainers is unquestioned. The band is under the direction of George Block, who has spent considerable time free gratis in developing this fine young group of musicians.

A picnic dinner will be enjoyed at noon. Bring your lunch basket. Whiting park has wonderful water, a fine bathing beach, and facilities, and most cordially invites you to enjoy its beauty.

All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy, so let's at least take this one day off and play together.

HOSPITAL RECEIVES BIRTHDAY BEQUEST

North Side Group Honor Jonas Hiller
By Unusual Method

Charlevoix hospital funds were increased recently by a gift of $36.00 from a group of North Side summer residents.

The gift was given for Jonas Hiller of New Orleans, La., on the occasion of his birthday, the donors taking this method of remembering their friend, feeling that he would enjoy being remembered in such a way. It was specified the amount was to be used for the purchase of three night tables.

CHILD HEALTH GROUP WILL MEET SEPT. 3RD

Fall Gathering to Be Held Friday Afternoon at Marion Center

Miss Grace Congdon, public health nurse for Charlevoix county, has announced the September meeting of the county Child Health Committee for Thursday afternoon, September 3rd.

The meeting will be held at Marion Center Grange hall at 3 o'clock eastern standard time. A special invitation has been extended to all school directors, as the subject of the meeting will be the school program for 1931-32.

LOCAL BALL CLUB DE- FEAT INDIAN RIVER

Tucked Away Their Sixth Home
Victory by 9 to 4 Score

Charlevoix's Indian baseball nine stamped themselves as one of the strongest independent combinations in Northern Michigan last Sunday by trouncing a strong Indian River team 9 to 4. The victory was the sixth straight for the local aggregation on their home field.

Indian River scored their first run in the opening inning, and a home run with two on in the seventh gave them their four tallies. By their combined efforts, Dagwell of Indian River, and "Stub" Williams of Charlevoix, struck out seven men and allowed Charlevoix 21 hits.

Colby, Charlevoix hurler, struck out seven and held the visitors to scattered singles. Jake Amon, local center fielder, featured in the batting for Charlevoix. On two occasions he poled out 2-baggers with a pair on base. Charlevoix scored in nearly every inning.

Manager Glen Rose takes his Indians to Brutus next Sunday. Brutus is Colby's home town, and the Emmet team is out to hand him a set-back. Brutus will play a return game here a week from Sunday.

CADDY GOLF TOUR- NAMENT STARTED

QUALIFYING ROUNDS, MATCH PLAY ON THIS WEEK

Five Best Caddies Receive Awards
September 8th—Substantial Amount Added to Savings

The annual caddy tournament at the Charlevoix Golf Club, an event always looked forward to with anticipation by the caddies, got under way on Tuesday of this week.

Qualifying rounds will probably occupy a couple of days and match play commences Thursday. Two flights of sixteen players will fight it out for the prizes offered by the golf club officials.

Last year's winner and runner-up in the first flight were Bill Novak and Corrie McCall, respectively. These two lads have entered this year and all probability will go to the finals. McCall has been a previous champion. The 1930 second flight winners were Harold Potter and Otto Russell.

In case amateurs desirous of keeping their standing win the awards, prizes will be given instead of cash, thus dispensing with any cause for disbarment of the winners from athletic competition on account of receiving cash prizes.

In addition to the golf tournament, the golf club annually gives cash prizes of $10, $5, $3, $2 and $1 as efficiency and conduct awards to the five caddies maintaining the highest standard of work and behavior throughout the season. Winners of these prizes will be announced September 8th.

At the close of the season, the members of the Chicago Club also will add ten per cent to all caddies' savings accounts as shown on the pass book of one of the local banks. It must show that deposits have been made regularly throughout the season, and the amount deposited will be compared with the total amount earned by the depositor during the season.

The golf club for many years gave the caddies an excursion near the close of the season. Last year this plan was substituted by a field day.

MANITOU FLOATS OFF TO DRYDOCK

Pontoons Used to Float Vessel Off
Rocks of St. Mary's River

Late Thursday the steamship Manitou of the Michigan Transit company floated free of her mud and rock cradle in the St. Mary's river.

The removal was accomplished by means of pontoons placed around the boat, sunk and then pumped full of air. A portion of the crew, which remained aboard the Manitou during its ten days' roost, reports the ship uninjured, but to satisfy the underwriters, she must be dry-docked at Manitowoc, Wis., a day to positively ascertain her condition.

Within a few days the boat will resume its regular Chicago-Northern Michigan run. O. E. Wilbur, local agent, stated.

OBSERVE ANNIVER- SARY CHICAGO CLUB

PROGRAM FRIDAY EVENING WILL DEDICATE 50TH
YEAR OF ITS EXISTENCE—FOUNDED NOVEMBER, 1880

Brayton Saltonstall, One of Founders, a Resident of Charlevoix—Four Generations Represented in Families of Present Members—Old Customs Have Been Preserved

A half century ago, in August 1880, Caleb F. Gates, Silas M. Moore and Rev. E. O. Goodwin, prominent Chicagoans, came to northern Michigan on a fishing trip and, incidentally, seeking a summer resort site. At the same time another Chicagoan, Brayton Saltonstall, was in the north on a similar mission.

A spot at Charlevoix attracted their fancy, and in November of the same year, the group of three and the individual mentioned combined their dreams, and at the West Monroe street residence of Mr. Moore in Chicago, the Chicago Summer Resort Company was formed. A thirty-acre tract was purchased from John Dixon, one of Charlevoix's first pioneers. Others were interested in the project and it soon became a reality.

Through fifty years this club has lived and progressed, and on Friday evening, September 4th, its 50th anniversary will be observed by members of what is now known as the Chicago Club of Charlevoix.

One of the founders was Melville E. Stone, late owner and publisher of the "Chicago Daily News" and for many years general manager of the Associated Press of the United States. In 1880, Mr. Stone wrote in the old Chicago News the following article concerning the Chicago Summer Resort Company:

"During the past summer a company of Chicago gentlemen, desirous of taking a breathing spell during the hot July and August days, took a trip up in the region of the 'fishing line.' They visited Mackinac, Petoskey and Charlevoix. At the latter place they stayed several days, charmed by its surroundings, its cool nights, the pleasant breezy days, the pure air, the absence of dust and heat of the city, all of which combined to make their stay very pleasant. One of the gentlemen, liking the place so well, secured a piece of land intending it for a summer residence lot. The three gentlemen, meeting some time after and comparing notes and opinions regarding Charlevoix, agreed to purchase a large tract of land and set it apart for a summer resort. This has been done, and a stock company formed, a charter obtained and enrolled under our state laws as the 'Chicago Summer Resort Company.' Their capital stock has been placed at $10,000 in shares of $100 each, subject to call. The land has been paid for and title secured. As soon as spring opens the place will be improved and made as beautiful as its situation demands. It is the intention of the company to spare no pains or expense to make the place very attractive to summer visitors. They have a fine location, high and dry, between two lakes, fronting on both. This will give fishing and fine boating grounds, besides this the resort is but a few miles from three of the best trout streams in the state of Michigan. Charlevoix is naturally adapted for a quiet, healthy summer resort.

"The officers of the company consist of the following well-known gentlemen: Caleb F. Gates, president; Silas M. Moore, vice-president; Harvey Dean, secretary; Brayton Saltonstall, treasurer; directors, Jas. M. Scoville, Robert M. Cherric, Jas. H. Moore, Caleb F. Gates, Silas Moore, Cuthbert Sprong, J. K. Harman, T. M. Avery, Rev. J. W. Dinmore."

Since the above article was written the resort has grown to its present status, and many men prominent in national affairs have been members. Among them was Adlia Stevenson, vice-president of the United States under Grover C. Cleveland; Judson Harmon, former governor of Ohio; Edwin F. Uhl of Grand Rapids, Mich., former ambassador to Germany, and many others.

In several instances the fourth and others the third generation of families identified with the resort's early history are members of the summer colony. The Uhl family built fifty years ago one of the first cottages and it is still occupied by their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Earl D. Babst, of New York, whose grandchildren are of the fourth generation. The Edward G. Shumway family, of Chicago, are also represented in the fourth generation by the grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. Solomon A. Smith and of Mr. and Mrs. John Stuart, both of Chicago, whose grandchildren also are of the fourth generation through the Robert Stuarts, of Chicago, also early members of the club. The Judson Harmon family are represented by a fourth generation in the child of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Wright of Cincinnati.

The late John P. Wilson, prominent Chicago attorney, joined the resort in 1883, and three generations of his family have been identified with Charlevoix summer life ever since. Mr. Wilson was the president for many years and under his guidance, the club progressed notably. One of his successful undertakings in association with the late Edward C. Waller of Chicago, was founding of the Charlevoix Golf Club in 1896, identifying it as one of the earliest in the United States. Originally the course was nine holes, but since has been enlarged to eighteen. John Stuart is now president of the Golf Club. Mr. Wilson was succeeded as president by William B. McVinnie, who became a member in 1885. Three generations of McVinnes as well as of the John B. Lord family, both of Chicago, have all been active in the club life for many years.

Many old customs have been preserved. Sunday evenings the members gather to sing hymns as they did fifty years ago. Mrs. Edwin F. Uhl was for many years organist at these services. Her place has been taken by her daughter, Mrs. Earl D. Babst, who as a child was present at the opening of the resort.

Sports have always featured activities at the resort. In early days, before the railroad and motor era, rowing was popular, and fishing. In keeping with the times, the resort now has an eighteen-hole golf course, a battery of four tennis courts and the largest fleet of 6 meter sail boats on fresh water. This summer there are ten such craft, all nationally and internationally famous, and a small group in the Manchester class.

Saltonstall, treasurer; directors, Jas. M. Scoville, Robert M. Cherric, Jas. H. Moore, Caleb F. Gates, Silas Moore, Cuthbert Sprong, J. K. Harman, T. M. Avery, Rev. J. W. Dinmore."

Since the above article was written the resort has grown to its present status, and many men prominent in national affairs have been members. Among them was Adlia Stevenson, vice-president of the United States under Grover C. Cleveland; Judson Harmon, former governor of Ohio; Edwin F. Uhl of Grand Rapids, Mich., former ambassador to Germany, and many others.

In several instances the fourth and others the third generation of families identified with the resort's early history are members of the summer colony. The Uhl family built fifty years ago one of the first cottages and it is still occupied by their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Earl D. Babst, of New York, whose grandchildren are of the fourth generation. The Edward G. Shumway family, of Chicago, are also represented in the fourth generation by the grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. Solomon A. Smith and of Mr. and Mrs. John Stuart, both of Chicago, whose grandchildren also are of the fourth generation through the Robert Stuarts, of Chicago, also early members of the club. The Judson Harmon family are represented by a fourth generation in the child of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Wright of Cincinnati.

The late John P. Wilson, prominent Chicago attorney, joined the resort in 1883, and three generations of his family have been identified with Charlevoix summer life ever since. Mr. Wilson was the president for many years and under his guidance, the club progressed notably. One of his successful undertakings in association with the late Edward C. Waller of Chicago, was founding of the Charlevoix Golf Club in 1896, identifying it as one of the earliest in the United States. Originally the course was nine holes, but since has been enlarged to eighteen. John Stuart is now president of the Golf Club. Mr. Wilson was succeeded as president by William B. McVinnie, who became a member in 1885. Three generations of McVinnes as well as of the John B. Lord family, both of Chicago, have all been active in the club life for many years.

Many old customs have been preserved. Sunday evenings the members gather to sing hymns as they did fifty years ago. Mrs. Edwin F. Uhl was for many years organist at these services. Her place has been taken by her daughter, Mrs. Earl D. Babst, who as a child was present at the opening of the resort.

Sports have always featured activities at the resort. In early days, before the railroad and motor era, rowing was popular, and fishing. In keeping with the times, the resort now has an eighteen-hole golf course, a battery of four tennis courts and the largest fleet of 6 meter sail boats on fresh water. This summer there are ten such craft, all nationally and internationally famous, and a small group in the Manchester class.

FEDERAL LAW CUTS OPEN DUCK SEASON

SHOOTING LIMITED THIS YEAR TO MONTH OF OCTOBER

All Hunting Except Deer and Rabbits
Now Confined to the Month of October

President Hoover's executive proclamation reducing the open season for migratory bird shooting to one month is by no means welcome news for Michigan hunters. But it was not unexpected and it is being taken philosophically by the majority of sportsmen.

Under the terms of the Migratory Bird Treaty act, the president is empowered to shorten or close seasons on migratory game. Canada has a similar law conforming to the international treaty, and action along like lines is anticipated in the dominion. This regulation, as announced by the President, applies not only to ducks but as well to geese, coots, brant, snipe, rails, etc. In other words, it hits all game birds of the migratory type except, so far as Michigan is concerned, woodcock, the season for which in this state already is limited to the period from Oct. 15 to 26 inclusive in the lower peninsula.

This means that all Michigan hunting except only rabbits and deer will be confined to the month of October. In other years the duck season has opened Sept. 16 and continued until Dec. 31. Now we shall have duck shooting in October only. The pheasant and grouse seasons will run from Oct. 15 to 26 inclusive along with woodcock for the lower peninsula. Squirrels, which this year means gray and black as well as fox squirrels, may be shot from Oct. 15 to 24, a 10-day season. The rabbit season for both cotton tails and snowshoes will run, in the lower peninsula, from Oct. 15 to Jan. 31. And the deer season, which includes bear, will run from Nov. 15 to 30.

So far as duck hunting is concerned, October is the best month. Hunters lose out on the earliest flight of black ducks, teal and perhaps a few pintails which go over during the last half of September; and unquestionably will miss the November movement of bluebills, butterbills and similar deep-water ducks as well as (Continued on page 8)

FLANDERS FAMILY HAVE A REUNION

Gathered at Home of Mr. and Mrs.
J. W. Flanders Friday Evening

A pleasant family reunion was enjoyed last Friday evening at the Marion street home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph William Flanders, when the parents and children gathered for dinner.

Among those present were Mr. Flanders' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Flanders, Boyne City, the former in his 92nd year; also Mr. and Mrs. Dan Mather and sons, Howard and Stanley of St. Joseph, Mrs. L. Shipley and son; Robert, of Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Welsheimer and son, Philip, of Eveline township. Mrs. Mather, Mrs. Shipley and Mrs. Welsheimer are daughters, and their children—represented the fourth generation of the family.

BELOVED PIONEER WOMAN SUCCEUMBED

MRS. JOHN A. BACOT REACHED ADVANCED AGE OF 93

A Native of Germany, Migrated to America and Became One of County's First White Settlers

Another pioneer, loved and respected by all who know her, was taken from our midst Friday morning by the death of Mrs. John A. Bacot, who died at 1:00 o'clock at her home on East Lincoln avenue.

Mrs. Bacot, who would have been 94 years of age her next birthday, was one of the few remaining non-Germans in Charlevoix county, and one of its first white settlers. She had been failing in health several weeks before her death, but up until that time was remarkably active for a person of such advanced years.

Mrs. Bacot was born May 9, 1839, in Germany. When a girl nine years old she came to America with her parents by boat, the trip occupying six weeks and accompanied by many hardships. She later moved with them again to Manitowoc, Wis., and it was there she was married to John A. Bacot in 1862.

The couple took up their residence in Sheboygan, Wis., Mr. Bacot's home, where they resided until 1876. In the spring of that year, Mr. Bacot came by boat to Pine River (now Charlevoix) and from that point took another boat down Pine lake to what formerly was a settlement named Undine in Hayes township. There he built a house and store, the first on the lake. In the fall of the same year his family followed him from Sheboygan, coming by boat with their household goods, a large stock of groceries and all of the farm animals including horses, oxen, hogs, cows and poultry. The trip across Lake Michigan in a sailing vessel required nearly a week due to storms and "changeable" winds. Only three white families, the Willis, Whitford and Webster families, the nearest one and a half miles away, resided in the vicinity, while the Horton family were at Horton Bay, farther down the lake.

The Bacots were known far and near for their charity. For many years, in fact until the old home burned, mass was held there for the white and Indian families of the region. The settlement once boasted a saw mill and several structures, but those have long since disappeared. The old Bacot estate is now owned by the Dickinson family, Charlevoix summer residents.

The Bacot family resided at the old homestead until the death of Mr. Bacot in 1882. Mrs. Bacot then moved to Charlevoix, and has since resided on East Lincoln avenue with her son, Thomas, except winters spent in the southern part of the state with relatives.

Surviving their aged mother are five children, viz: Thomas Bacot and Mrs. Elisha Geer, Charlevoix; Mrs. Anna Hummel, Detroit; Dan Bacot, Flint; John Bacot, Grand Rapids; also 15 grandchildren and 14 great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Monday morning at 10 o'clock from St. Mary church, Fr. R. E. Fitzpatrick officiating. Interment was at Charlevoix.

OLDS YACHT TO WIN- TER IN ROUND LAKE

Boat House Is Being Enlarged to Accommodate Larger Craft

The pleasure yacht "Reomnr IV," owned by R. E. Olds, Lansing, has returned to winter quarters here following a summer cruise of the Great Lakes.

The craft, probably more familiarly known to local residents as the former Thomson yacht "Sylvia," will be housed in the Olds boat house on the south shore of Round lake.

The boat house is now being enlarged to accommodate the larger craft. John Curtis of this city, has the contract for the work. The present structure is being lengthened 24 feet. The slip will be dredged to a depth of eight feet, the necessary distance south into the shore. Sheet piling is now being put down and the removal of dirt will be started as soon as this operation is completed. An addition to the boat house, conforming with the present building, will be built.

Capt. Alfred Brow is in charge of the "Reomnr IV" and several other local men are members of the crew.

CORRESPONDENCE

CENTRAL LAKE

Forty-five degrees in the shade Monday morning.

Central Lake schools opened Monday, August 31.

Mrs. Fred Hodges is visiting in Detroit and Canada.

County Surveyor Botsford is ill with spinal meningitis.

Mrs. Ona Vanderberg has the hospital patients while Mrs. Hodges is absent.

Bay View Sunday school had an attendance of 26 last Sunday, and Creswell had 35 present.

Mrs. Vera Carpenter began teaching in the Bay View school last Monday. She will drive from town.

Gerald DeForest and Will Hostler were writing Gleaner insurance here last Saturday.

William Somerville was taken to the Reycraft hospital at Petoskey last week. Dr. Duffie had been giving medical assistance. His case is a puzzling one. There appear to be living germs in his blood.

O. R. and C. H. Morse returned from near Lansing last week, where they had been roguing for J. B. Rice Seed company. They report some very dry weather down that way. It is said Allegan county has had no rain since last spring.

Mr. Rosenboom, father of the former pastor at North Holland church, of Iowa, called on his way to visit his son in Grand Rapids, and to visit friends in Kentucky. He says they have had no rain in Iowa since July fourth.

Mrs. Minnie Mohrmann, county clerk, called on her aunt, Miss Ida Brouwer, here last week. Miss Brouwer has been very ill with yellow jaundice. Miss Alice Mohrmann has secured a position in an office at Ann Arbor. She graduated from Bellaire high school a year ago.

Rev. J. C. Kendall and family called on the E. R. Jones family at Norwood last Friday evening, and the young people returned to Andrew Miller's home to spend the week end. They returned home Sunday. All attended church school at Norwood M. E. church Friday evening.

The writer enjoyed the play given at Atwood Thursday evening by Atwood and Norwood people. The play was of a good moral nature, and, "Dad Goes On a Diet," exemplified quite well the tendency of some people to think they are ill when they are not, and the likelihood of some doctors and so called friends to act as "joy killers" by taking a pessimistic tone in advising patients. Miss Georgia Parsons and Wesley Joffree might be called "stars" in the plays. Everybody acted well their part, and kept the audience in a happy mood.

Norwood Sunday school had an attendance of 32 last Friday evening, with ten in the young people's class. The attendance and interest in the church school has kept up wonderfully since its inception about a year ago. Rev. Kendall is popular with the young people wherever he goes, and attendances at all his appointments is good. He goes to Conference next week. The young people's classes of Norwood, Creswell and Bay View, 40 in number, gathered at Bay View grange hall last week Wednesday evening and had a good time playing games and singing. They came over from Norwood 21 strong in a truck, driven by Mr. Fiach. The young people of Norwood were chaperoned by Mrs. Ypma. A return gathering of the young people will be held at Norwood October 18th, on

WHILE WAITING FOR THE STORK

Most women suffer needlessly before their baby is born due to constipation, gas and sour stomach and vomiting. Every expectant mother will be glad to know how Mrs. F. J. Bookers, of 2732 Grand Ave., Detroit, Mich., overcame this trouble. Mrs. Bookers writes as follows: "Before my baby was born I suffered greatly with constipation and stomach distress until I began taking Mul-Sol-Lax. It helped me wonderfully. In fact my physician told me I owed my easy time when my baby was born to its use. I found it pleasant to take, even when I felt sick to my stomach, and I am glad to recommend it to any woman."

MUL-SOL-LAX is sold by F. J. FESSENDEN, Druggist.

HEART OF THE NORTH

BY WILLIAM
BYRON
MOWERY

Alan knew that Elizabeth was determined, heart and soul, that she should get out of the Mounted and take a good salaried position down in Victoria which Colonel Steele, commander of his regiment in the World war, had been wanting him to accept. But he was bent to take a job on a friendship basis; he preferred to stand on the more self-respecting ground of honest work honestly performed. And to leave this land where he had found freedom and happiness was an intolerable prospect. He loved this northern Mackenzie country as intensely as he hated the hectic stifling oppression of city life; and his comradeship with men like Bill Hardsack was precious to him.

If he tore himself away from all this, if he became a mere cog in an industrial machine, he would be uprooted and miserably unhappy.

But as things stood, he was in a bind. Hardsack was telling him hard for personal reasons; a rank injustice had been done him. . . . There were a dozen powerful arguments on the other side, too.

After a moment he said slowly: "I suppose I oughtn't to sign on again. But it's hard to decide, Elizabeth."

"What is there to decide about? How can you tolerate this situation, you're in? You're a subordinate, taking orders; you're liable to be demoted any day; you're compelled to do another man's work for him! You don't think your situation is going to change? You aren't expecting a commission any more now, I hope? Then why under heaven do you want to stay?"

Alan started to answer, but he checked the words. His reasons were deep and tangled things—his friendships, the freedom he'd found here, the sense of being rooted in the country, his routine duties that held him with invisible bonds, his unwillingness to desert comrades when they sorely needed him, his reluctance to give the impression of having quit just because a commission was not forthcoming.

Down on the river Bill Hardsack came skimming full-tilt up to the land-lug, swerved the canoe around in a complete circle to stop it, leaped out upon the plank, tossed the painter to a sleepy Loucheux. He did not seem to notice Inspector Haskell only a couple rods away. At a lunge he headed up the terrace, straight for Alan's cabin, as though Alan was the man to hear his news.

"If you had nothing to turn to," Elizabeth persisted, "it would be a little different. But you've got a position waiting, at four times your present salary, with advancement sure, with a chance to make even more on the side." She broke off: "But what's the use of going over and over these arguments? We've gone over them a dozen times. I didn't come for that." She paused a second, to emphasize her next words. "If you intend to stay in the Mounted, I wish you would tell me so frankly, so that I can plan."

It was an ultimatum. She meant it so; Alan understood it so. But she saw that it had antagonized him a little. Though she must be firm now, she must head off any antagonism.

Dropping her coldness, she got up and stood beside him where he sat on the corner of the table.

"Alan! Don't you realize how intolerable it is for me—not being with you two hours in a whole week? And if we were married, he—Haskell—he'd make it even worse. You know why he's sending you out on these patrols and letting you be here just long enough to manage the post. When you're gone he forces his company on me. If I'd repulse him, he'd—he'd take it on you! I've got to let him."

A glow crept into Alan's face and his list slanted. He had wondered, sometimes with nameless suspicions, why she allowed Haskell to be so much in her company. Mrs. Drummond and others had hinted about it to him, implying it was not very honest of her. Here was the reason! It had never occurred to him that Elizabeth had been permitting it for his sake.

He thought: "I can't blame her for not wanting to live here in the North. Her brother died here; she hasn't any friends; these folks don't understand her. If she wants to live in a city, that's as natural, as much her right, as my wanting to live in this North country. She'd like to have pleasures, clothes, and other things we'll have when I take that Victoria job. Wouldn't any girl want them?"

Bill Hardsack came past the alcove window, hallooed, excited. Elizabeth saw him, and realized her talk with Alan was broken. But she did not get angry. She had given him her ultimatum, she had headed off any antagonism; and what she said about Haskell had galvanized him into nothing else could have done.

She half-whispered, running her fingers through his hair, "You've been here less than an hour, we've had less than ten minutes together, and now—now something else happens and you'll be gone again." She kissed him quickly and turned away.

As Bill Hardsack stamped into the cabin he burst out: "Oh Lord, Alan, Sammy-hell sure popped down river! The Midnight Sun, bringing up a raft of furs from the Ramparts country, and gold dust, too, a whole wad of it from the Peel and Arctic littorals. . . . I saw there, mouth of the Big Alouka, when she was taking on wood, half a dozen men hopped her in broad daylight, and robbed her there, right this close to us—"

"Robbed her? What?"

"That's what they did. They came over the side like as if they were ordinary trappers; they got a clean drop on the crowd, and had the run of the boat for better'n half an hour."

Alan leaped to the all-important question. "They didn't escape, Bill? They didn't get by with a trick like that?"

Scarcely hearing him, Bill kept pouring out his news. "They took more'n three hundred pounds of dust, and sorted out half a dozen packs of the best and lightest furs. Alan, they shot and killed Jimmy Montgomery! He was the only one that drew a gun against 'em, and a rifle bullet got him cold."

Alan's face went pale. The news of the robbery had been dazing enough to him; but now, this crashing shock of Jimmy's death. . . . His lips fashioned was spreading, Haskell's hot coming on the grassy terrace to him.

An older man, past forty, a native of this Waterways country, Larry had spent his boyhood years living with Cree and Chipewyan; and by easy odds he was the best hunter in the whole division. But in matters of discipline he was worse than Bill Hardsack, for he was older, more set in his ways, more resentful of personal affront. Months ago Haskell had busted him from a corporal; and by humiliating him with orderly duties, he had been trying to make Larry knuckle under. Waiting for another month's pay so he could buy out of the Mounted, Larry was going about his "square work" with stolid face, challenging up his personal score against the day when he would be out of service and could settle with Haskell in man-to-man fashion.

Alan made him: "Larry, drop that. Go and help Bill out. He'll tell you what's up."

It was rare that Inspector Haskell allowed his temper to get the upper hand. He had learned self-control in the hard army school, and he considered that any exhibition of temper was a plebeian thing. But when Alan Baker came into the cabin, Haskell was thoroughly and hotly angered.

A dozen things had happened this morning to irritate him. Constable Whipple, his stout pigeon, a thin clerk, had returned when he had brought along to Enbridge, had requested several inflicting jobs about him which the men were tossing back and forth in burlesque. A few minutes ago Bill Hardsack, plainly carrying important news, had brushed past him as though he had not existed, and had taken the news straight to Alan Baker. And just now through the open door he had seen Baker order Larry Young to drop work assigned by a superior officer and do something else.

To be so plainly ignored by his own men when any matter of importance came up, made him appear a nobody. To have Baker issuing orders and getting a patrol ready without first consulting him, seemed to him a gross violation of discipline. He had formerly been forced to let Baker have his way in managing the post; but now, shocked at realizing how very little he himself amounted to here, and confident that his six months of experience made him capable of running the detachment himself, he had sworn he was going to come down on these men and come down hard.

But the secret and real source of his anger was a deep smoldering jealousy of Baker because of Elizabeth Spaulding. More clearly at every talk with her, he saw she trusted Baker, liked him, and was going to marry him. Her cool inaccessibility, madly loved by him, and her comparison between him and a money-mouth sergeant cut his pride to the quick.

"Pretty, cool, a trifle haughty, she was just the kind of girl who suited him, and was the only person here at Enbridge whom he cared to associate with. His admiration had mounted. It had quickened with passion, it had become a fire in his blood—the first and only passionate affection he had ever known. His life, formerly so leisurely and purposeless, had taken on an aim, a goal. That goal was to smash her engagement and wrest her away from Baker."

As Alan now hurried into the cabin, Haskell swung on him: "Don't you know better than to come bustling into an officer's quarters without knocking and asking permission? Go out and try it again."

His words went past Alan unheeded. Alan's mind was too much a turmoil. . . . Jimmy murdered, Joyce alone there on the lonely savage Alouka, those six handi strangers escaping with their loot. . . . There was but one thought in his mind—to overhaul those two canoes before they were lost beyond all pursuit.

Forgetting even his salute, he came across to the desk. As though checked by the look on his face, Haskell did not repeat the reprimand. Instead he listened silently while Alan reported the robbery, murder, escape.

"They're heading up the Big Alouka toward a muskeg country lying back there in the northeast," Alan explained quickly. "It's called the Thak-Azzah, the Land of Many Waters. It's ten thousand square miles of criss-cross waterways—lakes, channels, shoals, creeks, and something bog all covered with flags and willows. That's why they staged the robbery at the Alouka mouth—so they'd have a straight shoot into that muskeg. If they reach it we might never get them. I'm going to take the launch and the five men I've got."

Haskell stiffened. In sarcastic tones he interrupted: "You've got? Just a second, Baker. It would be a little better form to give your report and possibly make suggestions, and then allow me, as officer commanding here, to issue orders."

Alan stared at him in surprise. After all the long months of the winter past when he had initiated every patrol that went out, he was totally unprepared for this testy reprimand. An anger rose in him at Haskell's choosing to flout his personalities just now when those two canoes were whipping up the Alouka.

Trying to fight down his impatience, he said, "Maybe it was tactless of me. But all along I've been—"

"Yes, certainly—acting as though you were O. C. around here. You didn't appreciate tolerance when you had it. You can take note from now on you haven't got it! I'll issue the orders about this patrol."

Abruptly he turned away to the wall behind him where a map of the Enbridge country was tacked up. A big six-foot-square mosaic, it was the inspector's own handiwork—a synthesis of government reports, explorers' sketches and unreliable Indian accounts. Though a few of the larger details were correct, in Alan's eyes it was a clumsy and ridiculous piece of charting.

As he waited, swearing at this loss of precious minutes, Alan happened to see Constable Whipple over in a corner, making inventory entries at a table. He said:

"Whipple, you'd better knock off on that and get into fatigue clothes. We'll need all the men on this patrol."

Whipple did not obey him, or stir, but waited for the inspector's orders. Alan later remembered, to his heavy cost and sorrow, how Whipple had sat there in the corner, listening, scratching away with a pen, while Bill and Larry and Pollicutt were down at the wharf hurriedly making ready.

In helpless exasperation at Haskell, he thought: "Good Lord, aren't you ever going to get through studying that crazy d—d map?" Back of this change in Haskell, this angry decision to run Enbridge according to his own notions, Alan sensed an ugly hostility against him personally. He was quite well aware of the cause of that bad blood. He had not been blind these last months; he knew Haskell was madly in love with Elizabeth.

Presently, turning around from his map, Haskell said:

"I see that the Big Alouka, about a hundred miles northeast from its mouth, divides into two branches."

To hurry this talk up, Alan stepped around behind the desk, and pointed at the map as he spoke.

"Yes, that forks is called Big Leavings. But it's farther east than your map shows; it's nearer two hundred miles. Here's MacMillan's trading post. Here's the Forks. The right branch leads southeast through this country. It should be marked timber country. The left branch goes northeast into the big muskeg. About here is where the Thak-Azzah should be marked. They're heading up this left branch for the Thak-Azzah."

Interrupting, Haskell demanded, "How do you know they're doing that?"

"I don't know, but it's a sensible guess. The Thak-Azzah is a hiding place made to order, and they're sure to break for it."

NEW MARKETING POLICY

Every year we hear our agriculturalists in Michigan complain that they cannot find a market for certain of their food products. This complaint applies principally to potatoes, to some extent to the apple crop and to a lesser degree to vegetable crops other than potatoes. Meanwhile, Idaho, Virginia and Maine ship into this state many carloads of potatoes and sell them at a good price, while Michigan farmers protest that their potatoes are decaying on their hands.

A similar problem is faced by Michigan apple growers, who have difficulty marketing their fruit. For years, however, leading horticulturists have been urging growers to grade their apples, wipe the orchard soil off them, wrap them attractively and box them, as the Pacific coast producers have done and do.

Detroit is the best food market in the state because it is the biggest one. Michigan farmers should concentrate on an energetic program of grading their products and displaying them attractively for sale. Detroit offers an available market for Michigan products.

FOOLISH ADVERTISING

No sooner does science discover some new food or ingredient of food than pseud-scientific advertisers offer it to the public as a panacea for all ills.

Always such advertisements are illustrated with pictures of smug, self-complacent doctors who are willing to turn an honest penny by permitting the use of their names. Sometimes pictures of soulful nurses are used, also fanciful pictures of scientists surrounded by implements of their calling.

Electricity was among the first of cure-alls. Belts, and other things, were offered to cure everything from dandruff to ingrowing toenails. Glandular extracts will cure everything. Yeast has, and is still, having its day. So long as a supply of yeast is available it is a wonder that undertakers have any business except hurrying members of their own tribe who starve to death.

Sun rays are the latest. Tobacco, bread, ice cream, rockford sox, fine toothed combs, ancient roosters, everything is improved, and made sanitary, by the use of ultra-violet rays. Equip any man, with all the health gadgets, feed him on health foods, and the future will not be long enough to hold all his years. He will have to live backwards, as well as forwards. Eventually we will have a race of men who can remember playing bridge with Adam and Eve while confidently looking forward to infinity.

One Editor says: "Ain't it funny? Some people will howl about the chain stores and mail order houses and will then send their printing out of the community. The local paper boosts every local enterprise and then such patronage is often sent away." Ever try using the velvet hammer, brother?"

MICHIGAN'S FARMS ARE VALUED HIGHLY

Information Concerning Same Given in Government Census Report

According to a bulletin recently issued by the bureau of the census, there are 169,372 farms in the State of Michigan having a total acreage of 17,118,951, and a total value, including land, buildings, and implements and machinery, of $1,266,214,109. These figures are given in detail for each county and each minor civil division within the state. This is the first federal census report to show these figures by minor civil divisions.

Of the total farm acreage 45.2 per cent, or 7,738,221 acres, was crop land on which crops were harvested in 1929; 6.8 per cent, or 1,159,282 acres, was crop land which lay idle or fallow; and 1.1 per cent, or 196,530 acres, was land on which the crops failed to mature or were not harvested for any cause. Pasture land with a total of 5,891,890 acres, representing 34.4 per cent of the total farm acreage of the state, included 2,063,766 acres of plowable land, 2,410,072 acres of woodland, and 1,418,052 acres of other land. In addition to the land cropped and pastured, the total land in farms included 824,666 acres of woodland not used for pasture, and 1,308,362 acres not in forest, pasture, or crops, including the land occupied by house yards, barnyards, feed lots, lanes, roads, etc.

The total value of farm land and buildings was $1,160,651,607, of which $522,628,561 represented the value of all farm buildings, including the farmers' dwellings, which were valued at $270,240,977. The value of farm implements and machinery, including farmers' automobiles, was $105,562,502.

Subject, "Christ Jesus."
"Christ Jesus" was the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Christian Science churches on Sunday, August 30th.

Among the citations which comprised the lesson-sermon was the following from the Bible: "My little children, these things write I unto you, that ye sin not. And if any man sin, we have an advocate with the Father, Jesus Christ the righteous." (1 John 2:1).

The lesson-sermon also included the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "The real man being linked by Science to his Maker, mortals need only turn from sin and lose sight of mortal selfhood to find Christ, the real man and his relation to God, and to recognize the divine sonship." BORER CALLED WORST FOE OF PEACH TREES

September—Best Month for Control Work to Check Pest in Michigan

September is the best month for control work in checking the peach tree borer, a pest which does more preventable damage to the Michigan peach crop than any other insect, according to entomologists at the Michigan State college.

The pest is a native one which many years ago transferred its attention from wild cherry and wild plum to the cultivated stone fruits, noticeably the peach. The presence of the borers is first indicated by brownish borings on the bark, but later the gummy mixture of sawdust which one associates with the work of this insect begins to accumulate.

The old control method of digging the borers from the peach trees has largely been supplanted in recent years by a newly developed treatment which involves the use of a substance known as paradichlorobenzene. It is applied in a ring around the tree, from one to three inches from it, and in amounts which are regulated by the size of the tree trunk. Definite recommendations for dosage and certain necessary precautions in the application to prevent tree injury are given orchard men by county agricultural agents, or the entomology department at M. S. C.

MILK STORY WILL BE TOLD AT STATE FAIR

M. S. C. Exhibit to Trace History of Production and Distribution

The complete story of your morning bottle of milk, from the earliest stages of production down to its final delivery on the back step, will be told at the state fair in Detroit next week in an elaborate exhibit which has been prepared by the Michigan State college.

Starting with cultural practices necessary in raising foodstuffs for the dairy herd, and touching every step in producing, handling and marketing milk, the exhibit is said to be one of the most interesting and complete of its kind ever prepared in the state. It carries sound technical information for the producer of milk, as well as a surprising story for the average consumer.

Live cows form a part of the show. Milk produced by them will be carried through the various stages of treatment in a modern creamery, and then delivered on an improvised doorstep.

A final portion of the big exhibit, prepared by home economics specialists at the state college, will show the place of milk in a well planned diet. Scientists have named milk as one of our most valuable foodstuffs, setting a quart a day per person as a wise minimum.

FLOATING BOTTLES TEST LAKE CURRENT

One Released by Conservation Dept. Travelled Over 200 Miles

Travelling at the rate of almost ten miles a day, a bottle travelled along the waters of Lake Michigan from St. Joseph to Sleeping Bear Point in Leelanau county. The bottle, carried along by the currents of the lake, travelled the 200 miles in 20 days, from June 18 to July 8.

The bottle was one of 283 released this summer in various parts of Lake Michigan from the steamer Fulmar, operated by the United States Bureau of Fisheries. Each of the bottles carried a note asking the finder to return the note together with information as to the date and the place where the bottle was found, to the bureau's office at Ann Arbor, Mich.

All of the bottles were released from June 17 to August 17. To August 22, 88 bottles had been recovered, giving considerable information concerning currents of the lake.

The purpose of the investigation is to determine the various surface current tendencies of the lake. The information will be of service not only to commercial fishermen along the lake, but to navigation as well.

The 200 mile journey of one bottle from St. Joseph to Leelanau county is the longest taken by any of the released bottles. One other bottle, thrown into the water 52 miles from Chicago on the route to St. Joseph was found 24 days later seven miles south of Manistee.

JOE STUTZMAN WINS HORSESHOE CONTEST

Beated Jack Parsons in Finals at Auto Camp Sunday Afternoon

Despite a week end of inclement weather, the 1st annual Open Horseshoe Championships, Charlevoix's initial offering in the sport of "barnyard golf," was held to a successful conclusion.

Joe Stutzman was the winner in the finals Sunday against Jack Parsons, scoring 40 out of a possible 50 points to his opponent's 5. Stutzman went the silver horseshoe, posted as first prize. The award for the runner-up went to Parsons.

Stutzman led on points throughout the tournament. In the semi-finals, competing against Joe Smith, Jack Parsons and Bud Russell, Stutzman scored 39 points, and Parsons 23 to enter the finals.

Lawrence Parmelee was the official scorer and starter and took charge of the affair.

EDITORIALS

THE WHOLE TRUTH

"Elimination of politics" and "general improvement of personnel"! In at least two particulars, the series of reports by the Wickersham commission on law enforcement seem to be linked together. Yet, probably all competent observers, reporters or investigators whether working singly or in groups would say the same. Selfish or crooked politics and incompetency in the public services are old curses upon law enforcement.

But it becomes a comprehensive and an authoritative pronouncement upon evils at the roots when the ten men and one woman on the most carefully selected Hoover commission find the curses operative in prohibition enforcement, police work in general, the immigration service, prison organization and administration and in the working of the criminal courts and the prosecution agencies. While phrases vary, the substance is found in all the reports. Many in the long list of recommendations by the commission are directed to the elimination of politics and the improvement of personnel.

That disinterested individuals and civic groups and public-service agencies, with the free and independent newspapers foremost among the latter, having worked to the same ends for years, is a fact enhancing rather than detracting from the commission's emphasis upon these fundamentals. That the root questions probably first arose when governments were first organized by men is a strong reason why the commission's numerous definite proposals on how to eliminate bad politics and how to improve personnel should be tested one by one and, as far as possible, tried in operation.

"THUMBING" RIDES

The idea has been exploded that a national organization of hitch-hikers should exist. The purpose of such a group would be, it appears, to raise the standards of the hitch-hiking profession in the vain hope that the motoring public would take more kindly to those who thumb rides along the highways.

By the plan of organization, persons qualifying to the high standards of the profession would be provided cards of identification. With these as armor the hitch-hiker could prove to the motorist he is a qualified member of the profession and authorized to practice his trade. The card would serve to identify him from handouts, hi-jackers or other possible knaves.

Theoretically the idea may seem attractive to the modern knight of the road. It, at least, would appeal to his spirit of being a "joiner," and have the backing of an organization. Yet such a movement would mean little to the motoring public. The discriminating driver, recognizing the danger of picking up total strangers on the road, will continue to disregard the cards and their wavers. The nuisance and dangers of the hitch-hiking fad are recognizable to the average motorist.

The only safe plan is that of regarding the roadside "thumper" in much the same light as one would regard a total stranger seeking entrance to a home.

Hardy Perennials

Gardeners in all sections of the country find that hardy perennials as well as annuals add color to permanent shrubbery plantings, says the bureau of plant industry. Though the hardy herbaceous perennials listed in seed catalogs are usually adapted to cool, moist regions, many other kinds, especially native plants, grow well in the warmer and drier parts of the United States. Various species of violets, phlox, trilliums, rudbeckias, sedums, yuccas, columbines, asters, and goldenrods give good results in all sections. The bureau of plant industry suggests planting hardy perennials in irregular groups at openings of shrubbery, or by themselves in long, narrow beds. They are also appropriate in special gardens such as rock gardens, wall gardens, fern gardens, cactus gardens, and hog gardens. Many hardy perennials will grow well if started from seed. Most of them should be divided and reset every three or four years.

YOUTH AND PROHIBITION

Prohibition in its relation to the youth of our country is more serious than most persons are willing to admit. Colonel F. B. Ebbert of Los Angeles, war veteran, prominent attorney and student of world affairs, who spoke recently at the First Methodist church in Harbor Springs, sees the young people as the ultimate judges of prohibition. "The youth of the United States will decide the prohibition issue once and for all during the next five years," declared the Colonel.

But Colonel Ebbert is not so optimistic about the outcome. He recognizes the fact that there has been a widespread and unprecedented increase in drinking among young people, both boys and girls in their teens. This practice, as a rule, is not abated when they become of voting age. These millions of youthful voters hold in their hands the fate of prohibition. Parents set the example by voting the law themselves. The children naturally follow in their footsteps.

Unless the tide of public opinion is reversed in the young ranks of America, prohibition is due to encounter new difficulties before long, believes the Colonel.

THE WORLD BECOMES SMALLER

Another summer is bringing a new series of aviation triumphs as flyers enlarge their horizon—from trans-oceanic flights to round the world tours. Aside from the spectacular element of these air feats, there is a deeper significance. People at large are gaining a new point of view of the world and its affairs.

The old world is shrinking as men buzz around the globe. Few places on earth remain inaccessible. Buried and forgotten cities in deserts and jungles are revealed to the sharp eyes of the birdmen. Scientists in a week's excursion to the Arctic correct their maps by birds-eye survey.

Under such conditions no place can remain isolated. Such a little world must adjust its relationships or meet a dire peril. Near neighbors must be good neighbors or live in dangerous turmoil.

The test of time is to prove that increase of wisdom can parallel improvement of facility. Tremendous responsibility rests upon a race of men intrusted with wings.

CRITICS DON'T WIN — CREDIT GOES TO DOERS

"It is not the critic who counts; not the man who points out how the strong man stumbled, or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena; whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs and comes short again, because there is no effort without error, and short-coming; who does actually strive to do the deeds; who knows the great enthusiasms, the great devotions, spends himself in a worthy cause; who at the best knows in the end the triumph of high achievement, and who at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who know neither victory nor defeat." — Theodore Roosevelt.

ASK ENFORCEMENT POTATO GRADE LAW

Growers Exchange Asks State Help Meet the Competition

An appeal to the governor and the state board of agriculture to enforce the state grading laws on potatoes, so as to improve the tubers to compete with outstate products, was made Thursday as one of the final resolutions of the Michigan Potato Growers exchange.

Officers were elected as follows: Joseph Bussey, Provenom, president, succeeding the late Henry Curtis; O. S. Woods, Barryton, vice president; O. E. Hawley, Shelby, secretary; George Herman, Edmore, treasurer; James McBain, of McBain, was re-elected to the directorate, after having been appointed after the death of Henry Curtis.

The Michigan Certified Seed Potato association directors also organized as follows: Frank A. Smith, Luther, president; David Inglis, Van, vice president; Roy Rossman, Lakeview, secretary and treasurer.

ALFALFA SEED CROP HANDLED WITH CARE

Survey Shows Methods Used by Michigan Growers to Prevent Losses

That successful Michigan farmers handle their alfalfa seed crop with all the care and attention one would use in handling eggs, is shown by a survey recently completed by state college specialists.

"With high quality alfalfa seed worth from 30 to 45 cents a pound, losses from shattering at harvest time are costly indeed," says P. R. Miller of the M. S. C. crops staff. "Care used in handling this crop right pays good dividends."

More than 100 of the state's leading growers were interviewed in an effort to determine the practices most commonly employed. Highlights of this survey follow:

Eighty per cent of the farmers questioned harvest when pods are from two-thirds to three-fourths brown. Ninety per cent harvest seed from the first crop, year in and year out. Fifty-eight per cent use mower with windrow or pea attachment. Fifty per cent leave crop in bunches in field in curing. The majority use tight bottom racks, covered with canvas or building paper, to catch seed that shatters during hauling and hulling. Seventy per cent thresh from the field. Eighty per cent thresh with clover huller, large size preferred. Only ten per cent had ever re-threshed. The general opinion being that re-threshing is unnecessary if proper equipment is used.

POULTRY RAISERS TO STUDY NEW METHODS

Special Round-Up Scheduled for M. S. C. in September

Michigan poultry raisers will study the newest developments and improvements in their business during a special round-up to be held at M. S. C. on September 17 and 18, according to announcement made this week by officials of the college agricultural division.

The meeting will take the form of a demonstration school or short course, with leading poultry authorities conducting the work. In addition to local representatives, several prominent men from other states and Canada are listed on the tentative program.

Recent years have seen the adoption of an unusual number of new practices in the poultry industry, and these improvements will be discussed and explained to Michigan's growers. Problems of housing, feeding, brooding, and the like will all find a place on the two-day schedule. The program will have special appeal for the average practical poultry man, rather than for the large hatcherymen.

The round-up will be made an annual feature, if the plans of the college poultry department are followed out.

Notice of Mortgage Foreclosure Sale

Notice is hereby given that default has occurred in the conditions of that certain mortgage, dated the 2nd day of September, 1926, executed by John Priebke and Amelia Priebke, as his wife and in her own right, as mortgagors, to The Federal Land Bank of Saint Paul, a body corporate, of the City of St. Paul, County of Ramsey, State of Minnesota, as mortgagee, filed for record in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for Charlevoix county, Michigan, on the 7th day of September, A. D. 1926, at 11:00 o'clock a. m., recorded in Liber 62 of mortgages on page 343 thereof, in that partial installment amounting to sixty-five and no/100ths Dollars ($65.00), principal and interest due September 2, 1930, remains unpaid; and further that the taxes were not paid by the mortgagors and were permitted to become delinquent; that on the failure of said mortgagors to pay such taxes, The Federal Land Bank of Saint Paul did elect to pay the same, and on June 9th, 1931, paid the sum of Three Hundred Fifty-six and 12/100ths Dollars ($356.12) as taxes for the years 1929 and 1930. And further that the insurance premium was not paid by the mortgagors and was permitted to become delinquent; that on the failure of said mortgagors to pay such insurance, The Federal Land Bank of Saint Paul did elect to pay the same, and on February 17, 1931, paid the sum of Four and 95/100ths Dollars ($4.95) as insurance, that pursuant to the provisions of said mortgage, said mortgagee has elected to declare the whole debt secured thereby to be now due and payable; and there is due and payable at the date of this notice upon the debt secured by said mortgage, the sum of Twenty-nine Hundred Twenty-two and 63/100ths Dollars ($2,922.63); and that no action or proceeding at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover said debt or any part thereof, that, by virtue of a power of sale therein contained, said mortgage will be foreclosed and the land and premises therein described lying and being in the County of Charlevoix and State of Michigan, as follows, to-wit:

The Northwest Quarter (NW 1/4) Section Twenty-nine (29) Township Thirty-four (34) North, Range Six (6) West, containing One Hundred Fifty-nine (159) acres, more or less, according to the Government survey thereof, excepting therefrom One (1) acre in the Northeast corner thereof, Ten (10) rods North and South and Sixteen (16) rods East and West.

will be sold at public auction to the highest bidder for cash by the Sheriff of Charlevoix county, at the front door of the court house, in the City of Charlevoix, in said county and state, on Tuesday, September 29, 1931, at 10:00 o'clock in the forenoon, to pay and satisfy the debt secured by said mortgage and the costs and disbursements allowed by law upon said foreclosure sale.

Dated this 27th day of June, 1931. The Federal Land Bank of Saint Paul, mortgagee.

James F. Shepherd, attorney for the mortgagee, Charlevoix, Michigan. —Adv. 26t13

"Triumph! Maybe," Haskell III a cigarette, and went on studying the map.

"You'll take the launch and the five men, Baker, and go up the Aboska. If you don't overtake those bandits before reaching the forks, leave the launch there, split your party, three men each, and follow up both branches."

Alan objected, "But three men against six, the six who pulled a trick like that robbery—three mightn't be able to handle them. They've got murder charges over them, they've got a fortune in their possession; they're going to put up a fight."

"Three men can handle them. Three men with the law behind them."

"A city cop may be a squad by himself," Alan interrupted, "but in the bush a man is a man. A legal bullet don't kill any deader than an outlaw bullet. Men who'll hold up a big steamer in broad daylight and who face the gallows if caught, aren't going to be paralyzed by the sight of a uniform. I believe my party shouldn't split. We ought to stick together and making the best of it. Perhaps, after all, he would catch up with the bandits before they reached the forks.

Hasten, weary of arguing, he gave in. "All right, Inspector. I'll follow both branches."

To cut off further delay he whirled abruptly on his heel and strode out.

Turgot came down from barracks. A little later Whipple came and timidly took his seat in the launch. Alan and Bill and Young were storing aboard guns, tent, grub and blankets. On the terrace above, with a look in her hip, Elizabeth Spaulding watched curiously.

Then Frank Pedneault, demagogue deliver of the powerful launch, slid into the wheel seat and slipped in the gears; and headed north, down the Mackinac.

"We were at last away on the pursuit."

But all Alan's order had gone. All his helping urge to be on the chase had gone. Promission whispered, and his whisper chilled him. As he glanced around at his men, at the comrades he was leading and was responsible for, he was thinking that tomorrow this time two or three of them might be dead—somewhere up the spruce-barked Aboska.

CHAPTER III

A Call to Vengeance

During that dusk down the Mackinac, Alan's thoughts were not cheerful. "They used Margaret Fournier as a means of making their getaway from the steamer. It worked so well then that they might try the plan again. They might try to capture Joyce and use her as a sort of hostage to protect themselves."

But soon how he did not greatly fear they would do this. He remembered the girl she always carried, his own gift to her on her twentieth birthday. A black automobile, a fine thing like a toy, it nevertheless was blunt and effective as a terror building. That big red-headed bandit who had threatened to put a bullet "square" atween the eyes of Margaret Fournier, would likely get one between his own if he tried any brutality with Joyce MacMillan.

To Alan it seemed pretty clear that Bill in his haste and excitement had made a mistake about those men being strangers to every one aboard the steamer. It didn't look possible. They knew this country, knew it intimately. It took years to learn the ins and outs of so huge a region. But they knew.

Alan concluded: "They aren't strangers, of course. Bill just made a mistake."

Half-hidden between two blanket packs Constable Whipple sat facing his rifle, peering ahead anxiously, as though at any moment he expected to meet the outlaw canoes here on the Mackinac. Alan watched him with something of scorn in his eyes. Whipple was constantly spying upon the other men, listening with long ears, reporting everything that happened and a lot that did not.

Forty miles below Enderburg, sweeping near to shore around a great bend, Alan looked ahead and sighted the Midnight Sun out in midstream, glowing steadily up south. At his gesture Pedneault swerved the launch and snubbed its headlong speed, and Bill began unslashing one of the canoes. As the two craft drew nearer, Alan rose up and signaled that he wished to come aboard the steamer. The boat stopped, a ladder was let down. Paddling across in the hired bark, he and Bill hurried up on deck.

Margaret Fournier was safely back on board. Several of the men, hastily patching one of the smashed canoes, had followed up the Aboska a mile and found her on a willow island where the bandits had set her off.

When Alan came on deck, almost his first sight was of Jimmy Montgomerie's little girl, perched upon a pile of cargo, showered with care and attention from every one. As he glanced in the tiny golden-haired tot, Alan thought of her mother dying less than a year ago, of her young father cut down today by an outlaw's bullet; and he had a swift vision of the bleak orphanage, the friendless and homeless life, which lay ahead for her, now that Jimmy was dead. He was not deceived by the attention she was getting now. Every one was all sympathy for her today, but that would cool mighty quick; and then she'd be thrown into some orphanage, maybe along with half-breed and Indian children. Alan thought, "She's Jimmy's child; Jimmy was my partner; it's up to me to do something about her."

With nothing more definite than this in mind, he directed Ashmun, the white-haired skipper of the steamer. He remembered Jimmy as a trail partner and a quiet gentle soul and the most utterly fearless man he had ever known. Stone silent he stood beside the berth looking down for the space of half a minute, sick at heart, his eyes blurring. Why had it been Jimmy who was cut down?—a young man, a young father, the best and bravest of them all.

Then like a small whisper in his ear a thought came, edged with pride in Jimmy and the manner of his death:

"You were the only one who drew a gun. You know they'd kill you . . . a belt-gun against six rifles; but you stood up and shot. You were always that kind; and so was Old. Now you're both gone; now I'm alone, of us three."

The desolation was unbearable. Bill following, he turned and went out of the cabin into the sunshine of the deck. A grim mood had come over him, a mood shot through with personal and deadly intention. He was no longer merely the stern and efficient representative of the law. Vengeance, a burning and righteous vengeance, had entered his heart.

With a dozen men crowding around to listen, he questioned Skipper Ashmun briefly.

"Bill said these men were strangers. That can't be. Didn't you recognize them at all? Haven't you got some idea who they were?"

"Alan, I positively never seen a man of 'em till I looked up and there they stood planting their weapons at us. And I see just about everybody that goes up and down the river."

"And they knowed the lay of the land like a book," another man spoke up. "That's the queerest part of it."

Alan was fairly staggered. Bill had reported accurately. The men were strangers.

How under heaven could six men enter this country unknown, unseen? Then, granting they had, granting them strangers, how did they come to know the lay of the land so perfectly?—where to strike, when to strike, how to escape by a straight shoot to their one superlative refuge, the Thud-Azzah.

In all his years of police service he had never met quite so dark a circumstance as this.

As he and Bill went down the ladder, the rail was lined with people wishing them a quick capture, wishing the criminals a swift and speedy justice. Alan did not hear, did not care. But as he stepped into the canoe and with a shove sent it skimming toward the launch, he did hear one voice from some man on the steamer; and it rang in his ears like a croak of evil prophecy:

"Going after men like them, Alan Baker, you'd better take your luck along!"

At the MacMillan trading post Joyce had lighted candles in the kitchen and trading hall. Though she hardly knew just when her father would return from his furloughing trip, she had kindled a comfortable fire in his bedroom and had prepared a supper of scones and breaded mushrooms and willow ptarmigan which she herself had shot that morning.

VALUE OF THE OUTDOORS

Nobody could possibly estimate the value to the nation of fresh air, lovely scenery and wholesome exercise. But it is possible to calculate approximately the amounts spent in the enjoyment of these things and statisticians have actually done so for some states.

The United States bureau of biological survey places a value of $80,000,000 on the game and fishing resources of the State of Maine. The "tourist crop" is worth $20,000,000 a year to Michigan, according to a specialist of Michigan State college. The American game association surveys the whole nation and supposes that $1,000,000,000 a year is a conservative valuation to place upon the great American outdoors. That much and more is spent annually by those who seek vacations in outdoor occupations and amusements.

The holiday habit of the average American, therefore, is the foundation of an immense business. Because he quits work for two or three weeks or more in the year and gets away when he can for week ends or shorter holidays, a great and complex industry has been created, which keeps a great deal of money in useful circulation. The development of the national resources, game reserves and the varied delights of outdoor life, has much more than a sentimental importance. It represents good business, while contributing immensely to the enjoyment of life, which is the reward of good business.

SPLITTING SECONDS DRIVING

Millions of people are obsessed with the idea of saving time who have no idea of making use of the time they save. This is particularly true of motorists. The automobile is a great time-saver. Everyone knows that. And out of this common opinion seems to grow the notion that every effort in driving a car should be directed to saving split seconds.

Out of this mistaken idea comes the cause of most of the motor car fatalities. Three bad practices were responsible for the bulk of the motor car accidents during the past year, says an insurance authority. These were, driving too fast in traffic, driving on the wrong side of the road and failing to give the right of way. All of these are phases of the mania for time-saving. The fast driver dodges out of line and tries to beat the other fellow across the intersection.

On a day's drive the difference safe driving and this break-neck splitting of seconds would amount to no more than a few minutes at the most. Yet here lies the cause of thousands upon thousands of deaths annually in the United States.

A national forest camp group was recently swamped by a rush of 4,000 gold seekers a few hours after a little of the precious metal was panned where a flood had bared a gravel bed in the neighborhood of one of California's first placer mines.

whip up that left branch. That's the fork they'll take."

"You're merely guessing," Haskell said coldly. "You don't know which branch they'll take. By my plan you'd be sure to overtake them on one branch or other."

"Yes, and have half my men shot ap. I'm responsible for them. I know what that kind of responsibility means. You're hog-tying me with orders I know are dead wrong."

Haskell tapped the table with his penknife. "I've given you my reasons, Baker, and listened to yours. If you refuse to obey orders, you'll stay here at the post, and I'll put Corporal Hardsock in charge of this detail. Take your choice."

Alan was not the fool to believe Haskell was bluffing. The man would keep him here and denounce him for refusing to obey a command. He had been waiting months for just such a chance. It was a question of holding out against those ignorant instructions or getting away with the men and

BELVEDERE DEPOT IS DESTROYED BY FIRE

Structure Complete Loss at Early Hour Tuesday—Cause Not Known

Fire of undetermined origin completely destroyed the Belvedere depot of the Pere Marquette Railway company early Tuesday morning.

The fire was discovered and alarm turned by P. D. Auce, night watchman at the Belvedere Club. The blaze had apparently been burning inside the structure for some time, suddenly breaking out over the entire structure. The building was a total loss before local firemen brought the flames under control.

The loss, which included ticket stock and records in addition to the building, will run into several thousand dollars.

According to Station Agent B. Nickerson, train service will be discontinued to the Belvedere side until the depot is rebuilt, which will probably not be until next spring. Railroad workmen started Tuesday morning clearing away the wreckage.

DEER HUNTING BAN IN CHARLEVOIX CO.

Twelve Lower Peninsula Counties Will Be Opened This Year

Twelve lower peninsula counties will be open to deer hunting during the coming November. These counties are all in the northeast section of the peninsula. They are: Cheboygan, Presque Isle, Otsego, Montmorency, Alpena, Kalkaska, Crawford, Oscoda, Alcona, Roscommon, Ogemaw and Iosco.

Five Are Closed
The conservation commission at its August meeting voted to close Emmet, Benzie, Leelanau, Charlevoix and Antrim for another two years together with all counties south of the north line of township 20, except those closed by the last legislature. Manistee, Wexford, Missaukee, Clare, Lake, Newaygo and Mason counties were closed for five years by the 1931 legislature.

In Antrim county a closed season on beaver will be in effect for a period of five years from Jan. 1, 1931. Two other orders prohibit the trapping of mink except during the muskat season, Nov. 15 to Dec. 15, inclusive, and raccoon may be trapped from Nov. 15 to Nov. 30.

The five counties ordered closed for two years longer by the commission would have automatically opened next November through the expiration of former closing orders.

The closing order for deer hunting in Grand Traverse county also expires in November, 1933. In two years the commission will again consider the advisability of continuing the closing of the northern counties of the lower peninsula but the commission has no authority to open the counties closed by legislative act.

Have Few Deer
In a memorandum to the commission, the game division of the conservation department expressed an opinion that Benzie and Leelanau counties "have very few deer and it is not likely that they will become important deer hunting counties. Oceana and Mecosta have some deer but they are isolated from the other open counties."

FEDERAL LAW CUTS OPEN DUCK SEASON

the late northern mallards. But the big flights generally come in October. In fact, the pheasant and partidge seasons come pretty close to synchronizing with the best of the duck shooting which makes it difficult for a shooter to choose between game programs.

When it comes to geese, Michigan hunters will be just about out of luck. Only an occasional goose is shot during October unless we happen to get unusually cold and stormy weather. November is the month of the big goose flight and the time when Michigan hunters have their best chance, a chance which, however, is none too good.

Sportmen, as has been said, are not enthusiastic for such a curtailment of their shooting as the Hoover order requires, but it at least sets at rest their worries. A general closing order on all migratory bird shooting would not have come as a surprise. While ducks are reported fairly plentiful on rivers of western Michigan, our marshes, like those of the north, are mostly dry.

Director of Conservation George R. Hoarst stated that the state game law digests are already off the press, but he said that an effort would be made to hold up distribution until corrections can be made by sticker or otherwise in the migratory bird season to conform to the new federal regulations.

LEGION CARNIVAL WAS GREAT SUCCESS

Hundreds in Attendance from Region—Plan for District Convention.

The American Legion headquarters on East Garfield avenue, was visited last night by several hundred people from the country, town and nearby resorts who made merry at the carnival old time dance until a late hour. Brown's orchestra from Ironton furnished the music for both square and round dances and many valuable prizes were won in the room adjoining the dance floor, where a "fair" was in progress.

Members of Leslie T. Shapton Post No. 226 were elated with the success of the entertainment they had sponsored, especially as everyone seemed to be enjoying themselves to the limit and the returns from the "fair" attractions were very gratifying. The music was especially good and Floyd Black and Mark Saunders, as callers, kept things moving at a snappy tempo. The pianist was Miss Monecia Chipman, a Boyne City girl, who has been playing over radio station W.I.R., Detroit, for the past year.

Next Sunday, September 6th, is the date set for the regular convention of the 11th district, American Legion of Michigan, which will be held at Rogers City. The local post members are planning to be there with a good attendance and the Legion's bugle and drum corps will lead them in the parade. The bugle and drum corps had a trip to St. James scheduled for last Sunday, but were forced to abandon it on account of the weather. It is possible that an attempt will be made to go over at a later date.

Warren, Grosse Pointe Shores, Mich.: Mrs. George B. Douglas, Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

In more recent years members of the club have acquired large holdings of land along the shores of Pine lake and have built day-camps, reached by bonts and motor and which have added to the social interest of the membership. Among these camps are those of John P. Wilson, William R. Dickinson, John B. Lord, Mrs. George B. Douglas, Francis R. Dickinson, William B. McVaine and the late William R. Linn. The Walker family developed the 2500 acre Walker farm along the Lake Michigan shore whose woods and roads provide miles of bridle paths and hiking trails.

Plans for the anniversary celebration September 4th have not been divulged by those in charge. The affair is to be a surprise to members not participating. It is understood, however, that plans are being carried forward to convert the club house to appear as it would have been a half century ago, and a program in keeping with the 1880's is being prepared. Cyrus H. Adams, John Stuart and Joseph H. King are committees in charge of the anniversary celebration.

INLAND FISHING LAWS WILL BE DISTRIBUTED

A card listing all changes in the inland fishing laws as adopted by the 1931 legislature, will be issued by the fish division of the department of conservation within the next week. A supply of the cards will be sent to all conservation officers and the cards will be inserted in all fish law digests distributed in the future. They will be used to familiarize the public with the new laws until next winter when a fish law digest covering the biennial period 1931-32 will be issued.

Home Furnishing Project to Be Studied by Ladies of County
Miss Gertrude Reis, extension specialist in home furnishing from Michigan State college will meet with the local leaders, group chairman and secretaries for the purpose of discussing the plans for the home furnishing project which is to be given in Charlevoix county during the coming year. The first meeting will be held in Charlevoix in the community rooms on September 9th, beginning promptly at 10:30 E. S. T. The second meeting will be held in Boyne City in the Boyne City public library on September 10, beginning promptly at 10:30 E. S. T. Miss Reis will present the first lesson of the series on "Making the House Homelike."

The women of Charlevoix county are invited to form local groups and elect leaders and a chairman to meet with Miss Reis.

Five lessons will be given during the year and there will be no expense connected with the work. Provision will be made for the women to learn how to dye materials and make rugs, to make rooms lighter and more cheerful by using the right paint and paper, to re-group furniture, to make it more comfortable and attractive.

The purpose of the study of home decoration will be to create a livable place where the family may find comfort, convenience and beauty. A limited budget will be no handicap in making such a home for no great expense is necessary, where careful thought and the expression of good taste are used in selection and arrangement.

The project this year promises to be one of outstanding interest to the women of Charlevoix county. The women enrolled in the work will have a goal of home improvement to be reached by developing the ability to create an attractive home from the materials on hand. The homemaker can with a few pieces of common furniture, a little crockery, some dyes and a little paint, and a great deal of good taste and ingenuity create a home of beauty.

In doing so, the attractiveness will lie not entirely in the money value of things, but in the atmosphere of beauty and good taste with which the homemaker imbues her home.

"Bad Girl" Male Lead Leaves Business World for Screen

As a big business man, James Dunn makes an excellent screen actor! This fact was revealed in his first interviews to the press following his engagement by Fox Films to portray the masculine lead in "Bad Girl," which comes to the Palace Theatre next Friday and Saturday.

"Secrets of a Secretary"

What do society girls do when their family fortunes suddenly vanish?

In most instances, such bereft young ladies have been known to plunge right into the workaday world and make commercial successes out of lives that once had been ordained mainly for squandering activities.

"Secrets of a Secretary" has to do with the activities of just such a girl—Helen Blake—played by Claudette Colbert at the Palace Theatre next Sunday.

Star Of "Bought" Retains Personal Dress-Creator

Constance Bennett, screenland's most highly-paid star, coming to the Palace Theatre Tuesday and Wednesday next in "Bought," the Warner Bros. production, retains her own dressmaker who is also a skillful dress creator. She also does the actual fitting and tailoring. Miss Bennett is seen in many exquisite creations of advance styles in "Bought." Featured in her support are Ben Lyon, Richard Bennett (her father) Dorothy Peterson and many others. Archie Mayo directed.

METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH

Next Sunday will close the pastorate of the present preacher, so no better service for this last one of intimate fellowship can be arranged than a sacramental service together at 10:30. May we have a large attendance of the membership and rejoice together in our privileges.

The church school returns to the noon hour for its regular sessions. We shall meet this week at 12 noon.

An evening service is scheduled for 7:45 and the pastor will talk in a friendly way on "The Furniture Van and Changing Preachers." Conference will meet at Grand Rapids on Wednesday next and the pastor leaves here to attend on Tuesday morning.

The final official board meeting will be after the Sunday evening service at 8:30.

W. H. MILLER CONCLUDES DUTIES THERE OCTOBER 1

Has Been Warden Since September 1, 1894, and Leaves With Fine Record as Official

A remarkable record of efficient and faithful service will come to a close October 1st when W. H. Miller, for 37 years warden at the Belvedere Club, terminates his active connection with the resort.

At the annual meeting of officers and directors, held late in August, Mr. Miller's resignation, which had been standing for a period of over five years, was accepted, and Edward J. Edwards, formerly manager of the 2,500-acre Waller Farm, was appointed his successor. Mr. Miller has been retained indefinitely in an advisory capacity.

In accepting Mr. Miller's resignation, the officers and directors of the Club, adopted and placed on record the following resolution, which in itself, speaks plainly the great esteem in which Mr. Miller was held:

"Whereas, since the early days of the Charlevoix Summer Home Association, and in recent years when it was merged into the Belvedere Club, W. H. Miller for almost four decades has been a valued member and a trusted officer, always zealous in the promotion of the various objects for which the organization came into being; and,

"Whereas, during all that time, whether in the busy days of a resort summer, or the bleak and dreary ones of a stormy winter, he has been steadily and consistently at the same post as Warden, Assistant Treasurer and the Guardian of our interests, and having in the later years the capable and devoted help of Alice R. Miller, his wife, whose uniform tact and cheerful courtesy, coupled with the ability of a skilled accountant, has won for herself the exalted esteem and respect; and,

"Whereas, in discharge of his fiduciary relations during this life-time of years, he has been the custodian and in receipt of millions of dollars, and in the dispensing and disbursing of these same funds of ours there has been at no time no least thought on the part of an officer or a member that it would be a proper precaution to ask for the intervention of a security or bonding company, for the more complete protection of our interests; and,

"Whereas, with the full realization of his steadfast allegiance and sterling qualities, we have progressed from a small summer resort of simple, wild, and perhaps uncouth surroundings on the beach of Pine Lake, to a dreamland jewel of beauty and culture on the classic shores of Lake Charlevoix; and,

"Whereas, appreciating as we do, that before all other interests and demands, the welfare of this organization has ever had the first place in his plans of action, and that the bright and guiding light which he has ever held high above his path, has been that shed by the lamp of duty fed by the spirit of service. This to the exclusion of everything else, and all to our ultimate profit and advantage.

"Therefore be it resolved that the Officers and Directors of the Belvedere Club being this day, August 18th, 1931, assembled in executive session, desiring to express to W. H. Miller and his wife Alice R. Miller, their appreciation, love and affection, prompted by these many years of loyal and devoted service, do declare these their sentiments; do instruct the Secretary to inscribe the same upon the roll of the Club, and to present to W. H. Miller and his wife, Alice R. Miller, a copy, and to which each of them does heartily and affectionately subscribe their names and official designation."

Mr. Miller became warden of the former Charlevoix Summer Home Association, which later became the Belvedere Club, on September 1, 1894, succeeding John A. Johnson, Charlevoix nonpareil, who still is active on the grounds.

The resort at that time was practically in its infancy. The hotel was a rough 30-room, two-story structure. The cottages were simple two-room affairs. There was no water system, members of the resort relying on pumps for water. There was no sewerage system, no parks, driveways, docks, boat houses, etc.

Under Mr. Miller's direction, the resort has grown to its present status —one of the largest in Northern Michigan. In the years 1897-98, Mr. Miller supervised re-construction of the hotel. In 1912 the present boat houses on the Belvedere were built. A complete water system has been installed, sewage system with septic tanks, fine parks, roadways, sidewalks, etc., were built under his direction.

Practically every cottage except those newly built have been transformed to palatial summer homes. In fact, hardly any of the original features of the old resort now remain. During his tenure in office, Mr. Miller acted in every capacity from managing the hotel to management of the entire resort.

With Mr. Miller will go his wife who has acted as bookkeeper of the Club for a period of 21 years, and assisted ably in its management.

The books and records will be turned over to Mr. Edwards on October 1.

MANY STATE PARKS OPEN UNTIL OCTOBER

While most of Michigan's state parks will remain open into October, six or eight will close September 15, it was announced today by the Parks Division of the Conservation Department. The parks to close early have not been named. These parks will include those having small patronage and where there is little fire hazard.

YOUTH KNOWN HERE KILLED BY BANDIT

STANLEY MOORE MURDERED AT HOLYOKE, COLORADO

Was Swimming Instructor at Camp Charlevoix and Relative of Several Local Residents

Word of the murder Monday at Holyoke, Colo., of Stanley M. Moore of Lowell, Mich., a cousin of DeForest and Clarence Wood, and nephew of Judson Markham, all of this city, came as a severe shock to his local friends and relatives Tuesday.

The slain youth had been swimming instructor at Camp Charlevoix during the summer. At the close of the camp he was guest of Mr. and Mrs. DeForest Wood for several days and during his stay made a large number of local friends.

Upon leaving here, Moore was to have gone to join a college chum at Appleton, Wis., and then continue on a hitch-hiking trip west before returning to the Michigan College of Mines at Houghton, where he had been a student for two years.

The United Press, under date of Sept. 8, gives the following account of the murder:

"John Markham, 22-year-old Kansas City, Mo., gangster, was captured in a hotel room today in a struggle and held as an accomplice in the slayings of Cecil Pruitt, Kansas City convict, and Stanley M. Moore, 21-year-old hitch-hiker."

"Police declared Markham confessed to participating in the killings and named as the slayer a notorious gunman, whose identity was concealed."

"Pruitt was 'taken for a ride' in Kansas City early Sunday. Moore who was hiking westward from Charlevoix, Mich., was found slain at Holyoke, Colo., Monday."

"Police described Markham's associate as 'one of the most notorious and dangerous gunmen in the country.'"

He said he and his companion, fleeing Kansas City after the Pruitt murder, picked up young Moore at Lincoln, Neb. During the ride to Holyoke, he said, Moore 'got to know too much.'"

"Pruitt was shot to death early Sunday in an automobile containing two other men. His body was thrown from the machine."

"Markham said that young Moore had told them of working in a Charlevoix summer resort as a waiter. A search of Moore's effects indicated he had been a student at the Michigan College of Mining and Technology at Houghton, Mich., and had once lived in Chicago."

$15 REWARD!

PUBLIC SCHOOLS TO OPEN NEXT MONDAY

ADVANCE PREPARATIONS ARE PRACTICALLY COMPLETE

Opening Day Will Be Devoted Largely to Enrollment of Pupils—Teachers Meet Saturday

Charlevoix public schools including the Charlevoix county normal will open for the 1931-32 term next Monday, September 14th.

Several weeks of preparation are gradually drawing to a close and everything will be in readiness at the appointed time.

Next Monday morning will be devoted to enrollment of students. Most of the upper classmen have already arranged their courses of study, and on the opening day the incoming ninth graders will complete their initial arrangements for the school year. Supt. Gerald Bush has made plans for this task; it is expected only a short time will be necessary to get everyone down to routine and the work under way.

The book store, where supplies and books will be obtained by students, will be operated under a somewhat different plan than in previous years. All students will be given a list of necessary books with prices to submit to their parents. Each grade and class will then have an appointed hour to go to the book store to procure their needs. In this manner much unnecessary confusion will be eliminated and considerable time saved.

Following closely the opening of school, Coach Ray Kipke will issue a first call to football aspirants and the grind of practice will get under way before the week is out. The schedule for Charlevoix high school has been completed and will be announced next week.

Another plan which will be carried out this year is an early announcement of school events, athletic contests, and other affairs in connection with the schools. This list will be published in next week's Courier. It will also include the vacation periods during the school term as well as a very complete calendar of all school activities. By this method patrons will have advance information concerning future school events.

A general teachers' meeting has been called for Saturday, September 12th. Miss Ida Ingalls, well known local girl, has been engaged as secretary to the superintendent.

FAREWELL PARTY GIVEN TO LOLA FESSENDEN

Congregational Sunday School Class Fete Their Former Teacher

The home of Mrs. Charles Novak on Lewis street was the scene of a pleasant affair last Thursday evening when members of the Congregational Sunday school class led by Mrs. George Kelderhouse gave a farewell party for Miss Lola Fessenden, their former teacher, who leaves Saturday to attend Olivet college.

Following dinner, members of the class presented Miss Fessenden with a pretty gift. The balance of the evening was enjoyed playing games, and a marshmallow roast before the open fire place was a very pleasant feature.

Whether you dance round or square, you will enjoy dancing to Brown's orchestra Friday night next. Bill 50c. Extra ladies free. A Legion Affair!—Adv. 3611.

LARGE ATTENDANCE AT COUNTY PICNIC

LABOR DAY EVENT MOST SUCCESSFUL EVER HELD

Full Afternoon Program, Conducted Without Delay, Enjoyed by Several Thousand

(By B. C. Mollenkamp)

The ninth annual Charlevoix county picnic has come and gone, but the enjoyment of the occasion will not long be forgotten. Nature ably assisted the success of the day by giving most wonderful weather for this occasion. Everyone just seemed to receive the spirit of the day, and as the result there never was a more contented and happier crowd at Whiting Park.

All activities planned by the committee in charge were in full swing at 2:00 o'clock. At this time William Pearson of Boyne Falls, in his able manner, started the program off. The next speaker was Elmer Murray, East Jordan, who gave an original poem on the East Jordan Cooperative Creamery. The poem was right to the point and made all farmers even more interested in supporting this new cooperative organization. Next, County Agent E. C. Mollenkamp outlined the various events for the afternoon and explained very briefly the 4-H Club exhibits that were present.

A large crowd assembled around the running races that attracted dozens of boys and girls throughout the county. Included in the events were running races for the boys and girls of various ages, potato race, sack race, three-legged race, and others. The tug-of-war between the East Side and the West Side was a thriller. For at least three minutes neither side was able to move the other, and the rope hardly trembled, but at last in a great burst of energy the East Siders were victorious.

Without a doubt the greatest feature of the occasion was the exhibit of the girls' canning clubs throughout the county. Eight clubs consisting of between five and eleven girls each participated in this wonderful exhibit. Around 65 different girls brought their best to compete for county honors. It is impossible to describe the favorable impression with which this huge exhibit was received by the hundreds of people. People just wondered how it was possible for these girls to have obtained the splendid results. The only answer is their interest, enthusiasm, and loyalty to this extensive boys' and girls' club program, sponsored by extension work.

In the club exhibits the Ironton Club, led by Miss Edna Cunningham, received first place. Second place went to the Marion Center Club, with Miss Bessie Straw as leader, with third place going to Deer Lake, led by Miss Martha Reidel. Fourth place went to Barnard, under the direction of Miss Minnie Gornell. Other clubs in this competition were the Phelps Club, led by Mrs. Wilbur Himebauch; the Advance Club, led by Miss Bernice Noble; the Murray Club, led by Mrs. Ruth Hair, and Boyne Valley Club, led by Mrs. Harry Denise.

Miss Martha Reidel of Boyne City, won the County Championship by having the best collection of six quarts of fruits and vegetables, as well as having the best single jar in the entire exhibit. In the canned meats section first place was won by Georgina Reece, Boyne Falls; second place by Frances Withers, Charlevoix; third, to Christina Withers, also of Charlevoix; fourth, Martha Reidel, Boyne City; and fifth, Hazel Mosley, Boyne Falls. In jellies and jams first place was won by Edna Cunningham, Charlevoix; second, Lucella Cunningham, Charlevoix; third, Christina DeMaio, East Jordan; fourth, Mary Johnston, Bay Shore; fifth, Dorothy Ferguson, Bay Shore; sixth, Geraldine Williams, Charlevoix.

Second only to the canning club exhibit was the splendid display of calves by the members of the Charlevoix County Calf members. Eighteen very promising young heifers were enthusiastically received by the hundreds of folks who visited this exhibit. Fully three hundred people were present when Paul Barrett, County Agent of Cheboygan county, started the judging of the various classes. David Matchett of Charlevoix had the grand champion animal of the show. The winning heifer was a wonderfully built Holstein calf in the height of condition. In another Holstein class consisting of calves eight months old or over, Melvin Summerville, Boyne City, was the winner. In the Jersey class, William Sharrow, Charlevoix, won the blue ribbon. In the Guernsey class, consisting of calves eight months old or over first place went to Carleton.

STATE REGISTERS ENJOYED MEETING

ANNUAL CONVENTION HELD THURSDAY AND FRIDAY

Annual Banquet at Camp Charlevoix, Boat Trip to Beaver Island Enjoyable 1931 Features

Members of the Michigan Association of Registers of Deeds held their seventeenth annual convention here on Thursday and Friday of last week and report one of the most successful meetings ever held. Frank Bird, register of deed of Charlevoix county, planned the entire program and officiated as chairman at the business meetings which were held at Hallett's Inn, the headquarters for the two-day meeting.

Opening with their regular registration and call to order by vice-president Lena E. Spaulding of Van Buren county, the delegates were welcomed to the city by Dr. C. J. Windler, president of the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce. Next on the morning program was a brief address by Attorney Arthur L. Fitch of Charlevoix, who spoke on the "Inventors' point of view of the register of deeds office." Attorney Fitch emphasized the idea that the primary duty of a register of deeds or any other public official was service to the public.

Thursday afternoon the members and their guests were entertained by the members of the Charlevoix coast guard station. The coast guard featured their part of the afternoon program by setting up in breeches buoy near the lake and shooting a line out into the water; then bringing ashore a man such as they would do from a sinking or distressed ship out in the lake.

Through the courtesy of the Charlevoix city council the registers were next taken on a fifteen-minute speed boat ride on Lake Michigan. It was a new experience to most of the officials who will long remember this most interesting ride with all the thrills attached.

At 6:15 p. m. Thursday evening the delegates gathered at Hallett's Inn and drove to Camp Charlevoix where they enjoyed the finest banquet in the history of the association. With Lewis C. Reimann and Mrs. Reimann as the genial hosts of the evening, there was great cause for rejoicing. And particularly for the splendid chicken dinner served by the ladies of the Congregational church. During the banquet Mr. Reimann acted as toastmaster. The address of the evening was given by Rev. C. J. Kruse of Petoskey, former chaplain at the Ionia state reformatory. Following the banquet, dancing was enjoyed until a late hour.

The second day of the convention was occupied by a trip to Beaver Island, leaving Charlevoix at 9 o'clock in the morning and returning at 7 in the evening. Following a fish dinner at Beaver hotel, the crowd was taken for a motor trip around the island. A business meeting was scheduled to be held aboard ship on the return from Beaver Island but was postponed because the lake was slightly rough and the Harold II rolled back and forth too much to permit a successful meeting. On the trip to the Island the convention was addressed by R. L. Lewis, prosecuting attorney of Charlevoix county. Also a brief discussion by Edward Thompson, register of deeds from Sault Ste. Marie.

At the final business session held at Hallett's Inn upon the return from Beaver Island, the meeting was called to order by Chairman Frank (Continued on page 8)

LOCAL WOMAN HURT IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Mrs. R. Hendrickson Suffered Broken Nose and Bruises Monday Night

Mrs. R. Hendrickson, Mason street, was painfully injured at about 9 o'clock Monday evening when the large Hudson sedan in which she and her husband were returning from Petoskey overturned on Greensky Hill.

The accident happened during a rain storm when Mr. Hendrickson applied the brakes while coming down the hill. The car slewed on the wet pavement and turned turtle. Mrs. Hendrickson was thrown against the windshield. She suffered a broken nose and severe bruises. Mr. Hendrickson escaped injury.

The upper part of the large sedan was almost a total wreck.

Clare Upthegrove, principal of schools at Albion, is with his family visiting at the Nelson Upthegrove home.

S. B. Edwards of Detroit, made a short visit at the S. B. Anway home this week. He has a good position at Detroit.

Clifford Morse, agent for J. B. Rice Seed company, was back last week from a trip to the southern part of the state.

Mrs. Edmund Elsinga Curtis left this week for her home in Topeka, Kansas. Her husband has a position as electric radio installer.

Robert Watson is transporting the Lake View scholars into town. Ivan Hill, a former teacher, is transporting Snowflake school to Central Lake high.

Miss Thelma Snyder, who was home for the Home-coming and a brief visit at the C. N. Snyder home, has returned to her duties as nurse at Chicago.

We were pleased to hear that Rev. James Leitch, former M. E. pastor here, has been called to the East Jordan church for the fourth year. He goes to conference this week.

Rev. Pegg, who has been called to the Congregational pastorate here, to fill the vacancy of Rev. Hyde who joined the Seventh Day Adventists, preached his initial sermon Sunday.

Mr. Henderson began teaching at Creswell school last week, and Gerald DeForest at East Jordan junior high. Miss Emily Austin of Snowflake, is teaching the Esseltine school, two miles east of town.

Edd Yettaw and Wendal Evans attended the funeral of Pete Dennis, a former resident and old friend at Atwood, last Sunday. The funeral sermon was preached by Rev. C. J. Kendal of the local M. E. church.

The funeral of Mrs. O. P. Barber, long a resident of this place, was preached by Rev. Kendal last week. Mrs. Barber died very suddenly last week Monday of a stroke of apoplexy. She was talking to a traveling salesman in her store when she was stricken. She had a stroke about a year ago.

Charles Dawson and family of Detroit, took advantage of Labor Day vacation to spend the week-end at the James Dawson home. They came up Saturday evening returning Monday. He is connected with the post-office department at Detroit and has a steady position which is very fortunate in these times.

Mr. Rushton has been supplying on the R. F. D. route for Welfred Davis. Anyone changing mail boxes now must buy large new boxes as receptacles for the mail. This is quite a hardship for the poor people in these hard times. Many are walking to town to get their mail who cannot afford to purchase these large boxes.

Mrs. Doyle Morse gave a nice little party to her primary class in Sunday school at her home last Saturday.

WHILE WAITING FOR THE STORK

Most women suffer needlessly before their baby is born due to constipation, gas and sour stomach and vomiting. Every expectant mother will be glad to know how Mrs. F. J. Fessenden, 312 Grand Ave., Detroit, Mich., overcame this trouble. Mrs. Fessenden writes as follows: "Before my baby was born I suffered greatly with constipation and stomach distress until I began taking MUL-SO-LAX. It helped me wonderfully. In fact my physician told me I owed my easy time when my baby was born to its use. I found it pleasant to take, even when I felt sick to my stomach, and I am glad to recommend it to any woman."

MUL-SO-LAX is the Super-Tonic, containing 14 different ingredients, good for the whole family. Take no substitute.

urday. There were 15 of the little people present. The party was given in honor of the birthdays of Marvel Knowles and Helen Oliver. Rev. Weaver said in a recent address at Bay View that the Sunday school is the biggest thing in the world today. If everybody attended Sunday school every Sunday and followed the teachings of the Bible there would be little or no crime in the United States today, and taxes would be materially reduced.

Bay View Sunday school had an attendance of 30 last Sunday. Norwood had 25 and Creswell 34. Creswell is still ahead. All those attending Sunday school at Creswell, Norwood and Bay View are to be invited to an old-time Halloween party to be held at Norwood town hall on October 18 next. Presents will be given to those able to identify the most people, the one dressed the most grotesquely, the one having the homeliest jack-o'-lantern, and the one having the prettiest jack-o'-lantern. A "pot-luck" program will be given and a pot-luck lunch served.

Charley Bennett and Nelson Baker have been threshing in this vicinity, also Henry Vanderventer and Wesley Stickney have a machine in the neighborhood. Wesley Stickney is now laid up with a broken arm received while trying to crank the gasoline tractor. Two men, a tractor and a team now do the work formerly done by four men and six horse teams on a horse-power threshing machine. We well remember seeing Wallace Clow standing up in the middle of the six-horse-power machine with a long whip, driving the horses around in a circle. When the elevator was clogged he would hit the horses over the head to stop them. The old hay press was driven by a power somewhat similar, only the horse went in a half circle. Appears as though Henry Ford would pick up one of these old-time horse-power outfits. Many of the children of these days never saw a horse-power or ox team machine.

The young people enjoyed a dancing party at the Grange hall on Saturday evening.

Quite a few people from this neighborhood attended the picnic at Whiting Park on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Goeman and son from near Central Lake visited at the Clyde Smith home on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Willis Herron and Mrs. Kinsella of Grand Rapids, visited at the home of Wm. Burns last week.

There will be no church service next Sunday on account of the pastor's absence. He is attending conference at Grand Rapids.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Shapton and daughter, and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Shapton went to Lansing last week to take Miss Mayhew home. She is the nurse who has been taking care of Lee Shapton.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Seegmiller of Detroit and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Shanks of Belmont were guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Walker over Sunday. Louis Shanks returned with his parents.

Clayton Smith and Adolph Ecklund with their club leader, Carlton Smith, also Frank Smith left Monday night for the state fair. The first boys mentioned won their trip by giving a dairy demonstration at Gaylord Club Camp.

A good number of Grange members attended the Grange Day at the Petoskey fair on Friday. They won the premium for having the greatest number of members present of any subordinate grange. They heard a fine speech by Stanley Powell and had an enjoyable time.

NORWOOD

Norwood school opened Tuesday morning with Mrs. Curtis of Charlevoix as teacher.

Clarence Loper of Flint is visiting at the home of his mother, Mrs. Samuel Moore, this week.

Mrs. G. E. Beard and daughter Marie of Petoskey, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Dice last Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Van Dusen of Lansing, spent the week-end with relatives at Norwood returning to their home Labor Day.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Boomstra of Grand Rapids, who are enjoying their annual vacation trip, visited Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Greeley last Thursday.

Mrs. Margaret Hull and other members of the Hull family attended the funeral services of an infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Neil of Petoskey last Friday afternoon.

Mrs. John McCall and three children of Traverse City, who have been visiting relatives at Norwood for the past week, returned to their home Sunday, accompanied by her brother.

er Cecil Richardson, who will be a guest at the McCall home for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Holeccheck and other relatives of the Holeccheck family are enjoying a delightful visit with their daughter Irene, who arrived here last Saturday from Los Angeles, Calif. She expects to visit relatives at Bay City, Pontiac and Detroit next week and then leave for her home in California.

Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at the M. E. church in Norwood for George Dennis, who passed away at the home of his daughter in Detroit last Friday. Mr. Dennis was 64 years of age and for many years had been a resident of Ellsworth and leaves many friends here. Rev. Kendal conducted the funeral services with burial at Norwood cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. John Sprick motored from their home at Charleston, Ore., arriving here last Monday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Richardson and family where they visited and called on old friends until Thursday, then motored to Holland to visit relatives. Mr. and Mrs. Sprick are formerly Norwood residents and are both enjoying good health and are delighted with residing in the West and expect to return to their home about Oct. 10.

ROCK ELM

Mr. Murray has completed the road work in this district which gives those who wish to use it a shorter route to Ellsworth.

Tim Jensen came Saturday afternoon to take his brother Norman, who has been in poor health for some time, to the Harper hospital in Detroit for treatment. They left for Detroit Sunday morning.

Mrs. Lawton and family were happily surprised Saturday afternoon by the arrival from Grand Rapids of her son Frank and her brother and wife, Rev. and Mrs. E. E. Branch and cousin, Mrs. H. Woolford, for a week-end visit. They returned to Grand Rapids, Monday.

STATE WHEAT YIELD RECORD IS ASSURED

Corn and Potato Crops Exceed Last Year's; Bean Average Drops

Aside from record-breaking yields of wheat and rye and slightly better than average prospects for corn, the outlook for Michigan field crops leaves much to be desired. The state's rainfall for the past seventeen months has been below normal in every month except three, causing a deficiency of about 12 inches up to Aug. 1. This unusual dryness, together with extreme heat on numerous days, has lowered the prospective yields of corn, oats and barley and probably has caused irreparable injury in many sections to buckwheat, beans and potatoes, according to the August Crop Report of the Michigan Co-operative Reporting Service.

Winter wheat is yielding heavily in all districts and the estimated average of 26.5 bushels per acre is the highest ever recorded in the state. A yield of 16 bushels per acre of rye is the reported average for this year and has not been equalled since 1914 or exceeded since 1902. The Michigan wheat crop is estimated at 18,073,000 bushels as compared with 16,685,000 harvested last year.

Corn made exceptional progress up to the middle of July, but deficient rainfall, high temperatures, and two or three days of hot winds caused considerable loss in many fields. The present condition of 84 per cent indicates a crop of 47,040,000 bushels, a much larger production than in either 1929 or 1930 and nearly equal to that of 1928. Oats and barley are returning lighter yields in many cases than growers expected and much of the grain is below the usual test weight.

Beans have apparently suffered severely from weather conditions, especially from extreme heat. The condition as reported is 75 per cent of normal. The estimated production is 7,578,000 bushels, or nine bushels per acre.

The potato crop has held up well as far as the tops are concerned. The Michigan production is placed at 22,500,000 bushels as compared with 13,688,000, the revised estimate for 1930.

Advertising Benefits All!

ADVERTISING AN INVESTMENT

The accounting department may classify advertising as an expense, but it is something more than expense; it is an investment.

Advertising is an investment because, rightly done, it pays dividends to the producer, the manufacturer, the jobber, the wholesaler, the retailer.

Advertising pays dividends to the advertiser because by selling demand it tends toward quantity production, greater volume of business with relatively little increase in "overhead" and operating expense.

The farmer has learned that by advertising his live stock and farm sales in papers of county-wide quality circulation, he gets a larger attendance of buyers, sells more at better prices. If only one buyer is influenced to come who otherwise would have remained at home, his presence as a bidder or buyer may easily repay the entire cost of advertising. And the chances are that many more than one are thus influenced.

Every merchant who advertises not only helps the town and country, but he helps every other business man in the community.

The man who does not advertise sometimes reaps where he has not sown, for he gets some patronage from the people brought to town by advertising.

Live clothiers who advertise help each other and incidentally help the dry goods and grocery men and all other lines of business. Advertising dry goods and groceries brings new customers to the clothing store. And so on throughout every department of merchandising, banking and professional activity.

Advertising keeps the town on the map. It is the best preventative of dry rot in communities where the trees are getting thick at the base.

Advertising pays dividends of community interest, profit and progress. Reciprocity is a good idea—help those who help you and yours.

HEART OF THE NORTH

BY WILLIAM
MOWERY

As she stood there at a pantry shelf, away from the crackle and sough of the cook stove, she heard some peculiar noise somewhere out in the night. She went over to the window and there heard it more distinctly—a faint drone that rose and fell with the ground winds drifting out of the spruces.

The puzzling sound grew louder, plainer. Then suddenly Joyce knew. The police launch! Coming up the Big Alouka. Coming slowly because of the treacherous channel, but driving on through the twilight in spite of the danger.

That launch went out only on matters of importance. And this patrol must be very important, to bring the men up a perilous river at this hour. Throwing a cape about her shoulders, she ran through the trading hall, out into the sharp pine-scented air, down to the canoe landing at the river bank.

As she stood on the mud-floored plank, with the whispering breeze molding cape and dress closely about her vigorous young body. Joyce tried to pray that Alan was not leading this patrol. Her girlish pride was crying out that she did not want to see Alan Baker. Her rational mind was warning that it would be better for her if she never saw him again at all. But no pride or rationalizing could beat down the secret throbbing expectancy of meeting Alan, of hearing his voice, in a few minutes more.

Through the whole long winter Joyce had been slowly realizing that her return to this northern Waterways country had been a terrible mistake. Once she had been away, free of it all. With the true instinct of colonial Britons for their children, her dad and mother had sent her out to school, a solid old English institution in Ontario. When she finished, she quickly found a job for herself, a place with a government bureau, where her knowledge of Indian languages and customs made her uniquely valuable in preparing pamphlets for the fur northern agencies. Independent, earning a good salary, with friends and sports and work she liked, she had given up all of it and returned to this isolated fur post on a sub-Arctic river.

Her mother had died, and her father, alone, crushed by the relentless competition of big companies out to "get" him, had morally gone to pieces. Alan in his letters had written her the sorry facts. Her duty, clear as a call, had spoken to her, "If you return, you may be able to stop that; you may help Dad back to where he was." And she had come.

She knew that other folk were surprised at her loyalty, and thought her foolish, and were shrugging shoulders at the hopelessness of a mere girl trying to lift Dave MacMillan above the whisky and Indian-woman life he had sunk into. But Joyce did not consider it foolish, and she could see no great loyalty about it. Whatever his demoralization now, her father had been the best of fathers to her. Looking at him not as a father but as a man, she could realize, in her own womanhood, that he had been the best of husbands to her mother. She felt it was her mother's death, the inconceivable tragedy of God withdrawing his hand, which really had broken sturdy Dave MacMillan.

And Joyce was beginning to realize, as the slow months passed, that her patient battle was anything but futile. Slowly, so slowly that only she herself could see it, she was winning her struggle, she was lifting her father out of his bewildered demoralization. If only she were given another season or two, she could salvage his life.

Down in Ontario, debating what path to take, Joyce had thought of asking her dad to come and live with her. From a money standpoint, considering her good salary, that was the sensible thing to do. But she had chosen to return here. At that time she had not fully realized the secret and irresistible reason of her return. If anyone had told her that reason, she would have denied it hotly. But now, face to face with a personal tragedy which forced her to disillusioned thinking, she looked into her heart and saw there the real motive. It was Alan Baker who had drawn her. By degrees unknown, unperceived by her, girlhood friendship had deepened into love.

She had come back to be near Alan Baker. She had come back in the passionate hope that he and she would marry. There had been an unspoken understanding between herself and Alan that when the road ahead was a little clearer for both of them, they would be married. And then Elizabeth had come. . . . Alan's engagement to Elizabeth had been a dazzling, unexpected blow. When Bill, coming past on patrol, awkwardly blurted out the news of it, she had not believed. It took days of racked wanderings in the woods, weeks of helpless anguish, tossing, before the spirited strength and courage that were so great a part of Joyce, fought up, and she steadily herself and began to believe.

But even now she did not fully accept. That engagement seemed strange to her. Though she knew nothing of Alan's secret motives, she did feel there was something behind it which Alan had told no one. It seemed to her, from what she had observed, that Alan had no passionate affection for Elizabeth.

Month after month Joyce had waited for word of his marriage. The word had not come. She wondered. . . . What was causing this long delay? She could only guess at possibilities, but during the long months the belief had been born in her that something had arisen as a barrier to the marriage and that the engagement might be broken off.

When she thought of all these things and remembered how intimate and comradely she and Alan had been to one another, Joyce could not kill her lingering hope. As she stood there on the planking now, awaiting the patrol, with her heart thumping at the prospect of seeing Alan and talking to him once more, she knew that tonight she would come a little closer to discovering whether her wild guesses were truth or only wishful hoping.

Down the river a great yellow eye blinked through the trees. Swinging around, it was a head. It played up across the water. In a few moments more it docked her out, there on the landing; and Joyce stood bathed in the blinding shaft of the launch's searchlight. The craft came on and on until by shielding her eyes she distinguished its outline and caught the glitter of title steel.

The engine ceased. Softly, gently, the launch nosed in toward the landing. A figure stepped past the searchlight and stood holding the painter on the half-deck of the bow; and Joyce knew then, her eyes seeing only him, that Alan Baker led this patrol.

Joyce tried to welcome him calmly, but in that moment she was thankful for the deep twilight, and she stepped back a little, where the shadows of a low-sweeping balsam veiled her face. About the only ring of pride left to her was the fact that Alan Baker did not know or remotely guess her heart toward him.

With his first question, after their warm handshake, he asked her: "Has anybody passed here lately, Joyce?"

"Not that I've seen. Nobody in the last four days."

"But surely they did! Were you here all day?"

Joyce noticed then a tautness in his voice, and she saw he had brought five men with him on this patrol. It was no routine work, no ordinary pursuit, this time.

She answered: "I was out hunting this morning, and I slept a couple hours this afternoon. They might have passed then. But they couldn't have come by while I was here and awake."

"What time were you asleep this afternoon, Joyce?"

"I can't exactly. . . . our clock isn't. . . . Probably from about four till six."

Alan half-turned to Hardsock. "Bill, you heard what Joyce said? They couldn't have reached here this morning, so they must have passed here after four. We're nearer up with them than I figured. We'd better stay here till the deep dark breaks. At night this way we can't sight those men on ahead. They'd hear the launch coming and dodge aside into some creek."

He turned again to her. "If it won't be imposing, Joyce, will you give us a bite to eat and some coffee?"

Imposing—an hour of his company, setting a meal for him, learning the truth of his relations with Elizabeth!

But she merely nodded and invited the patrol up to the trading store.

Ahead of the men the two of them went up the path together. Alan shielding her from the brush, overgrowing the trail; and as they went he told her briefly of the robbery, the murder, the escape up the Alouka.

The news fairly stunned Joyce, as it had him when Bill reported. And with her there was an added reason, a reason that struck her with sudden fear. Before Alan finished, she was grasping his arm in trembling fright. "My dad! He's on northeast, up river—up there somewhere! He's bringing down some furs. Alan! what if he runs into these men?"

"Good Lord!" Alan breathed to himself. "If they meet Dave. . . . They're not the kind to let anybody go past alive and report their whereabouts!"

For Joyce's sake he tried to be convincingly. "They may not meet him at all, Joyce. And if they do, why, they'd hardly shoot a man down without. If for no other reason, it doesn't pay. They've got charges enough against them as it is. And they won't rob him; their canoes are riding heavy now."

He saw that his lie succeeded with Joyce, for she began questioning him about the details of the robbery, wondering who these six strangers could be, and giving him some valuable information about the water stages on up the Alouka.

They went on back to the kitchen, and Joyce set about getting a meal for six tired hungry men. As he set extra plates and cups on the table, Alan asked himself:

"Isn't she wondering why I haven't been here for so long? I'd think she would wonder at least why I stopped helping her about Dave. But she hasn't mentioned it; she must not have missed my help much. It was pretty shabby of me to stop like that, even if. . . ." He recalled how Elizabeth, jealous of the comradeship between him and Joyce, had asked him to let Bill attend to any patrol work up the Big Alouka. Elizabeth's reference to "that MacMillan girl" had antagonized him at times. They seemed positively cruel, considering the hard times Joyce was in.

A question from the girl broke into his thoughts. "When are you and Elizabeth going to be married, Alan?" Her question, or rather the way she asked it, hurt Alan, for some reason he could not exactly word. Her voice was so very casual, as though she had not even a friend's interest in his marriage. Could it be possible that he and Joyce, once so intimate and so near to each other that they had spoken of children and a life together, were now casually discussing his marriage to another girl?

He said, "We haven't—we're—we don't exactly know yet."

There was a pause. A swift color had flown into Joyce's cheeks; a little feverishly she was repeating to herself those surprising words: "He doesn't know yet, he doesn't know yet! Does that mean—mean he's doubtful if it will ever be?"

"But it'll be this summer, I suppose," she questioned, peering at the stove and still not looking at Alan. "I don't know. Yes, I guess so, Joyce." Then he explained reluctantly, "Elizabeth wants me to get out of the Mounted."

Joyce gasped. Out of the Mounted—she could not imagine such a thing. The work was a part of Alan. What would he do without it? And what would Fort Endurance do without him? She said: "But Alan! What would you turn to? The Mounted has been your work."

"Well, I've got the offer of a job down in Victoria. It's pretty good, as far as money goes. And Elizabeth would like it there. I haven't exactly decided. It's a big step to take."

Those few reluctant sentences were a revelation to Joyce, like a white light lighting upon something which had been dark to her. Alan didn't want to go! Elizabeth was trying to force him. She wanted to live in a city; she wanted the things which that salary would bring her; she was using Alan to get what she wanted. But she and Alan were not of one mind! If he really loved her, deeply and passionately, would he be so reluctant, would he allow anything on earth to come between them?

Joyce dared not ask him anything further than that; he might add a word that would destroy this new-born hope. But a hundred thoughts were running wild through her. "Suppose he doesn't yield to Elizabeth! Suppose he won't go! Then she won't marry him! She'll throw him over for Haskell; that's what she'll surely do. Bill says she and Haskell are together half the time Alan's away from Endurance. Isn't that the reason?—she's not sure of Alan yielding; and if she can't have her way with him she'd like to be an inspector's wife!"

With swift unerring insight Joyce saw the all-embracing question: Would Alan get out of the Mounted? She was still uncertain what he truly felt for Elizabeth, but from his own lips she had learned one thing which an hour ago she had scarcely dared hope could be true. The marriage was not sure; it might never be!

In her abjectness she whispered to herself: "I don't care if he does like her. I don't. I don't care! If she throws him over, then we'll be friends again, then he'll come here to me again; and then—after that. . . ."

CHAPTER IV

Rifles in the Prow

During the meal, as Joyce sat at the head of the table pouring coffee and watching a pan of biscuits in the stove, Alan kept studying her, wondering how any girl could stand the isolation and poverty and lonely battle she was enduring. Two whole years here, two years out of her young womanhood, the choice time of her life, sacrificed at this isolated trading post, giving up everything that a girl holds dear! She was too fine to be leading a life like this. She ought to get out of it. There was a limit to her bravery and spirited strength.

As the men were pushing back their chairs and reaching for pipes, he felt some one probing him with a boot under the table. Looking up, he saw Larry elevate an eyebrow at him.

"Wants to talk with me alone," Alan surmised; and he gave Larry a slight nod. To the other men he said rather sharply: "You men, put away your pipes and polish up these dishes. Don't leave a stack like this for Joyce, Bill, you see to that."

Casually going outside a few moments later, he glanced around and saw Larry waiting for him a dozen yards away, over near the storage shed. Sauntering across, he asked quietly:

"What's up now, Larry?" Larry flipped his cigarette aside, "Come in here with me, Alan. I want to show you something."

Producing a pocket flash, he played its yellow shaft upon a pack of furs on a low shelf.

"Alan, you see that wolf skin they're wrapped in? That's what caught my eye. It's a Yukon animal, probably from the Kayukuk headwaters in the Endless mountains. It made me curious, so I pried into the pack and saw these dark spots. They came from the Yukon, too. I thought to myself, 'There's no wolf or other like them in Dave MacMillan's trading territory.' But say, Alan, look—(hold the flash a minute)—look here." Larry pulled out several of the rich, dark-gleaming otter pelts and rolled back the fur at the belt end. "Take a good look at them fine stamp marks."

Alan bent closed and he suddenly gasped.

"Good Lord! They're L. & H. furs! What're they doing here, Larry—in Dave MacMillan's possession?"

"Stolen! What else? What's more to us, Alan, I checked on them serial numbers, and this bunch is one of the packs stolen from the Midnight Sun." He added slowly: "Maybe we don't know yet who them six strangers are, but now we sure'n h—I know who's directing 'em!'"

In low tones, there in the darkness, they talked the situation over.

Larry finally asked: "You're going to arrest him, Alan? An accomplice that way, even if he didn't have a hand in the actual killing, they'll give him the limit. I'll be tied up, Joyce."

Alan stirred. "I don't know what I'll do. But I'll have to do something about it."

After a little silence he directed: "Larry, you go down and relieve Ted. Don't tell those other men anything about this yet."

When Larry had gone, Alan left the musty-smelling shed, and walked up along the side of the trading hall to Joyce's window. As he came up, purposefully cracking a stick, he had a glimpse of her whole room. Its furniture was a dresser, a chair originally straight but with a pair of rockers fitted to it, a sheet-iron stove with woodbox against the wall, and a bed which he knew had been a condemned barracks cot. But Joyce had somehow lifted the bleak room almost to cheerfulness. There were birchbark crotches of great-spurred violets and Arctic primulas and adder's-tongue on the dresser, some sprigs of bright-red berries above it, a wolf-ring across the foot of the bed, and on the dresser a picture of himself, of her former employer down in Ottawa, of her dad and mother.

She had heard him and turned toward the window and recognized him in the weak light.

He said: "Joyce, I've got to talk with you. Maybe you'd better come out here where we'll be alone."

She stepped to the window. As Alan helped her down, trying to say lightly, "It's unlucky, Joyce, to come through a window that way."

RAILROADS COMING BACK

In a recent address Carl R. Gray, president of the Union Pacific Railroad, sounded an optimistic note concerning the future of his industry.

"There seems to be a feeling more or less prevalent," said Mr. Gray, "that steam railways which have been the fundamental transportation in America for a century, are seriously threatened with decadence. And to this I take exception.

"The growth of America has been measured by and has been responsive chiefly to its transportation capacities. No one agency other than the railroads can more than partially supply this need and that only in a desultory and widely-separated way. A great many persons greatly mistake the railroad situation. The railroads in and of themselves do not produce or create. They are, on the contrary, the result. They are the reflex of business conditions in this country, and probably the most faithful reflex. When business is depressed they are depressed; and when business comes, they come back. It is as impossible in the last analysis for the railroads to be kept from participating in the nation's prosperity as it is for them to avoid participation in its vicissitudes.

"To entertain any doubt that the railroads will come back is to entertain an equal doubt that American business is recovering; and this doubt you and I do not for one minute share."

A MESSAGE FROM ENGLAND TO AMERICAN BUSINESS MEN

You are depressed. You think you are crippled. You are afraid of the future. You are full of fears.

You have half the gold of the world and half of the machinery and most of the automobiles and all the skyscrapers.

You have the greatest home market in the world and the largest corporations that the world has ever seen.

You are ruled more by ideas and less by tradition than any other people in the world. You have usually done what you thought you could do.

How can it be possible that a progressive nation of 120,000,000 people can be wrecked by the speculations of a little handful of fools in Wall Street.

The prices that were forced too high had to come down. Today all the prices are too low.

There is now a golden opportunity for every man who has eyes to see it.

Dollars are now being sold for thirty cents. Practically every security in the United States is now being sold at less than its value.

The way to create a fortune is to buy from pessimists. Pay your money and take the risk.

Frick started his career by buying coke ovens in the slump of 1873. Carnegie made $300,000,000 by buying steel plants in slumps.

Hundreds of fortunes have been made by buying from pessimists. Ye Gods! What a chance there is at this moment.

In five years from now, most American business men will belong to the "I-wish-I-had-Club."

Then it will be too late to buy a dollar for thirty cents. The opportunities will be gone.

When a horse balks, the balk is in his head and not in his legs. He moves on when he thinks he will. And when an American business man is depressed the slump is in his head. There is nothing serious to prevent him from making money if he thinks he will.

When fear rules the will nothing can be done, but when a man casts fear out of his mind, the world becomes his oyster. To lose a bit of money is nothing, but to lose hope—or lose nerve and ambition—that is what makes men cripples.

This silly depression has gone on long enough. Get rid of it. It is inside of you. RISE AND WALK.—Herbert N. Casson, Editor of The Efficiency Magazine, London, Eng.

HUNTERS MAY TRAIN DOGS IN FIELD SOON

The department of conservation has issued a schedule for the use of persons training dogs on game this fall.

The dates mentioned in the schedule are the first days on which dogs may be trained in the woods or fields on the various species of animals and birds.

Pheasants—September 15.
Prairie Chickens—September 15.
Rabbits—September 1 (upper peninsula); September 15 (lower peninsula).

Opossum—October 1.
Raccoon—October 1.
Fox Squirrel—September 1 (upper peninsula); September 15 (lower peninsula).

The 1931 legislature provided that dogs might not be trained on game birds, rabbits, squirrels and other animals during a period of more than thirty days immediately preceding the opening of the hunting season on the particular animals or birds.

Under the old law it was possible to train dogs for 60 days before the opening of the season. It is unlawful to carry firearms while training dogs.

DISTRIBUTE HUNTING LICENSES SEPT. 15th

Distribution of 1931-32 small game licenses to all license agents of the department of conservation will begin September 15. More than 400,000 resident and non-resident licenses will be offered for sale. The license buttons for resident small game licenses this year will be tinted pink with a black border. The non-resident license button will be white with a black border. New and improved slots for inserting the license in the button are provided.

CITY MOURNS DEATH OF MERRITT MILLER

Sudden Passing Monday Morning a Severe Shock to Community

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at the West Lincoln avenue residence of Mrs. Mary Miller for her son, Merritt Miller, a life-long resident of Charlevoix, who died early Monday morning from heart attack.

Mr. Miller's death came as a distinct shock to his family and many friends. He had been ailing with asthma of the heart over an extended period, although those intimate with him were unaware of his condition.

Mr. Miller was born January 23rd, 1884 at the old Miller place south of this city now known as the Coulter farm. He was educated in local schools, and during his high school days was a prominent figure in athletics. During later years he had been a painting contractor here and was a leader in organization and a member of the Charlevoix city band. He was a member of Pine Lake lodge No. 122, Knights of Pythias.

Surviving are his wife, a son, Teddy, age 15, and his aged mother, Mrs. Mary Miller.

Rev. John E. Lockyer of the Methodist church officiated at service Wednesday afternoon and burial was at Brookside cemetery.

MANCERONA YOUTHS HERE ENROUTE TO CALIFORNIA

For those whose curiosity may have been aroused, we have discovered that the two lads who rode into town last week on an old-fashioned tandem bicycle, were headed for sunny California.

They were Royal and Carl Atkins of Manceron, bound for Oakland, Calif., to visit their sister. The queer costumes—derby hat, bandana handkerchiefs, overalls, etc.—were part of regular equipment, as were also the music saw and mouth organ taken along to furnish entertainment.

The boys planned to head for the Straits, thence across country west.

PETOSKEY VOTES TO PURCHASE POWER PLANT SITE

After a year's effort, Petoskey, at a special election last Wednesday, decided by an overwhelming majority to purchase the McManus hydro-electric plant and the Birkett site suitable for a still bigger plant on Bear River, together with factory sites, a big gravel pit and a power dam site up Bear River.

The entire property will be taken at a purchase price of $125,000. The decision came by a vote of 1331 for the purchase to 190 opposed to it.

TRAIN SERVICE GOES TO WINTER SCHEDULE

One Train Each Way Starting Monday, Sept. 14—Three Resort Specials

Pere Marquette train service on the Grand Rapids-Petoskey division will go on fall schedule Sunday, September 13th, according to B. Nickerson, local agent.

Starting Monday, September 14th, Charlevoix will have two trains daily, one southbound and one northbound. Southbound No. 8 will leave Charlevoix at 3:46 p. m. daily excepting Sunday, arriving at Grand Rapids at 10:30. The train will carry sleeping coach from Petoskey instead of Traverse City as in previous years. Connection will be made at Grand Rapids for Chicago, the arrival in that city being at 7:10 a. m.

Northbound No. 1 leaves Grand Rapids at 6:55 a. m. and arrives at Charlevoix at 1:55 p. m. daily except Sunday.

The Pere Marquette will operate three post-season resort specials after the date of Sunday, September 13th. These trains, carrying Chicago and Detroit sleepers, will leave here September 16, 20 and 27. The Detroit section will be carried to Grand Rapids and transferred to the Detroit division at that point.

The annual Pere Marquette fall excursion will be run this year on Friday, October 2nd.

MAY FIND USE FOR "LAWYER" LIVER OIL

Federal Government Studies Plan to Create Important By-Product

"Lawyer Liver Oil," may some day become an important by-product of Michigan's commercial fishing industry.

That the oil taken from the livers of lawyers taken from the Great Lakes, has medicinal properties equal to that taken from cod is generally accepted.

Some experiments have been made by the Federal Government and one Wisconsin commercial fishing concern is now studying the oil with a view of possible commercialization.

The only difficulty in marketing lawyer liver oil is the fact that at the present time but few lawyers are taken by commercial fishermen, the annual catch running but 10,000 pounds. Lawyers have been considered as of little commercial value by Michigan fishermen. A few are sold in Wisconsin.

SPECIAL COURT SESSION HELD TUESDAY

Several Chancery and Criminal Cases Were Disposed Of

Several chancery and two criminal cases were disposed of before Judge Parm C. Gilbert at a special session of circuit court Tuesday.

Carl Holland, recently taken on a charge of violating the prohibition law, pleaded not guilty when arraigned and was bound over to the October term of circuit court under bond.

Hugh Kemp, Eveline township, pleaded guilty to perjury, a charge brought after he misrepresented the age of a Marion township girl when applying recently for a marriage license. Kemp was placed on probation for a year under bond, and was ordered to pay court costs of $50 and a similar amount as attorney fees for annulment of the marriage.

Judge Gilbert is to be commended for his action in calling special court sessions. Cases coming up from time to time are disposed of through this method with much less cost to the county and regular court sessions are not cluttered up with cases which could previously have been taken care of.

THREE COUNTY TEAMS GO TO DETROIT FAIR

Represent Charlevoix County in 4-H Club Demonstration Work

(By H. C. Mellenkamp)

This is the big week for the 4-H Club members who have won trips to the Michigan State Fair. Monday night and Tuesday morning saw the departure of these three teams.

Miss Hazel Mosley and Miss Beth Simpson of Boyne Falls, with their leader Mrs. Harry Denise, will demonstrate at the State Fair on Wednesday. Clayton Smith and Adolph Ecklund of Charlevoix, with their leader Carleton Smith, will give their dairy demonstration on Thursday, while Robert Tainter and Melvin Somerville of Boyne City, will give their handicraft demonstration on Friday.

We sincerely hope that success will come to these boys and girls who have carried out such a splendid club program, and that they may be successful in winning trips to the National Boys' and Girls' Club Contest to be held in Chicago.

Watch the papers for the announcement next week.

Whether you dance round or square, you will enjoy dancing to Brown's orchestra Friday night next. Bill 50c. Extra ladies free. A Legion Affair!—Adv. 3611.

FISHING LAWS ARE EXPLAINED

PERMISSION NEEDED TO FISH IN PRIVATE LAKES

Outlet or Inlet Must Be Deep Enough For Navigation to Make It Public Waters

It is safe to say that not one fisherman out of 10 in Michigan knows when he is within his legal rights in entering upon the waters of a private inland lake without permission of the shore-land owners.

The attorney-general's department in its recent opinion devoted several pages to an explanation of the law on this question.

According to the opinion the public may not enter an inland lake unless it is navigable in law and in fact. It and its inlet or outlet must be sufficiently deep to float rafts or logs. Even though light boats or canoes may be floated upon it, the waters may not be navigable in law. The question of navigability, the opinion indicated, should be decided separately for each case.

The public may enter such a lake by wading up a stream, only if the stream is navigable. Otherwise it may not wade in it. And even if it is navigable, he must stay in the water; if he sets foot upon the shore he is trespassing.

The riparian owners of a private lake, own the soil on which the water lies to the center of the lake, the opinion said. But such an owner may not build a fence into the water to cut off any portion of the lake's surface or his own. All owners share equal rights to the surface of such a lake and may use any part of it. One owner may, however, build wharfs or docks that do not interfere with the reasonable use of the lake by other owners.

Similarly, the opinion said, a riparian owner may swim or bathe in any part of such a lake. However, if such bathing is against public safety (as if the water were used by a nearby city for drinking purposes) "equity will enjoin" such swimming or bathing.

Since the riparian owners each own a portion of the lake's subsoil, (figured by extending the boundary lines of each parcel of property to the middle of the lake) one owner trespasses on another's portion of the lake bottom. If one owner, the opinion said, drops anchor in the subsoil of another owner, it constitutes technical trespass.

No riparian owner of such a lake, the opinion rules, could sell fishing privileges. But he may charge a fee for allowing a person to cross his land or take a boat across it. Charging a fee for fishing would amount to selling fish, and would violate statutes prohibiting sale of game fish or sale of other fish without a license.

It is not necessary, the opinion said, for riparian owners of a private lake to post notices against fishing or to make any public declaration that the lake is private.

BITS OF INFORMATION

Soybeans furnish good pasture in late summer and early fall when perennial pastures are short.

Swine contract tuberculosis from cattle and fowls. Don't allow your hogs to feed with tuberculosis cattle or poultry.

The phrase "springing up like a mushroom overnight" has some truth, since mushrooms grow at a phenomenal rate during moist, hot seasons. This is partly explained by the fact that much of the tissue forms before the fungus breaks through the surface of the ground. Then the fungus tissue absorbs water quickly and expands in wet weather.

In applying paradichlorobenzene to peach trees to control borers, first remove trash, grass, and stones for about a foot around the tree trunk and smooth the soil. Put the paradichlorobenzene crystals in a ring about 1 1/2 inches wide and 1 1/2 inches from the trunk and cover them with clean soil, packing it around the tree to form a mound. Put the ring of crystals above the topmost borer gallery. Apply 3-4 pounds per tree to trees 4 to 5 years old and remove the mounds and crystals after four weeks. For older trees, use one ounce per tree, leaving the material around the tree six weeks.

The home gardener can "store" celery where it is growing by placing enough earth around the base of the plants to protect them from freezing; usually eight or ten inches are required. Let them stay this way until just before severe freezing. Then bank the earth up to the tops of the plants, almost covering them. As the weather becomes colder, cover the ridge with coarse straw, or corn fodder held in place by stakes or boards. It is inadvisable to store large quantities of celery in this way as considerable loss will occur through severe cold or sudden rises in temperature. It should also be remembered that it is hard to get the celery out when the ground is frozen.

Uncle Sam Says— Federal specialists have devised a modified and simplified test for pullorum disease that tells in a minute or two whether a fowl is infected.

Scouting trips with airplanes show that spores of certain plant diseases sometimes travel through the air 10,000 feet above the earth.

The department of agriculture is planning experiments in crossing hardy Afrikaander cattle from southern Africa with native beef herds, hoping to develop a breed that can endure drought and heat.

A dairy specialist says, of the herd sire, "A pedigree is a promise, but high-producing daughters are the fulfillment."

Trees Stop Gullying

Planting trees effectively checks gullying on land that is very steep or that has been gullied so badly that the cost of reclaiming it for pasture or cultivation is prohibitive, say the bureau of agricultural engineering of the U. S. department of agriculture.

Besides building up the land, the woodlot furnishes firewood and small timber. Plow and disk the whole gully, says the bureau, and plant the trees in rows 5 or 6 feet apart in deeply plowed furrows. Set out the rows on the sides of the gully approximately level, as the trees should be cultivated the first year by throwing the dirt from each side toward the trees. Less washing occurs when the rows follow closely the contour of the ground. It is important to prepare the soil well, as this promotes rapid growth of the trees and they are less likely to die at the start.

No Homes for Rats

Repair the corn crib and granary, clean up rubbish that may harbor rats, and rid the farm of these pests now—and you will avoid damage to stored grain and food this fall and winter. Success in campaigns against rats depends largely on cooperation in destroying them on all the infested farms in a community at the same time. Rodent-control specialists advise mixing enough bait for the entire community at one place and using it on the same day on all infested farms. The specialists say that red squill—a poison deadly to rats and mice but comparatively harmless to cats, dogs, and other animals—is one of the best rat poisons. Fresh fish, ground in a meat chopper, is an attractive bait for this purpose. Meat, cereals, and fish mixed separately but put out at the same time to give rats a choice of food will give best results.

"INSIDE" INFORMATION

Wear rubber gloves to protect the hands when dyeing.

Vary the tartness of your French dressing occasionally by using in place of plain vinegar some lemon or grapefruit juice, or tarragon vinegar, or spiced vinegar from pickles.

To keep dry bread crumbs: after drying the bread and grinding or rolling, put the crumbs in a glass jar, covered with a piece of clean cheesecloth, held on by a rubber band. The air will reach them and prevent their growing rancid or moldy.

Serve small portions of food to children so they can clear their plates without the feeling of being stuffed or nagged into eating. Then allow second helpings if the children want them.

Loosely fitted long sleeves are most becoming on fleshy arms. If open at the wrists they are graceful and comfortable. To make the arm seem longer and more slender, use bound slashes, lengthwise bands of material, rows of buttons, etc. Sleeves gathered into a tight cuff with a puffed effect should be avoided by the stout woman.

Elderly people should eat plenty of fruits and vegetables. Fruit juice or pulp or strained vegetables may be given if preferable. Foods to be used sparingly are rich sauces, cakes and puddings, pastries, and fried foods. Hot rather than cold food is especially needed in chilly weather to keep the body comfortably warm. Smaller amounts of food, however, are needed as people get older. In many ways the diet for the elderly is like that for children during the first five years. It consists of milk, eggs, fruit juices, cooked cereals and cereal puddings, and strained vegetables. Simple meals served at frequent intervals are best. The chief difference is that the emphasis is no longer on building materials as in childhood. Old people may depend on hot stimulating foods like tea and coffee that are not allowed to children.

STATE'S BEST GRAIN GROWERS GET PRIZES

Contest at State Fair Will Pick Michigan Leaders in Wheat, Oats, Barley

Leading grain growers of Michigan will compete for top honors at the Michigan state fair in the Ira H. Butterfield memorial contest, sponsored annually by the crops department at M. S. C.

Yield-per acre and commercial value of the grain will be the basis of awards, rather than the value of the crop for seed purposes. This gives the contest unusual practical value in picking the real leaders among state farmers.

The three classes of the event include wheat, oats, and barley, with 22 different awards in each class. Fields entered must consist of five acres or more, with any farmer in the state eligible to file entry with his local county agricultural agent or the college crops department. Entries will close on August 31, to give time to prepare for judging at the state fair.

Notice is hereby given that default has occurred in the conditions of that certain mortgage, dated the 1st day of September, 1923, executed by Elizabeth Nielsen, a widow, as mortgagor, to The Federal Land Bank of Saint Paul, a body corporate, of the City of Saint Paul, County of Ramsey, State of Minnesota, as mortgagee, filed for record in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for Charlevoix county, Michigan, on the 1st day of September, A. D. 1923, at 1:50 o'clock p. m., recorded in Liber 62 of Mortgages on page 289 thereof, in that certain installment of Eighty-one and 25/100ths Dollars ($81.25), principal and interest due September 1st, 1930, remains unpaid; and further that the taxes were not paid by the mortgagor and were permitted to become delinquent; that on the failure of said mortgagor to pay such taxes, The Federal Land Bank of Saint Paul did elect to pay the same, and on April 18th, 1931, paid the sum of Four Hundred Sixty-seven and 60/100ths Dollars ($467.60) as taxes for the years 1928, 1929 and 1930. That pursuant to the provisions of said mortgage, said mortgagee has elected to declare the whole debt payable; and there is due and payable at the date of this notice upon that debt secured by said mortgage, the sum of Twenty-nine Hundred Thirty-three and 32/100ths Dollars ($2,933.32); and that no action or proceeding at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover said debt or any part thereof, that, by virtue of a power of sale therein contained, said mortgage will be foreclosed and the land and premises therein described lying and being in the County of Charlevoix and State of Michigan, as follows, to-wit:

Lots Two (2) and Three (3) and the Southeast Quarter of the Northwest Quarter (SE 1/4 NW 1/4) of Section Nineteen (19) and the East Half of the Northwest Quarter (E 1/2 NW 1/4) of Section Thirty (30); all in Township Thirty-three (33) North, Range Seven (7) West, containing Two Hundred Eighty-nine (289) acres, more or less; will be sold at public auction to the highest bidder for cash by the Sheriff of Charlevoix county, at the front door of the court house, in the City of Charlevoix, in said county and state, on Tuesday, September 22nd, at 10:00 o'clock in the forenoon, to pay and satisfy the debt secured by said mortgage and the costs and disbursements allowed by law upon said foreclosure sale.

Dated this 29th day of June, 1931.
The Federal Land Bank of Saint Paul, mortgagee.

he felt the hard bulge of that little bulldog automatic pressed against him. At last his gift was still protection to her.

He suggested: "Let's go a little farther away, Joyce. I don't want that long-eared Whipple overhanging this."

Rather foolishly, he led her a stonewall west of the storge sled to a little clear place in the spruces. Trying to prepare her in some measure, he told her of Larry going into the shed, happening to notice a strange pack of furs, examining them, seeing the L. & H. marks and the serial numbers. He hesitated a moment then, with Joyce frowning perplexedly at those strange furs lying in the shed; but there was no mercy possible now, and he took the final step.

"Joyce, I hate myself for telling you this. But you've got to know. Those furs in your father's shed are one of the packs stolen from the Midnight Sun."

"Stolen? From the Midnight Sun? But Alan! What—what's it doing here?"

"This afternoon while you were asleep, Joyce, your father, or else one of these bandits, put the furs in there. That pack is—must be his share in the arrangement. Joyce, your father is somehow connected with these bandits."

Realization came slowly to Joyce. Then sharply, like an instinctive defense, came passionate disbelief and anger; and she drew a little away from him.

"I'm sorry, sorry," he said in heartfelt sympathy. "You father used to be my friend. And he's your father; that's what hurts the worst."

Joyce drew still further back from him, with her eyes flashing with a defiant loss of her head. He believed her father guilty! He had gone prying around for evidence! He was blind! Heartless! A man-hunting wolf! Inhuman! Worse.

Alan was thoroughly surprised. He had seen Joyce handle insolent Indians and breeds, shooting their dialects at them like flying yellowknife arrows; but with him, with Bill, with her father, she had always been as quiet as a summer wind. The way she was assailing him now, defending her father, revealed a new depth to her nature.

Without a word of reply or self-protection, he took all she had to tell him. He felt that her anger was not so much against him personally as against the inexorable duty he represented.
